9 MINUTE, 34 SECOND LEAD

LIPTON YACHT OFF BALANCE

LOSER IS OUT-MANOEUVRED

By JAMES ROBBINS.

Special to The New York Times.

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 15.—Wheeling around a triangular course of thirty miles with the apparent ease of a great, soaring bird, Enterprise, defender of the America's Cup, swept this afternoon to her second straight victory over Sir Thomas Lipton's Shamrock V.

She finished, a spectral sail from out where there stretch the leagues of sea, nine minutes and thirty-four seconds ahead of the green challenger. Her lead in distance was about a mile and one-half.

The Enterprise's time margin was more than a minute in excess of that by which the old schooner America won the trophy nearly four score years ago, when the little-thought-of American yacht that went overseas to beat the Aurora by eight minutes caused a Lord in Waiting to reply to an inquiry from Queen Victoria:

"There was no second."

Two more victories for Enterprise would insure the historic trophy remaining here until some one else attempts to capture it, as Sir Thomas already has failed four times to do.

Vanderbilt Outmanoeuvres Rival.

Tall, thin and determined, Harold S. Vanderbilt, at the helm of the defender, sailed another flawless race. He made a perfect start and, with a lead over the challenger on an initial windward leg of ten miles, kept Shamrock under his boat and gradually worked Enterprise out further.

Bent over the wheel, in white flannels and blue yachting coat but with a slouch canvas hat on, he watched each twist and turn of Captain Ted Heard, professional master of Shamrock, with the alertness of a cat watching a slippery mouse. And all the time he was getting nearer the turning buoy.

When the first third of the race was over, the Enterprise was six minutes and six seconds ahead and also had lived up to her reputation of being a windward wonder.

Then without tack of her sail or turn of her helm, except to steady her, the white defender swept around the other two sides of the triangle. One was a close reach, and the other a broad one and a run. Enterprise gained three minutes and four seconds more with her sheets eased off a bit, and twenty-four more with them slacked out and, toward the end, her spinnaker bulging out.

Shamrock's Nose Down.

Astern in a creeping, crawling fog came Shamrock. Reaching off the wind she rooted into the seas instead of holding her head high and racing on, as did the defender.

About a ton of lead had been taken out of Shamrock early in the morning. She seemed livelier at first, but her nose was down, as was Enterprise's in the middle of the Summer, when she was almost passed up as a defender.

Hoover Accepts Bid to Attend World Series Opening Game

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—President Hoover will start his brief tour of three parts of the country by attending the opening game of the world series on Oct. 1, in all probability at Philadelphia.

This was announced at the White House today, following a visit by Mayor Mackey of Philadelphia, who told the President of the standing of the Quaker City in the American League pennant race and invited him to the game.

The stop at Philadelphia will be made while the President is en route to Cleveland for a speech to the American Bankers' Association the next day.

FRENCH FLIERS STIR BOSTON ENTHUSIASM

HEAD HISTORICAL PARADE

They Lead March Opening the Tercentenary Week—Girl Returns Lost Map.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Sept. 15.—Boston opened wide its arms to Captain Dieudonne Coste and Maurice Bellonte, Paris-New York fliers, who reached this city on the first lap of their national good-will tour in time to participate in the opening celebrations of Boston's tercentenary week program.

From the time they landed their transatlantic plane Question Mark at the airport this afternoon until they rode through the downtown streets at the head of an illuminated historical parade, the airmen were accorded an enthusiastic reception unequaled since their famous countryman, Marshal Joffre, visited Boston during the war.

Twice the massed thousands who welcomed the fliers at the airport broke through police lines, chasing across the field after the big sesquiplane had landed and taxied up to its hangar, and again as the fliers prepared to leave the reception stand for the automobile parade into the city.

Two New Hampshire school children more or less stole the show at the airport after the Question Mark and its aerial escort had landed. They were Louise Stef. 16, and her 13-year-old brother, John, who had recovered a chart of the Atlantic which fell out of the plane as it had swept over their home in Portsmouth, N. H., on its way to New York. As guests of The Boston Globe, the two children were brought to Boston to return their find to its owner, and Captain Coste was so delighted to recover the map he kissed Miss Stef resoundingly on both cheeks as the crowd roared its approval.

Girl Refused to Sell Map.

Over the airport amplifiers Miss Stef told how she and her brother had retrieved the map when they saw it flutter from the plane into a field near their house, and she described their refusal of many offers to buy it, including one of $1,000

Milton Sills, Screen Star, Falls Dead While Playing Tennis at California Home

The friends and Mrs. Sills, known on the screen as Doris Kenyon, carried the stricken actor into the house and summoned a pulmotor squad from the West Los Angeles police station. The police worked two hours in vain.

Milton Sills, who was known to the moving picture public largely as a portrayer of a wide variety of mature character parts, was a veteran of the legitimate stage and a former college instructor. He went to Hollywood in 1914, when he was 32 years old, and soon after gained international fame, taking leading rôles in a large number of films.

He was born in Chicago on Jan. 12, 1882, the son of William Henry and Josephine A. Sills. After receiving a preliminary education in schools in that city he entered the University of Chicago, receiving his bachelor's degree in 1903. For the following two years and a half he was a scholar and a fellow in philosophy in that institution.

He came to New York in 1909, appearing in "This Woman and This Man" at the Maxine Elliott Theatre. He remained in New York for several years, playing in many of the leading stage hits of that time.

Mr. Sills's first screen work was "The Pit," which appeared in 1914. He soon attracted attention as one of the foremost mature actors and played in many pictures, among them "The Great Moment," "Adam's Rib," "As Man Desires," "Skin Deep," "The Sea-Hawk" and "Men of Steel," of which he was an author.

When the talking picture was introduced Mr. Sills was among the silent stars who managed to hold their own in the new art. One of his most recent vocal pictures was "His Captive Woman," in which he played opposite Dorothy Mackaill. He also appeared in the talking picture version of Kenyon Nicholson's play, "The Barker."

He married Miss Gladys Edith Wynne of London in 1910, by whom he had a daughter, Dorothy Gardyne. He was later divorced and in 1926 married Miss Doris Kenyon, also well known on the screen. The wedding took place on the shore of a small Adirondack lake near the Summer camp of the bride. In 1927 a son, Kenyon Clarence, was born.

PARIS PRESS SEES DANGERS

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, Sept. 15.—The spectre of fascism appeared less grim to government heads today than when it stalked across election bulletin boards last night, and with the first fright over and the unexpected apparition fairly well lived down there came opportunity for serious introspection.

There was no desire manifested at government headquarters to squirm out of a bad hole nor was there indication that Chancellor Bruening did not intend to exhaust every available expedient to protect the further course of Parliamentary procedure in the face of the decisive defeat suffered by his government and the parties supporting it in yesterday's election.

In this he has the approval of President von Hindenburg, who, it was reported, would grant no quarter to the Hitlerites in case they sought to use their sensational victory to sabotage Parliamentary government.

Coalition Is Urged.

To balk any such plotting, Dr. Bruening is now being urged by influential quarters to have recourse to the only expedient at his command—a Socialist-bourgeois coalition which would be firmly anchored in the new Reichstag and so tightly riveted as to be able to beat off the assault of the 224 votes pitted against the government by the Communists, Fascists and Dr. Alfred Hugenberg's Nationalist diehards jointly.

German banking, Boerse and industrial circles appeared less apprehensive over the possible domestic working out of yesterday's election upset than over its inevitable reverberations abroad, especially in view of the gleeful manner in which the victorious Fascists are accepting the popular verdict as a protest against the Young plan and Germany's present foreign policies. While the Berlin Boerse today weakened under the pressure of foreign selling orders and a sharp bear attack, financial and industrial leaders are not anticipating serious economic and social reactions to yesterday's heavy radical vote, the assumption being that the new Reichstag will see the disturbing factions in a minority.

Explains Radical Drift.

Dr. Eduard von Stauss, one of the leading directors of the Deutsche Bank, who was elected a member of the new Reichstag on the People's party ticket, ascribes the drift of voters into the radical camps to the economic oppression to which Germany is subjected and the prevailing business depression.

"The customary floaters who followed the radical parties simply yielded to irresponsible promises," Dr. von Stauss declared. "It seems as if a religious wave has swept through the electorate and in such times of national insecurity and reconstruction reform preachers find a willing following. It is only to be

Citizens Come First in Hiring Workers For the State, Roosevelt Tells Greene

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Sept. 15.—Colonel Frederick Stuart Greene, Superintendent of Public Works, today was directed by Governor Roosevelt to repeat to contractors on all State work that they must employ citizens of this State so far as practicable. In this way, the Governor pointed out in a letter to Colonel Greene, New York's unemployed would be aided.

The Governor's letter follows:

My Dear Colonel Greene:

While I know that you have already written to all contractors working on State projects calling their attention to the law which requires them definitely to give preference to citizens of the State of New York in taking on employes, I want to ask you once more to repeat this notice in very definite terms.

I have recently received a number of complaints, especially against highway contractors.

The general situation in regard to unemployment is, unfortunately, not yet improving, for the latest figures of the Department of Labor show a drop of another 1 per cent during August. I am hopeful that the balance of this month will show a definite improvement, but in the meantime it is essential for us to exert every effort to see that New York State citizens are given preference on New York State work.

May I suggest that, in addition to sending out immediately an additional warning to all contractors, you also request every division engineer to check up and report on the work being carried on in his own district?

As I have pointed out before, the duty of the State Government is primarily to its own citizens, and, while we sympathize with unemployment conditions in other parts of the country, it is only right that we should take care of our own citizens first.

CAPT. BOY-ED DIES; THROWN BY HORSE

ACCUSED OF AIDING SPIES

He Married American Woman, Daughter of a Pennsylvania Episcopal Bishop.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

HAMBURG, Sept. 15.—Captain Karl Boy-Ed, who was Germany's naval attaché at Washington at the outbreak of the World War, died today from injuries suffered while he was riding near his estate at Trittau on Saturday. He suffered a fractured pelvis when his horse took a sudden leap. He was immediately rushed to the hospital, but his condition was found to be hopeless and he died on his fifty-eighth birthday.

Captain Boy-Ed is survived by his widow, the former Virginia Mackay-Smith of Philadelphia, whom he marride in Germany in 1921, and by his daughter Vaida.

After his enforced return to Germany from the United States in 1915, Captain Boy-Ed took charge of the press division of the German Admiralty. He retired to his estate near Hamburg soon after the war.

Decorated by the Kaiser.

HAMBURG, Sept. 15 (AP).—Captain Karl Boy-Ed was decorated by the Emperor for his propaganda successes in 1916, it being accepted that his work in the United States had won him the honor. Baron de Senarclens-Grancy was his successor at Washington. Almost a year after Captain Boy-Ed's deportation the American State Department published correspondence disclosing the charges against him. It was widely circulated that he was responsible for German submarine operations off the American coast.

Captain Boy-Ed wrote a book on the war in 1919, after he had gone into a comparative retirement. The story, entitled "The Plotter," recounted his last days at Washington and his recall.

Eleven years after his dismissal from America in which time he had been variously occupied, Captain Boy-Ed expressed a desire to revisit the United States, but the American Embassy in Berlin refused a visa.

Captain Boy-Ed was an expert horseman in his younger years. On Saturday he attempted to give his mount an unusually brisk workout, hurdling some low fences along one of his favorite roads. It was while making one of these jumps that he received his fatal injuries.

$27,000,000 Fund Alleged.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15 (AP).—At the time of the expulsion of Captain Boy-Ed the United States was discussing the sinking of the Lusitania with the German Government and was gathering data on the activities of all countries engaged in the war. Although the charges against Captain Boy-Ed and Captain von Papen were not announced officially, it was said they had aided in the distribution of a fund, estimated at $27,000,000, which affected the neutrality of the United States.

Guilty of "Improper Activities."

Captain Karl Boy-Ed, naval attaché of the German Embassy in the United States during the World War before America entered the conflict, was the storm centre of charges which largely contributed to the estrangement between the United States and Germany at that time.

With Captain Franz von Papen, German military attaché here, he was recalled by the German Government and left the United States on Dec. 28, 1915, at the request of the United States Government, which had given notification that it felt both attachés to be guilty of "im-

PROHIBITION FIGHTS MARK PRIMARY TODAY

Up-State Republican Contests Include 3 on Delegates and 6 for Congress Nominations.

BAY STATE ALSO WILL VOTE

Up-State Republican contests in which the prohibition issue is involved constitute the feature of today's primary election in New York State. These wet and dry contests include three for delegates to the Republican State Convention, in Westchester, Herkimer and Montgomery Counties. There are six contests for Republican Congressional nominations in which prohibition figures, and the results may have a bearing on the prohibition plank to be adopted by the Republican State Convention.

The Democrats have very few up-State contests, and their contests in the city are mostly for local leaderships, notably in Queens and Richmond. All told there are fifty-six contests in New York City, of which just half are for members of the Democratic and Republican State Committees and half for party nominations. Of the State Committee contests, fifteen are Republican and thirteen Democratic.

Fight in Twenty-fifth District.

The outstanding contests for Republican Congressional nomination are in the Twenty-fifth District, made up of part of Westchester and Rockland, and in the Fortieth District, Niagara County and part of Erie. In each of these districts the wet candidate is believed to have a better chance to win than in the other up-State contests in which prohibition figures.

In the Twenty-fifth District, Charles D. Millard, the organization candidate, is opposed by John M. Holzworth, a wet, and Robert A. Patterson, a dry. Mr. Millard declared for repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment after Mr. Holzworth became a candidate.

In the Fortieth District, Representative S. Wallace Dempsey, who has not declared his position on prohibition, has as an opponent Walter Gresham Andrews, a wet. Frank C. Perkins, who also is entered in the Democratic primaries, is a third candidate for the Republican nomination.

In the Seventeenth Congressional District, Manhattan, Mrs. Ruth Pratt, who is seeking re-election on the Republican ticket, is opposed by George Hiram Mann, who lives in Brooklyn and is running on a platform of back pay for navy yard workers. Mrs. Pratt is certain of nomination and it is expected that Mr. Mann will run as an independent candidate.

Theofel in Leadership Fight.

John Theofel's leadership of the Democratic organization of Queens is involved in the Democratic primary contests there. In Richmond there is a fight for leadership between Democratic County Chairman David S. Rendt and Borough President John A. Lynch with contests for local nominations and places on the Democratic State Committee.

The Republicans also have a series of primary fights in Queens between the supporters of Borough President George U. Harvey and the regular organization headed by County Chairman Joseph H. De Bragga, who has announced that he will retire as chairman. These contests involve members of the State and County Committees. Raymond Richmond, leader of the Third Assembly District, is understood to be the choice of the regulars to succeed Mr. De Bragga. Mr. Harvey has announced that he will support Warren B. Ashmead, a Jamaica banker.

BRITISH FORCE DELAY OF PAN-EUROPE PLAN TILL NEXT ASSEMBLY

Special League Committee Will Study Project and Report on It in 1931.

NON-EUROPEANS APPROVE

HUNGARY URGES DISARMING

By P. J. PHILIP.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

GENEVA, Sept. 15.—Following a meeting between Aristide Briand and Arthur Henderson this morning, it is expected that discussion of the project of a European Federation will be continued for another full year before even the foundation stone can be laid for that edifice.

The two Foreign Ministers today decided on a course of procedure which each can accept. Under that agreement M. Briand will formally move that the Assembly of the League of Nations should ask the European nations to constitute a committee, acting as a League committee, to study the question of the possibilities of a European federation and to report to the next Assembly.

This formula assures progress of the idea, for all the States which replied to the French memorandum still stand on the position of the desirability of a federation. It safeguards what is considered to be the League's interest, for the committee will act as a League committee, and the final precaution which satisfies the English is that the committee will report to the Assembly next year.

Few Oppose Special Committee.

Tonight some smaller European States are trying to find support for a suggestion that the whole question should be referred to the sixth committee of the League Assembly and that a special committee should not be formed. It is regarded as unlikely, however, in face of the agreement between Britain and France, that they will succeed.

Today in the Assembly was another day of oratorical tributes to the federation idea, with here and there cautious reservations on how it was to be formed. Speakers such as Frank Brennan, Australian delegate and Tsuneo Matsudaira of Japan, who represented the non-European countries, gave the idea their benediction, always with the reservation that there should be no lessening of the League's authority or of the conception which the League gives of the world as a moral and economic unit.

Foreign Minister Marinkovich of Yugoslavia gave form to the proposal that the study of the federation possibilities should be handed over to a European committee within the League. In this Assembly of Foreign Ministers, most of them representing countries where nationalism seems on the ascendant, he won applause by declaring that while the chances of war had been greatly lessened they could never be excluded until excessive nationalism had been entirely overcome.

It was only by a federation that the nationalist spirit could be reduced, he argued, and in the face of the evils which confronted the European governments, he said, he did not dare to avoid the task of seeking a union which M. Briand had set before them. M. Marinkovich then proposed that the Assembly should

Hoover Expected to Name Coulter and Dennis As Members of the New Tariff Commission

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—Subject to last-minute changes, President Hoover has made up his mind to reappoint Dr. Alfred P. Dennis of Maryland to the Tariff Commission and to name Dr. John Lee Coulter of North Dakota as the third new member of that body under the reorganization plan which becomes effective tomorrow.

Although the White House confirmation was lacking in regard to the appointment of both Drs. Dennis and Coulter, reports from usually reliable sources indicated that their selection was certain unless geographical considerations forced a last-minute switch to give a more equitable balance.

President Hoover is expected to name the full commission at noon tomorrow. He already has indicated his intention of appointing Henry P. Fletcher, veteran diplomat, and Thomas Walker Page, Virginia economist, to the new body. Selection of Dr. Dennis and Dr. Coulter fills four of the places. It is not known who the other two appointees will be.

It is likely that Dr. Dennis will be the only hold-over member of the present commission. However, due to the difficulty which the President has experienced in finding the type of men acceptable to him to take these posts, it may be necessary for him to reappoint at least one other member of the present body.

It was reported also as certain that thumbs already have been put down on Edgar B. Brossard of Utah, and Thomas O. Marvin of Massachusetts, both Republicans, both high protectionists and both regarded as representing in their attitude special industries. Therefore the other hold-over members would have to be Sherman J. Lowell of New York, Lincoln Dixon of Indiana or Frank Clark of Florida.

In March, 1925, Dr. Dennis, then personal adviser to Secretary of Commerce Hoover, was first appointed a member of the tariff commission by President Coolidge. Dr. Dennis was appointed to the government service in 1916 under the Wilson Administration, when he was named a commercial attaché at Rome. In 1921 he went in the same capacity to London and in the two years following he made special investigations for Secretary Hoover in Central and Eastern Europe.

Mr. Coulter, who is the present chief economist and chairman of the advisory board of the existing Tariff Commission, is a Republican and the second member of that party to be selected for the new body.

JUSTICE M'COOK ALLOWS FULL JOB-BUYING INQUIRY BY THE EWALD GRAND JURY

Banker on Advice of Counsel Evades Call as Grand Juror

While the extraordinary grand jury in the Ewald-Healy case was being chosen yesterday in Supreme Court, the name of Snowden A. Fahnestock, the banker, was called. For a moment there was no response. Then a young man appeared before Justice McCook and said:

"Are you a member of the bar?" demanded Justice McCook.

The man said he was. Justice McCook started to say something more, hesitated and then snapped:

"Leave the room."

The court directed that Mr. Fahnestock be adjudged in default, which means that the banker will have to appear and explain his absence when he returns from Newport, where, it was learned later, he is serving on the committee of the America's Cup races.

John S. Hoyt of 3 East Seventy-second Street also was held in default for failing to answer the grand jury summons.

EWALD CASE IS PUT FIRST

Court Wants Him Cleared or Indicted Without Presentment.

ORDERS HUNT FOR 'SYSTEM'

Charges Extraordinary Body to 'Explore' Any Evidence That Appointments Are Sold.

FIRST TESTIMONY TODAY

Sheriff Farley Reported Called—Ewald and Healy to Be Asked to Waive Immunity.

A wide scope of investigation, including the right to inquire into any evidence of the existence of a system that sells public offices, was granted yesterday by Supreme Court Justice Philip J. McCook in his charge to the extraordinary grand jury convened to investigate the Healy-Ewald case.

The grand jury might, Justice McCook explained to its members, discover evidence that at the time of Ewald's appointment there "existed a system, course of conduct or understanding by force" by virtue of which George F. Ewald was induced or persuaded to contribute money or other consideration to a political party, party leader or public official in order to obtain his appointment.

"You might in that event," the justice added, "feel it your duty, and if so would have the right, to explore that road further."

Justice McCook did not limit the grand jury to the Healy-Ewald case as Governor Roosevelt limited Attorney General Ward when he appointed him to supersede District Attorney Crain after Mr. Crain had failed to get indictments in the case from the regular New York County grand jury.

Ewald Charge Comes First.

He told the grand jury that its first concern was to get at the bottom of the charge that former Magistrate Ewald paid Martin J. Healy, Tammany leader in the Nineteenth District, $10,000 for his appointment to the bench. In the Ewald case, Justice McCook told the jurors he wanted no presentments or reports; that the case called for indictment or exoneration.

By the time Justice McCook's charge was finished the afternoon was well advanced and, although several preliminary witnesses who had been subpoenaed were on hand, none was called into the grand jury room. The presentation of evidence will begin this morning when the grand jury reconvenes.

It was reported that Sheriff Thomas Farley, Tammany leader of the Fourteenth District, and John Mara, who holds a similar position in the Twenty-first District, would be among the early witnesses. Mayor Walker and George W. Olvany, leader of Tammany Hall at the time Ewald was appointed, probably will not be called upon to testify until tomorrow.

The report of the summoning of Sheriff Farley, whose name has scarcely been mentioned in connection with the Ewald case except as the former employer of one of the principals in the case, came as a surprise to observers of the Attorney General's investigation. No explanation of why he was called or of what his connection may be was obtainable.

Ewald, his wife, Mrs. Bertha E. Ewald, Healy and Thomas T. Tommaney, who acted as intermediary in arranging the unsecured non-interest-bearing $10,000 loan from Mrs. Ewald to Healy while Ewald's name was being considered by Mayor Walker, will be asked to waive immunity before testifying. If they refuse to answer questions about the loan, as they are expected to do, they will be taken at once before Justice McCook, who will be asked to hold them in contempt.

Grand Jurors Carefully Selected.

The task of selecting twenty-three acceptable members of the grand jury began at 10:38 A. M. in a courtroom on the third floor of the Supreme Court Building under the supervision of Justice McCook and was not concluded until nearly 2 o'clock, when, after being sworn, the grand jury heard the court's instructions. Their selection went forward with almost as much caution as the choosing of a trial jury.

FRIENDS VIEW IT AS FAKE

But Police Start Hunt for the Writer—Grand Jury Hears Six on Jurist's Disappearance.

A few hours after District Attorney Crain had presented the evidence of six witnesses yesterday to the county grand jury investigating the disappearance of Supreme Court Justice Joseph Force Crater, the police began an intensive search for the writer of an anonymous letter addressed to Mrs. Crater informing her that her husband was alive and demanding $20,000 ransom for his safe return.

The letter was brought to New York by Harry B. Clarke, brother-in-law of Mrs. Crater, from the Crater Summer home at Belgrade Lakes in Maine, where the missing jurist's wife received it after it had been forwarded from her New York address at 40 Fifth Avenue.

Though some of the judge's friends were inclined to treat the letter as a hoax, Assistant Chief Inspector Sullivan took an opposite view and declared that detectives are "working along a number of things that are contained in the letter."

Ransom Letter Given to Police.

Upon his arrival yesterday Mr. Clarke conferred with Mr. Crain and his assistant, Albert B. Unger, and then went to Police Headquarters, where he turned the letter over to Inspector Sullivan. Inspector Sullivan immediately got in touch with Commissioner Mulrooney, who was out of town but hurried back to the city. Mr. Sullivan assigned Detective Sergeant Hugh Sheridan and two other men to hunt the sender of the letter.

The letter, addressed to "Mrs. J. Crater, 40 Fifth Avenue," was re-listened intently as he began by explaining the function and history of the grand jury "in its present New York form," declaring that it determines, to a very large extent, the standards for the enforcement of the laws in each community. Then he quoted from Governor Roosevelt's proclamation calling into being the "extraordinary and special trial term" of the Supreme Court to inquire into the Ewald case "and such other proper matters as may come before the court."

"Your duties are, in part, statutory. The court is obliged by law to read to you, or to give you copies of, certain provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure. These sections, therefore, with other instructions have been printed, and slips containing them will be handed you by the clerk of the court, thus saving time and facilitating careful study. They are hereby declared part of this charge.

Reviews Ewald Charges.

"What special matters are before you for consideration? At the present time your duty, and your first duty, is to investigate the Ewald case, above described, and matters so closely related to it as in your opinion to be properly involved. I shall illustrate what I mean by the last phrase.

"It has been asserted that George F. Ewald, a lawyer, seeking appointment as magistrate in this city and county, on or about the date named in the Governor's proclamation contributed money or other consideration, directly or indirectly, to a party leader for the purpose of securing that appointment. Certain go-betweens are said to have participated in the transaction. Suppose, for the purposes of my illustration, you should discover, in the course of this very Ewald case, evidence that at the time mentioned there existed a system, course of conduct or understanding by force of which George F. Ewald was induced or persuaded, in order to secure the office he sought, to contribute money or other consideration to a political party, party leader or public official: You might in that event feel it your duty, and if so we would have the right, to explore that road further. Other lines of connected inquiry may occur to you, and if they are sufficiently close in relation to the Ewald matter you may follow them, prudently and so as not to waste time or be led too far afield.

"This court does not need to tell you men of brains, conscience and character, that to pay for elevation to judicial office is to corrupt and poison the well-springs of our justice. As residents of this county you cannot fail to give evidence of such an act, should it be submitted to you, careful consideration, so as to ascertain whether a crime has been committed; if so, to return an indictment or indictments accordingly; if not, to exonerate George F. Ewald and others who may be named before you in connection with the same case.

"Suspicion is not to be accepted as proof. You should use discriminating judgment in receipt of evidence, and if you have any doubt that it is proper, competent, relevant and legal, you will resolve that doubt in favor of the person affected. If an indictment be found, without sufficient legal evidence to sustain it, in law it is no indictment at all and cannot stand.

"Of course such a result is fair neither to the individual nor to the State and is most undesirable. The rights of each, in this as in other respects, are to be scrupulously guarded.

Warns on Malicious Charges.

"Complaints are some times malicious. Whenever you discover in the course of your examination that the motive back of an accusation is not the only right one., viz., enforcement of the criminal law, you should scrutinize the evidence with particular care in order that no injustice be done. Political rancor or ambition may enter in, especially as primary and general elections approach. Bear all this in mind. At the same time you will remember that were the motives for exposing crime only the best, the good people of this or any community would lose much valuable information. What you have to do is to, weigh evidence maliciously offered, if you find such, with more care than other evidence, not necessarily to reject it. In short, the truth is to be sought and sifted by sensible means.

"The Court charges you that you should never find an indictment unless you, sitting as a trial jury, would find a conviction were the only evidence in the case such as had been presented to you as grand jurors. If that evidence would, under thos circumstances, be insufficient to warrant a conviction, no indictment should be found. If, unexplained and uncontradicted, it would warrant a conviction, then it is your duty to find an indictment.

"During your labors, the court will be ready at all times, upon reasonable notice of your desire, to give you such further instructions and assistance as may be required. When the court adjourns it will be from day to day.

Ewald Case First Concern.

"You have already been told that your first concern should be the Ewald matter. When you have finished that, you are entitled, if you like, to investigate such other proper matters as may come before this court and this grand jury. I shall be glad upon your request to state and explain your powers in that regard.

"It is to be hoped that at this stage you will not feel inclined to submit any general presentment or report. Vigor and courage are essential, but the respect in which the grand jury is held depends in large degree upon the restraint, order, sense and calmness with which it pursues its task, and its willingness to perform its own peculiar and important duties and leave other matters to other people. You are supposed to return persons rather than situations or institutions, and through indictment or exoneration rather than reports or other observations of a general nature.

"Although you have been instructed through the printed slips upon the duty of secrecy, permit me to emphasize the subject. By silence you protect the State against premature disclosures which might defeat the ends of justice, and the individual whose conduct is under investigation, but who may ultimately be cleared by you, from damage to his reputation. Incidentally, you thus maintain your own independence of action and your right to escape personal annoyance.

"You are entitled to receive the advice and assistance not only of the court but also of the Attorney General, his chief assistant, Mr. Todd, and others. Some of them are permitted to enter your room. Even they, however, may not be present with you during the expression of your opinions or the giving of your votes upon any matter.

"Keep always in mind that sixteen of you are required to be in attendance when you transact business, of whom twelve must concur in voting an indictment.

"As soon as convenient you should appoint one of your number as your clerk, so as to preserve minutes of your proceedings.

"One of our most distinguished American judges said nearly a hundred years ago:

"'In a free and popular government it is of the utmost importance to the peace and harmony of society not only that the administration of justice and the punishment of crime should in fact be impartial, but that it should be conducted so as to inspire a general confidence.'

"The oath you have taken I now repeat in closing, as an ancient and impressive summary of your commission and your undertaking:

"'You shall diligently inquire and true presentment make, of all such matters and things as shall be given you in charge; the counsel of the people of this State, your fellows' and your own you shall keep secret; you shall present no person from envy, hatred or malice; nor shall you leave any one unpresented through fear, favor, affection or reward, or hope thereof; but you shall present all things truly as they come to your knowledge, according to the best of your understanding.

"'So help you God!'"

Ward Confers With Grand Jurors.

At the conclusion of the charge the grand jurors visited the quarters that have been especially provided for their use on the second floor of the Supreme Court building. There they conferred briefly with the Attorney General and his assistants and, after electing Mr. Bianchi as their clerk, decided to meet at 10:30 A. M. and sit until 1 o'clock in the afternoon for the present. Later they will decide whether to hold afternoon sessions.

Attorney General Ward remained in the room about fifteen minutes. When he came out he remarked that the "blue ribbon panel" had produced "a very nice looking grand jury."

"In fact," he added, "Mr. Todd tells me it is one of the very best looking grand juries ever chosen in this city."

Following are the names of the members of the extraordinary grand jury which will be asked to do what the county grand jury failed to do:

RICHARD L. MORRIS, broker, 155 East Seventy-first Street, foreman.
JOHN L. SCHOENFELD, printer, 470 West End Avenue.
ROBERT L. GORDON, vice president, 149 East Seventy-third Street.
WILLIAM H. BARTHOLD, engineer, 969 Park Avenue.
LESTER NORDLINGER, produce, 600 West 116th Street.
BENJAMIN STERN, retired, 250 East Sixtieth Street.
WILLIAM A. McKENNA, real estate, 277 Park Avenue.

Two of Panel Challenged.

Fifty-five names in all were on the panel. Of these fifty-two reported in court, one had died and two others failed to appear and were held in default. Before the grand jury, including at least one "good Democrat," was completed, five of the panel were excused from service and two were challenged by Mr. Todd.

Soon after court convened eighteen members of the panel lined up before the bench seeking to be excused from service. When Justice McCook had passed upon their reasons, William A. Barrett was sworn in as warden to the grand jury and William Roebottom was sworn as the official stenographer. Then one by one the prospective grand jurors faced the questioning of Mr. Todd.

Among those who were excused by the court without examination were George E. Greenbaum of 175 West Seventy-ninth Street, who served on the grand jury which investigated the City Trust scandal, and Edward E. Spafford, former Commander of the American Legion, who explained that he is a Republican candidate for Congress in Fourteenth District. James H. Abraham was excused when it developed that, although his address was listed as 339 West Eighty-eighth Street, he had not been a resident of Manhattan for the past two years.

Each prospective grand juror was asked whether he was a member of any political or social organization which might tend to influence his judgment, and whether he was related by blood or marriage to any of the principals in the Ewald-Healy case. Mr. Cameron, the first grand juror chosen, declared he was "not even interested in them."

Other questions asked by Mr. Todd included:

"Have you ever held public office?

"Do you come in contact with public officials in your business?

"Do you understand the duties of a grand juror?"

Mr. Schoenfeld, although a member of the National Democratic Club, was accepted when he asserted he had no business with city officials and never had received any printing contracts from the city. Mr. Loewenstein was a member of no political club and had not met any public officials. Mr. Gordon said his only contact with members of the administration was through bidding for the sale of subway cars. He was sure his contacts with city officials and representatives of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company would not influence him.

Mr. Bach admitted that reading newspaper accounts had prejudiced him. He promised to eradicate any convictions already formed and said that the fact that his son was a lawyer practicing occasionally in magistrates' courts would not interfere with his judgment as a grand juror.

Healy Acquaintance Excused.

George Bauerdorf, a banker, was the next man called. He was the first to admit an acquaintance with Healy, with whom he said he had dined about six months ago. Mr. Bauerdorf, who lives at 545 West End Avenue, said that years ago he did business with Peter Eckert, Mrs. Ewald's father, who is to be a witness before the grand jury. Finally he was excused by Mr. Todd. Charles C. Nobles, a dealer in traffic markers, who lives at 1,356 Madison Avenue, was excused at his own request after he said that he was demonstrating his wares to certain city officials and hoped to make a sale.

Mr. Bianchi, who later was elected clerk of the grand jury, said he was a member of the Republican Club of the Twenty-third District, but added that he knew no one in the present City Administration. He was accepted. So was the next man, Mr. Bukofzer, who said he was a member of the Osceola Club, a Democratic organization in the Fifteenth Assembly District. He was well acquainted with Frank Briarley, deputy county clerk and Tammany leader of the district, he said. Recently he sought the aid of his political club in behalf of legislation in which he was interested as a member of the National Council of Traveling Salesmen.

This admission brought some sharp questioning from Mr. Todd, but Mr. Bukofzer insisted he would be a fair and impartial juror, and declared he had kept his mind open on the Ewald case.

"I am a good Democrat and will not be prejudiced in the least," he said.

"Well," said Mr. Todd, "there is no reason why a good Democrat should not serve on a grand jury."

While the grand jury was being organized to delve anew into the Ewald-Healy case, District Attorney Crain's office received from United States Attorney Tuttle evidence to support the latter's charge that Healy while a city employe contracted with the American Book Company to use his influence with school teachers in behalf of textbooks the company published. Albert B. Unger, Mr. Crain's chief assistant, said, however, that any misdemeanor charge that might be brought against Healy would be outlawed by the statute of limitations because the last pay voucher was dated in July, 1928.

The Federal grand jurors investigating Healy's income tax status remained in session, with more than a week's work ahead of them, it was understood. The study of bank records by Alvin McK. Sylvester and Thomas J. Curran, Mr. Tuttle's assistants, it was said, has opened up a possible new source of graft. Mr. Tuttle, however, refused to comment.

I. Nicholas Gordon, attorney for former Magistrate Ewald, filed motions in Federal court to reopen the time limit in which motions may be made concerning the mail fraud indictment which resulted from investigation of the sale of stock in Cotter Butte Mines, Inc., and upon which Ewald now is awaiting trial. Mr. Gordon explained that he wished to make a plea in abatement, which is a method of attempting to nullify an indictment. The motion comes before Judge Kennedy today. It will be opposed by Mr. Sylvester.

ANNE FORREST IN COURT.

Star of Raided Play and Director Released in $500 Bail.

Lee Elmore, director, and Anne Forrest, star of the play "Frankie and Johnnie," which was raided while playing at the Carleton-Brandt Theatre in Jamaica last Wednesday night, waived examination in the Jamaica magistrate's court yesterday on the charge of participating in a performance which tends to endanger the morals of youth.

They were released under $500 bail pending action of the Court of Special Sessions. The charges were the same as those under which nine other players and five persons connected with the business of the production were held last week, and all probably will receive a hearing in the higher court at the same time. Miss Forrest was not in the performance on the night of the raid. Her part was taken by Josephine Evans. Miss Forrest gave her address as 50 East Fifty-eighth Street and Elmore as 454 Riverside Drive, both of Manhattan.

STEINBRINK'S OFFER DENIED BY BROWER

Promises to Press Charges, Though Refused Appointment as Prosecutor's Aide.

ATTACKS ROOSEVELT ANEW

Charges He "Ham-Strung" Ewald Inquiry—Brooklyn Bar Willing to Hold Hearing.

District Attorney George E. Brower of Kings County refused yesterday to appoint Meier Steinbrink, Kings County Republican leader, an Assistant District Attorney in order to prosecute another member of Mr. Brower's staff whom he accused of wrongdoing. Mr. Steinbrink later was in communication with Assistant Attorney General Watson Washburn in connection with that case and the case of Magistrate Leo H. Healy of the Brooklyn Homicide Court.

Magistrate Healy has identified himself as the magistrate whom Mr. Steinbrink, by innuendo in a radio address last Wednesday night, accused of paying for his appointment and more recently of intoxication and assault. Mr. Steinbrink charged that the police records were falsified in the assault case. He also charged that an Assistant District Attorney blocked investigation of a defunct montgage concern in which he was interested.

Mr. Steinbrink, after failing to get the appointment as Assistant District Attorney, issued a statement announcing that he would turn over to those who could investigate the matter to the bottom all the material he had gathered and more. Mr. Steinbrink's statement, also attacking Governor Roosevelt on the ground that the Governor ham-strung the Ewald investigation, follows:

The Governor of this State has tied the hands of the Attorney General by limiting his inquiry to the Ewald case, and in the face of repeated demands he refuses to broaden the scope of the Attorney General's inquiry. To my offer to serve as Commissioner of Accounts without salary the Mayor has "nothing to say," and that is the end of that.

The District Attorney of this county says of my offer to serve as an Assistant District Attorney under him without compensation, and to prosecute some of the matters now before the public, that my offer is only "political." If he regards my offer as a bluff and feels sure that I cannot make good, of course he ought to accept it with alacrity. That would demonstrate whether or not I am merely playing politics or trying to serve the public.

In making the charges I used no names, but there is a French saying, "He who excuses himself accuses himself." Perhaps others will come forward and say that they are the ones who are being publicly castigated.

Let the public be assured that the material which has been gathered for me, and more which I have not yet made public, will be turned over to those who can be trusted to sift this to the very bottom.

After disclosing that he had declined to grant Mr. Steinbrink's request for an appointment as Assistant District Attorney, conveyed in a letter last Saturday, Mr. Brower yesterday made this comment:

"I am still convinced that Mr. Steinbrink, the Republican leader, will call at this office and lay before me the facts on which he based his charge in the speech he made last week. He knows better than anyone else that every minute he delays in coming forward will cause the public to lose such confidence as it had in him. If there is one thing the public resents, it is being deceived."

Fred L. Gross, president of the Brooklyn Bar Association, in commesting on Magistrate Healy's denial of Mr. Steinbrink's accusation which the magistrate called "absolutely a lie," also on the magistrate's challenge to Mr. Steinbrink to come out in the open and name the accused magistrate and submit his proof, made this statement:

"If Judge Healy or any other lawyer believes unjust aspersions on his name or charges against him have been made, the Bar Association stands ready to investigate to bring out the facts, whenever asked."

Mr. Steinbrink conferred for more than an hour with Presiding Justice Edward Lazansky of the Appellate Division, Second Department, in the Justice's chambers in Brooklyn. Other attorneys were present at the conference. Mr. Steinbrink, when asked whether the conference had any consection with his charges, asserted it concerned litigation over the Smithtown Horse Show.

TEN AMERICAN BANKS WOULD AID COLOMBIA

President Olaya Tells Congress, However, That They Insist on Financial Reform at Once.

BOGOTA, Colombia, Sept. 15 (AP).—President Enrique Olaya Herrera in a message to Congress today announced that ten American banks stood ready to assist Colombia in recovering from its financial crisis, provided a series of financial reforms were immediately introduced.

At the same time the administration informed Congress that the petroleum law, which would permit foreign exploitation of Colombia's oil riches, must be passed immediately.

The President's message listed the following American banks as disposed to offer a loan of $20,000,000 to cover the State's needs for the last half of 1930:

The National City Bank and the National City Company of New York, the First National Bank of Boston and the First National-Old Colony Corporation, the Continental Illinois Company and the Continental Illinois Bank and Trust Company, the Bankers' Trust Company, the International Manhattan Company, Inc., the International Acceptance Bank, Inc., of New York, and the Bankers' Company of New York.

Under past organization, the message said, the national debt would be 32,000,000 pesos [about $31,000,000] by 1931, but 2,000,000 pesos would be cut from salaries of government employes in the next three months. Further economies and conversions of bonds would cut the debt to 24,000,000 pesos, which would be largely covered by a loan already authorized by Congress.

GRAND JURY TO SIFT MARTIN CONCERNS

Inquiry Before Federal Panel Will Start in a Few Days, Prosecutor Says.

A Federal grand jury will investigate the affairs of the Bayside Amusement Company, Filmland Players, Inc., and the Foreign Petroleum Corporation, in all of which Judge George W. Martin of Kings County was an officer or director, and in which many investors lost thousands of dollars, according to Special Assistant Attorney General Kenneth M. Spence. The three business enterprises are under investigation also by United States Attorney Howard W. Ameli in Brooklyn.

Mr. Spence disclosed that subpoenas would be issued within the next few days for the books and other records of the companies. He said he did not know when he would be ready to present the evidence to the Federal grand jury in Brooklyn.

While Mr. Spence was proceeding with his phase of the investigation, William H. Milholland, Deputy Attorney General of New York, continued with his examination of witnesses by questioning George E. Enright, an attorney, of 1,013 Bloomfield Avenue, Jersey City, who incorporated the Bayside Amusement Corporation. Mr. Enright said he did not know Judge Martin. He told Mr. Milholland that he was ignorant of Judge Martin's connection with the Bayside Amusement or other companies.

BOSTON GREETS SALTER.

English Mayor Visits His City's Namesake for Tercentenary.

BOSTON, Sept. 15 (AP).—Mayor Reuben Salter of Boston, England, with his official staff, arrived here today from Montreal to be the guest of the city during the tercentennary exercises this week. He was welcomed at the North Station by Thomas H. Johnson, official greeter for the city.

Mayor Salter went to a hotel for breakfast, after which he paid his respects to Mayor James M. Curley at City Hall. At the State House, Mayor Salter was received by Attorney General Joseph A. Warner in the absence of Governor Allen, who was out of the city.

The visitor was accompanied by Deputy Mayor and Mrs. E. A. Bailey, Councilor James Tait, former Mayor of Boston, England; Councilor Jabez H. Mountain and George Robinson, editor of the Lincolnshire Standard.

He was received by Colonel Percy A. Guthrie, representative of Mayor Curley. With Colonel Guthrie was Leo F. Green, president of the Boston Typographical Union, which will pay honor to the visitor during his stay here because he is a printer.

CITY BREVITIES.

The first Fall meeting of the Shippers' Conference of Greater New York will be held at 1:30 this afternoon in the assembly room of the Merchants Association.

The annual campaign of the Federation for the Support of Jewish Philanthropic Societies to raise $2,221,000 will commence on Oct. 19, the organization announced yesterday.

Renewal of an annual agreement affecting 40,000 longshoremen from Portland, Me., to Norfolk, Va., was sought yesterday by officials of the International Longshoremen's Union at a meeting with representatives of the North Atlantic Steamship Conference at the latter's office, 8-10 Bridge Street. The agreement expires Sept. 30.

Dr. Ira S. Wise, associate in pediatrics at Mount Sinai Hospital, will conduct a course in "Behavior Problems of Childhood and Adolescence" at the Commerce Building of City College, Lexington Avenue and Twenty-third Street, on Tuesday afternoons, beginning Sept. 30, it was announced yesterday.

RANSOM OF $20,000 ASKED FOR CRATER

ceived by her about Sept. 12 though it was postmarked in New York City about Sept. 4 and was written in blue ink on cheap white stationery.

It declared: "Your husband is alive and safe. We have been caring for him since Aug. 14. There's something wrong with his head. We want $20,000. Have money in small denominations. The quiet and easiest way is the best. Otherwise you will not see your darling husband again."

Mrs. Crater was told to communicate with the sender by inserting an advertisement in the personal column of a morning newspaper.

Other Developments in Mystery.

There were other developments in the Crater mystery yesterday, the fortieth since the judge's disappearance. The Board of Aldermen at a special meeting approved the Mayor's request that a $5,000 reward be appropriated by the city for information leading to the discovery of the justice. Joseph Clarke Baldwin 3d, minority leader of the board, declared that "Republicans are anxious for the return of Mr. Crater so that two investigations conducted by the Republicans of the city of New York can proceed along the lines that they desire."

Simultaneously, speaking from station WJZ over the National Broadcasting Company chain, Irving J. Smith, first vice president of the International Secret Service Association at 799 Broadway, declared that "Justice Crater is still alive." The broadcasting company said last night they understood that Mr. Smith's organization had been employed in an attempt to solve the disappearance, but Mr. Smith himself could not be reached to verify that.

Grand Jury Hears Six.

The investigation before an additional term of the September grand jury started slowly. Although more than a dozen witnesses had been subpoenaed, only six testified in the two-hour session. Mr. Crain examined them personally, assisted by Mr. Unger.

William Klein, attorney for the Shuberts and reputed to have been one of Justice Crater's best friends, was a witness. He is understood to have told of the dinner the two had in Haas's restaurant on the night of Aug. 6, just before Justice Crater disappeared. It was said that Mr. Klein testified that the judge got into a taxicab outside the restaurant about 9:30 P. M. and drove west on Forty-fifth Street.

Other witnesses were Commissioner Mulrooney, who placed at the disposal of Mr. Crain the names of all the detectives who have been working on the case; W. A. Ross, a representative of the Chase National Bank; David C. Banks of the Empire Trust Company; Joseph L. Mara, "confidential man" and court attendant for Crater, and Frederick A. Johnson, the jurist's secretary.

It was understood that all repeated their previous stories to the police and could shed no light on the case. Mr. Ross and Mr. Banks brought with them transcripts of Crater's accounts at their banks. Photostatic copies of the canceled checks which Mr. Mara cashed for the judge on the day of his disappearance were introduced in evidence. Mr. Crain refused to divulge Mara's testimony.

Mr. Unger pointed out that the grand jury investigation was the first occasion upon which any of the witnesses had told their stories under oath and he was hopeful that the investigation might iron out conflicting statements.

Other witnesses who appeared but were not called included Inspector Sullivan, Detective Leo Lowenthal, a personal friend of Justice Crater's and the first police representative to "work" on the disappearance, and Simon H. Rifkind and Francis J. Quillinan of the the law firm of Wagner, Quillinan & Rifkind. Mr. Rifkind and Mr. Quillinan, a son-in-law of former Governor Alfred E. Smith, and Senator Robert F. Wagner had been closely associated professionally with Justice Crater before his appointment to the bench. It is understood that Mr. Quillinan will be called before the grand jury today; Mr. Rifkind will appear tomorrow and Senator Wagner is expected to be examined later in the week when he returns from Chicago. Lowenthal is also expected to testify today, as are some of the other detectives connected with the investigation.

It was estimated that "forty cr fifty" witnesses would be called before the grand jury completed its investigation, and Mr. Unger declared that all those connected with the case would be subpoenaed, including show girls mentioned in the inquiry "if they have any bearing on the case." He revealed that an attempt had been made to subpoena Elaine Dawn, night club dancer, said to have known the missing justice, but her physician reported that she was in Polyclinic Hospital and that it would be necessary for her to remain there three or four weeks longer. In response to a question as to whether Mrs. Crater would appear before the grand jury, the District Attorney said: "I hope to have her here to testify."

Aldermen's Vote Unanimous.

The Board of Aldermen after two meetings yesterday afternoon succeeded in gathering fifty-six members, who voted unanimously for a revenue bond issue of $5,000 to raise a reward to any one except police, Sheriffs and deputy sheriffs in New York City for information leading to the discovery of Justice Crater.

The Aldermen were assured by the Acting Corporation Counsel, Charles Horowitz, that they possessed the authority to take such a step, though this opinion differed from one given by Max D. Steuer, who has offered, together with friends, to furnish the city with $5,000 to pay for the reward. The matter now goes to Mayor Walker, who must have the papers on his desk for three days before signing them, after which approval of the Board of Estimate is required. That some of this red tape may be obviated was indicated last night by the Mayor, who said that he would probably accept Mr. Steuer's offer. Senator Wagner and "about forty others," Mr. Steuer said, have joined in a promise to contribute $1,000 apiece to furnish the city with the money for the $5,000 reward.

Mr. Smith in his broadcast from WJZ said:

"I have established the fact that Justice Crater is still alive. He will come back, and it is not too late for him to come back to save his career."

Two New York detectives remained in the Adirondacks yesterday in the vicinity of Elizabethtown investigating "tips" on the missing jurist.

PILOTS OF AIR TOUR RIDE GALE TO REGINA

MANY ARE DOWNED ON WAY

From a Staff Correspondent of The New York Times.

REGINA, Sask., Sept. 15.—The entourage of thirty planes still pushing their way through the Northwest on the 4,900-mile national air tour battled their way today through headwinds of full gale velocity as they hedge-hopped from Winnipeg to Brandon and thence over the 211-mile route to Regina this evening.

The pilots were all exhausted when they landed. Wrists were held and rubbed to aid recovery from their two-hour battle with the air bumps. Because of the strong winds, the planes were forced to fly close to the ground, and several squalls along the route made the air very rough.

As the first planes came into the airport for their landings, the wind indicator showed a gale of sixty-two miles an hour. Flying their heavy ships onto the ground instead of gliding in, the pilots landed with little or no run.

Volunteers from the airport aided in controlling the huge wings on the ground so that the planes could be taxied to the parking line and securely tied down for the night. Weather indications presage lesser winds after sundown.

Despite the abnormal aerological conditions the eighteen contesting planes got through, although several had forced landings from mechanical failures of a minor nature.

J. Wesley Smith and his Bellanca monoplane were forced down on a desolate spot of the sagebrush prairie. A gaping hole was broken in his oil line, letting all the oil out of his engine. His mechanic made temporary repairs and he took off again.

When the timers' report came through to Arthur Schlosser, the scorekeeper, it was found that the wind had played havoc with the point standings of many of the leaders. The two Waco planes, which have been creeping up on the leading Ford tri-motors, overtook every one but H. L. Russell by dint of wide-open flying and accurate navigation.

They now stand in second and third places with but a few points separating them from the leading position and the Edsel B. Ford reliability trophy may pass from competition this year should the Waco planes capture it for the third consecutive year.

M. E. Zeller with the tri-Wasp engined Ford was forced down in the afternoon with structural weakness due to the tremendous strains growing out of the excessive vibration from his 1,260-horsepower engine at full throttle in the battle with the wind. His standing dropped from second to fifth place.

The point standing of the first ten here follows:

Plane and Pilot.	Point Total.
Ford, H. L. Russell	17,765
Waco, Arthur Davis	16,976
Waco, John Livingston	16,767
Curtiss-Kingbird, Walter Beech	16,635
Ford, M. E. Zeller	16,254
Bellanca, George Haldeman	16,012
Bellanca, J. Wesley Smith	14,496
Travelair, Truman Wadlow	12,981
Ken Royce, John Story	12,550
Cabinaire, John Carr	10,875

Dr. Hurse Elected Bishop.

Dr. John W. Hurse of Kansas City, Mo., was re-elected president of the National Baptist Convention of America at a session yesterday morning, ending a deadlock which held the attention of more than 2,000 Negro delegates from all over the country for three days and seriously disrupted the scheduled program. The convention, representing 18,000 Negro churches, 15,000 Sunday schools and 19,500 ordained ministers, was held at the Salem M. E. Church, Seventh Avenue and 129th Street, beginning last Wednesday morning and ending with a religious service last night.

BANKERS MINIMIZE REICH FASCIST GAIN

See Reparation Agreement Safe and Moderates More Prone to Merge.

GERMAN BONDS DROP HERE

Two Reparation Issues Reach Low Mark, but Good Effect on Reich Is Foreseen.

OPPOSITION STILL DIVIDED

Bankers who are informed upon German political and economic affairs asserted yesterday that they saw no cause for concern in the results of the Reichstag elections.

One authority stated that his house had made a close analysis of the situation immediately upon learning of the returns and had consulted with the most informed opinion available. The conclusion had been reached, he said, that the safety of the reparation agreement was in no way endangered. The gain made by the two extreme parties, it was suggested, would have the result of consolidating the moderates and might serve a salutary purpose in arousing the elements pledged to the maintenance of the present economic order to the gravity of the situation they face.

On the basis of the election results as tabulated in yesterday's NEW YORK TIMES, this authority calculated that, at the worst, the parties which could be said to represent "law and order" would have 324 seats in the new Reichstag, against 224 for the radicals of the extreme Right and Left, while at best the moderates could muster 365 votes, against 183 for the radicals. These figures, it was stated, had been very carefully checked and were believed to present a sound estimate of the situation resulting from the election.

Radicals Far Apart.

Other bankers pointed out that a saving feature of the election had been the partition of the gains made by radical groups between the extreme Right and Left, with a resulting division of the opposition to the present republican government. Had either the Fascists or the Communists obtained all the seats lost by the moderate groups, the predicament of the coalition government might be serious. It was remarked that those in charge of the present government are extremely capable men, unlikely to have their policies seriously jeopardized by the realignment of votes in the new Reichstag.

Wall Street's immediate reaction to the election results was expressed in the decline of the two issues of German bonds floated in connection with reparation settlements. The German Republic 7s of 1949, commonly referred to as the Dawes plan bonds, dropped to 105, a decline of seven-eighths of a point and the lowest price reached this year. The German Government International 5½s of 1965, which were sold last June in connection with the Young plan, sank 1⅞ points to 84⅝, a new low record. Both issues closed the day at the bottom, and the turnover in the International 5½s was the heaviest of any bond issue traded in on the Stock Exchange yesterday.

The sharp decline of German Government International 5½s was regarded by bankers as the natural result of dumping by frightened investors who had not taken time to analyze the situation. It was stated that the reaction in German bonds might have a favorable effect in the stimulation of efforts in Germany to restore confidence abroad. Germans of all parties, it was remarked, are intensely proud of the country's credit standing. A general reaction in the price of German Government obligations in foreign markets, reflecting a decline in the status of German credit abroad, would, it was suggested, evoke a sensitive response among Germans of whatever political color.

Denies Fascists Are Socialists.

The significance of the German elections was misunderstood in Wall Street yesterday, according to Dr. George W. Edwards, economist of Stone & Webster and Blodget, Inc., who has just returned to this country after a study of German financial and political conditions.

"The victory of the National Socialist party, while anticipated, is being wrongly interpreted," Dr. Edwards said. "Contrary to its name, this party has no program for the confiscation of property or the impairment of Germany's foreign obligations, since the party is not a socialist but really a capitalist party, including among its numbers many leading industrialists.

"Its program is not well understood because it is one of the newest of Germany's parties. While it bears the term "socialist," it has really nothing to do with socialism or communism, for in fact its aims are diametrically opposed to the principles of socialism or communism.

"The statements that this party aims for the expropriation of capital are entirely incorrect. It is true that some of the party leaders have bitterly criticized German bankers for being international and not national in their foreign financial relations and also have given vent to virulent anti-Jewish feelings. However, the party is made up not only of workers but has also the active support of many industrialists and so cannot be classed as anti-capitalist. It is really nothing more than another expression of the trend toward German nationalism which has been growing stronger and stronger ever since the days of the founding of the German Empire in 1870. It is therefore not a new movement but merely a new stage in the evolution of German nationalism.

"The party is not anti-capitalist but pro-capitalist, since it does not stand for confiscation of German property but rather protection of German capital from foreign aggression; it is not international but rather national and so does not favor communism but rather seeks the development of a powerful German State free from foreign control, whether it be from Soviet Russia or Allied domination."

REICH VOTE STIRS AUSTRIA.

Moderates Fear Result Will Be Spur to Heimwehr Activities.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

VIENNA, Sept. 15.—The result of the German elections, particularly the unexpected gains of the National Socialists (Fascists), is regarded with some apprehension in moderate Austrian circles.

This is heightened by the fact that Prince Starhemberg, the new leader of the Heimwehr, Austria's Fascist private army, personally participated in the Hitler "putsch," and is still in close touch with the German Nationalist leader. It is expected the success of the Hitler party will be accepted by the Heimwehr as an encouraging sign, stirring them to fresh activity in advance of Austria's general elections next month.

The Vienna newspapers of a liberal tendency find the chief explanation for the strengthening of the Right parties in the bad economic conditions in Germany.

"We do not believe," says the Neu Freie Presse, "the highly cultured German people will go over to the camp of the advocates of violence who would like to bring about a new war without respect to relative fighting strength. What happened yesterday in Germany is nothing but an outbreak of violent excitement which showed the world what an irremediable crime was committed by the peace treaties and how great is the indignation at the fact that in a time of terrible unemployment, millions must be paid abroad in reparations."

WASHINGTON UNCONCERNED

Does Not Believe German Elections Will Affect Relations With Us.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—The election results in Germany are not expected here in any way to impair or alter present relations between the United States and Germany. The German-American commercial treaty and the special reparations agreement between the two countries were not presented as issues by any of the political parties during the campaign, and therefore it is regarded as unlikely that they will be affected by the present change in the German political situation.

Officials viewed with considerable interest reports showing that the largest gains were made by extremist parties which have as prominent planks in their platforms demands that the Treaty of Versailles be revised or abrogated and that Germany receive a new reparations deal. No official comment, however, was forthcoming on these subjects.

LEAGUE IS UNEASY OVER GERMAN VOTE

European Situation Considered Worse, With Briand and British Laborites Weakened.

CURTIUS'S SPEECH AWAITED

By CLARENCE K. STREIT.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

GENEVA, Sept. 15.—After a day on which the effects of the German elections formed for the League of Nations Assembly's lobby the subject of unofficial exchanges of views as diverse as they were numerous, Geneva is awaiting with keen anticipation the speech which Dr. Julius Curtius, the German Foreign Minister, is scheduled to deliver to the Assembly tomorrow. It will be the first official German declaration on the question the election has raised as to what will be the Reich's foreign policy now that the extreme Right has gained so heavily.

Dr. Curtius, according to German quarters, will assure the League that the late Dr. Stresemann's policy will be continued. Dr. Curtius will base this on the fact that the three parties opposing that policy—Dr. Alfred Hugenberg's Nationalists, Adolf Hitler's Fascists and the Communists—will remain, despite their gains, a minority in the Reichstag, the combined strength of the other parties pledged to the continuity of the Stresemann policies representing a majority of about seventy.

Likely to Ease Tone.

In general, Dr. Curtius's speech, according to the Germans, will be even more moderate than he had intended before the election, his desire being not to make worse what all admit is an uneasy situation. This applies particularly to disarmament, where it is believed Dr. Curtius will consider it wisest to sooth French anxiety by not making the most tomorrow of the opportunity given him by the statement of Foreign Secretary Henderson of Great Britain that the disarmament provisions of the Treaty of Versailles are as sacred as any other clause in it.

Dr. Curtius was absent from the Assembly today, busily preparing his speech, with the help, it was understood, of telephonic conversations with Chancellor Bruening, which would add to its importance. Many, however, believe that whatever Dr. Curtius says his authority has been considerably weakened, not only by the Fascist and Communist gains but by his own People's party having lost almost half its seats.

Dr. Curtius, at any rate, will be in a setting calculated to increase interest, for Vittorio Scialoja of Italy and Foreign Minister Zaleski of Poland, representing two countries in which the repercussions of the Reich elections are keenly awaited, are also scheduled to speak tomorrow.

The general tendency in the Assembly corridors is to agree that the Reich election has made the European situation worse, but to minimize the results various groups are finding various reasons to hope that the interests they have most at heart will not suffer, at least as much as pessimists fear. The variety of these interpretations, coupled with the wait-and-see attitude and the frank alarm of others, reflects the uncertitude and uneasiness that prevail.

The Germans here are themselves divided as to what kind of government will result from the election. A majority predict the return to power of the "Great Coalition," including the Socialists, but the Socialists here seem doubtful of the party entering the Government and others fear President von Hindenburg will resolutely oppose allowing the Socialists in the Cabinet. The possibility of the present minority regime continuing is also foreseen and that of a government based on the Nationalists and Fascists being formed is discussed, too, but generally discounted as unlikely—unless, of course, there is a "Putsch," or coup. Most of the non-German circles here, including the French, which are willing to predict, foresee either a "great coalition" or the continuation of the present regime. Some liberal Germans believe the Fascists and other Nationalists will gain power but last only six months. Though they think "these six months would cost Germany dear," both through the possible flight of capital and political repercussions in France and Poland, they say it might be the best thing in the long run, for it would lead "to the revolution which Germany has not yet had."

British Optimistic.

The British, the Belgians and others believe that if the nationalistic groups get control they will be greatly chastened by their responsibilities. Despite the dangers to Germany of any sudden change of policy liable to undermine her financial stability and strength, it is the view of these circles that no such change will occur.

Telegrams received here today that Wall Street opened firm, while the Paris and London exchanges closed without a sharp drop, though the tone was heavy, are considered among the most optimistic indications.

What causes the most preoccupation here is the effect the victory in Germany of the Right will have on France and England, and the tendency is to believe it will weaken both Aristide Briand and the Laborites and strengthen the extremists in both countries and elsewhere in Europe. Polish circles predict the Reich election will weaken the Pilsudski Dictatorship, which is accused of being pro-German, and will aid both the Nationalist and Socialist opposition in the November election.

Two conflicting views are held on the effect of the German election on disarmament. The one which is most general is that it will be delayed by a stiffening in the attitude of France and her allies. The other, which some of the British and others profess, is that disarmament may be speeded instead. They argue that the election puts Germany in a better position to demand that the disarmament clauses of the Treaty of Versailles be executed or the Reich would consider itself freed of the treaty provisions disarming it.

Deplore Going to Extremes.

The holders of this view believe France and her allies, faced with such alternatives, would choose the former. At any rate, they think this situation will encourage the French to reach a naval settlement with Italy, so as to be freer on the Rhine, though they admit the same factors are likely to stiffen the Italian demands, making a solution harder.

The fact that the nationalist-monarchist group in Germany will be balanced by the gains of the Communists makes many hope that equilibrium will be maintained in the Reich by Germany being so divided within itself, though the ultimate effect through Europe of this tendency to go to both extremes is causing anxiety.

The uneasiness is not lessened by the existence of millions of unemployed in Europe with Winter coming on pointing to trouble on one side, while the receptivity of Hungary to the claim to the throne of Archduke Otto, who will come of age on Nov. 28, provides the possibility of a spark from the monarchist side.

MODERATES SHAPE COALITION IN REICH

By GUIDO ENDERIS.

hoped that early fears that the election's outcome might react on our international relations will not materialize. The situation now calls for the cooperation of all seriously minded parties in the new Reichstag if danger is to be avoided."

Berlin banks and leading industrial plants today were busy answering the queries of foreign correspondents who desired assurances that the new Reichstag would not develop into a radical partliament. The replies were uniformly of a reassuring character, it was reported in Boerse circles.

Some of the foreign repercussions to the advancement of the Fascist party to the second strongest in the new Reichstag move a section of the press to observe that chiding the bourgeoisie because of its apathy is wholly out of place with regard to the election, which, it is contended, can only be correctly interpreted as a protest by the dispossessed middle classes against the financial oppressions and political persecutions to which Germany is exposed through the Treaty of Versailles and her other foreign commitments, chiefly reparations.

Blame Post-War Burdens.

Twelve post-war years of heckling, it is pleaded, could scarcely have had an effect other than producing a sullen, surly bourgeoisie to whom Adolf Hitler and his preachments suggest the sort of political evangelist for whom Germany has been waiting.

To Dr. Hugenberg's string of Nationalist organs yesterday's radical vote constitutes a brilliant vindication of his fight on the Young plan and Germany's reparation commitments in general as well as her post-war foreign policy.

Herr Hitler's official organ, the Voelkischer Beobachter in Munich, today calls upon the Bruening Government to abdicate, and although his party has not yet uncovered the hand it intends to play in the Reichstag, Dr. Paul Goebbels, its loudest mouthpiece and chief spellbinder, sketched an informal program the party would insist on in case it were asked to participate in the government.

The party, he declared, would demand the Ministries of the Interior and Defense and new elections in Prussia for the purpose of overthrowing the present liberal coalition there. Dr. Goebbels also would requisition the position of chief of police of Greater Berlin for his party. In case it were not taken into the government it would assume a position of active obstruction in the new Reichstag, he decalred. As the second largest party in the Reichstag, it is entitled to nominate one of the four vice presidents of that body, with a decisive influence on parliamentary procedure.

Analysis of yesterday's vote indicates that while the total poll was almost 5,000,000 in excess of that of 1928, the Socialists, despite their superior party machine, failed to get any new voters, even losing ten mandates or 600,000 votes, compared to 1928. The 5,000,000 new voters accounted for in yesterday's poll appear to have been completely absorbed by Herr Hitler's party.

Chancellor Bruening discussed with President von Hindenburg today the Parliamentary situation resulting from yesterday's election upset, and it was agreed that no immediate action should be taken by the government with respect to the convocation of the new Reichstag until the situation had been thoroughly explored by the Cabinet and various party leaders.

President von Hindenburg will leave for Bavaria tomorrow to attend the Reichswehr manoeuvres, while Dr. Bruening will take a brief holiday in South Germany.

As the Constitution provides that a new Parliament shall convene within thirty days after its election, Dr. Bruening, it is reported, will avail himself of the outside limit fixed, as he realizes that the impending negotiations for the formation of a new coalition or the conclusion of a Parliamentary truce with the Socialist party will involve protracted and complicated parleys. They will also suggest whether Dr. Bruening's present Cabinet can safely go before the next Reichstag and demand its confidence or whether it must previously expand the existing coalition to the extent of taking in the Socialists.

Plan to Balk Fascists.

President von Hindenburg and Chancellor Bruening, it was reported today, are determined to frustrate any premature attempts on the part of the Fascists to appropriate any political strategic advantage in the new Reichstag which might endanger the government, both the President and the Chancellor being of the opinion that the new Parliament shall find the Cabinet not only firmly entrenched in office, but also assured of a safe majority in the event that its opponents should attempt to overthrow it.

With the returns of the election now spread out for calm contemplation, their effect on the heads of the government and leaders of the parties which are backing Dr. Bruening may be said to be even more stunning than were the early reactions last midnight, and a few political leaders who meanwhile have recovered from the blow admit the situation as now revealed is fraught with considerable gravity because of the impotency of the bourgeois parties and the wide gap to be bridged before an airtight working agreement can be reached with the Socialists.

With fascism invading the new Reichstag in the guise of 107 rampant Parliamentary obstructionists and seventy-six rioting Communists constituting the third strongest party in that body, the prospects for the season of political tranquillity required to administer the Reich's domestic and foreign affairs appear to be none too bright, especially when it is further recalled that the forty-one votes of Dr. Alfred Hugenberg's die-hard Nationalists will also be permanently cast against the government, thus confronting it with a steady militant opposition of 224 votes.

How to break the point of this attack at the outset is the problem which will now engage Dr. Bruening and the responsible party leaders, and while scores of sharply pointed pencils today attempted to figure out various combinations for a government coalition, all calculations terminated in the realization that a Socialist-bourgeois Cabinet would afford the only steadfast bulwark against the three ultra-radical groups in the new Reichstag.

If the six middle parties now identified with the Bruening Government can be won over to collaboration with the Socialists, the government would be assured of a majority of 125 on all occasions. Its size would shrink if some of the conservative and agrarian groups now supporting Dr. Bruening should withdraw from such a coalition, and his majority would then dwindle to a point well below 100.

None of the parties coming within the scope of such a coalition has officially indicated its position, and it will be another week before the Chancellor initiates his negotiations.

Socialists Are Willing.

In the Socialist camp the apparently inevitable drift toward the reappearance of Germany's largest party in the government is fully recognized and its responsible leaders appear reconciled to such an eventuality, especially as the situation in the Reich has a direct bearing on the present Socialist-Centrist-Democratic coalition in Prussia, which continues to function with a flimsy majority, and also because the Socialists are actively advocating a closer working union between Prussia and the Reich in the person of Otto Braun, the Socialist Premier of Prussia.

As the Socialists have consistently supported the foreign policies of the late Dr. Gustav Stresemann, there would be no point of friction in this direction to hamper their entry into the government with the other middle parties.

It is on the question of some of the financial bills and unemployment insurance reforms that the party as such is out of tune with Dr. Bruening's program, but as the election is now over it is believed a reciprocal exchange of concessions would be all that would be necessary to conclude a truce which would be a prelude to the formation of a big coalition.

When the new Reichstag meets on Oct. 13 about three score Deputies for whom no room can be found in the plenary session hall will be placed on one of tribunes, the maximum seating capacity being for 510 members.

The complete collapse of this new Conservative group, which was organized by twenty-five secessionists from Dr. Hugenberg's Nationalists under the leadership of Gottfried Treviranus, Minister for the Occupied Areas, and Count Westarp, and which gathered only five seats, two for its leaders, provides unconcealed satisfaction in the Hugenberg camp, as Herr Treviranus was the ringleader of the insurgents. On the other hand the lamentable showing the new party made in yesterday's balloting came as a further blow to Chancellor Bruening, of whom Herr Treviranus has been an intimate adviser.

One bright spot in the election returns that provokes gratification is the fact that the party against alcohol was hopelessly defeated and gathered only 1,172 votes in all Germany.

The Final Figures.

BERLIN, Sept. 15 (AP).—The new Reichstag will contain 576 members instead of the 491 who had seats in the last session, 60,000 votes entitling a party to one mandate on the basis of proportional representation.

Socialists	143
National Socialists (Fascists)	107
Communists	76
Centrists	68
Nationalists	41
German People's Party	30
Economic Party	23
State Party (formerly Democratic)	20
Bavarian People's Party	19

PARIS PRESS WARNS OF 'GERMAN MENACE'

Worst Fears Have Been Realized in Election Outcome, Nationalists Assert.

SEE VICTORY FOR DISORDER

By CARLISLE MacDONALD.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Sept. 15.—Out of the complex situation created by the German election French public opinion has drawn at least one definite conclusion, namely, that a very large and aggressive portion of the German electorate has served notice upon France and the rest of the world that it unalterably opposes the treaties of peace and will support all efforts to effect a reconsideration.

Indeed, the astonishing success of the Hitlerites and the big gains of the Communists, in the opinion of most Frenchmen, constitute a victory for the "parties of disorder," if not of actual war. Although the anxiety over the outcome of yesterday's voting is shared by nearly all parties in France, those newspapers which reflect the view of the French Government take a less alarmist attitude.

French Nationalists, however, interpret the elections as nothing less than a menace to the peace of Europe and insist that the worst fears of those who had been talking about the so-called German peril have now been realized. One of the immediate manifestations among these powerful elements in French public life is an insistence upon the development of the French means of defense to a point where military leaders are satisfied of the nation's security from attack.

Many newspapers call upon France to preserve her sangfroid in the face of the present situation, while others have attempted to analyze the German balloting and to inform their readers that a coalition government composed of the Moderate Centre plus the Socialists will probably preserve the country from any dangerous adventure and insure the continuation of the present foreign policy.

Tonight's semi-official Temps says: "Difficult days are now in store for Berlin. They will be difficult for the foreign as well as for the home politics of the Reich. The new fact will henceforth have to be taken into account when foreign affairs are considered. Problems will arise tomorrow which did not appear before. All this counsels prudence, vigilance and firmness. Germany must not commit a single other mistake. Neither must Europe."

The Journal des Débats finds that regardless of what effect the economic situation may have had upon the election it is a striking fact that all German parties, victors as well as vanquished, have advocated revision of the peace treaties and in so doing they merely have been complying with the emotions of the German people.

"Yesterday's poll," continues this Nationalist and pro-government organ, "proves that they were not mistaken, since the bitterest opponents have scored the greatest successes. To deny the great significance of that fact would be both absurd and criminal.

"The era of one-sided concessions must be closed, as well as that of the nebulous conception similar to that of Napoleon III. If the German election provokes useful thoughts followed by a readjustment of our policy, the results may not be so regrettable. We should not become too alarmed, but we should consider it seriously and not neglect the lesson it implies."

L'Intransigeant explains that the success of Adolf Hitler and his followers means that an important section of German opinion has registered its solemn desire for the abolition of the treaties of Versailles and St. Germain, for the restoration of German colonies, the expulsion of foreigners located in Germany since 1914, the suppression of the Young plan and the substitution in its place of a tax upon all importations. All this the newspaper finds, presupposes the abolition of war guilt, the immediate restoration of the Saar Basin, the suppression of the Polish Corridor and the annexation of Austria.

BRITISH RAILROADS TO CLOSE 90 STATIONS

Step Reflects Losses Due to Trade Depression and Growth of Motor-Bus Travel.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Sept. 15.—Simultaneously with the railway centenary celebrations which Ambassador Dawes opened at Liverpool on Saturday came the announcement today of the closing of ninety railway stations throughout Britain to passenger traffic. The action is an indication of the extent to which the British railways have been affected by the trade depression and the widespread growth of motor-bus travel, and will bring the total number of stations closed this year on the four big railways to 176.

This reduction of travel facilities has been "dictated by economy," it is stated, the step having been taken to minimize as far as possible the inconvenience caused by the utilization of alternative means of transport. In almost every case there are motor-bus services, either run by the railways themselves or by companies with which they have working agreements.

The railways, it is pointed out today, have ceased to be "permanent" ways and must adapt themselves to the changing conditions. New stations will be opened from time to time as the requirements demand, but they will not equal the number closed.

"I'm losing, losing my hair!"

THE loss of hair is a depressing influence to men and women alike. It suggests the advance of years, the loss of good looks and other discouraging things. Avert it! The sooner you begin the better.

—And Yet His Son Wants to Be a Doctor

He knows the long years his son must wait before this dream is realized—four years of college, four of medical school, two of internment and then more years of struggling for a practice. An expensive ambition, he knows! Yet he is encouraging his son to see it through. Maybe he can continue to put up the money for books, tuition, clothes, instruments, and fraternities. But suppose the father should be taken away or forced into retirement?

Perhaps you, too, have a son whose ambitions were not considered the last time your insurance was readjusted. A member of this Association is qualified to advise you.

CLOUDS OVER EUROPE CAUSE LONDON GLOOM

CONCERN OVER NAVY CUTS

Italo-French Friction Regarded as Question Dominions Will Want Explained to Them.

NEW IRRITATION FOR PARIS

Germany Believed Likely to Adopt More Truculent Attitude, Making France Even More Touchy.

By CHARLES A. SELDEN.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Sept. 15.—England is unhappy over the general European situation, a fact which is emphasized both by the British reaction to the results of the German election and by the return to London tonight of A. V. Alexander, First Lord of the Admiralty, after fruitless talks with French and Italian naval authorities in an effort to get them to come to some agreement concerning the strength of their fleets.

Also there is little hope in London that helpful results will come from Foreign Minister Arthur Henderson's rebuke of the nations represented at Geneva for failing to take seriously Article VIII of the League covenant, with its implication of general disarmament. Neither is there any expectation that the renewed pleas for a tariff truce of William Graham, president of the British Board of Trade, will make the slightest dent in the economic nationalism now rampant in all Continental countries.

In other words, the British Government and people feel they have had three voices crying in the wilderness and that the present hopelessness of that wilderness is accentuated by the tremendous gains of the reactionary forces in the German elections.

Unity on German Goal Seen.

It is an axiom of the British Foreign Office that all political parties in Germany are agreed on three main points concerning international affairs, namely, that there should be revision of the Versailles Treaty, readjustment of the Polish frontier and a new deal in reparations.

The only difference between the various political groups in these matters is not in what they all want but in the manner they would go about getting it and the degree of truculence they would show in their various methods of accomplishing the desired result.

Therefore the result of the election is not interpreted in London as indicating any desire to change the foreign policy of Berlin. On the contrary, Germany's drift toward reaction in this instance is attributed here to domestic and economic causes and the determination of the vastly increased number of voters supporting the Fascist party that the time has come for the country to adopt Mussolini methods to get rid of industrial depression, unemployment and all other economic ills which Germany is now sharing with most of the rest of the world.

But whatever domestic motives and issues there may have been, England fears the indirect result as far as foreign relations are concerned, because it is taken for granted in London that the increase of the reactionary nationalist element in Germany is bound to prove an added irritation to France, and thus make more difficult the British Foreign Office rôle of promoting good-will among all nations on the Continent.

Also, the gains of the extreme nationalists in Germany, determined, as they are, on militarism, takes a good deal of the edge off Mr. Henderson's great speech at Geneva and makes it far more difficult for Prime Minister MacDonald to carry on effective negotiations at Berlin in behalf of European good-will.

So it is a gloomy day in London when German and French relations promise to become worse and when the hope of a naval agreement between France and Italy almost vanishes. This naval situation is particularly embarrassing to Great Britain just at this time, on the eve of the Imperial Conference, at which the Premiers of the Dominions of Australia and New Zealand are bound to ask for some assurance as to the Mediterranean situation and its present bearing on their own lines of communication with England.

British Hint Two Weeks Ago.

The situation was considered sufficiently acute a fortnight ago for Foreign Minister Henderson to suggest to France and Italy that Britain hoped they might make some progress toward getting out of the naval deadlock which had prevented them from signing the London naval treaty.

That attempt of Mr. Henderson has been supplemented in the past week by Mr. Alexander in his conversations in Rome and Paris with Admiral Sirianni and Jacques Dumesnil, the Italian and French Ministers of Marine. But when Mr. Alexander arrived in London this evening he was plainly pessimistic as far as any agreement by the Mediterranean naval powers was concerned and he will have no cheerful report to make to the MacDonald Cabinet when it resumes sessions Wednesday.

In other words, another axiom of the British Foreign Office is still in full force. It is that Italy will not trust France and France is determined not to consider Italy her equal.

Great Britain is disturbed by the whole situation, but in the opinion of London there is needless affront given to this country by a statement of M. Dumesnil which was telegraphed here from Paris today, in which the French Minister of Marine declared on the very eve of Mr. Alexander's call on him that there had been no change in the situation since the London conference and that France was determined to have a navy equal to any task it might be called on to perform.

"France talks that way now," said one British official, "because she is rich. The world should have made all its peace arrangements when France was poor."

Czech Papers Say Election Results Gravely Complicate Situation.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PRAGUE, Sept. 15.—The Czechoslovak newspapers express consternation at the results of the German elections and agree the political situation in Germany is now gravely complicated.

The newspaper Lidove Noviny sees it as an unpleasant surprise that the German electors should choose the time of the League discussion of M. Briand's pan-Europe plan to vote for reaction. The only hope, the paper says, is that all the Democrats and Constitutionalists will rally before the reactionary foe.

The Narodni Listy says the situation in Germany is more complicated than ever before. The election results, it says, show a retreat from the late Dr. Stresemann's policy and from the Locarno methods.

ENDS CIGARETTE PRICE WAR

Prices of popular-priced brands of cigarettes were advanced yesterday in the metropolitan district by the United Cigar Stores Company of America from 12 cents a pack to two packs for a quarter. The new price brings the United's quotations on these cigarettes in line with those of the Schulte Corporation, the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company and other competitors.

In addition to increasing its prices here United Cigar carried the increase into effect in various other parts of the country. About a month ago a similar advance was announced in New England, Northern New York and certain parts of the Middle West.

By bringing its prices in line with those of its competitors, the United Cigar is believed to have ended the price war which has been waged in the retail distributing field during the last year.

BROKER PAYS, AVOIDS JAIL.

B. G. Ulizio, Former Frelinghuysen Aide, Settles Old Judgment.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 15.—B. George Ulizio, real estate broker here and in Philadelphia, and Southern New Jersey campaign manager for former Senator Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, escaped a jail sentence for contempt of court by paying to L. Barth & Co., dealers in hotel supplies of New York, a judgment for $645.

Ulizio was ordered to pay this amount a year ago by Circuit Court Judge W. Frank Sooy. Ten days ago an attorney for the New York concern called the court's attention to the fact that the order had not been complied with. Ulizio was then ordered to pay the judgment within a week.

WOULD DISARM TO BAR INVASION OF DENMARK

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

COPENHAGEN, Sept. 15.—Denmark's Defense Minister, Lauritz Rasmussen, declared today that complete disarmament of Denmark was doubly urgent as a result of the Fascist victory in Germany. His attitude is that unless Denmark accepts entire abolition of her army she will inevitably become the battlefield in a new European war.

"A new war certainly is not impossible," said Mr. Rasmussen after he had read the election returns from Germany. "Fuel is constantly being piled higher for a new bonfire, and there is danger that Denmark will be drawn into the conflict on the basis of her defense system of 1922, which was a system of partial disarmament. It is a fact that experts have characterized this arrangement as useless in the event of war.

"Present conditions do not offer us a shade of security. They are a threat to Denmark's neutrality, which we can preserve only if we get rid of our armed forces entirely."

The present total disarmament policy of Denmark's Cabinet springs from a determination not to experience Belgium's fate. It envisages a protest to all powers rather than a forcible defense of Danish territory in the event of war.

Politiken and all other Danish newspapers are alarmed today at the triumph of Fascism so close to their doors. They unite in calling the vote a sign of "desperation" among the German masses and they fear the Fascists' enormous gains portend a possible civil war in Germany and a danger to the peace of the world.

12 HELD AT BARCELONA IN STRIKE OF 30,000

Granada Workers Stage General Strike—Lisbon Bakers Quit to Protest Regulations.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MADRID, Sept. 15.—Twelve persons were arrested when 30,000 members of the construction workers' union started a general strike at Barcelona today. This is the first major strike in the leading industrial city in over seven years. Slight clashes took place but the situation is reported to be generally tranquil.

Ostensibly the men are striking for higher wages, but the Governor is investigating the report that the president of the union said before a meeting. "If necessary we will make the strike revolutionary." Steps to reach a settlement before tomorrow are being urgently pushed, with hopes of success.

There was a general strike at Granada today. The police in dispersing a crowd which was attempting to gather in the centre of the city fired, wounding several persons.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LISBON, Sept. 15.—Nearly all the bakers of Lisbon went on strike today in sympathy with the flour millers who are protesting the government's bread regulations.

Through the military bakers and bakeshops, however, the government has undertaken to supply the city with bread so there is no fear of a shortage, according to an official statement.

The government recently issued a new series of regulations specifying the use of certain grades of Portuguese wheat. Now the bakers are asking increases in wages and bread prices if the new regulations are made effective.

BRITISH FORCE DELAY ON PAN-EUROPE PLAN

appoint a committee representing all European States with instructions to study the question and report to the next Assembly. It was this proposal which M. Briand and Mr. Henderson later agreed to support.

American Example Cited.

To those who may be critical of this slow process, Nicolas Politis of Greece replied in a speech in which he outlined the difficulties which had attended the formation of the United States of America and the sacrifices which had attended the maintenance of that union.

M. Politis had also another word of warning to give. There were too many League conferences failing to achieve full results, he said, because the delegates went to them instructed and prepared not to yield an iota of their national rights.

In the afternoon session there was an interesting illustration of the complications in the whole European system. The Lithuanian delegate, speaking of the conference of Eastern European agricultural States, while declaring his country's interest in the question, regretted that the Lithuanians could not attend because of the political situation with respect to Poland.

Later Count Apponyi, veteran Hungarian statesman, took a different attitude. Despite Hungary's political differences with her neighbors, he said, she had started to pursue a policy of economic cooperation. Even if the political position remained unchanged, he thought it would be possible for European countries to make progress along the lines of an economic union. Before that union could be really effective, however, he said, there must be equality of rights and position. He thanked Mr. Henderson in the name of those who had been unilaterally disarmed for his reminder to the rest of Europe that the peace treaties had not been executed so long as general disarmament had not been effected. A promise had been made that the unilateral form of disarmament was to be transitional and that promise must be kept, he said.

The South American delegates, Señor Guani of Uruguay and Ramon Caballero de Bedoya of Paraguay, gave South America's blessing to Pan-Europe with the reservation that the European federation should be within the League.

Señor Guani set the Pan American Union as a model to be followed. He quoted as the truest statement which had been made on the whole situation the phrase which M. Briand had used: "There is not one peace of America and another peace of Europe. There is only the peace of the whole world."

Señor Caballero of Paraguay said the European Union could offer no threat to Latin America. He saw only one danger, in that the constitution of this European group might give rise to a special law which would be harmful to the development of international law. That situation was discovered in 1927 with regard to the working proposals of the Pan-American Congress, he said. The League, he believed, however, would overcome the danger and the proposed union would be so arranged that it would not affect the law, but only the facts to which the law had to be applied.

REPUBLICANS SEEK DRY PLANK ACCORD

State Chiefs to Make Final Effort This Week to Avoid Convention Fight.

TUTTLE'S VIEWS AWAITED

Tentative Draft of Declaration on Tammany Held Up for New Developments.

With the Republican State Convention only ten days off, party leaders, it was learned yesterday, will make a determined effort this week to reach an agreement on the prohibition plank in the platform that will avert a bitter fight at the gathering. A tentative draft of the platform, it is said has virtually been completed with the exception of two planks. One of these is the prohibition plank; the other the plank dealing with the Tammany régime, which the Republicans hope to make the dominant issue in their campaign to recapture the Governorship from the Democrats.

Writing of the New York City plank, it is understood, will await possible new disclosures which the Republicans hope will come before their State Convention meets. The prohibition plank is awaiting the promised statement from United States Attorney Tuttle, to whom most of the leaders look to lead the party fight in the State, defining his views on the wet and dry question. It is believed that any views expressed by him, even though he should come out in favor of repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, would carry decisive weight when the "best minds" in his party sit down to frame a tentative prohibition plank for submission to the convention.

The fact that many of the leaders up-State have given indication of being in revolt against the dry wing proposal to have the platform remain silent on prohibition or else straddle the issue, liberal party men contend, promises to become another important factor in framing the platform declaration.

The conference at Syracuse on Saturday, attended by some twenty-four Republican leaders from the western and central parts of the State, while it reached no decision with regard to the proposal for forming a bloc to offset the dry bloc of delegates that has been formed in the southern tier counties, is regarded as a menace to the program of the drys, including some who, it has been assumed, are in a position to voice the views of Mr. Hoover.

It was stated last night that the dry wing leaders may propose to the convention a rule under which candidates would be nominated first and the platform adopted afterward, thus reversing the practice at Republican conventions.

The special committee, composed of Charles D. Hilles, Republican National Committeeman; Mrs. Ruth Baker Pratt, in her capacity as a National Committee member; Republican State Chairman Maier and Miss Sarah Schuyler Butler, vice chairman of the Republican State Committee, which was appointed for the purpose of nominating a temporary chairman and other officers of the convention, will probably meet this week, it was stated yesterday.

Henry L. Stimson, Secretary of State, will be selected as temporary chairman and in that capacity sound the keynote of the Republican campaign. Frank H. Hiscock, former Chief Judge of the Court of Appeals, has been mentioned in connection with the permanent chairmanship, but it was learned yesterday that it is not at all certain that he will be available for this post.

HARTFORD KEYNOTER OFFERS DRY SOLUTION

Special to The New York Times.

HARTFORD, Conn., Sept. 15.—The prohibition issue came to the fore at the opening of the Republican State Convention here tonight when Senator Frederic C. Walcott, the chairman, proposed a solution of the problem in his keynote speech.

The Senator, who is regarded as close to President Hoover, suggested the election of that sort of Congress which would amend the Volstead act, with approval of the Supreme Court, so that individual States might legislate as each wished on the liquor question.

After the opening ceremonies, tonight's activities of the convention centred around the deliberations of the Resolutions Committee in handling the prohibition question. With many powerful and recently organized forces demanding a stand for the repeal of the State and Federal acts, it was expected that the platform adopted would follow closely the rather unexpected suggestion in the keynote speech.

Lieut. Gov. Ernest E. Rogers of New London, who is expected to be named to oppose Wilbur L. Cross of New Haven, retired Yale dean, for the Governorship, is a dry, but he has indicated that a repeal plank would not deter his acceptance of the nomination. The Democratic platform contains such a plank.

INFANTE OFF TO SEE CAROL

Spanish Prince Is Believed to Bear Friendly Message.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MADRID, Sept. 15.—Spain is watching with interest the trip to Bucharest of the Infante Alfonso of Orleans, cousin of the King, who entertained Ambassador Dawes two weeks ago.

The Prince's wife, the Infanta Beatriz, is a sister of Queen Marie, and it is regarded as unlikely that the Infante Alfonso, who is said to have left Italy today flying his own plane, would be making the trip unless he were carrying a message of friendliness to King Carol. Whether he bears a message from King Alfonso himself has not been revealed.

Meier Steinbrink's leadership of the Brooklyn Republican organization is involved to some extent in nine State committee contests in Brooklyn. Under the rules of the organization, election to the Republican State Committee makes the successful contestant leader of his Assembly district.

There is but one Socialist contest in New York City, and that is entirely technical and of an unusual kind, Reinhold Niebuhr, Socialist designee for the nomination for State Senator in the Nineteenth Senatorial District, who is a member of the faculty of the Union Theological Seminary, cabled recently from Europe, asking that his name be withdrawn. As this was not then possible under the election law, the Socialist leaders will try to grant his wish by asking the Socialist voters to write in on the ballot the name of Donald Henderson.

The polls for the primary election will close at 9 o'clock this evening. In New York City they will open at 3 P. M. and up-State at noon.

BUTLER, DRY, FACES TEST IN BAY STATE

LA FOLLETTE IN CONTEST

"Madison Dynasty" Challenges Gov. Kohler, With Philip Seeking Wisconsin Gubernatorial Nomination.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—A myriad of people in this politically-minded capital will sit up late tomorrow night in the hope of getting radio reports on the outcome of the primary elections in New York, Massachusetts and Wisconsin.

The chief interest in both Massachusetts and Wisconsin is in the Republican contests.

In the Massachusetts Senatorial primary the wet and dry question is involved. Former Senator William H. Butler, close friend of ex-President Coolidge and the latter's political manager in the campaign of 1924, and Eben S. Draper, a former State Senator, are engaged in a spirited struggle. Mr. Butler is dry, but claims not to be fanatically so, while Mr. Draper, an out-and-out wet, is waging his battle under that banner.

Having carried the State for Alfred E. Smith in 1928, Massachusetts Democrats are confident that they will repeat that victory and, in consequence, many candidates are seeking the Senatorial and Gubernatorial nominations, resulting in considerable bitterness, to the encouragement of the dispirited Republicans, who now see, they contend, a bit of hope in what seemed certain defeat.

Democrats Will Name Wets.

The Democrats will nominate wet candidates for Senator and Governor and are hoping that Mr. Butler and Governor Allen, both dry, will head the Republican ticket. Governor Allen has no serious opposition for renomination.

Five candidates are in the field for the Democratic Senatorial nomination and as many for that party's Gubernatorial choice. The belief prevails that the contest has been narrowed to Marcus A. Coolidge (no relation of the former President) and Thomas C. O'Brien.

Some of the Democratic leaders are puzzled over Mr. Coolidge's declaration that he wants the alcoholic content of beverages limited to 14 per cent.

Interest in the Democratic Gubernatorial contest has been stimulated by the withdrawal of John F. Fitzgerald (Honey Fitz), Representative in Congress and former Mayor of Boston, who said the state of his health would not permit him to run.

When his withdrawal was announced it was too late to take Mr. Fitzgerald's name off the primary ballot, and Mayor James M. Curley of Boston has called on his fellow-Democrats to make Mr. Fitzgerald their choice in the understanding that he will not accept, thus leaving it to the party's State convention to name some one in his place.

La Follette Power at Stake.

The Republican contest in Wisconsin has factors which intrigue everybody concerned in politics. There is no Senatorial contest this year, but the battle over the Gubernatorial nomination threatens the prestige and practically complete domination of what its opponents call the La Follette dynasty, the La Follette oligarchy and the Madison king.

These uncomplimentary names are intended to describe the old Progressive Republican organization set up by the late Senator Robert M. La Follette, whose place in the Senate is now occupied by his son and namesake, commonly referred to as "Young Bob."

The La Follette forces are seeking to prevent the renomination of Governor Walter Kohler. They have put forward as their candidate Philip La Follette, "Young Bob's" brother, who has had experience in public office as District Attorney of Dane County, the county seat of which is Madison, the State capital, where the La Follettes live.

There are some critics of the La Follette régime who go so far as to say that the plan is to make Philip La Follette's e tion as Governor a stepping stone to the Senate. If that alleged purpose should eventuate there would be presented the interesting spectacle of two brothers holding both Senatorial seats of the same State.

According to Governor Kohler's supporters, the La Follette group is attempting to run the State Government by drastic methods which are contrary to the democratic principles of the late Senator.

The La Follette forces are seeking to convince the Republican electorate that Governor Kohler reflects the policies and principles of President Hoover and therefore, according to their contention, should be defeated.

RADIUM VICTIM'S CHILD TO GET MEDICAL TESTS

Special to The New York Times.

EAST ORANGE, N. J., Sept. 15.—Funeral services for Mrs. Anna Stasi, 27 years old, of 515 Morris Street, Orange, eighteenth radium poison victim, who died on Saturday, will be held Wednesday. The woman's husband, Dominic Stasi, said he would have his daughter, Dolly, 3 years old, examined to determine whether she has been affected by the poison that took her mother's life.

Although it had been reported that Dr. Harrison S. Martland, Essex County medical examiner, would put the child through a series of tests, Dr. Martland declared emphatically last night that he would not do so. He explained that such a matter was entirely outside his jurisdiction as a public officer.

According to Dr. Henry De Vincentis, private physician for the Stasi family, Mrs. Stasi did not show symptoms of the disease until six months ago. He said that until then the poison had remained dormant in her system and that therefore there was a possibility that the daughter might also be affected.

Mrs. Stasi was employed as a painter of watch dials by the United States Radium Corporation from 1918 to 1922, before she was married. According to relatives, the corporation has never attempted to learn whether or not Mrs. Stasi was suffering from poisoning.

The funeral services will be at Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church in Orange. Burial will be in St. John's Cemetery.

ARREST GEISKING SUSPECT.

Louisville Police Hold Man on Lingle Murder Charge.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 15 (AP).—A man who gave the name of Emerald Harris and his address as Chicago tonight was booked on murder and fugitive warrants pending arrival of Chicago officers who will attempt to identify him as Ted Geisking, sought in connection with the murder of Alfred Lingle, Chicago Tribune reporter.

Harris was arrested Friday on a vagrancy charge, after detectives said they received information that he was a gangster. A boy who gave the name of Stanley Harris was arrested with him and both were held under $5,000 bond, which later was reduced to $1,000.

Pictures of Geisking published in a local newspaper today caused detectives to believe that Geisking and Harris may be the same man. Chicago authorities were notified, and George Riley, investigator of the State's Attorney's office, together with a man who knows Geisking, are expected here early tomorrow.

BYRNS DENOUNCES HOOVER'S POLICIES

HOLDS TARIFF IS BURDEN

Democratic Congress Committee Head Says It Raises Costs a Billion a Year.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—Representative Joseph W. Byrns, chairman of the Democratic Congressional Committee, in a radio speech tonight over the National Broadcasting System, predicted a Democratic House in the next Congress and denounced the Hoover Administration as "one of the feeblest in history."

Mr. Byrns further charged that the Republican party had not carried out its pre-election pledges. The tariff act especially, he said, was contrary to what Mr. Hoover had promised—a limited revision and an adjustment of the farm rates. The Hawley-Smoot act, he declared, was the "least defensible bill ever inflicted on the American people."

"It involves a levy on consumers of about $1,000,000,000 a year, superimposed on the already high cost of living," Mr. Byrns said. "This infliction comes at a time when the country is staggering in the midst of commercial depression and when income taxes are reduced and unemployment is perhaps more rampant than at any time in the history of the nation."

Mr. Byrns replied to charges made by the Republican National Committee that the Democrats were attacking and "misrepresenting" President Hoover. The criticisms which have been made, he said, were justified and were based entirely upon facts. He recalled how the Republicans had denounced President Wilson, "even when he lay prostrate on a sickbed from what proved to be his last illness."

"Could anything be more nonsensical," Mr. Byrns said, "than the whine about Democratic attacks on the President's official conduct of his office when the Congressional Record and the report of convention speeches are full of aspersions on Mr. Hoover by the very men who are now horrified that he should be assailed—aspersions far more venomous, far less respectful than anything the Democrats have uttered against him. * * *

"Of course, Mr. Hoover was not President when these loyal Republicans were aspersing his character and seeking to break down his reputation. Unfortunately, election to the Presidency does not endow a man with any qualifications he did not have before his election. If he was vacillating, uncertain and prone to pass responsibility before he came to the White House, he is very likely to suffer from the same disadvantages afterward."

Jouett Shouse, chairman of the Democratic National Executive Committee, who introduced Representative Byrns, argued that the Simmons-Norris amendment introduced by the Democrats as a substitute for the administrative provisions of the pending tariff act constituted the Democratic program on the tariff and provided for a Tariff Commission that would be in fact as well as in name a scientific expert body.

Under the existing system a tariff commission appointed by the President and subject individually to dismissal at his hands must inevitably reflect his views, Mr. Shouse contended.

Representative John Q. Tilson, House Republican leader, will reply to Mr. Byrns Monday night.

MODIFIES SUSPENSION OF TICKET AGENCY

Theatre League to Enforce Only One Week of Month's Ban on Company at This Time.

The Broadway Theatre Ticket Company, whose contract with the League of New York Theatres was suspended last Thursday for four weeks, beginning next Monday, obtained what virtually amounts to a modification of the suspension from the league's board of governors yesterday.

After hearing pleas to lighten the penalty by A. L. Jones, one of the proprietors of the agency, and Leonard J. Obermeier, attorney for the sixteen ticket brokers accredited by the league, the governors decided that, while the sentence was to be enforced, the manner of its execution was to be changed. Thus only the first week of the four weeks' suspension will become immediately operative, and the remaining three weeks are to be imposed upon the Broadway ticket agency at the will of the league. It is expected that if the agency makes no attempt to circumvent the penalty next week the league's governors will not demand that the other three weeks' suspension be carried out.

In presenting the case of the Broadway agency to the governors Mr. Jones and Mr. Obermeier pointed out that being deprived of tickets for a month at this period of the theatrical season would all but drive the agency out of business. The league said the sentence, which followed disclosures that the agency had been "digging" into tickets held for the public at the New Amsterdam Theatre, was imposed not only to penalize this particular broker but to warn managers and other agencies what would happen if they were caught violating league rules.

BOSTON MAYOR FIGHTS DEMOCRATIC LEADER

Curley Group Rushes State Committee Head in Radio Room After Hostile Broadcast.

BOSTON, Sept. 15 (AP).—Mayor James H. Curley of Boston and Frank J. Donohue, chairman of the Democratic State Committee, were involved in a fight in the broadcasting rooms of station WNAC tonight just after Mr. Donahue had delivered a bitter arraignment of Mr. Curley.

Daniel Coakley, Boston politician backing Joseph B. Ely for the Democratic Gubernatorial nomination, said after the fight that his son Gael had been hit three times while protecting Mr. Donahue from the rush of Mayor Curley and his supporters, and that he would ask for a warrant for the Mayor's arrest tomorrow on an assault and battery charge.

Mr. Donahue and Mr. Curley both broadcast. Mr. Donahue accused the Mayor of violating the corrupt practices act, of telling John J. Raskob, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, that John F. Fitzgerald, the Mayor's candidate for the gubernatorial nomination, was a "clown" and of making a deal with the Republicans.

Witnesses at the studio said Mr. Curley cried, "He can't get away with that," as Mr. Donahue finished, and that the Mayor and his supporters then confronted Donahue and Mr. Ely's backers. A scuffle ensued until the studio was cleared.

There was another encounter on the street in which, Mr. Coakley charged, Mayor Curley again hit his son.

Poliomyelitis Closes Schools.

TOPEKA, Kan., Sept. 15 (AP).—All public and parochial grammar and high schools were closed here today by Dr. Aurel Goodwin, city health officer, as a precaution against the spread of infantile paralysis. Five active cases of the disease have been reported in the city. More than 12,000 children were affected by the closing of the schools. Children under 15 years of age were ordered not to attend public gatherings.

PLANS TO IMPOSE FEE IN CIVIL SERVICE TESTS

Commissioner Says Many Apply for Examination Out of Curiosity—Charge of $1 Proposed.

Applicants for civil service examinations in the future may be required to pay a fee for taking each examination, according to a statement yesterday by John W Keller of the Municipal Civil Service Commission, who said the suggestion was favored by the two other members of the commission, Ferdinand Q Morton and Abraham Kaplan.

In recent months the number of applicants increased tremendously, Mr. Keller said, and many persons took the tests merely to satisfy themselves that they could pass. He mentioned cases of students who took the examinations as a check-up on their progress in education and that many persons already in city service took several examinations in the hope of bettering their positions. Because of these circumstances he said, the clerical work required to hold the examinations and the expense of giving them had risen. In a recent test for second-grade clerk, he said, 25,000 application blanks were distributed, but only one-third of that number took the test. The position pays $1,200 to $1,799 a year.

Mayor Walker first suggested that a small fee be charged when he saw an application from the Municipal Civil Service Commission for $1,600 to pay the cost of holding an examination. Commissioner Keller said he believed a $1 fee in examinations for trained workers would restrict the applicants to those who really desired the positions, and said the fee for examinations in the labor classifications should be twenty-five cents.

SAYS NYE'S AGENTS TAPPED HER PHONE

Mrs. McCormick Asserts, if Senator Knew of It, He Is "Unfit" for Office.

HER SPIES' NOTES REVEALED

Telegrams on Senators' Lives Put Into Inquiry Record at Chicago Sitting.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Sept. 15.—Representative Ruth Hanna McCormick, Republican nominee for Senator, tonight charged that Senator Nye, chairman of the Senate campaign investigating committee, suddenly adjourned a meeting of the body body here this afternoon to forestall evidence she was prepared to give that investigators for the committee had tapped her telephone wires.

Mrs. McCormick unexpectedly appeared at the committee hearing with Attorney General Oscar Carlstrom, regarded as one of her lieutenants, but Senator Nye would not permit Mr. Carlstrom to speak.

"I say that if Senator Nye had knowledge of wire tapping by his employes he is unfit to be a United States Senator and unfit to be chairman of a Senatorial committee," Mrs. McCormick asserted.

Mrs. McCormick said that she would produce before the committee at the first opportunity George E. Cote and Frank Ortlep, who were said by Mrs. McCormick's publicity bureau to have been the men who did the wire tapping.

Spies' Telegrams in Record.

Senator Nye put into the committee records at the sitting copies of telegrams showing how detectives of the W. C. Dannenberg agency, employed by Mrs. McCormick, shadowed members of the committee. Counsel for Mr. Dannenberg protested in vain, and Mrs. McCormick in her statement called the action a violation of the rights of citizens.

Agencies in Washington, D. C.; Omaha, St. Paul and Birmingham were employed in the surveillance, which extended to all members of the committee and to many cities, with particular attention directed toward Senator Nye's life in his home State of North Dakota and in his boyhood home in Wisconsin.

Of the fifty messages delivered by the Western Union Company, forty-seven were put into the record. These begin on July 3 and run into the latter part of August. On July 31 W. C. Dannenberg was in Washington, D. C.

One of the messages to C. C. Albers in Fargo, N. D., asked that nothing be left undone to get a "complete history, including early history in Wisconsin and Minnesota," referring to one of the "subjects," as the committee members and investigators are called in the telegrams. Senator Nye lived for twenty years in Wisconsin, but never lived in Minnesota.

Denies Entering Inquiry.

WASHINGTON, September 15.—The Department of Justice today denied reports from Chicago that it had undertaken an investigation of the activities of private detectives employed by Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick to shadow members of the Senate Committee inquiring into her Senatorial campaign expenditures.

W. J. NICHOLLS GETS DIVORCE AT RENO

Freed From Former Barbara Rutherfurd—Douglass MacLean Receives Decree.

Special to The New York Times.

RENO, Nev., Sept. 15.—Winfield J. Nicholls received a divorce here today from Barbara Rutherfurd Nicholls. The case was heard behind closed doors and the papers were sealed. It was revealed that desertion was the cause of the action.

Sarah B. Morse won a divorce from Benjamin Morse, a New York merchant. Mrs. Morse charged her husband gave her $14 weekly to run the house and nothing for her pleasure or clothing. A property settlement was made out of court.

James E. M. Fetherstonaugh received a decree from Jane Fetherstonaugh of New York on grounds of desertion. They were married in London in 1910 and have two children. An agreement provides for payment of £800 annually and also that Mr. Fetherstonaugh educate their son.

Katrina Van Wyck Bassett of New York won a decree from Hulbert D. Bassett. She charged that he had an ungovernablbe temper and was subject to violent fits of anger. They were married in New York June 14, 1920.

Helen Dudgeon Lee of New York received a divorce from Marion Whitney Lee on grounds of mental cruelty. An agreement, made out of court, provides that the custody of their two children goes to Mrs. Lee, Mr. Lee to support them and her to the extent of half his annual income. If this exceeds $10,000 she is to receive 20 per cent in excess.

A sister of Mr. Lee, Mrs. Cornelia Lee Ladd, wife of William F. Ladd of 410 Park Avenue, is here and is said to be contemplating divorce action.

A petition was filed today to have Louise Polhemus Ogle, wife of Howard E. Ogle of New York and Newark, adjudged incompetent. The petition set forth that Mrs. Ogle, who came here and arranged with a lawyer for a divorce case, is insane and that her husband and Frederick S. Polhemus, a brother, want to be named guardians so that they may take her home.

Mrs. Nicholls is a daughter of Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt of this city by a former marriage to Lewis Morris Rutherford. She was married to Mr. Nicholls on Aug. 11, 1924, at New City, N. Y., after they had met at the so-called "love cult" colony of Pierre Arnold Bernard, who called himself "Oom the Omnipotent," at Nyack, N. Y.

Mrs. Nicholls had previously been married to Cyril Hatch in this city in 1916, the marriage having been ended by divorce in 1921.

Mrs. Bassett is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Van Rensselaer Van Wyck of Summit, N. J. Mr. Bassett was graduated from Harvard University in 1918, and is a member of the Union League, Riding and Rumson Country Clubs and of the Hamilton Club of Brooklyn.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee were married in this city on June 1, 1921. Mrs. Lee is a daughter of Mrs. William Miller Dudgeon of this city and is a member of the Junior League. Mr. Lee was graduated from Harvard University in 1919.

Mayor Finds Auto Shields Removed.

Following his recent action in removing the "P. D." shield from his own car, Mayor Walker said last night that he believed every department head except those of the Police Department had stopped using the insignia. Although he had planned to discuss the use of the shields early this week with Police Commissioner Mulrooney, the Mayor indicated he no longer considered such a conference necessary.

FORD PLANS TO LINK INDUSTRY AND FARM

Factory Workers to Spend Two Months of Year in Agricultural Labor.

MAY ACQUIRE LARGE AREAS

In Interview in Paris, He Also Says Our Tariff Will Induce American Manufacturing Abroad.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Sept. 15.—Henry Ford consented tonight to break the silence which he has imposed upon himself during his present European trip and in a brief interview he made four assertions of more than usual international significance.

He said the American agricultural problem would soon be solved by the participation of industry in farming, the chief feature of which would be a nine or ten month industrial year, the remainder of the twelve-month period to be devoted to agricultural labor by industrial workers.

Says World Is Going Dry.

Turning to a popular issue of the moment, Mr. Ford said emphatically that despite the apparent crisis over prohibition in the United States, the world was going dry. He then turned his mind to Europe and announced that he would soon be engaged in extensive manufacturing of Ford cars on this side of the Atlantic.

Finally he disclosed that he had decided to pay American-scale wages in his European factories—a step which he said he believed would result in a general upward readjustment of the present Old World wage scale. This he thinks will largely augment the buying power of Europeans and make for greatly improved business conditions for all concerned.

Mr. Ford was in an optimistic mood, even upon the question of the new American tariff, and when he was asked to give his opinion of the Hawley-Smoot law he made the following reply:

"Well, I think it will do some good, because it will influence European countries to raise their tariffs and this, in turn, will force us to manufacture over here."

Plans for transforming European assembly plants into manufacturing plans, Mr. Ford went on to explain, are now actively under consideration, and while nothing definite has yet been decided, the Ford company expects to manufacture in Europe wherever such a move is warranted.

Mr. Ford was asked for an opinion in regard to the threat of European countries to proceed with economic reprisals in retaliation against the new American tariff bill, and here again he evinced his steadfast optimism.

"The more they put up the tariff on this side the more incentive we will have to manufacture over here," he replied.

He nodded assent when some one inquired whether he did not believe it would be far better to manufacture within the rising tariff walls of Europe than to try to scale them with products made in Detroit and other American cities.

Derides $1.12 Daily Wage.

Mr. Ford for most part confined himself to brief, crisp statements, decidedly oracular in character, but when asked if he thought a general rise in the current European wage scale would not be a good thing for every one, he was quick to say:

"I certainly do think so. They have got to pay a better wage. I have just seen one industry where the average wage works out at $1.12 a day. You couldn't get very far in the United States with $1.12."

Harking back to the question of American firms manufacturing in Europe, he laid down this principle as one which should guide those contemplating such a step.

"If they think they can do as well or better than European manufacturers they ought to come in."

Regarding his own product, the manufacturer said he had no intention of making a smaller and cheaper car for European consumption in order to meet the increased cost of gasoline and the high taxes on horsepower.

"What kind of car would you rather have," he asked the correspondents, "one with a small engine or a large one—one that took you wherever you wanted to go or one that didn't? Our car will remain the same in all countries and will sell at the same price, production costs, of course, being considered."

Mr. Ford refused to enlarge upon the participation of industry in farming, but he spoke with finality upon the subject, indicating that his company would soon lead the way with the acquisition of large farming areas.

It is Mr. Ford's first visit to France in eighteen years, and he has found many changes. When asked to give a few of his impressions, however, he smiled and said:

"You live over here and know more about it than I do. I like all countries."

Tomorrow he and his party will leave for Oberammergau, where they will see the Passion Play. Afterward they will visit Cologne and inspect the new Ford construction plan just begun there. Mr. Ford will sail home from England on Oct. 16.

SOVIET EXPLORERS FIND AND NAME 2 ISLANDS

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MOSCOW, Sept. 15.—The ice-breaker Sedoff arrived at Archangel yesterday, ending an Arctic exploration trip. Professor O. Schmidt, the leader, expressed satisfaction with the results achieved.

"Soviet Arctic exploration," he said, "has accomplished more during the last few years than was done during all czardom."

Professor V. U. Wise, one of the members of the expedition, said he thought exploration by ship had many advantages over aircraft exploration. He said that, while the dirigible Italia under Nobile had passed close to the Wise and Kamenieff Islands, nobody aboard the airship noticed them, whereas the Sedoff had found them and charted their positions.

Other professors who accompanied the expedition said it was one of the most interesting of Arctic trips and that it had done much toward filling in blank areas on the polar map.

From Fridtjof Nansen Land, formerly Franz Joseph Land, came a radio message today from M. Ivanoff, leader of a group left there to operate a radio station and send meteorological reports. The message said the radio was working well and that the men were comfortable while the long polar Winter was setting in.

The Sedoff left Archangel on the Arctic expedition early this Summer. She landed, besides the radio operators mentioned in the dispatch, a group of scientists and hunters on Northern Land.

Army Moves Kept Strictly Secret, Adjutant Citing Exposures in French Press During War.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BAD KISSINGEN, Bavaria, Sept. 15.—The Bad Kissingen war games started this afternoon on the Bavarian-Thuringian frontier when the "Red" army coming up from the southwest sought to intercept the "Blue" troops marching down from the Thuringian forests on the north to the aid of the city of Bamberg, whose weak "Blue" defense cannot hold out much longer against the superior "Red" forces on the opposite bank of the river.

These Fall manoeuvres of the German Reichswehr, the first held in two years are planned on a novel system to save expenses under a plan worked out by the Defense Ministry, which hopes to provide maximum instruction and practice for its staffs at a minimum cost to the State.

Armies Are "Skeletonized."

All ten divisional staffs of the German Army are participating in the manoeuvres, which will last until noon Thursday, but only two of those staffs, one cavalry and one infantry, actually are backed up by troops. The remaining eight have only a signal corps at hand. These skeleton manoeuvres, as they are known, were first devised by the former Commander of the Reichswehr, General von Seeckt, in 1926.

Then only the staffs were called out, but it was found the games lost much of their realism through the lack of even one body of troops on each side to act as a sort of check on the staffs sweeping over the countryside faster than they could possibly cover the ground under actual fighting conditions. This year the "Blue" army possesses a full cavalry division and the "Red's" full infantry division, and the remaining four staffs on each side are expected to adjust their pace to that of the troops.

General Hasse, commander of Group 1 of the German Army, leads the Blue Army, and General von Kayser, commander of Group 2, directs the Red forces. Neither knows much about the other's whereabouts and neither will be in any way interfered with from General Headquarters, where the commander-in-chief, General Heye, who is retiring from leadership of the Reichswehr Nov. 1 will watch the developments.

Tomorrow President von Hindenburg will arrive to take up quarters in Sternberg Castle, and from there he also will watch the games. On Friday, after a sham battle, President von Hindenburg will review all the troops concentrated in the district.

General von Kayser heard at 5 P. M. that a larger Blue force than he had counted on was concentrated in the Thuringian forests and threatened to flank him if he pushed eastward to support the "attackers" of Bamberg. Thus the "war" is on. He can move as soon as he likes, although part of his troops have been on the march all day and must have a night's rest before they are pushed further.

Clashes Likely Today.

It is expected that he will make his decision late this evening and get under way in the early hours of the morning, probably spreading out northward to meet the advancing Blue reinforcements. The troops are about twenty-five miles apart at the narrowest point, and clashes are unlikely much before noon tomorrow.

The press is not informed of details on the disposition of the troops, nor will it be kept posted on the developments of the fighting. This is due to a desire to prevent the opposing armies from reading of each other's position in the newspapers. The adjutant in charge of information reminded newspaper men that the Germans learned of the development of a French flanking movement through French newspapers during the first drive on Paris in 1914.

The German manoeuvres, in contradistinction to the French manoeuvres, are not being held on an international frontier. The sole purpose is to give higher officers a chance to see what they can do on any bit of strange ground under conditions as real as possible. It is raining hard tonight, adding a final touch of realism to the bivouacking troops.

KYLSANT GROUP SELLS ARGENTINE LINE SHARES

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Sept. 15.—Lord Kylsant's vast Royal Mail group of shipping lines is slowly breaking up. Following the news of a receivership for Lamport & Holt, Ltd., it was learned today that Argentine interests have acquired the Royal Mail group's former holdings of ordinary and preference shares in the Argentine Navigation Company, Ltd. It is assumed here the shares have been sold on terms satisfactory to the Royal Mail group and also that the object of the sale was to increase the liquid resources of the group, thereby lessening its financial difficulties.

Owning 300 vessels with a gross tonnage of more than 100,000 tons, the Argentine Navigation Company is one of the most successful of the companies of which Lord Kylsant is chairman. It carries on a network of passenger and freight services together with towage, salvage work, ship building and repairing. The fleet includes five passenger and freight vessels plying regularly between Buenos Aires and Asuncion, Paraguay, the latest being the motor vessel Ciudad de Asuncion of 2,700 tons, which was built last year.

The company report for 1929 showed a divisible profit of $987,920 after providing for depreciation, income tax and insurance and after placing $450,000 to the reserve account. The company's capital amounts to $10,000,000 and both its ordinary and preference shares have risen steadily on the London Stock Exchange since the middle of August.

FLURRY IN LONDON FINANCE.

But Market Later Modifies Fears Caused by Hitler Triumph.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Sept. 15.—News of the Fascist party's triumph in Germany caused a flutter of apprehension in the London financial district this morning, but by afternoon reassuring private messages had come and the market modified its fears.

German bonds and German exchange, which had slumped in the morning, steadied themselves later, although the victory of Adolf Hitler's party and the gains of the Communists were equally unwelcome shocks. General opinion at the close of business was that, despite the success of the Fascists, there was not likely to be any material change in German policy.

It was felt that the new government, like the last, would have to be a coalition under which no extremist legislation would be possible.

STIMSON CONSIDERS STAND ON ARGENTINA

Secretary of State Confers Also on the Recognition of Bolivia and Peru.

EARLY MOVE IS EXPECTED

In Buenos Aires Former Ambassador to United States Has Audience With President Uriburu.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—Prospects of recognition by the United States of the provisional Uriburu Government in Argentina appeared more imminent today after Secretary Stimson returned to his duties at the State Department from an extended vacation in the Adirondacks and gave immediate attention to the problems raised by the recent revolutions in Argentina, Bolivia and Peru.

Mr. Stimson held a long conference with Francis White, Assistant Secretary of State in charge of Latin-American affairs, soon after reaching his office. Details of their conversation were not disclosed but all indications pointed to a favorable approach to the question of recognizing the Uriburu Government without undue delay.

The State Department has from the first been proceeding carefully, lest a too hasty recognition should be followed by the overturn of the provisional governments, but it is understood officials now feel this possibility is waning. Whether the new government in Bolivia will be recognized simultaneously with Argentina or later is not yet apparent, but it is not the intention of the United States to delay action longer than is necessary.

Contact Already Established.

Already the United States is dealing with them through its diplomatic representatives who were accredited to the previous governments. This, it is contended, does not constitute actual recognition, however, as that will be brought about only through a definite announcement, which is solely the prerogative of President Hoover. As far as is known the present diplomatic representations will be maintained after recognition is extended, while Argentina is expected to send an Ambassadór here, not having had one stationed in Washington for two years. Peru and Bolivia have here, respectively, an Ambassador and a Minister.

Ex-Envoys Call on President.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 15.—President José Francisco Uriburu has recovered from Saturday's indisposition and was at his desk soon after 9 A. M. today. He spent the day at routine executive work and in receiving a large number of delegations offering the support of their organizations.

Several thousand Argentine women of all ages, representing all classes of society, braved nasty weather to march down the Avenida de Mayo to Government House as a demonstration of their moral support. From the days when Argentine women sacrificed their jewels to finance San Martin's march across the Andes to clear the Spaniards out of their last strongholds in Chile and Peru and thus insure the security of Argentina's new-won independence, women have participated in every important political movement. They received equal civil rights with men a few years ago, but so far they have not won the vote, and their activities consequently remain confined largely to demonstrations such as today's.

Speech to Women From Balcony.

President Uriburu left his desk and addressed them from the same balcony of Government House where he took the oath as provisional President last Monday, then granted an audience to the organizers of the demonstration.

Among the audiences granted this afternoon was one to Manual Malbran, former Ambassador in Washington, who was dismissed from the diplomatic service by former President Irigoyen because he left the embassy and returned to Buenos Aires to protest against Señor Irigoyen's discourtesy to the United States State Department on the eve of President Hoover's South American tour. It is expected that Señor Malbran will rejoin the diplomatic service under President Uriburu.

Tomas le Breton, also a former Ambassador in Washington, is another likely candidate for a diplomatic appointment.

More Arrests of Irigoyenists.

Among those detained are members of the "Klan Radical," as a group of Irigoyenistas were known, and the former Irigoyenista Deputy Miliop, who was taken Sunday, the day after he landed from a long trip to Europe.

Envoy Without Portfolio.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

ROME, Sept. 15.—Among the passengers who reached Genoa yesterday on the transatlantic liner Conte Verde was Señor Martinez, who had left Buenos Aires with credentials appointing him Argentine Ambassador to Italy.

While on his way to Italy Señor Martinez was informed of the revolution that had broken out in his own country and at the same time notified that his appointment had been canceled by the new Argentine Government.

As a mark of respect for the distinguished passenger the Argentine flag was hoisted on one of the masts of the Conte Verde and was still conspicuously displayed when the liner reached Genoa.

According to the Italian press, the Italian Government has not yet received any official notification of the dismissal of Señor Martinez and he was received with the honors due the Ambassador of a friendly country. Never before, it is asserted, has a similar diplomatic situation arisen and there is much curiosity in the Roman diplomatic world to see how this odd situation will be settled.

It was learned today that Señor Martinez, in order to avoid unnecessary complications, will not come to Rome, but will remain at Genoa until the situation clears up.

COLD GALE FOLLOWS HEAT IN ARGENTINA

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 15.—Shipping on the River Plate was disorganized today by a sudden fall in the river which prevented the entrance or departure of cargo vessels through the channel leading to the southern end of the city's docks.

Following Sunday's unseasonably high temperature, one of Argentina's famous pamperos, or windstorms, blew up last night, accompanied by extreme cold. As these storms blow off the land they push back the waters of the river and pile them up on the Uruguayan shores hundreds of miles away, necessitating the closing of the dock gates.

Passenger liners enter the northern end of the docks through a deeper channel, and they were able to operate, but as the wind was still blowing a gale tonight the gates of the passenger docks may have to be closed before morning. The river is as rough as the sea during a storm, and is undoubtedly adding to the discomfort of former President Irigoyen aboard a warship anchored in the middle of the river.

MAKE BIG NARCOTIC RAIDS.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

THE HAGUE, Sept. 15.—After two months' shadowing of an international narcotic drug ring, the police today swooped down on a German steamship in Rotterdam Harbor and seized $22,500 worth of heroin, labeled borax. Another seizure in Hamburg netted narcotics valued at $27,500.

All the drugs had been sent from Istanbul by a notorious organization known as "the international six," including among its members Americans, Japanese, Frenchmen, a German and a Swiss. The League of Nations advisory committee on drug traffic helped the police of four nations in the search for the drugs.

The ring has its headquarters in Paris. No arrests have been made yet.

DAMAGED EXHAUST SENT BROMLEY BACK

PLANS NEW OCEAN ATTEMPT

By WILFRID FLEISHER.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

TOKYO, Sept. 15.—A damaged exhause pipe was the principal cause of the forced return early today of Lieutenant Bromley and Harold Gatty after setting out twenty-five hours earlier to fly across the Pacific Ocean to Tacoma, according to meager reports reaching here from Shiriya Saki, where the fliers landed at the northeastern extremity of the mainland of Japan, in a fortified naval zone.

The heat and fumes were so great that the fliers, fearing an explosion, decided to land as soon as they came to the mainland rather than risk continuing thirty-five miles further to the beach at Sabishiro, from which they had taken off at dawn yesterday.

A message relayed from the lighthouse at Shiriya Saki quotes Lieutenant Bromley as saying they had flown within 100 miles of the southern tip of Kamchatka when the pipe was damaged and they decided to return. Otherwise they would have continued fighting the unfavorable winds and fog in the hope of being helped along later by a strong tail wind.

Realizing that the beach at Shiriya Saki was too soft for a safe landing with a heavy load of gasoline, they dumped some before bringing the plane to earth, but this did not prevent the wheels sinking into the sand up to the fuselage.

Officials of the weather bureau here took exception to statements attributed by Japanese newspapers to Lieutenant Bromley that the weather was unfavorable. Mr. Tsu Kiji, who furnished weather information to the fliers before they took off, said this afternoon that the records show the weather was the best possible at this time of year and that the chances for equally good weather again this season will be few. He said he warned Lieutenant Bromley he might encounter fog of a depth of two or three thousand meters, above which he would be unable to rise with a big load of gasoline.

Despite the landing of the American fliers in the prohibited, fortified zone attached to the Ominato naval base, authorities of the Ministry of Communications sent telegraphic instructions to Shiriya Saki to extend every facility to them.

The fliers were in the air twenty-five hours and twenty-one minutes and are estimated to have flown about 2,400 miles.

Plans to Try Again.

TANABE, Japan, Sept. 15 (AP).—Lieutenant Bromley said tonight he would make another attempt to fly to America as soon as his plane could be refueled and made ready. Experts said this would require several days.

The plane must be dug out of the sandy beach at Shiriya Saki, near here, some minor repairs made and a short hop taken to Sabishiro Beach, from which Lieutenant Bromley and his navigator, Harold Gatty, soared away at 5:08 A. M., Sunday.

Lieutenant Bromley ascribed his failure to a broken exhaust pipe from which he and Co-pilot Gatty were sprayed. Their faces chafed and eyes inflamed, they held the plane on its course as long as possible, and then turned back. After landing a physician treated their eyes but found no evidence of permanent injury.

On landing, Lieutenant Bromley said his fuel was sufficient to have carried him to Dutch Harbor in the Aleutian chain of islands, extending thousands of miles from Alaska's mainland. Whether a landing was possible at Dutch Harbor for a land plane was doubtful.

Contest Official Objects.

SEATTLE, Sept. 15 (AP).—Valentine Gephart, technical officer of the national contest committee of the National Aeronautic Association, has issued the following statement here:

"This flight was sanctioned because it was represented to the association that Bromley was carrying a navigator who was known to us to be reliable and because he had represented to us that the plane could carry sufficient gasoline to make the trip.

"But we will not sanction further attempts until satisfactory evidence is presented to us of the reason for his turning back and abandoning this flight, as press reports indicate."

Seize Four and 200 Cases of Beer.

Special to The New York Times.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Sept. 15.—State Troopers today raided "Dutch Frank's," a popular roadhouse at Hawthorne, and reported seizing 200 cases of beer and ale and sixteen half-barrels of beer. The raid was made on complaint of three men from Hawthorne, ho said they had been beaten while guests at the roadhouse. The proprietor, Frank Kahnert, and three waiters were arrested.

The official welcoming committee included Mayor James M. Curley, J. C. Flamand, French Consul; Gardner Fiske, president of the National Aeronautical Association, and Captain Albert Edson, superintendent of the airport, while an international atmosphere was created when Mayor Salter of Boston, England, who arrived today as the city's chief guest of Tercentenary Week, reminded the crowd that representatives of England, France and America were met on Boston soil to cement the friendship born of the allied cause in 1914-18.

Behind a motorcycle escort the airmen were driven to Boston over the "Lindbergh route" through East Boston, Chelsea and Charlestown, to the State House, where they were welcomed in the absence of Governor Allen by Charles P. Howard, Commissioner of Administration and Finance. After a visit to the Hall of Flags Captain Coste and M. Bellonte were hurried to the Common for a public reception.

Tea and a reception by various Boston flying clubs followed at the Ritz-Carlton, and after dinner the fliers again rode through the streets, this time at the head of the historical parade of half a hundred illuminated floats depicting the high lights of Massachusetts history.

Pressure of an exacting schedule sent them to bed immediately after the parade. They are to hop off for Cleveland tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock. They plan to make a stop for luncheon at Syracuse, N. Y.

HARTFORD, Conn., Sept. 15 (AP).—Dieudonné Coste and Maurice Bellonte, transatlantic fliers, arrived here this afternoon in the Question Mark on the first leg of their good-will flight around the country.

A stirring tribute was paid them at 12:10 P. M. by more than 7,000 spectators who awaited their arrival from Curtiss Field at Valley Stream, N. Y.

As the Question Mark soared over the crowd the Governor's footguard band played the Marseillaise. Thirty State motorcycle policemen kept back the crowd as the plane landed.

The plane traveled very close to the edge of the safety lines and stopped to be met by the surging throngs. Police formed a chain to handle the crowd. The two fliers stood up in the cockpit while photographers took pictures and school children walked through the crowd waving the Tricolor of France.

BRITISH PLANES ATTACK INDIAN BORDER TRIBE

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

SIMLA, Sept. 15.—With the Afghan tribesmen dispersed near Peiwar and streaming back across the border, the Royal Air Force today began "exerting pressure" by bombs and aerial demonstrations against the Chamkanni tribesmen within a few miles of Parachinar.

This is a minor difficulty compared with the army of 4,000 Afghans who last week-end threatened to invade the Northwest Province.

The danger from the Afghans has disappeared in the opinion of the authorities, who expect the restoration of quiet on the northwest frontier to be followed by the submission of the few remaining rebels.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Sept. 15.—The recent rioting in the north of Annam, Indo-China, which is admitted to have been more serious than the wired reports indicated, was accredited to the activities of Soviet agents in a statement issued tonight by the Ministry of Colonies.

The troubles started with manifestations which developed into brigandage, pillaging and incendiary acts, leading to serious clashes with the police. More than 100 arrests were made among the rioters.

The statement adds that the incidents took place between Sept. 8 and Sept. 12, and have not since recurred.

Rumania Honors French Fliers.

BUCHAREST, Sept. 15.—King Carol has decorated the French transatlantic fliers, Coste and Bellonte, with the Commander's Cross of the Rumanian Order for Aeronautics.

PARIS, Sept. 15.—A proposal for the construction of a monument commemorating the first flight from this Continent to America at the point where Coste and Bellonte left land has been submitted to the General Council at Caux. The point of Coste's departure has been located one kilometer east of St. Valery-en-Caux, where several eyewitnesses recall the passage of the Question Mark. Enthusiastic approval is expected for the proposal, which originated with the Tourism committee at Caux.

CUTS 103D BIRTHDAY CAKE.

Mrs. F. D. Roosevelt Takes Part in Arnold, Constable & Co. Fete.

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, wife of the Governor of New York State, cut one of the birthday cakes that marked the 103d birthday of the Arnold, Constable & Co. store yesterday. Two cakes were necessary for the occasion, one to be cut and another, like a wedding cake, on which were placed 103 candles.

Following this ceremony at the rear of the main floor of the store, Mrs. Roosevelt, Charles C. Paulding, vice president of the New York Central Railroad and president of the Hnudred Year Club; A. R. Sharton of The Journal of Commerce, Warren Cruikshank, Mrs. Walter N. Sedgwick of the New York City Federation of Women's Clubs, Miss Beatrice Ecks of the Panhellenic Club and others were the luncheon guests of Isaac Liberman, president of the store, in his private offices.

Others at the ceremonies included Miss Annie Sanders, 106 years old, of the Isabella Home at 190th Street and Amsterdam Avenue, who said she may have shopped at the store when she was younger, but didn't definitely remember, and William Creamer, an employe of the store for sixty-nine years.

At the White House tonight it was emphasized that the illness of the President's son was not serious, and that he was simply taking a leave of absence for two or three months. After several days at the camp he will return to the White House.

He has been connected with the aviation company for almost two years.

CASEY SURRENDERS IN ALBANY FRAUDS

Grand Jury Today Will Hear Story of Tax Clerk, Sought Since Labor Day.

NAMED AS THE 'INSIDE MAN'

Fugitive's Entire Connection With the Case Revealed in His Statement, Prosecutor Says.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Sept. 15.—Francis M. Casey, $1,800-a-year tax clerk, who has been a fugitive since Labor Day, gave himself up to District Attorney John T. Delaney at 5 o'clock this afternoon. He probably will be taken before the grand jury tomorrow to tell what he knows about tax frauds unearthed in the office of City Treasurer John J. McCabe.

District Attorney Delaney said Casey told of his connection with the irregularities. It is understood that Casey's statements, which were taken by a stenographer, will be prepared for his signature.

Casey, who disappeared about the time investigators for the Legislative Committee and District Attorney uncovered frauds in the City Treasurer's office, has been sought in many places. It was reported that he had been in Carbondale, Pa., although the police of that city did not arrest him.

Casey was called by Vincent J. Breen, linked with the manipulators, as the "inside man" of an alleged ring that "fixed" tax payments. Breen, an ex-convict, signed a statement saying that the ring offered tax receipts for the full amount of the bills, but that only about half of the money was paid to the City Treasurer.

Since Labor Day, Casey has been reported at Lake George and in various places in Pennsylvania. On Saturday it was reported that detectives from the District Attorney's office were near him. However, he was not captured. Today the District Attorney was informed that the clerk was on his way to Albany and would surrender. He will be asked to sign a waiver of immunity prior to his appearance before the grand jury.

The grand jury began its deliberations today, charged by County Judge Earl H. Gallup. He told the jury that it would be called upon to consider some matters "a little bit unusual—a little bit out of the ordinary run of cases."

"You have read and heard about these matters which will be presented to you by the District Attorney," he said. "I charge you most seriously to consider them fairly and impartially and return, or fail to return, indictments according to the evidence, uninfluenced by an consideration under the sun except oaths and a desire to do your duty."

Evidence of tax "shaving" and irregularities in the handling of the city treasurer's accounts is based on statements made by William J. Hughes, deputy city treasurer. Hughes, who has been suspended from duty, was one of the witnesses before the Legislative Investigating Committee at the Capitol last week. He assumed full responsibility for not detecting the irregularities. City Treasurer McCabe said he knew nothing about it, as he had left the details of the office to his subordinates.

Prohibition Repeal in 3 Years Predicted by Dry British M. P.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Sept. 15.—The American prohibition laws will be repealed in three years, in the opion-ion of James Stewart, Labor member of Parliament for St. Rollox, Glasgow, and himself a prohibitionist. Mr. Stewart, who is now in the United States, made his prediction in a letter which has been received here.

The principal supporters of prohibition in America, he says, are criminal, millionaire bootleggers, who are making fortunes in unlawful trade in liquor. Prohibition has been a tragic failure and has produced more lawlessness than any other policy, Mr. Stewart writes.

During the first Labor Government's term of office Mr. Stewart was Under-Secretary of Health for Scotland.

'RAINMAKER' FAILS IN TEST.

Dr. G. A. I. M. Sykes Does Not Produce Storm at Belmont Park.

Dr. G. A. I. M. Sykes, who has received $8,000 from the Westchester Racing Association for his professed ability to keep away rain from the races at Belmont Park from Sept. 6 to 13, inclusive, failed to produce a rainstorm at Belmont Park yesterday as promised. Last week, when Dr. Sykes's ability to prevent rain was openly challenged and the assertion was made that the dry weather was a coincidence and not due to his efforts, he said he would prove that he could control the weather by producing a rainstorm at a given time.

The time fixed upon was yesterday between 2:30 and 4:30 P. M. At about 3 P. M., when no rain had fallen, Dr. Sykes said it would rain at 4 P. M. and that he needed the intervening time to "assemble clouds." The weather was cloudy and threatening all afternoon, but no rain fell and the deadline came and passed without rain. Dr. Sykes could not be found after 5 P. M. at either of the headquarters he has established at the track.

208 INMATES CALM AS OLD HOME BURNS

MAN, 103, AIDS NURSES

A fire which, for a brief time, threw fear into the hearts of 208 aged and crippled inmates started late yesterday afternoon in the Home of Old Israel, at Jefferson and Cherry Streets, in the heart of the lower east side. Cool action by attendants and several of the inmates maintained order and kept the fire under control until the arrival of firemen.

A short circuit in the elevator machinery at the bottom of a shaft which ran to the top of the six-story building caused the blaze. B. Aronowitz, who was operating the elevator at the time, notified Alexander Krowitz, building superintendent, and Louis Singer, president of the home.

An alarm was sounded, and the attendants took their fire drill positions. Hoses were trained on the flames, which swept through the shaft and caught fire at the roof as well as in the basement. Most of the damage was confined to the bottom floor, where foodstuffs and linen valued at $25,000 were destroyed.

In the meantime, smoke from burning insulation spread through the fourth, fifth, and sixth floors, on which most of the elderly inmates were living.

Nurses and attendants and several inmates made the rounds to keep order. Max Davidson, 108 years old, the oldest man in the home, was one of the most influential in preventing any disturbance among the inmates.

Although the fire was under control before the inmates were in full realization of its danger, the beds of those who were helplessly confined were moved to windows and nurses were posted at the windows to see that no one attempted to jump out.

Firemen had the blaze extinguished and ventilated the floors in short order. Upon hearing of the fire, Louis Frank, superintendent of Beth Israel Hospital, which was located in the building of the home until a year ago, sent an ambulance with doctors and nurses to assist the regular staff.

NEW SOURCE OF INSULIN FOR AMERICA TESTED

40,000 Pounds of Argentine Pancreas, First Importation of Its Kind, Arrives Today.

When the steamship Eastern Prince arrives in New York today she will bring the first importation of raw material for the manufacture of extract to fight diabetes, a consignment of 40,000 pounds of pancreas from the packing plant of Armour & Co. at Buenos Aires for Eli Lilly & Co. of Indianapolis. From these glands the insulin used in treating diabetes is obtained.

Pancreas are so highly perishable that no attempt has hitherto been made to import them. The present shipment was frozen and kept at a temperature of 5 degrees below zero on shipboard. Special precautions are being taken in transferring the shipment to a refrigerator car for movement over the New York Central lines to Indianapolis. The car has been precooled to a temperature of 15 degrees above zero for forty-eight hours.

To insure transfer of the shipment from boat to car without mishap, representatives of Armour & Co., the New York Central, the Merchants Despatch Transportation Company and Lilly & Co. will be on hand. After the transfer dry ice will be placed in the car, which will be forwarded by time freight for delivery in Indianapolis Friday morning.

FINLEY SHEPARD FINED.

Son of Former Helen Gould Pleads Guilty to Parking Violation.

Finley Shepard, 19 years old, of 579 Fifth Avenue, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Finley J. Shepard, was fined $3 in Traffic Court yesterday by Magistrate Edward J. Walsh when he pleaded guilty to parking his automobile in a restricted section. Young Shepard's mother is the former Helen Gould.

A summons was served the youth on Sept. 11, when he left his automobile parked for forty minutes in Madison Avenue between Forty-second and Forty-third Streets.

When he answered his name in Traffic Court Samuel Hilsum, court attendant, asked him if he were the son of Helen Gould. Shepard replied in the affirmative and then made his plea of guilty.

MUKDEN NOW LIKELY TO REMAIN NEUTRAL

Chang Tso-hsiang Says Manchuria Believes Civil War Will Be Abandoned as Futile.

TANG WILL VISIT CAPITALS

By HALLETT ABEND.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

SHANGHAI, Sept. 15.—Chang Tso-hsiang, Governor of Kirin Province, Manchuria, who is one of the strongest Northeastern leaders, today forecast Mukden's probable attitude in declaring before the conference there:

"Manchuria is convinced the present political situation cannot be solved by force of arms and that eventually both the North and the South must agree to other means. Meanwhile, Manchuria will maintain her present attitude of neutrality until Nanking and Peking are both convinced of the futility of further fighting and then Manchuria will act on behalf of mediation and peace."

Tang Shao-yi, former Premier and veteran leader, is departing from Hongkong tomorrow for Shanghai and Nanking. From there he will go to Peking, not to accept a portfolio in the Northern Government but merely to observe, probably as an unofficial peace envoy.

Although Nanking politically and from a military point of view is stronger today than at any time since the first rebellion last October started a series of crises, three of which seriously imperiled the existence of the government, it is understood the Nanking Government does not favor peace moves but is still convinced that a decisive military victory is the only permanent cure for China's ills. Feng Yu-hsiang today is a dangerous enemy of the Nanking Government, and the allegiances of the "gray armies," totaling 130,000 men strung across Shantung, Northern Anhui and Honan Provinces are uncertain.

These gray army commanders have repeatedly changed allegiances in the past, and it is feared they realize today that if Feng Yu-hsiang is decisively defeated they will have no alternative but complete submission to Nanking and later disbandment. Therefore, they are thought likely to espouse Feng's cause.

Nanking officially reports Feng's armies are in wholesale retreat, which is probably strategic and is designed for the occupation of Chihli Province. Nanking commanders on the whole front south of the Lunghai Railway report the occupation of village after village, most of which had been found undefended. Fire on a government hospital train with 300 wounded soldiers, between Shanghai and Nanking, caused a wild panic. One soldier was burned to death and two more are expected to die.

POPE DENIES REPORTS OF HIS FAILING HEALTH

He Tells French Pilgrims He Is "Very Well Indeed"—No Change on French Royalists.

VATICAN CITY, Sept. 15 (AP).—Pope Pius has himself settled rumors that his health is failing.

He told a pilgrimage of French Catholic teachers whom he received last night that he was "very well indeed." He invited them to look at him for themselves, adding, in a gently ironical speech, that he wished to quiet two rumors, one about his health and the other that he might change his attitude against the French royalist movement, which he condemned in 1926.

The Pontiff told the teachers, in regard to the rumor that he was very ill and almost dying, that he often received from all over the world moving letters of filial solicitude for his health. "Up to today the Pope is very well," he said. "As to the future, the Pope, as everybody else, is in God's hands and could not be in any better hands."

As to the French royalists, the Pope said that nothing had changed and that it would not be the Pontiff who would change. Instead, he said, he was praying every day "for our dear children of France, for our obedient and submissive children, who form the joy of our heart, and also for the others who have not submitted."

He concluded by expressing the hope that the recalcitrant royalists would soon "be numbered among the good children who give their common father those consolations of which he has need in the midst of preoccupations filling his life."

PROFESSIONALWORKERS MAY BACK 5-DAY WEEK

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Sept. 15.—A resolution recommending a five-day week as a desirable development in industrial and professional employment is expected to be adopted by the International Federation of Professional Workers, the annual congress of which opened here today. The federation's scope is sufficiently wide to admit all who are engaged in administrative and technical professions.

The subjects to be discussed by the congress between today and Thursday range from rationalization of industry as it affects "white-collar men" to working conditions among moving picture artisans and technicians.

A second resolution likely to be adopted by the federation will urge a standard forty-eight-hour working week, as advocated by the National Federation of Professional Workers of Great Britain. Meanwhile, as a practical step toward the realization of such a week the federation urges upon all countries whose normal week for non-manual workers remains in excess of forty-eight hours to press for the immediate adoption of the schedule of hours for workers in commerce and offices which has been approved by the International Labor Office at Geneva.

At a civic reception today Dr. Carlman, on behalf of Malbert Thomas and others in the International Labor Office, said that after the trials of the World War there was a growing realization that organization was as necessary for the professional worker as for the trade unionist.

proper activities in military and naval matters."

Captain Boy-Ed had been variously accused of directing sabotage here and in Canada, of heading a secret service orginzation to get spies into England and of initiating a scheme to supply German warships at sea through vessels leaving ports here with fraudulent papers.

The confession of a German naval reservist, Richard Peter Stegler, led to the principal attacks upon Captain Boy-Ed. Stegler said the captain directed the operations of a ring to get Germam reservists into England as spies by supplying them with false passports of the United States State Department. He said that one of the bogus American passports enabled Carl Hans Lody, a German spy, to operate in England for several weeks before the British authorities discovered his mission and ordered his execution.

Denounced Charges as "Silly."

Another charge made against Captain Boy-Ed was that he featured a revolution in Mexico to divert the attention of the United States from Europe. In connection with the supplying of German warships at sea, in violation of American neutrality, it was said that the captain had a fund of $750,000 at his disposal.

When Captain Boy-Ed left the country he called most of the charges against him "silly," denounced the "reckless utterances of an irresponsible press" and admitted only his connection with provisioning German cruisers, an enterprise which he defended.

Captain Boy-Ed joined the German Navy in 1891, at the age of 19. For six years he was head of the German Naval Intelligence Office and established a record for originality. For five years before he became naval attaché here he was the chief lieutenant of Admiral von Tirpitz, Secretary of the Navy, in Berlin and helped to popularize the "big navy" idea in Germany through a campaign of "education."

A tall, broad-shouldered officer, he "Americanized" himself when he came here as attaché by shaving off the traditional "Prince Henry whiskers" of the German naval man.

On Feb. 11, 1921, Captain Boy-Ed married Miss Virginia Mackay-Smith, daughter of the late Bishop Mackay-Smith of the Episcopal diocese of Pennsylvania, in a ceremony at Hamburg, Germany. His engagement to her was rumored even before he left the United States and it was reported that an official permit for him to wed arrived here from the German Government just after he had sailed. His wife subsequently paid visits here, but he did not return. After the war he engaged in the commercial shipping business in Germany.

He was the son of a Turkish merchant, and a German mother, Ida Boy-Ed, was a popular novelist in Germany.

Bars Plane Base at Lake.

Special to The New York Times.

TRENTON, N. J., Sept. 15.—Hydroplanes are a menace to navigation and will not be tolerated on New Jersey's inland waterways, the State Board of Commerce and Navigation said in effect in a ruling here today.

The board rejected the application of Frank A. Morgan of Nolan's Point, Lake Hopatcong, for permission to operate a five-passenger hydroplane between Lake Hopatcong and New York City, and to reserve a landing place. The request was denied with the comment that no hydroplane landings will be permitted.

A Statement by the Cadillac Motor Car Company

Concerning the Cadillac and La Salle Program

THE bringing out of the Cadillac V-16 a few months ago and now the new Cadillac and La Salle V-Eights, and early in October the new Cadillac V-12, may give rise to some question as to our manufacturing program.

It is our desire that Cadillac and La Salle owners and the motoring public be apprised of the facts.

The La Salle will remain companion car to Cadillac. It was so introduced, as such it has greatly succeeded and as such it will continue.

• • •

Obviously the number of motor cars which any manufacturer may sell in a given price field is finally governed by the ability of the public to buy them.

Cadillac cars having gained almost universal acceptance in the finest car field, any considerable expansion must be through cultivation of a broader market in lower price ranges.

Our experience has been in building fine cars. The Cadillac organization could not adhere to its fine car ideals and successfully produce a low priced car, but through a more complete coverage of the fine car field it was apparent that we could give greater value and appreciably lower prices.

For the broader market, therefore, we created the La Salle out of our Cadillac experience and developed it as a quality car.

• • •

For the highest priced fields we have produced the sixteen-cylinder Cadillac and the twelve-cylinder Cadillac. And between the very broad market for the La Salle and the relatively narrow market for twelve and sixteen cylinder cars, there is a large market for Cadillac V-8's.

These lines of cars contribute to one another a tremendous influence in sales, a marked advance in values and make possible the low prices at which Cadillac and La Salle cars are sold.

Were it not for La Salle, all Cadillacs would be higher in price; and were it not for the Cadillacs, La Salle prices would necessarily be so high as to defeat the purpose for which the La Salle was designed.

Each of these lines is dependent one upon the other—the Cadillac V-16, the Cadillac V-12, the Cadillac V-8, and their companion car, the La Salle.

LIGHT GUARDS GEMS AS JEWELERS MEET

SEE FAKE AUCTION CURBED

False Appraisals and Credit Sales at Fixed Retail Prices Assailed at Open Forum.

About one thousand retail jewelers arrived here yesterday to attend the twenty-fifth annual convention of the American National Retail Jewelers' Association, which begins today at the Hotel Pennsylvania. The convention, which will continue through Friday, will be opened this morning by a series of welcoming addresses by Grover Whalen, representing Mayor Walker; Harry C. Larter, president of the Jewelers' Security Alliance of New York; W. D. McNeil, president of the New York State Jewelers' Association, and Emil W. Kohn, president of the Jewelers' Association of New York.

Preliminary meetings of the officers of State and local organizations affiliated with the national body were held yesterday, followed last night by an open forum discussion of retail trade problems.

Phineas Peters, president of the Brooklyn Retail Jewelers' Association, reported the activities of that organization had resulted in better police protection, more rigid enforcement of the fake auction ordinances and in combating "unfair competition" of wholesalers selling at retail and the distribution by banks of jewelry items as premiums to get new depositors.

A feature of the exhibits at the convention is a display of diamonds guarded by a new electrical burglar alarm, operated by the Knowles grid glow tube, a product of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company.

The gems are being exhibited under four types of illumination developed by the Westinghouse Lighting Institute and feature the recent development of artificial light filtered to produce lighting comparable to true north daylight.

At the open forum on trade problems conducted in the convention hall last night, it was announced that a bill is now being drafted by the New York City Retail Jewelers' Associations for presentation at the next session of the legislature for the licensing, bonding and regulating of appraisers of jewelry throughout the State, in the attempt to remedy the alleged widespread evil of false appraisals by competing jewelers to customers of other stores.

Fixed retail prices to cash and credit stores alike on nationally-advertised articles, especially watches, were assailed as being unfairly advantageous to the instalment concerns. Two retail prices, one for credit sales with the carrying charge added, should replace the flat price now advertised, it was urged. A survey of wholesalers who also sell retail at wholesale prices was proposed, too, for action by the convention.

GREGORY

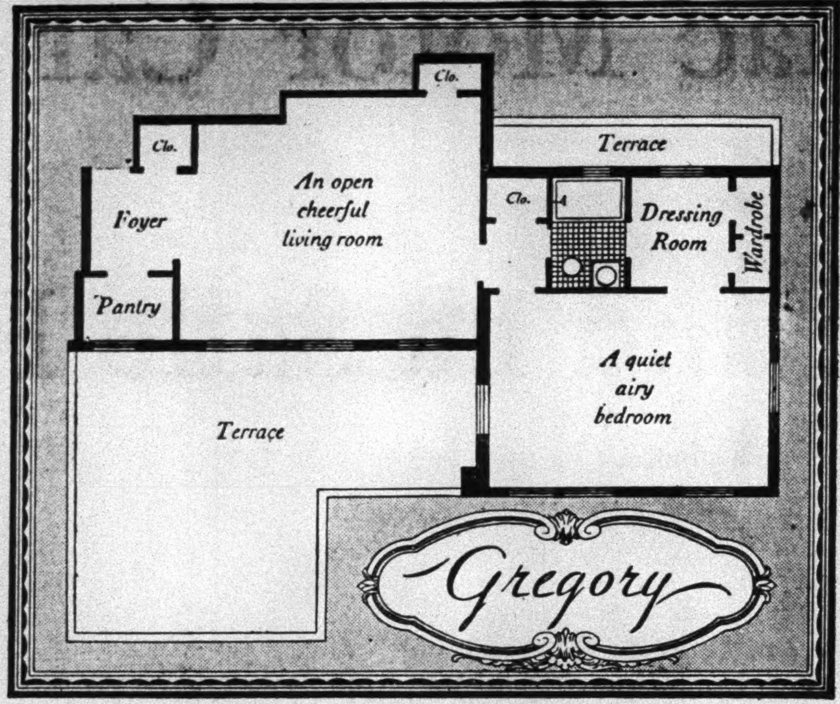
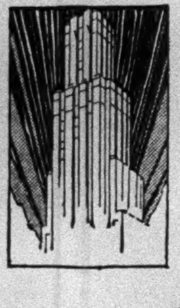
PLAYS GOLF ON HIS OWN COURSE



GREGORY has decided to turn his long, wide terrace into a miniature golf course. (We had to give these apartments names, they're as individual as people.) But for his less athletic friends he keeps his small south balcony. GREGORY likes to be outdoors in the sun as much as possible. He has a large bedroom with windows on three sides, a dressing room with the most modern built-in wardrobe and doors on to the balcony. His living room is large and has three casements overlooking the proposed golf course. His pantry, with a gas stove and gas refrigerator, also faces the links. GREGORY luxuriates in his closet space and bathroom with two entrances, south window, adjustable shaving lights and shower mixer. Also his Khrome marble baseboards, soundproof walls and polished cork floors, chromium fixtures. Maid service and refrigeration included in his rent.



GREGORY'S rent is substantial but not spectacular. He'll be glad to have you stop in and discuss his golf course proposition.

PUTS DEAD AT 2,000 IN DOMINICAN STORM

Commander Johnson, Relief Head, Halves Earlier Figure and Lists 6,000 Injured.

RETURNING TO HAITI SOON

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic, Sept. 15 (AP).—The casualties from the hurricane which wrecked Santo Domingo more than a week and a half ago were placed today at 2,000 dead and 6,000 injured by Commander L. W. Johnson of the United States Navy, chairman of the committee on Red Cross and medical relief.

This figure, contrasting with the 4,000 dead estimated shortly after the storm, was reached by physicians as probably the nearest approach to an accurate estimate in view of the fact that no early records were kept.

Commander Johnson pointed out to President Rafael L. Trujillo that the true number might never become known. He added that of the 6,000 injured, 2,500 are in need of hospitalization.

The American officer also told the President that the relief work now was so well in hand that it could be carried on by a willing and competent personnel here and that he would return to his post in Haiti shortly.

Denies Disagreement.

To printed reports that he was leaving because of a disagreement with the President, Commander Johnson made this statement:

"President Trujillo has never failed to give his support. The President is a good man to do business with. Moreover, we have had cordial support from every doctor and nurse."

Relief work was turned over to President Trujillo today by Ernest J. Swift, director of insular operations for the American Red Cross, who will fly for home tomorrow. Mr. Swift told the President that the American Red Cross had spent about $75,000 so far and that the committee headed by Señor Trujillo would have about the same amount for further emergency needs.

"Your splendid and earnest efforts," Mr. Swift told the President, "could have only one result—to bring order out of chaos. This you have successfully done, and the fine morale of your people speaks volumes for the encouragement they feel in your guidance of their destiny."

Contributions Received Here.

Gifts received by the local Dominican Republic Relief Committee yesterday brought the total subscribed to $62,138.40. Donations sent to the New York Chapter of the American Red Cross, 598 Madison Avenue, included the following: Haskins and Sells Foundation $100, Mrs. George F. Butterworth $100, George Van Keuren $100, Louis Morris Starr $100, J. H. Cooper $100, A friend $100, through NEW YORK TIMES $100, H. G. Ward $50, Miss E. Bicknell $25, Edward B. MacKenzie $20, C. N. Peters $10, A. Spaulding $10, Edgar O. Marty $10, Theresa Dixon $10, Miss C. A. Ransom $10, S. Tobert $10, Miss Ruth S. Baldwin $10, P. A. L. $2, Milton G. Noy $2, Elias Weinthal $2, Anna Landon $2, A friend $1, M. Zilver $5, Bertha K. Kucher $5.

Additional gifts received by the treasurer, H. E. Henneman of the National City Bank, were as follows: Gomez and Compania $50, Rafael Sanchez $5, Francisco Sanchez $5, Juan Maria Diaz $10.

MAMARONECK AWAITS VOTE.

Primary Contest Today Seen as Test for George Burton.

Special to The New York Times.

MAMARONECK, N. Y., Sept. 15.—Republicans here are awaiting the outcome of tomorrow's primary vote, which it is said, might involve the political downfall of Town Supervisor George Burton, prominent in local politics for fifteen years.

Frank Incao, Republican candidate for re-election as leader of the First Election District here, charged today that Tax Collector Santo Lanza, who is said to have Burton's backing, was a candidate opposing him because of a threat from Burton that Lanza would lose his position if he did not run.

Burton has insisted that he has had nothing to do with this and other primary contests, and that he is still loyal to the regular organization. Mrs. Katherin Conklin, chairman of the Republican town committee, has declared that there is a split between Burton and herself.

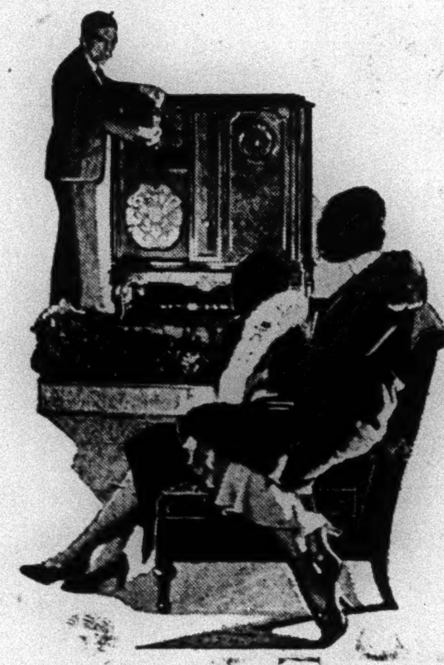
The coverage and advertising cost of The Evening Bulletin, in Philadelphia, set a new standard of efficiency in market service for the advertiser.

Philadelphia and suburbs contain 572,600 homes; The Bulletin's net paid circulation is 555,711 copies daily, almost entirely concentrated in this area. Larger than any Philadelphia Sunday newspaper; more than double the circulation of any other Philadelphia evening newspaper; almost as great as all of the Philadelphia morning papers combined.



The buying power and the stability of a market can be gauged by the number of its individual homes and home owners. Philadelphia presents the largest community of home owners in America ... the greatest sales insurance any market can offer.

The Evening Bulletin was planned for Philadelphia more than a third of a century ago. For thirty-five years it has grown in the confidence and respect of business and of the home, without premium, prize or coupon, without shock headline or circulation contest.

Until, today — the Philadelphia Market is the Bulletin Market. A market of three million people, with its billion dollar potential in yearly retail sales; with its greatest construction program in history giving additional purchasing power; with its 4,987 manufacturing establishments, so varied in their manufactured products that unusually steady employment prevails; with its port and rail facilities providing easy accessibility, and economy of distribution —

With the greatest community of home owners in America guaranteeing stability and permanence in sales.

MISS KANE CHARGES THREAT BY POSNER

Says at Bankruptcy Hearing Merchant Asked Her to Change Testimony on $50,000.

HE MAKES A DENIAL

Secretary of Actress Also Fails to Support Her Accusations—Receiver Considers Suit.

Helen Kane, stage and screen actress, testifying yesterday at the bankruptcy hearing into the affairs of the Bond Dress Company, asserted that Murray Posner, partner in the firm, had threatened to kill her in her room in the Drake Hotel, Chicago, last month if she did not testify falsely concerning $50,000 that passed between her and the bankrupt dress merchant.

The hearing before Referee Peter B. Olney Jr., at 7 Dey Street, was marked by contradictions and conflicting stories in the testimony from both sides of the case. Posner denied that he had threatened Miss Kane, calling her statement "ridiculous and absurd." Even Miss Kane's secretary failed to support the actress's statement fully, being uncertain in her testimony.

Posner had called on her in the hotel, Miss Kane testified, and demanded that she testify that the money was for investment in the dress firm. When she refused, she said, Posner shoved her against the wall and choked her until Miss Sybil Stone, her secretary, emerged from the bathroom and called the house detective.

In his testimony Posner admitted he went to Miss Kane's room, and said the actress had thrown newspapers containing accounts of her connection with him at him when he entered, accusing him of having ruined her career. Posner said he quieted her after some time, and that he later left with Miss Kane and her secretary for the theatre where the actress was engaged.

"At no time," he declared, "did I threaten to kill her or try to choke her, and I never asked her to change her testimony."

Miss Kane testified that the $1,500 Posner gave her last April was in payment of several sums she had advanced to him. She was unable to recall the dates of the loans. Posner asserted that the $1,500 was interest on $50,000 which she had given him to invest for her. The actress also testified that she had turned over to the merchant's sister jewelry that Posner had given her and that the jewelry was to be cleaned and placed in a vault, but that it later was pawned without her knowledge.

Posner said Miss Kane gave him the jewelry and that she knew it was to be pawned.

Every day 650,000 say: "Give me the JOURNAL

A sales manager recently said: "The greatest preferential buy in the world is a newspaper. You have to ask for it to get it."

He might have gone on and said that you also ask for your newspaper by name.

Except on the rare occasions when you are in a strange town, you know very definitely the qualities and characteristics of the different newspapers—and you invariably ask for your own, the one that interests you most, the one you believe, and the one that by long-continued daily service to you has become your favorite.

In exactly that way, 650,000 people buy the New York Evening Journal every day. They say: "GIVE ME THE JOURNAL."

And they lay down a premium price for their favorite—they pay 3 cents a copy for the Journal on week-days and 5 cents on Saturdays.

By their own voluntary order—"Give me the Journal"—they give this newspaper a circulation greater than that of the next two New York evening newspapers combined.

They award this preference to the Journal day after day, week after week, year after year.

650,000 people saying daily—"Give me the Journal"—make the Journal circulation the largest of any evening newspaper in America.

Here you have the evidence of the high regard in which almost 2,000,000 dwellers in New York and its suburbs hold the Journal. There can be no question of such reader loyalty. The reason for it is plain—the Journal is a better and more modern newspaper.

These nearly 2,000,000 readers like the Journal. They read it, and they buy from it.

They have money, as you can see from the fact that they pay more for the newspaper they want. If you want to sell them what you make or offer, the Journal, which they vote for every day—650,000 strong!—is the newspaper to carry your message. (108)

ART CAN MAKE THE BIRD OF BUSINESS SING

Business doesn't need business men—it has them. Business men need artists—to create new ideas, new contours, new materials, new patterns, new containers, new color combinations, new window displays, a new physical appearance for old merchandise. That's what ails sick business—old merchandise and idea-less advertising have turned the public stomach ... Could the "Fisher Body" ever have been born in the brain of an automobile mechanic? The present-day public is acutely style-aware and eagerly art-minded. It demands to be intrigued, titillated, cajoled, dazzled, decoyed, enamoured, snared and trapped with grapes-and-Tantalus subtlety, not to mention Machiavelian cunning, before the public bites and buys. Unimaginative business has to go into partnership with imaginative art, or many a business has to go out of business ... The Martin Ullman Studios not only create ideas for advertising; they create ideas for the article advertised, so that it will go to dealer and user in the most seductive and productive form; so that the eye telegraphs the hand—"Grab!"

BONES OF FRAENKEL ARRIVE IN NORWAY

Andree's Skull Also Included in Relics Brought Back by Swedish Party.

MAPS SHOW WANDERINGS

Notebooks With Jokes, Stories and Practical Bits of Advice Are Among Objects Recovered.

By SVEND ELVESTAD.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

SKOAVIK, Norway, Sept. 15.—Bringing the last relics of the Andrée expedition, the little Swedish vessel Isbjoern arrived tonight in the harbor of Skoavik on the way to Tromsoe and civilization.

In a plain wooden box amidships, still encased in ice, is the skeleton of Knut Fraenkel and the skull of Solomon August Andrée, while below decks are a hundred precious relics preserved by the skill and care of Dr. Knud Stubbendorf.

In the tiny cabin tonight I saw these relics of Andrée's great adventure. They include two interesting maps, which Dr. Stubbendorf has placed between glass plates so they can be read.

On them in pencil marks, zig-zagging like a seismograph chart, is marked the explorers' course on their weary march across the ice. The course moves backward and forward from day to day, showing plainly how the three men were at the mercy of drifting floes.

Were Near Foyn Island.

The maps confirm without a doubt that Andrée and his companions wandered about near the spot north of Foyn Island where the tragedy of the Nobile expedition was enacted thirty years afterward. I asked Dr. Stubbendorf his opinion of what happened to the balloon group of the Italian airship.

"There ought to be a great chance of finding the remains on the west coast of Fridtjof Nansen Land," he answered.

It may be that when the Isbjoern gets back her relics may show the way to some Italian expedition to find traces of General Nobile's lost men.

The other relics are not so sensational, but they are equally touching. There is a white necktie, for example, which Andrée presumably intended for a festive homecoming. There are notebooks with jokes and stories and others with practical bits of advice, including one entry in which Fraenkel noted that bone needles are highly prized by the Eskimos of Greenland.

Apparently the explorers had prepared themselves to drift to Greenland, just as they carried $80 in American gold coins, including a half-dollar of the Columbian Exposition, and orderly stacks of Russian coins in the event of drifting to Siberia or Alaska. There are boxes with geological samples, giving clear proof that even on the slow and painful struggle across the ice the explorers never were too weary to collect specimens and to persist in their scientific work.

Letter From Brother Found.

A letter in a childish handwriting will stir memories in Tromsoe when the Isbjoern arrives there tomorrow. It is from Tore Strindberg to his older brother, intended to be opened on his birthday, Sept. 4. In big sprawling script it congratulates Nils Strindberg and expresses the wish that he come home soon. Tore Strindberg, who wrote it, was then a child. Tomorrow he will be at the dock at Tromsoe to see the relics of his dead brother brought back from the North.

There are some letters to Strindberg from his fiancée, on one of which is a Swedish stamp of 1897, still intact. That stamp is likely to be among the world's most valuable if it ever goes to stamp collectors. Near the letters I saw a box of chessmen, which also contained a variety of sewing utensils, buttons and needles.

Dr. Stubbendorf told me Fraenkel's body when found was frozen until it seemed almost a part of the earth. The head is quite well preserved, but the upper portions are one lump of ice and the bones are very tender.

Dr. Stubbendorf said he could see Andree's skull buried in the ice. There were the remains of a cap around the head, but these remnants were destroyed in digging out the skull.

Faded Flag Dug Out.

Buried in the ground near the explorers' living quarters Dr. Stubbendorf found a flag, originally of yellow silk, with a blue anchor in the centre. The yellow has now faded and the color of the blue has run until it has left marks on the background. The flag is torn and ragged, but the fine texture of its silk can still be felt.

Tonight when I walked on the tiny deck with Dr. Stubbendorf the ship's white mast gleamed against the brown rocks of the coast. Two flags were flying—the blue and yellow Swedish flag and the three-colored Norwegian. Reverently Dr. Stubbendorf took the red and yellow flag and spread it over the coffin on the deck. It will be there tomorrow when Tromsoe receives the ship.

SITES REVEAL TRAIL OF FRANKLIN PARTY

Men Sought to Push South and Then to Return to Ships, They Indicate.

BURWASH ADDS TO DATA

Head of Canadian Air Expedition Will Report to Ottawa on Lost Arctic Explorers.

Special to The New York Times.

EDMONTON, Alberta, Sept. 15.—Evidence that the Franklin Arctic Expedition of 1845 had occupied camp sites which had not previously been connected with the ill-fated expedition was discovered by Major L. T. Burwash, Canadian Arctic flier, on his air trip into the North.

Major Burwash gave the story of his trip, which was made to get traces of the expedition, with which the tragic story may be pieced together. He reached McMurray Sunday on his way back to civilization.

New camp sites and new graves discovered along the westerly shores of King William Land serve to substantiate the theory that men of the Franklin party attempted to beat their way back to civilization by foot, and despairing, turned about and tried to get back to their ships.

No traces of the ships were found despite a close watch kept from the soaring airplane over the area, clouds interfering to some extent.

Dozens of rock formations which appeared to be graves or cairns were opened by Major Burwash during his explorations along the shore line, but he was doomed to disappointment many times by the fact that frost action had piled up the rocks in a manner to make them almost duplicates of man-made markers.

The Major is bringing back relics of the long-lost expedition whose members found death on King William Land when they sought the Northwest Passage. The tragic story of their fight for life in the barren, frost-tightened soils is further revealed by the relics which he obtained and by the finding of graves and skeletons.

"We found certain evidence that the Franklin party had occupied camp sites which have not previously been connected with the expedition," Major Burwash said, "but I am sorry that I cannot tell more at the present time. All details as to the relics must come from the Department of the Interior at Ottawa."

Major Burwash did much photographic mapping, in addition to the hunt for the Franklin relics, and his efforts during the trip will be of utmost importance to aerial navigation in the North when the facts that he has gained are assembled.

Major Burwash had been flown into the barren, wind-blown northland by Pilot Walter E. Gilbert, whom he left at Fort Smith on the way out, C. H. Dickins bringing him on to McMurray.

"If ever a flier deserves credit, he does," the Major said in referring to Gilbert. "He has consummate skill and is thoroughly dependable.

"Tell them that we accomplished as much as I expected to," was his answer to the first query for details of his trip. "It will be the subject of a complete report to Ottawa."

The discoveries made by him will add greatly to the growing store of knowledge in regard to the Franklin expedition and likely complete the story of the tragedy in the North, that of the wanderings of the Franklin men with death gradually closing in about them and finally snuffing out every member.

The relics found by Major Burwash are being crated at Fort Smith for shipment to Ottawa.

Evidence of Amundsen's Northwest Passage expedition also was found by Major Burwash, including a cairn placed by Amundsen at the magnetic pole and containing a photograph of Dr. Neumyer, a German, who financed the expedition. R. Finney, of the Canadian Department of the Interior, joined the group in the North Gjoa Haven and was present at the cairn when it was opened. He is coming out by schooner before the freeze-up.

Enterprise Wins Second Yacht Cup Race From Shamrock V by Almost 10 Minute

By JAMES ROBBINS.

day," explained Mr. Nicholson as he boarded a tender at the New York Yacht Club dock to board the Erin. He had come ashore an hour before to have dinner. "The difference was too great when we took out the ballast and so back it goes."

He seemed cheerful enough at that, and added: "Well, if we don't win tomorrow we will become desperate and maybe we'll have to bore a hole in her." This last remark was accompanied by a hearty chuckle.

When she had been on the wind, and a baby topsail had been put on her in an endeavor to make her point high, her sails were so flattened in there was practically no pull to them. When she came up to the first mark she was next to standing still in the same light breeze in which Enterprise had rounded to the admiration of the throng on the spectator fleet that had assembled to see the spectacular turn.

The defender went around with whipping, barking sails. Shamrock rounded without her canvas making a sound.

The race was sailed in a light breeze of six knots, that obligingly puffed to eight, and on a sea just ruffled, that eventually produced a ground swell as common off here as car tracks in a city, but which had been absent for several days. An Atlantic liner would have cut and refused to rise to it, but the coastal boats bobbed a bit.

It was a day of fluctuating weather with fog in the morning, followed by clearing and sunshine, out near Clay Head, Block Island, where the first buoy was planted, then an overcasting, and finally a fog that was worse to get home in than the mud at the first Tunney-Dempsey fight in Philadelphia.

Out at sea on the second leg it was not so bad. The clouds and airs above were kindly, or at least hesitating. They did not close in until the race was over.

Watchers Grope in Fog.

By that time mist had stolen out from land. The sails of the yachts had turned white or dark to the shade and the fading sun. Then a fog bank came lumbering its way. Into it the fleet headed for harbor plunged, with engine bells soon clanging to check speed.

There was a blasting of whistles, a din of horns. Large and small vessels slowly groped their way. Many almost collided. Paint scraping at least was narrowly averted in a score of instances.

All made for Brenton Lightship, off Brenton Reef at the harbor entrance here. The two divisions that marked the lane of the racing yachts met there. They made so much noise the blasts of the lightship could not be heard. But just then there was a rift in the thickness. Bearings were taken into the harbor.

There was fog in the morning, and a southwest breeze that made the prospect of a race gloomy. The indication was that more murk might be blown inshore, but shortly before 10 o'clock the air began to thin, and the start was made to the course, with its pivotal point nine miles southeast of the lightship.

There, an hour later, a white horizon appeared due south, under slate-colored clouds. A shade lighter than the sea, again smooth, but lively surfaced. Sails were run up on the racing yachts, and just then the breeze hauled west southwest, and came due at six knots. The race committee tug set a course west southwest, southeast by east, and northeast 1-2 east. The race was set for the scheduled time, 11:40 A. M.

Enterprise Has Better of Start.

For the start the racers set the same sails they carried to windward in their first meeting, Shamrock using her longer hoist jib topsail.

Again Skipper Vanderbilt had the better of the start. He had Enterprise going and sent her around the stern of the committee boat just after the whistle. She was on the starboard tack with right of way. Shamrock was trailing under her stern.

As soon as he had crossed the line Captain Heard pinched the challenger, heading her up into a windward lane.

Enterprise began pointing higher. The defender had her first chance in the match to show her windward ability, her best of sailing. Shamrock simply could not lean up against the breeze with her.

Twelve minutes after the start Enterprise went about and crossed Shamrock's bow. Two minutes later the defender tacked back on the challenger's weather.

The breeze picked up and Shamrock began to show a tenderness. She heeled over more and began footing, but Skipper Vanderbilt had her under Enterprise.

Spray began showing under the bows of both craft, but their lee rails were not down to the water's edge.

At 12:05 P. M. Shamrock tacked, and Enterprise swung instantly to keep her advantage in the same wind and tide, which was on the last of the ebb, and flowing to the eastward.

Yachts Fight for Position.

Hardly had Shamrock filled away on the other hand when she swung back, Captain Heard realizing that Skipper Vanderbilt was on the alert and was going to match tacks with him and not let him get away into the possible favor of a different slant of breeze. Enterprise went right around, too.

At 12:17 they swung to the port tack again, Shamrock first and Enterprise the next second.

Twenty minutes later Shamrock took in her jib topsail and set a baby, in the hope she could point higher with the smaller canvas.

Counting the direction to the mark and Enterprise's windward berth, the defender was a quarter of a mile ahead.

Shamrock went about at 12:43. Enterprise held on thirty seconds before turning that time. The mark was in sight ahead. Shamrock went back two minutes later. Enterprise held that starboard tack two minutes longer. That was the first time they did any tack-splitting.

Shamrock wheeled at 12:49. It was not the place for short tacking, with the buoy in sight. Hitching meant waste of precious seconds in stays, while swinging from one hand to the other, but Captain Heard was seeking a slant of breeze with which to make up his lost distance on this swing. Enterprise waited to turn a minute after her rival.

The next time Enterprise was first about, wheeling at 12:58 for a two-minute hitch, but that was because she was working up on the first mark Shamrock also turned down to the southeast of the defender, but swung right back again. Shamrock held on the starboard tack until 1:06.

Shamrock Behind at Mark.

Enterprise tacked and stood for the first mark at 1:15. Nearing it, her jib topsail was taken in and her small ballooner sent up in stops. She rounded the buoy at 1:20:08. Shamrock came up on the port tack and swung around for the mark at 1:22. She did not round the buoy until 1:26:14, 6 minutes and 6 seconds after Enterprise.

As the challenger went up to the buoy her sails were trimmed extremely flat and she did not seem to be making full headway. It was about a three-quarters of a mile lead for Enterprise.

For the close reach Enterprise kept up her staysail under her small ballooner. Shamrock could not carry a lower headsail because of her headstay canvas.

They were going into a slight swell. Enterprise took it steadily, with little pitch. Shamrock's big ballooner buried her forward somewhat. Her head was down and she did not lift easily. At times her stern seemed to rise more than her bow.

Enterprise forged slowly ahead and turned the second mark at 2:21:40. She jibed around and eased off her sails for the reach home.

Shamrock did not get around until 2:30:50, which was 9 minutes and 10 seconds after Enterprise. The defender thus had gained 3 minutes and 4 seconds on the reach, adding that much more to her lead at the first mark.

Heading for home, Enterprise set a larger ballooner and took in her staysail. Shamrock kept on the large ballooner she had carried.

Five miles from the finish the breeze backed a trifle southerly. A spinnaker promptly was broken out on Enterprise. The fog had set in and through it those on the Shamrock could just see the wing go out on the defender. They set none, however.

Air Aids Shamrock at Finish.

The breeze became a little more solid and Shamrock, being the astern boat as it came aft of amidships, benefited by it a little, but at that Enterprise added 24 seconds to her lead on the last leg.

The defender finished at 3:40:44, receiving an ear-splitting reception from whistles as she crossed the line with her great wing spread of mainsail, ballooner and spinnaker, all pulling.

Shamrock was over the finish at 3:50:18, still carrying only mainsail and ballooner.

As Enterprise hove to and sails were taken in, Shamrock came up past her and the crews of the two racers cheered each other. Each boat agreed to race again tomorrow, and the contest will be a windward and leeward one, as was the first.

MODERATE BREEZES FORECAST FOR TODAY

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—The Weather Bureau does not hold out a prospect of good weather for the international yacht race tomorrow. In a special forecast tonight for the Newport district, it said:

"Partly cloudy weather Tuesday, with possibility of light fog in morning and slight risk of thunderstorms in afternoon; moderate southerly winds."

SHAMROCK RETURNS LATE.

Special to The New York Times.

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 15.—Shamrock lay at her moorings tonight down in Brenton Cove, with only a watchman visible on her deck. Her mainsail neatly covered, her wheel hid in a canvas hood, she looked trim and beautiful as usual, despite the day's hard struggle.

She was late in returning to the cove after the race, coming in half an hour after Vara had towed in Enterprise. It was thick outside the harbor, and it was not until the Brenton lightship had been made that the fog lifted and made greater speed possible.

Vara picked up Enterprise directly after the finish, and with almost ten minutes' advantage over Shamrock got a quicker start homeward. Vara went through the fog with her destroyer convoy and made a comparatively fast run-in to her anchorage in the cove. Back of Enterprise came the bulk of the fleet, moving like ghosts up to the harbor entrance.

MANY ARRIVE BY TRAIN.

Interest in Boston So Great That Special Will Be Run Daily.

Special to The New York Times.

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 15.—Because of the poor weather early in the morning there was no difficulty in getting passage on most of the liners which followed the racing yachts.

One special train was reported as arriving, that from Boston, which carried a large delegation of New England Corinthians.

So much enthusiasm has been displayed in that section that the New Haven Railroad will run a special train from Boston every day. The train will make two stops on the way here, at Providence and Fall River.

Raincoats Hide Gay Race Costumes.

Special to The New York Times.

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 15.—Threatening weather kept today's race from being an occasion for gay yachting costumes. Most of the men hurrying down to the New York Yacht Club wharf either carried or wore slickers. The women, too, were prepared for bad weather, most of them wearing light Fall coats.

VANDERBILT TAKES TRIUMPH QUIETLY

Special to The New York Times.

NEWPORT, Conn., Sept. 15.—On the Vara, where Harold S. Vanderbilt spends most of his time between races, there was a quiet air of confidence tonight over Enterprise's second victory, but certainly no gloating over today's triumph.

Mr. Vanderbilt opened the interview with this statement:

The point of the remark was, of course, that Enterprise's skipper did not intend to offer any criticism of Shamrock V.

"We will race tomorrow," said Mr. Vanderbilt, "and probably again on Wednesday."

"Then you want to get it over quickly, is that the case?" he was asked.

"Well, now, boats are deceptive. Shamrock might beat me tomorrow. You know I whipped Weetamoe in our first race and Weetamoe turned right around in the next one and trimmed me. So you can't always be too sure."

Mr. Vanderbilt looked somewhat tired and worn from the strain of the race, though he smiled readily enough as he sat on a big divan in the lounge of his yacht. It did seem, however, that he would like very much to win four races in a row and get it all over with, but he wouldn't say so.

FOOD RUSHED ABOARD YACHT PATROL FLEET

Truckloads of Provisions Are Taken by 40 Coast Guard Ships at Newport.

Special to The New York Times.

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 15.—The big fleet of Coast Guard boats, numbering forty and doing patrol duty over the America's Cup course, requires a vast amount of food and Uncle Sam is not niggardly in feeding his men afloat.

This was amply attested to by the busy scene on Briggs Wharf early this evening after the fleet had returned from the race.

Motor trucks rumbled up to the wharf and dumped off bags of potatoes, boxes of fruit and green vegetables, sides and quarters of beef, whole lambs and crate after crate of chickens, until there were huge piles, neatly stacked, with storekeepers from the various ships busily checking up and stowing it aboard the seventy-five foot patrol boats, to be transported to its proper destination.

At the New York Yacht Club float there was a constant clog of water traffic. Hundreds of ship's tenders scurried back and forth, taking parties out to various yachts and bringing hundreds of seamen for shore leave.

Here, too, the business of provisioning was going on. With the hundreds of boats in the harbor it is no small task to transport all the food needed to the fleet.

PATROL AIR OVER RACERS.

Coast Guard Fliers Soar Over Course as Fog Lifts.

Special to The New York Times.

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 15.—The United States Coast Guard air patrol for the international yacht cup races, thwarted by the fogs of Saturday, was able to function today and two seaplanes came out as the cup yachts were nearing Block Island and flew over the fleet.

Almost at the same time the silver-tipped prows of the two blimps, with newspaper men and photographers aboard, came into view and flew over the course for several minutes before returning in the direction of Newport.

Thus far the air patrol has been of little use, since few commercial and pleasure aircraft have risked the trip to sea, fearing fog such as covered the boats on their way into port this afternoon.

GLOOM SUPPLANTS HOPE ON SHAMROCK

Second Defeat Brings Feeling of Discouragement and Afterguard Is Silent.

Special to The New York Times.

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 15.—Gloom as thick as the fog that blotted out the tail end of today's race pervaded the Erin tonight as Colonel Duncan F. D. Neill, Captain Ted Heard and Charles E. Nicholson sat around a conference table discussing the second defeat of Shamrock by Enterprise.

The confident feeling that was theirs on Saturday, despite that first defeat, had entirely left them, as was quite understandable. As a matter of fact, Colonel Neill, who has acted as intermediary between Shamrock's afterguard and the press, sent out word that he would give out no interviews and asked to be excused from seeing any newspaper representatives.

The Erin, anchored not far from Shamrock down in Brenton Cove, setemed to wear a gloomy look to match the gloom of Shamrock's afterguard.

RELIANCE WAS LONGEST.

Largest Defending Yacht Had Over-All Length of 128 Feet 8 Inches.

Largest of all the yachts to defend the America's Cup was the Reliance, which turned back Shamrock III in 1903. Her length over-all was 128 feet 8 inches, which is as long as the average 600-ton sailing ship, while her water line, although measuring 89 feet 8 inches when on an even keel, actually increased to about 130 feet when she was heeled and her lee rail was awash. Her forward overhang was 28 feet and the after one 26 feet. These long ends with a flat floor and moderately rounded bilges gave very straight fore-and-aft lines and a full water line.

In direct contrast was the iron sloop Mischief, with an over-all length of only 67 feet 5 inches and water line of 61 feet, which defended the cup against the Canadian sloop Atalanta in 1881.

GEESE HELD YACHT OMEN.

Flock's Flight Taken as Favorable Sign for Both Contenders.

Special to The New York Times.

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 15.—A flock of geese swept over the spectator fleet as it churned its way out of the harbor this morning, bound for the America's Cup starting line. The geese wheeled high and were lost sight of quickly.

Some held that this was a good omen for the American boat, but others saw in it a portent of good luck for Shamrock.

Some cynic said it meant nothing more or less than that we would have an early Winter.

18 DAYS FOR 3 RACES SET RECORD IN 1899

Weather Conditions Hampered Columbia and Shamrock I in Longest Series.

The series of 1899 was only a three-race affair and Columbia, the defender, scored over Shamrock I, the Lipton challenger, in three straight encounters, but so bad were the weather conditions that it took eighteen days to complete the series, it being a record in this respect for cup competition.

The first contest was scheduled for Oct. 3 off Sandy Hook and a light northeast wind was blowing as the two yachts came out for the start. A windward-leeward course was laid down and the challenger was first over the line. However, the wind died down until the race became a mere drifting match and finally it was called off. Columbia led around the turn, having a 2:01 advantage. The next time the two yachts came out was on Oct. 6, but the wind failed again and the time limit expired.

The following day they managed to get within five miles of the finish, with Columbia 100 yards in the lead, when the time limit was reached. On the 11th, 12th and 13th attempts were made, but on all three days it proved too foggy and the yachts were not sent away. In the 14th they were towed to the start, but there was not sufficient wind. Finally, on the 16th, after seven unsuccessful attempts a race was sailed.

The next day they also were able to complete an event, although Shamrock carried away her topmast and was forced to drop out, Columbia having a sailover. On the 19th they were out again, but there was no breeze and again came a postponement. The 20th saw a good breeze and both went over the thirty-mile course in fast time, Columbia winning easily.

4 COUNTRIES CHALLENGED.

England Leads, Having Tried Six Times to Lift Cup.

Only four countries, England, Ireland, Canada and Scotland, ever challenged for the cup, England leading with six challenges, Ireland ranking next with five, Canada having made two and Scotland one. All of Ireland's bids have been made through the Royal Ulster Yacht Club, this organization leading in the number of challenges sent by a yacht club.

Escort Crews Play Cards at Race.

Special to The New York Times.

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 15.—The international cup race may be the event of a lifetime to most yachtsmen, but sailors about the Coast Guard ships find time to play "acy-duecy," a form of blackjack, while off duty. They glance occasionally from the game to see how Enterprise and Shamrock V are faring.

ENTERPRISE IS 10-1 TO WIN THE SERIES

But There Are No Takers in Newport Wagering—American Boat 4-1 Choice Today.

Special to The New York Times.

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 15.—As a result of her second successive victory today, Enterprise became an overwhelming favorite to win the series. Odds as high as 10 to 1 were offered tonight with no takers.

Many wagers were made on the race today with backers of Enterprise giving 3 to 1 on the defender. These odds have increased to 4 to 1 on tomorrow's contest.

Bets likewise are being made on the individual legs of the race, with 5 to 1 being offered on the defender to windward and 3 to 1 that she beats the challenger off the wind.

SEAMAN ROUTS THIEVES.

Saves Yacht Race Excursion Ship's Funds Off Providence.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Sept. 15 (AP).—A seaman, returning to the steamship Susquehanna of Newark, running as an excursion boat to the international cup races off Newport, saved the company thousands of dollars in receipts this morning when he frustrated the attempt of thieves to rob the strong box on the vessel. Although he grappled with one of the men on the dock, he lost his hold when he was struck with a blackjack.

Company officials would not reveal how much money was in the safe aboard the vessel but the tariffs of passengers taken to the boat races on Saturday, swelled by a special excursion trip yesterday, were in the strong box. George Lavinier of 25 South Street, New York, discovered the pair as he was about to board the ship this morning. Police were called to the vessel nearly three hours later, and learned that the keys to the purser's office had been stolen during yesterday's excursion.

SHAMROCK I SET RECORD.

Challenger Made Crossing in 14 Days and 20 Hours.

The fastest crossing ever recorded by a challenger was made by the first of the Lipton yachts, Shamrock I, in 1899. Only 14 days and 20 hours were required for the craft to make the run to New York, although much of the time the green-hulled sloop was at the end of a hawser behind the Erin.

In contrast to this is the leisurely voyage of Galatea, which raced in 1886. Her owner, Lieutenant William Henn, had been in the Royal Navy for fifteen years before he retired and was extremely fond of sailing. The yacht was fitted up below as a permanent home for Henn and his family, and it is said that they lived the greater part of the year on her, cruising around. The Galatea was 30 days making the run to this country, finally turning up at Marblehead.

Coast Guard Fires Across Bow Of Unruly Spectator at Race

Special to The New York Times.

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 15.—Small motor boats gave the forty patrol boats of the Coast Guard considerable trouble in their darting amid larger craft to get better views of the racing Enterprise and Shamrock V.

An unidentified boat did not heed the first warning, "Outside of the destroyer lane, please," so a shot was fired across its bow.

The offender hastened out of the prohibited lane and there were few violations of the rules in the neighborhood of that patrol boat for the rest of the day.

THOUSANDS ASHORE VIEW YACHTS IN FOG

HAZE DIMS SIGHT OF RACE

Special to The New York Times.

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 15.—A bright sun which came out shortly after 1 o'clock today brought with it one of the largest week-day crowds of motorists Newport has ever seen. By 4 o'clock in the afternoon there were more than 2,500 automobiles lined up along the ocean drive, starting from Ramshead and stretching all the way to Price's Cove. A haze which rolled in from the ocean, however, made the visibility poor and the motorists did not have a much better view of the spectator fleet upon its return than they did in the first race.

Early in the morning it had appeared extremely dubious that there would be a race. It was very similar to Saturday, with the fog hanging so heavily over the water that it was impossible to see the fleet in the harbor.

By 9 o'clock, however, the haze had lifted to such a point that it was possible to see across to Jamestown, and traffic, which had been much lighter than on the day of the first race, began to increase.

Green-hulled Shamrock First Seen.

About 350 cars were lined up on the drive at Brenton Point about 10 o'clock when Shamrock and Enterprise came out of the harbor under tow, headed for the open sea and the starting line.

Shamrock was the first to come into view, her green hull gently rolling from side to side. More than a quarter of a mile astern was the white defender, and by the time she passed the point it had cleared sufficiently for the shore spectators to see her sailors scurrying about her deck.

The yellow lightship off the reef at this time stood out sharply against the blue background, a marked contrast to the first race, when it never was visible to the thousands that lined the shore.

The majority of the early motorists then departed, but others came to take their places and by 1 o'clock nearly 1,000 cars were parked at various places along the drive.

Far out at sea the tops of masts could be seen and with glasses it was easy to pick out the larger craft and Coast Guard cutters.

Destroyers Keep Crowd on Edge.

A fleet of twelve naval destroyers on the way out to police the course passed out of the harbor about this time, strung out in a long line and helped to keep the crowd on edge.

The remainder of the afternoon until the fleet actually returned it was possible to see yachts out at sea, but they always were too far to be able to distinguish very clearly.

It was impossible to catch a glimpse of the actual race and the visibility decreased as the afternoon advanced. However, the crowd kept increasing, the people coming out to see the huge flotilla return.

Price's Neck proved one of the most popular places from which to watch the proceedings in the afternoon and several hundred cars were parked in the vicinity, many of the motorists climbing out on the rocks to obtain a better view.

TRIO OF SCHOONERS AMONG CHALLENGERS

Only Three, Cambria, Livonia and Countess of Dufferin, Were Two-Stickers.

Schooner races for the America's Cup have been in the decided minority in the long span of years yachts have been competing for the old silver ewer. Of the fourteen challenges which have been received, only three have named two-stickers, and curiously enough these were the first three.

Both of the James Ashbury yachts, Cambria and Livonia, which raced in 1870 and 1871, respectively, were schooners, while the first Canadian challenger, Countess of Dufferin, which was owned by Major Charles Gifford, vice commodore of the Royal Canadian Yacht Club, had two masts.

Cambria sailed against the New York Yacht Club fleet and finished tenth, the schooner Magic beating her by 39 minutes and 12 seconds. Livonia was more successful, for after losing the first two races to Columbia she won the third when the American yacht's flying jibstay parted and her steering gear broke.

But Sappho, which then was chosen to represent the New York Yacht Club, came back to win the final two. Countess of Dufferin was no match for Madeline in 1876 and lost in two straight races. Madeleine, incidently, originally was a sloop, but was converted into a schooner and proved to be champion of the fleet.

LIPTON IS GRIEVED AS HE VIEWS DEFEAT

SOON REGAINS HIS SPIRITS

Jokes With Guests on Board Erin and Suggests That "Ladies Take Charge."

By HENRY R. ILSLEY.

Special to The New York Times.

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 15.—"It is very disappointing, very!" was Sir Thomas Lipton's first comment after Enterprise had crossed the finish line today, a decisive winner over Shamrock V in the second match for the America's Cup.

Sir Thomas had spent the latter part of the afternoon on the bridge of his yacht Erin in company with Captain Edgar Thomas. He had watched the American defender gradually drawing away from his challenger on the second leg of the triangular course.

Through his glasses he saw Shamrock's heavy balloon jib put her down at every dive into the swells and pull aback, as though it was doing as much to retard her progress as to drive her ahead.

The sluggishness of the challenger on this leg of the course was the despair and principal point of comment among the British yachtsmen aboard. It was undoubtedly a majority opinion among them and other guests of Sir Thomas aboard Erin that the two races unequivocally settled the question of supremacy between the challenger and defender.

Holds Changes Did Not Help.

As Enterprise approached the finish line, with Shamrock far astern, a hopelessly defeated yacht, the owner of the latter focused his binoculars on the defender as if he were straining to catch a glimpse of the puff of steam that would indicate, long before the sound could carry far across the leaden waters and through a murky atmosphere, that the race was over.

Then his head bowed slightly, as though he had received a blow. It was all over, and it meant one more hope blighted, one more of his challengers trailing far behind her rival.

Not more than one or two sensed the struggle through which Sir Thomas was passing.

But it was only momentary. He came down from the bridge and walked slowly aft along the port rail, furthest away from the two yachts and the host of accompanying warships and pleasure craft. Encountering a small knot of his friends he exclaimed: "The changes didn't improve her."

He shook his head slowly and dubiously, and then added. "This race was very disappointing after the start."

Would "Put Ladies in Charge."

Then his face brightened like a flash, the old twinkle came into his eyes, the irresistible optimism reasserted itself as he exclaimed with a smile: "But there'll be a big change after tonight. I'm going to put the ladies in full charge."

Turning to one of them, an American, he inquired: "How would you like to be the captain?"

Quick as a flash she came back with: "I'd like to be your captain any time, Sir Thomas."

A little later as the entrance to Newport Harbor loomed through the fog, Sir Thomas amplified his statement a little.

"The race was a great disappointment to me and I cannot understand Shamrock's performance," he said. "Something apparently is wrong and we will try to find out what it is before the next race.

"There is one thing I do know: She does not show the liveliness that she displayed in her trials and races on the other side. The changes that we made after the first race have not improved her and we will consider others before the next race."

Sir Thomas's guests on the Erin knew of the alterations that had been made in her trim and the removal of a ton of ballast after the race on Saturday.

Before today's start they were optimistic that with these changes and in a race over a triangular course there would be a decided improvement and that she would score her first victory in the series today.

Consequently after the first few minutes, when Enterprise began to draw away on the windward leg, they became decidedly dubious and a little later openly pessimistic as to the final outcome.

When the first mark had been rounded and it was evident that only the unexpected could bring the challenger home in front interest waned rapidly. A number of English yachting enthusiasts almost groaned audibly when they saw the challenger's bow wallowing under the big ballooner, which alternately bellied and then slapped aback.

Enterprise was steadily drawing away and hope was abandoned that Shamrock would make a close race of it.

Erin Cheers Shamrock's Crew.

It was quieter on the Erin today than on Saturday. Most of the weekend guests had departed and there were few additions to take their places. Consequently, the ship's company was far smaller and much more subdued than on the first day of the series. The optimism with which the unknown had been faced early on Saturday morning, before the two yachts had disappeared into the fog after the start, was replaced with a spirit of hope that Shamrock might come through a winner.

Sir Thomas had no such array of guests to occupy his attention this morning and ate a leisurely breakfast. The last of the launches was made fast about 9 o'clock and guests had plenty of time to arrange themselves comfortably for the long day.

They were roused about 9:30 by the cry that Shamrock was in tow and as she passed close on the port bow she received three cheers and a tiger from the decks of Erin. Her crew, grouped forward, responded as heartily.

A few minutes later Erin's anchor left the mud of Newport Harbor and she was soon rounding Fort Adams, while guests at the rail waved a return salute to the blast of horns that greeted her passage.

Sir Thomas, meantime, made the rounds of the main and sun decks, greeting in his usual cheerful fashion such guests as he had missed when they came aboard.

Then followed the run to the start, past the lightship, everybody enjoyed the excellent visibility and the absence of the fog that put such a damper on the early stages of the first race.

Sir Thomas spent most of the morning after the start watching the progress of the race from a chair on the main deck amidships.

Just before the start he welcomed ten of the sailors from the British warship Heliotrope who, with two of their officers, were his guests for the day. The sailors were evidently very much embarrassed when he greeted them, saying: "I'm glad to have you as my guests."

They stood rigidly at attention and Sir Thomas exclaimed: "What's the matter? Don't you speak English?"

Then his infectious smile chased the severe look away and the sailors were at once at their ease.

The Heliotrope boys brought with them as a mascot a sealyham terrier named Jane. Jane had the run of the main deck and thoroughly inspected every available nook, but she fell down sadly on her job of mascoting.

Mascots have not worked in this series. Shamrock has them a plenty below decks and the Erin carries not a few.

Another that failed today was a rabbit's foot captured under the required ritual. It was brought aboard by Joe H. Hart of Allentown, Pa., an old friend of Sir Thomas.

Its charms should have worked, since it has been aboard on the occasion of every previous victory of a challenging Shamrock. This is the first time that it has failed.

Maintains His Cheery Smile.

Most of the afternoon Sir Thomas spent on the bridge, occasionally inviting one of his close friends to share his vantage point. Occasionally he would descend to the sun deck for a chat with one or more of his intimates, or a jest with one of the women guests.

Miss Evelyn Law, the dancer, was made to promise that she would do a hornpipe on the sun deck if Shamrock won.

Miss Eugenie Whitmore, daughter of H. P. Whitmore of Omaha, Neb., where Sir Thomas established his first plant in the United States, was attired in a green knit suit in honor of the occasion. Sir Thomas surveyed her from head to foot and exclaimed:

"Irish, and she comes from Omaha!"

When a Boston lady brought word of the illness of former Mayor John F. Fitzgerald, a friend of many year's standing, Sir Thomas said, feelingly: "If Honey Fitz were here the day would be brighter."

It was a saddened ship's company that made preparations for departure as Erin's nose poked slowly through the murky fog at the entrance to Newport Harbor. Sir Thomas stood at the gangway and shook hands as each went over the side.

As the launches chugged away and his guests turned back toward Erin the last thing they saw was Sir Thomas's cheery smile and farewell hand-wave.

Special to The New York Times.

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 15.—After the race of Saturday Sir Thomas Lipton jokingly remarked that before the next contest he would give instructions to have a motor installed in Shamrock V. This afternoon, when it became evident that the challenger was hopelessly defeated, the irrepressible Irish Baronet exclaimed to one of his disconsolate guests:

"I don't know what happened to that motor; it must be the poor American petrol."

BRITISH GET RADIO STORY.

News of Shamrock's Defeat Carried Across Nation and Sea.

Nation-wide radio facilities were in operation yesterday when Enterprise and Shamrock V met off Newport for the second race of the series for America's Cup. The local stations were WEAF, WJZ, WABC and WOR.

Augmenting the broadcasting group in this country, which numbered more than 150 stations scattered from coast to coast, were short-wave transmitters to carry the description to listeners in England and other European countries.

The beginning of the contest was marked by enthusiasm on the part of those who were detailed to tell the radio story before the microphones installed in the ships which sailed as close as possible to the competing sloops. However, the interest seemed to lag as the contest progressed and the break between Enterprise and Shamrock V widened.

The blimp Defender did not take part in the broadcasting activities, the entire word-picture being sent ashore via short waves from the destroyer Kane, the cutter Champlain and other official broadcasting vessels.

Last Schooner Race in 1876.

The 1876 series, which saw Madeleine defeat the Countess of Dufferin, a Canadian yacht, proved an eventful one in cup competition, for it marked the first time that a challenge had been received from any other country but England, it saw centreboards racing against each other for the first time and it marked the last contest in the series thus far sailed between schooners.

DESIGNERS LINKED WITH CUP HISTORY

HERRESHOFF LONG ACTIVE

Produced Vigilant in 1892 and Four Others Later—Watson Turned Out Most of Challengers.

Nathaniel Herreshoff and Edward Burgess, father of the designer of the present defender, had more to do with th America's Cup remaining in this country than any two other individuals who can be recalled. From 1885 to 1920 every one of the defenders was designed by one or the other.

From an unknown local designer with a small office up three flights of stairs, Burgess made rapid strides and ultimately gained international fame. With a flair for the original, he left his stamp upon yachting in this country, building craft which were radical departures from the shallow, flat, inside ballasted boats which were typical of the '80s.

Burgess contributed a yacht with a deeper hull, outside lead ballast and overhanging stern, a faster and more seaworthy boat than the prevailing type.

The Herreshoffs, Nathaniel and his brother John, sprang into prominence as sail yacht designers in 1891 when they launched the Gloriana, a 46-foot water-line sloop, which was entirely different from any of the yachts then in use.

Had Long Overhangings.

She had tremendously long overhangings, not only the stern being carried out, but the bow as well. She was a keel boat, drawing 10 feet, and carried 4,100 square feet of sail. Gloriana was followed by the Wasp and then came the Navahoe on the same general lines. All three yachts met with such success that their type of hull became the accepted one in this country.

Burgess turned out three defenders, his first being the Puritan in 1885, which he designed for J. Malcolm Forbes and General Charles Paine. The following year he was called upon by Paine and he proceeded to turn out the Mayflower, while in 1887 the Paine-Burgess combination had Volunteer on the water.

In 1891 Burgess died and when Lord Dunraven challenged in 1892 the various syndicates which were formed to build a defender were forced to look around for designers.

Herreshoff drew the plans for a New York group headed by C. Oliver Iselin. The boat was named Vigilant, and she was chosen to defend. For the 1895 series Herreshoff again produced the American yacht, designing Defender for a group which was headed by Mr. Iselin.

Built Third Defender.

Four years later the J. Pierpont Morgan and C. Oliver Iselin syndicate's craft, Columbia, was selected and she proved to be the third of the Herreshoff dynasty to halt a challenger.

In 1903 a syndicate composed of Cornelius Vanderbilt, William Rockefeller, Elbert H. Gary, Clement A. Griscom, James J. Hill, Norman B. Ream, Henry Walters and P. A. B. Widener turned to Herreshoff and he created Reliance.

The last series again saw the "Wizard of Bristol" called upon and his answer was the Resolute, which he designed for a syndicate composed of J. P. Morgan, Henry Walters, Cornelius Vanderbilt, F. G. Bourne, George F. Baker Jr., R. T. Crane Jr., Harold S. Vanderbilt and Arthur Curtiss James.

His first yacht to race in these waters was the Thistle, which he designed for the Scottish syndicate headed by James Bell and which appeared in 1887. In 1893 he was represented by Valkyrie II, Lord Dunraven's cutter, while the syndicate headed by Lord Dunraven in 1895 had a Watson creation in Valkyrie III. In 1901, his final cup boat, Sir Thomas Lipton's Shamrock II, was seen in these waters.

Britannia a Noted Creation.

Aside from his cup work, his cutter Britannia stands out as one of the most sensational yachts ever designed. Always a painstaking worker, it is said Watson spent many days before he drew the plans for Shamrock II experimenting with small models.

William Fife ranks among the foremost naval architects, and while he is best known in this country for the two Lipton contenders, Shamrock I and Shamrock III, he has drawn the plans for many yachts which have made racing history abroad.

His grandfather founded a shipbuilding firm which in turn was handed down to his father and then to him. He learned the rudiments of shipbuilding in his father's yards and then spent some time at Fullattons, the Paisely shipbuilders, where he acquired a knowledge of the value of metal as applied to boat construction. He then became manager of a yacht-building business on the estate of the Marquis of Ailsa at Culzean. He later returned to his father's yards at Fairlee, Scotland, where he became famous for his brilliant creations.

Shield Once Nailed to Mast Of the America on View Here

A brass shield, found in the excavation at 78-86 Broad Street, where the new Maritime Exchange Building is being erected, which apparently was at one time attached to the mast of the yacht America, was exhibited at the Maritime Exchange yesterday. It bears the following inscription:

BELFAST IS GLOOMY OVER SECOND DEFEAT

BELFAST, Sept. 15 (AP).—News that the Shamrock V had suffered a second defeat from the Enterprise in the America's Cup races spread gloom throughout Belfast tonight.

Cheers for the victor were mingled with sighs for the vanquished as the result was broadcast to a crowd of several thousands that had waited for hours in Royal Avenue, the heart of Belfast.

"The Enterprise must be a vastly superior boat," surmised Captain Richard Henderson, an official of the Royal Ulster Yacht Club, which issued the challenge.

"Perhaps the third time will be the charm. But it is clear the Shamrock is tackling a formidable sloop with a superb skipper."

BRITISH OPTIMISM OVER RACES FADES

VANDERBILT DRAWS PRAISE

Writers in London Press Laud His Skill and Declare Challenger Was Clearly Outsailed.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Sept. 15.—All of Britain's yacht race optimism vanished tonight with the news of the crushing defeat of Shamrock V. There was no more talk of another chance coming, and only a few faint hopes now are expressed that Sir Thomas Lipton may win.

For the first time the realization has reached England that there is a better yacht in the world than the Shamrock—although until the news of this second race came most Britishers refused to believe it.

British yachting experts are unanimous that Enterprise proved herself far and away the better vessel and that Shamrock's chances of lifting the Cup are sadly called remote. This is what Major B. Heckstall-Smith, veteran yachting expert, wrote in The Daily Telegraph at the end of the first hour of the race.

No Doubt About Result.

"There wasn't the slightest doubt about it that after an hour of steady windward work without a fluke, Enterprise had beaten Shamrock under conditions considered ideal in an America's Cup contest.

"Close under the lee of the Enterprise I confess I have never seen such sails in all my forty years' experience. There is not the slightest doubt that the broad flat-topped boom which Burgess has designed has contributed toward this magnificent windward work of Enterprise.

"The last tack to windward came and Vanderbilt's tactics again drew my admiration. I thought Enterprise was far better sailed to windward. She seemed always to have a nice flow in her sails.

Shamrock Was Uncertain.

"Shamrock, on the other hand, appeared uncertain whether to harden her sheets and pinch or slack them off, and tried first one thing then another. But whatever she did she was left hopelessly astern."

Two miles from the winning line Heckstall-Smith could just distinguish Shamrock in the mist but described the picture as "a sad one for British yachting."

Summing up the second race, he says it was obvious that Shamrock would have been beaten soon had the vessels been trimmed for a pure test of windward sailing. On the second windward leg he wrote that some of Enterprise's gains could be attributed to having a little more wind. Still, he concluded, "the English yacht was completely outsailed, and that it was a judgment echoed by every British yachting writer who watched the contest.

"Cannot Be Excused by Luck."

Commander H. M. Daniel, retired naval officer, writes in The Daily Mail: "The second race is a bitter disappointment and the defeat cannot be excused by luck or change of wind. The result can only mean, so far as can be judged from reports, that Enterprise is an all-round faster boat than Shamrock.

"The precision of Vanderbilt's start is a tribute to his supreme skill in judging speed and distance so accurately that he was on starting line almost immediately after the gun was fired. The penalty for being second too soon would have been to return and lose minutes.

"Heard evidently was more cautious on this point and concentrated his efforts on securing a berth at the windward end of the starting line, by his loss of time in crossing the line he also sacrificed any advantage his position to windward conferred.

"Enterprise was not only sailed faster than Shamrock but stood closer to the wind. Also, she was quicker in stays in going from the starboard to the port tack. This will dampen the hopes of even the greatest optimists on this side, for these were said to be the challenger's strongest points."

The London Times correspondent at the scene of the race was so impressed by Enterprise's performance that he cabled: "There is little doubt that she will win, and probably in four straight races."

Closest Series Sailed in 1901.

The closest series ever sailed for the America's Cup was in 1901, when Sir Thomas Lipton was making his second bid. Columbia won in three straight races from Shamrock II, but in the ninety miles sailed the defender, in actual time, beat the challenger by only 3 minutes and 27 seconds.

SOCIETY SEES RACE FROM BIG YACHTS

Morgan's Corsair Entertains One of the Largest Parties, Including Admiral Sims.

ASTORS ARE ON NOURMAHAL

Mrs. Vanderbilt Sr. Unable to Go Out on Whitney's Whileaway—Irish Visitors on Erin.

Special to The New York Times.

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 15.—Despite the fact that quite a number of the yachts which went out for the first of the America's Cup races have left, there were plenty in the harbor to take out guests for the second races this morning. The New York Yacht Club station was a busy place for an hour or two when the owners and guests arrived and went out in the small boats to the yachts moored in the harbor.

One of the largest of the parties was that which Mr. and Mrs. Junius Spencer Morgan entertained on the Corsair. Among their guests were Rear Admiral William S. Sims, U. S. N., retired; his son and daughter, and Mrs. Arthur Curtiss James.

Mr. and Mrs. George F. Baker Jr. had among their guests Mr. and Mrs. William Goadby Loew, Miss Florence Loew and Mr. and Mrs. Carroll-Dana Winslow. Don Juan de Riano, former Spanish Ambassador to the United States; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gassaway Davis 3d and Williams Burden were guests aboard General Cornelius Vanderbilt's Winchester.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Washington Frazier and Mrs. George Howard were out on the Vara, Commodore Harold S. Vanderbilt's power yacht. Commodore and Mrs. Vincent Astor had quite a party of guests with them, but all did not go on the Nourmahal. Those aboard included Mr. and Mrs. Robert Goelet, Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Huntington, Mr. and Mrs. James Gordon Douglas, Mr. and Mrs. I. Townsend Burden, Captain Hugh De L. Willoughby, Colonel John Townsend and H. E. Henderson.

Viscount Castlerosse and Viscount Bangor from Ireland arrived to go aboard the Erin.

Mr. and Mrs. R. McCullough Miller, who are on Mr. and Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney's Whileaway, expected to have Mrs. Vanderbilt Sr. as their guest for today's race, but Mrs. Vanderbilt at the last minute found she could not go.

Mr. and Mrs. William Thaw numbered among their guests on the Aurora Mr. and Mrs. Julian M. Gerard and their son, and Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Taylor. Major and Mrs. Lorillard Spencer went out with Anthony Fokker.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Edward Manville again took out a party of guests on the Hi-Esmaro, among them being Mr. and Mrs. Leonard M. Thomas, James Stuart Cushman, Mrs. H. Ade White and Mr. and Mrs. Winslow.

The most important social entertainment in honor of the visiting yachtsmen tonight was the dinner and dance given by Mr. and Mrs. Edwin D. Morgan Jr., who have been occupying the MacLeod cottage on Washington Street, overlooking the upper harbor. While Mr. and Mrs. Morgan have been prominent among the entertainers of the Summer, this party was their largest of the season. There were more than fifty guests for dinner and they were seated at nine small tables.

Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt will give a dinner tomorrow night at Beaulieu in honor of the British Ambassador, Sir Ronald Lindsay, who is arriving early in the day to be the guest of General and Mrs. Vanderbilt in time to go out for the third race for the America's Cup.

Wednesday night Sir Ronald is to be the guest at a dinner given by former Commodore Arthur Curtiss James and Mrs. James at Beacon Hill House.

Four Pitchers Unable to Check Pennant Drive of Brooklyn—Score Is 13 to 5.

VICTORS INCREASE MARGIN

SCORE SIX IN FIRST FRAME

Lucas Shelled From Mound After Cincinnati Opens With 3 Runs—Cards in Brooklyn Today.

By ROSCOE McGOWEN.

An irresistible batting attack that drove three Cincinnati pitchers from the box and had a fourth one tottering as the game ended yesterday gave the Robins a clean sweep over the Reds and their eleventh consecutive victory since they began their extraordinary pennant drive against the Phils on Sept. 6. This is the longest winning streak compiled in the major leagues this season.

The score was 13 to 5, with six of the Brooklyn tallies being scored in the first inning during a slugging outburst that ended the régime of Red Lucas after eight men had faced him.

Watson Clark, first to face Larry Benton, relieving Red pitcher, singled to drive in the sixth tally, and Hendrick, up for the second time, [illegible] It was the seventh straight game in which the clouting clan of Flatbush has tallied in the opening frame.

The triumph, viewed with audible approval by 15,000 fans, strengthened the Robins' hold upon first place, putting them a full game ahead of the idle Cardinals and a game and a half in the van of the Cubs, who contrived to split a double-header with the Phils.

Follows Thurston's Example.

Ray Moss, Uncle Wilbert Robinson's original pitching selection, practically duplicated Hollis Thurston's performance of the preceding day by spotting the Reds a three-run lead, a home run by Bob Meusel and a pair of doubles by Stripp and Cucciniello accounting for two runs, while Ford's single off Clark brought home the third.

Possibly to relieve the pleasant monotony of merely winning one ball game after another, the amazing Robins, aided slightly by the Reds, inserted two rare bits of comedy for the edification of the good-natured spectators.

The first sketch came in the first inning with Gilbert on second and Babe Herman on first. Captain Glenn Wright hit a towering fly to centre that Herman apparently thought Meusel might catch, so he waited to see.

Meanwhile Wright tore around the bases, passed the loitering Herman short of second base, and [illegible] Herman had eluded Meusel and bounded into third base on what should have been a home run both runners found themselves at third base. Wright, therefore, was out for passing a runner and his home run became a mere single. The same thing happened on Memorial Day in a morning game with the Phils when Bissonette hit over the right field wall and passed Herman on the base line.

Hendrick Retraces Steps.

The second act was put on in the fourth. Herman hit a line drive to right that Heilmann snared on the first bound, and Hendrick, half way home from second base, [illegible] retraced his steps, thinking the ball had been caught fairly. Then, while Ford stood holding the returned ball, Hendrick dashed for the plate and scored.

[illegible] easy victory for Brooklyn, with the Reds behind after the first inning and never threatening to catch up. Their other two runs came in the fourth by way of a home run by Heilmann and in the sixth with Cucciniello on base.

The Robins scored three in the fourth when consecutive hits by Clark, Hendrick, Gilbert and Herman drove Benton off the mound and brought Benny Frey to his relief. Frey also went out in the fifth when two walks and singles by Herman and Wright scored two more. The other scores came off Jakie May in the fifth on Herman's single, Bissonette's triple and an infield out.

Both Herman and Bissonette boosted their batting averages for the day with four hits apiece out of five times at bat.

Vance Expected to Pitch.

For the opening game against the Cardinals today Uncle Robbie expects to send in Dazzy Vance, although Adolfo Luque is a possibility. Bill Hallahan will pitch for the Cards.

A directors' meeting of the Brooklyn club was held a short time before the game, during which a decision was reached to remove the tarpaulin sheds in centre field and erect additional bleachers to accommodate about 500. This, of course, is contingent upon Brooklyn winning the pennant. Plans for permanent enlargement of the plant will go forward next year, Stephen W. McKeever said.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 15 (AP).—With a chance to gain valuable ground in the feverish pennant race, the Cubs could only split a double bill with the Phillies today, losing the first, 12-11, and winning the second, 6-4.

Lefty O'Doul's home run with one out in the ninth and the score deadlocked at 11-11 decided a hectic, exciting first game, in which both clubs overcame apparently insurmountable leads.

Guy Bush was the whole show for the Cubs in the second engagement and held the Phils in the palm of his hand until they rallied in the ninth to score three runs. On the other hand, the Cubs got to Collins for a commanding lead.

In the sixth inning of the second fray Hack Wilson hit his fiftieth home run of the season. During the double bill Heathcote had a pair of circuit clouts and English, Klein and O'Doul one each.

GIANTS TRIUMPH OVER THE PIRATES

Fitzsimmons, in Superb Form, Allows Only 3 Hits in 6-to-1 Victory.

TERRY GETS FOUR SAFETIES

Runs His Season's Total to 239 and Has Chance to Set Two New Records.

By JOHN DREBINGER.

Arriving at the conclusion that they had collapsed sufficiently to serve all ends and purposes, the Giants did another one of those startling right about turns at the Polo Grounds yesterday and roundly trounced the Pirates in the final meeting of the year between these two teams.

The score was 6 to 1, and while by no stretch of the imagination is this likely to revive any further pennant hopes on the Harlem, it did give the McGrawmen the satisfaction of knowing they had shown a decided superiority over the Pirates on the season's play by a margin of fourteen games to eight.

Also, it brought a Giant losing streak of five straight to an end and dealt something of a blow to the lately inspired ambitions of the Pirates to crash into the first division at the expense of the pennant-eliminated McGrawmen.

Brilliant pitching such as the Giants would have given anything to obtain during the stirring battles of the past fortnight and concerted swatting such as also was sadly lacking during the crucial tests with the Cardinals made this final encounter with the Pirates little more than a walkover.

Fitzsimmons's 16th Victory.

Freddy Fitzsimmons did the pitching, and as he recorded his sixteenth victory of the campaign he allowed the surprised Pirates only three scattered singles.

As for the Giants, they pummeled Steve Swetonic for five runs inside of the first two innings, getting two in the opening round on four successive singles, and three more in the second on five wallops, the first of these being a three-bagger clouted by Critz.

After this practically all of the attention centred upon Bill Terry, who, making a determined effort to bring at least one championship to the Polo Grounds, shook off the slump that for several weeks threatened to remove him from the league's batting leadership and exploded four hits in five trips to the plate.

Within Sight of New Records.

The four blows brought Terry's total of hits for the season up to 239 and, with eleven more games to play, Memphis Bill now has within reach two records. One is the National League record of 254 hits in a season, held by Lefty O'Doul, and the other is the modern major league mark of 257, set by George Sisler while a member of the Browns in the American League in 1920.

WILL DISCUSS DRAFT.

International Accepts Offer of Majors for Meeting Here.

At a meeting of the International League yesterday the clubs voted to accept an invitation from the major leagues to meet during the world series for a discussion of the draft, according to The Associated Press. The meeting will be held in a city to be named when the major league races are decided.

President Charles H. Knapp was empowered to name umpires for the little world series between the champions of the International League and the American Association.

The schedule committee for 1931 was named, consisting of Walter E. Hapgood, Montreal; George Weiss, Baltimore, and Frank J. Offerman, Buffalo.

The annual meeting of the league will be held at Montreal Dec. 1 and a conference with other leagues of AA classification will be held the following day. William J. Manley, secretary-treasurer of the league, reported that the financial condition of the circuit is the best in its history.

APPLY FOR SERIES TICKETS.

Fans at Philadelphia File Requests for Classic.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 15 (AP).—Philadelphia fans who want to see the champion Athletics play whatever National League team turns up at Shibe Park Oct. 1 for the world's championship began filing their applications for tickets today.

Under the conditions laid down by the American League club management, applications were required to reach the club today by mail, and each applicant must take one or two tickets for each of three games, money to be refunded if a third game is not played in Philadelphia.

CHICAGO, Sept. 15 (AP).—The Cubs' world series ticket machinery was put into motion today—with hopes that it will not be necessary to throw it into reverse.

The price scale and conditions are the same as last year—no application for a single game will be accepted, purchase for three games being required.

YANKEES CAPTURE FINAL FROM TIGERS

Sherid, on Mound Third Time in Four Days, Repels Detroit by Score of 5 to 3.

COMBS OUTSTANDING STAR

His Triple Scores Two Runs and His Great Catch With Two on Bases Averts Tie.

By WILLIAM E. BRANDT.

Special to The New York Times.

DETROIT, Sept. 15.—Roy Sherid, appearing on the pitching mound for the third time in four days, pitched the Yanks to a 5-to-3 victory in their farewell game of the year here today. Though the Yanks lost the series, three games to two, they carried off first prize in their season's dual relations with the Tigers, thirteen games to nine.

Combs was Sherid's major aide. His triple in the second inning was the loudest whack concerned in the scoring of the Yankee runs. In the fourth, with the Yanks two runs ahead, two out and two Tigers on bases, Combs raced toward the right-field wall to make a jumping one-hand catch of Roy Johnson's liner. Two Tigers were on bases at the time and if the drive had fallen safely the score would have been tied. The crowd of 3,000 cheered Combs.

Cooke's Single Starts Second.

Cooke's single started the second inning. Dickey walked, then Chapman forced Dickey and Sherid fanned. Instead of making the third out, Combs placed a liner between right and centre for three bases, scoring two runs. While Akers held the ball in centre Combs made a clean steal of home. Lary doubled, then Ruth's single knocked Lary home with what turned out to be the winning run.

This was the only breach the Yanks found in the strong pitching of Vic Sorrell, who beat the Athletics last week. In the ninth, with Cantrell pitching, Chapman's fleetness of foot gained the Yanks their fifth run. He beat out a roller to shortstop, stole both second and third, then scored on a short wild pitch.

Sherid kept Detroit's eleven hits scattered. The Tigers had nothing but singles until Hayworth's double with two out in the eighth scored Hughes from first base. Manager Harris rushed in a pinch hitter and pinch runner, but Sherid retired the side.

Yanks Acquire New Pitcher.

N. B. A. CONVENTION APPROVES SCHMELING

Singer Also Recognized as Champion by Boxing Body—Change Suspension Rule.

OMAHA, Neb., Sept. 15 (AP).—Formal recognition as heavyweight champion tonight was accorded Max Schmeling of Germany by the National Boxing Association, in convention here.

The association, which has jurisdiction over boxing in about thirty States, listed Young Stribling of Macon, Ga., as its choice for leading contender of the heavyweight division. Primo Carnera was accorded No. 3 ranking.

Al Singer of New York, who recently stopped Sammy Mandell, was recognized as lightweight titleholder. All of the other generally recognized champions were approved. The association voted to give Primo Carnera a clean bill of health and overthrew all and any suspensions against the giant Italian.

This action was taken in the form of a resolution in which the association voted not to accept or recognize any suspension placed on a fighter by a State not a member of the N. B. A.

In accepting the suspension placed on Carnera by the commission of California, the N. B. A. acted wrongly, the resolution said. California is not a member of the association.

Another new rule passed with wide-reaching effect was one governing suspensions and the date of enforcements. The association ruled that in the future a suspension placed against a boxer by a member State of the N. B. A. shall not take effect for thirty days in other member States in which the boxer was under contract to fight, provided the contract was signed previous to the suspension.

The matter of establishing a permanent headquarters for the association also was discussed. Action was deferred until tomorrow. Chicago was most prominently mentioned as the headquarters site.

Twenty-nine States were represented at today's session, presided over by President Stanley Isaacs of Cincinnati. Thirty voting delegates were present.

Metropolitan Body Reports Nine Boxing Shows Made Profit—Klein Named President.

The Metropolitan Association of the Amateur Athletic Union realized the sum of $27,537.98 as the proceeds of nine amateur boxing shows in Madison Square Garden last year, it was reported last night by Secretary-Treasurer Charles A. Elbert at the annual meeting of the organization at the Prince George Hotel.

As has been the case in former years, boxing carried the burden of paying for all the other sports under A. A. U. jurisdiction, as eight of eleven sports showed deficits. Only handball, with a profit of $41.70; weight-lifting, with a profit of $22, and boxing were on the credit side of the ledger. The total assets of the organization showed an increase of $5,354.64 over those of the previous year.

In the election of officers the slate proposed by the nominating committee was accepted without contest with one exception. Former President Joseph A. Reilly, who had lost in a bid for a place as A. A. U. delegate a year ago, ran as an independent and gained a place on the list of twelve delegates, while the retiring president, Herman Obertubessing, failed to be elected.

The registration committee will consist of Charles L. Diehm, 122 votes; John J. Deignan, 121; Adolph P. Arnold, 119; Stephen A. Byrne, 107; William J. McAuliffe, 104; Dr. James J. Walsh, 99, and Elmer E. Williams, 92.

The A. A. U. delegates together with the votes are as follows: Patrick J. Walsh, 112; Jacob W. Stumpf, 112; Charles A. Elbert, 110; Martin A. Klein, 103; Thomas F. Lockhart, 103; Frederick W. Rubien, 102; Dietrich Wortman, 97; Jeremiah T. Mahoney, 97; Roy E. Moore, 91; Arthur M. Wehrmann, 90; Joseph A. Reilly, 88; Paul Spitler, 85. Obertubessing, the defeated candidate, received 51 votes.

The alternate delegates are Mel Sheppard, William Chambers, James J. Flanagan, James Gardiner, Theodore J. Moran, Theodore L. Matsukes, Edward Dunham, Warren H. Gilman, Sam Jacobs, Miss Charlotte Epstein, Joseph F. O'Brien and Thomas T. Reilley.

Frederick W. Rubien was named delegate to the American Olympic Association, while George Mathews was elected handicapper. Al Sivori was made men's swimming handicapper and Mrs. E. C. Cizek women's swimming handicapper.

SUAREZ AND MILLER WILL BOX IN GARDEN

Justo Suarez, South American lightweight, who came here early in the Summer to campaign for the world's title, is scheduled to undergo a severe ring trial in Madison Square Garden on Oct. 3. Matchmaker Tom McArdle yesterday announced he had signed Suarez to battle Ray Miller of Chicago in the main bout of ten rounds.

Supporting the match will be a ten-round bout between Joe Scalfaro, Yorkville bantamweight, and Pete Sanstol, Norwegian, and another ten-round event in which Kid Francis, Italian featherweight, will engage Jimmy Slavin, rugged west sider.

McArdle also completed arrangements for the full card of bouts to be held at the Yankee Stadium on Sept. 25, when Jack Sharkey and Victorio Campolo are to furnish a heavyweight struggle of fifteen rounds as the feature of a card designed to attract funds to the Navy and Marine Memorial Association. Allie Wolff, former collegian, was signed to meet Enzo Fiermonte, Italian, for six rounds, and Jack (Spike) Webb, Orlando, Fla., was matched against Gene Baker of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., for four rounds. Two ten-round matches previously arranged will be between Paul Cavalier and Mike Sankovitch and Roy Wallace and Joe Banovic.

SANTA HALTS TORRIANO.

Jose Santa, Portuguese heavyweight, won by a knockout over Umberto Torriano of Italy before 7,000 at the Newark Velodrome last night when the referee stopped the fight at the end of the fourth round.

Torriano was floored in the third round by body punches, but the bell sounded at the count of four. He weighed 265, Torriano 212.

SANDS POINT GAINS IN OPEN POLO PLAY

E. A. S. HOPPING SETS PACE

Rides Into Attack at Breakneck Speed—Nelson Also Shows Way for Victors.

By ROBERT F. KELLEY.

Special to The New York Times.

WESTBURY, L. I., Sept. 15.—Sands Point had one big period today, the fourth, and played well enough in the others to make its four goals of that session carry it through the first round of the open polo championship and finish the second quest for the national championship that the young team of collegians called Old Aiken has made. Last year Old Aiken went to the second round. This year it fell in the first, after a hard fight at the Meadow Brook Club. The score was 8 to 5.

With the Sands Point team of this year Averell Harriman rides at No. 1, Jack D. Nelson of the Argentine at No. 2, E. A. S. Hopping, the internationalist, at No. 3 and A. Charles Schwartz at back. Old Aiken had its regular line-up of E. T. Gerry, J. P. Mills, Stewart Iglehart and J. C. Rathborne.

Old Aiken showed a fatal tendency to bunch today and it was not often that the players were hitting out or playing spaced far enough to bring into play the fine team work which has brought them so many victories.

Hopping Covers Wide Territory.

A good deal of the reason for this lay in the fact that Little Earle Hopping was playing amazingly good polo, roving all over at breakneck pace from his post at No. 3 and hitting with deadly accuracy and pace. He was the fastest player on the field for a great part of the game, heading instinctively for the right place.

Riding with him at top speed was Jack Nelson, playing the chance-taking, aggressive polo for which he has been noted on his many trips to this country. Between them, the middle of the Sands Point team kept the attack pretty well concentrated on the Old Aiken goal. In front Harriman had several pretty runs and often hit well, converting three of the chances that came his way to goals, and Schwartz was playing his usual safe hitting and sound game at back. Sands Point played good polo today and worked out its victory on its merits.

The first period was scoreless, with Old Aiken standing off the Sands Point attack. Then, in the second period, Iglehart scored for Old Aiken following a team run, but the lead of the youngsters was short-lived. Harriman hit up and then followed for the score that tied, and then young Hopping put his side ahead by converting a free hit from forty yards that followed a foul. The third was again scoreless, but Sands Point rolled at too great a pace in the fourth for the losers.

Nelson Opens With Goal.

Nelson started with a goal, and then, soon afterward, Umpire Wesley White called penalty No. 1 for a foul in front of the Aiken posts and awarded a goal to Sands Point. Then play was started again there in front of the posts, and Schwartz hit up for Harriman to score, and Harriman added another before the period's close that gave Sands Point the lead at 6 to 1.

The only score of the fifth was Rathborne's, on a free hit, and the only one of the sixth Hopping's, so that the teams were still five goals apart entering the last two periods.

Old Aiken fought back hard, but Hopping finished a nice run with a near-side goal that took some of the sting out of the goal that Jommy Mills poked through at a bad angle in the seventh and the long run that Gerry had, together with Rathborne's second free hit in the eighth.

The Meadow Brook club will see plenty of polo this week, with Greentree playing Roslyn tomorrow, the semi-finals on Wednesday and Thursday and the final on Saturday, with the annual show of the National Polo Pony Society sandwiched in on Friday.

The line-up:

Sands Point (8).	Old Aiken (5).
3—J. D. Nelson.	3—S. B. Iglehart.
Back—A. C. Schwartz	Back—J. Rathborne.

SCORE BY PERIODS.

Goals—Sands Point: Harriman 3, Hopping 3; Nelson, penalty goal awarded by umpire. Old Aiken: Gerry, Mills, Iglehart, Rathborne 2.

TROT AT SPRINGFIELD TO PRINCE BINLAYND

Triumphs in Straight Heats of 2:12 Event—Calumet Boss Also Victor.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Sept. 15 (AP).—Prince Binlaynd, the property of F. C. Tobey of Plymouth, N. H., won the $2,000 2:12 trot today at the first of four light harness programs in connection with the Eastern States Exposition was staged. The owner was behind the bay gelding as he took every heat.

Calumet Buford, favored in the trot for 2-year-olds, became ill-mannered in the second and third heats with the result that Calumet Boss came through with top honors. Widow Grattan bested Bert Abbe in the free-for-all pace, while the 2:18 pace went to Lee Scott.

Belanger Outpoints Sekyra.

TORONTO, Ont., Sept. 15 (Canadian Press).—Making his first appearance in the ring since fracturing his hand some weeks ago, Charlie Belanger, Canadian light heavyweight champion, of Winnipeg, gained the decision over Joe Sekyra, light heavyweight from Dayton, Ohio, in a ten-round bout tonight.

Mandell Victor Over O'Neill.

JANESVILLE, Wis., Sept. 15 (AP).—Sammy Mandell, former lightweight champion, won the decision over Mickey O'Neill of Milwaukee in a ten-round bout at the Fair Grounds tonight. Mandell weighed 142½ and O'Neill 139.

FIRENZE PURSE TO CHALICE

By BRYAN FIELD.

Scratches, due to the heavy mud, riddled the program at Belmont Park yesterday, with the result that the three best events were reduced to three-horse races. Jockey Eddie Watters rode the winners in two of these tests, getting Frank E. Brown's Bud Broom home first in the Ben Brush Handicap, the feature, immediately after he had scored with Mrs. R. C. Winmill's Chalice in the Firenze Purse for fillies.

Chalice had an easy time beating Curtsey and Bide a Wee, but Bud Broom had to do his best to stave off by a head Mrs. Myrtle Shea's Sandy Ford, winner of the Dixie Handicap last Spring.

Bud Broom was an even money favorite jointly with the Arden Farm's Sun Edwin, while Sandy Ford was the 15-to-1 outsider, yet Sun Edwin never could get up in the going and Bud Broom was hard pressed to defeat the long shot. The race was at a mile and the time was 1:38 3-5, fast considering the poor footing.

Watters got Bud Brown away from the post smartly enough, but it was Sandy Ford which ran into the lead, with the two choices on even terms a length or so back. Before the far turn was reached it was apparent that Sun Edwin would cut little figure, as he failed to keep up when Bud Broom moved out in chase of the leader. On the bend Watters was lapped on Sandy Ford, but Eddie Ambrose still had the lead, and Sandy Ford had something in reserve. Sun Edwin by this time had dropped five lengths out of things.

Bud Broom Carries 109 Pounds.

The stretch run was a close battle, with Bud Broom gaining slowly to have a half-length margin at the furlong pole. This was cut down to a head at the finish. The winner was the lightweight under 109 pounds, Sandy Ford having up 112 and Sun Edwin 118.

With Chalice, Watters rode a front race, which made things easier for those who had backed the Winmill horse at 1 to 5. She was in under 112 pounds, top weight, and is not noted as a particularly high-class horse. But Chalice is a good mudder and this made her price short. Curtsey was in closest pursuit all the way of the seven furlongs and landed second three lengths back of Chalice and six before Bide a Wee.

The other three-horse race was the Requital Purse at six furlongs down the Widener chute, in which Benjamin Block's Moronge, the Goodstone Stable's Blind Lane, and D. C. Sand's Super Run, came together. They finished in the order named, with George Ellis getting the Son of Morvich home a length before Blind Lane. Super Run was well up for half a mile, but then became a distant trailer.

Moronge's Time Is 1:13.

The winner and Blind Lane both were held at 8 to 5 and it was a case of choosing between two if one wanted to play the favorite. Moronge's winning time was 1:13 and she carried top weight of 113 pounds.

The Zinziber Steeplechase was one event that did not suffer severely from scratches and it broght together eleven green steeplechasers which had failed to win at the meeting. Mrs. F. Ambrose Clark's Jack O'Day, the winner by a length, in reality was a much better horse than the others, for he ran out on the home turn, yet had enough speed left to come on and win after spotting the field ten lengths or more.

He was a 6-to-1 shot and ran coupled in the betting with A. G. Bostwick's Oesel, which as a 2-year-old, won some races for Gifford A. Cochran. Oesel and Mr. Bostwick came down at the water jump, but neither was hurt. Harry Payne Whitney's Gigolo finished second, edging out William Kennet, the 2-to-1 favorite. William Kennet closed with a rush, but ran far back in the early stages. Jack O'Day finished the two miles in 3:51.

Arlington Park Cleared $520,475.

CHICAGO, Sept. 15 (AP).—The Arlington Park race track earned a profit in excess of half a million dollars for its thirty-day meeting this season. Total receipts were $1,688,164 and the net profit was $520,475. Arlington Park is a non-profit making track, and the money will go for improvements.

JEM TAKES FEATURE AT LINCOLN FIELDS

Winner Leads All the Way Over Heavy Track to Score Fifth Straight Victory.

CHICAGO, Sept. 15 (AP).—Jem, Mrs. E. Denemark's consistent colt, won his fifth consecutive victory when he captured the Sun Flower purse at Lincoln Fields today over a heavy track. The son of Friar Rock, seeming to revel in the going, won all the way, leading Typhoon to the finish by eight lengths, with Fleche D'Argent five lengths further back.

The race was worth $1,200 to the winning stable and the time for the mile and a sixteenth was 1:51 2-5.

Jem was off first and, showing a decided liking for the heavy track, increased his lead at every pole to win as his rider pleased. Typhoon, the favorite, was in close quarters on the first turn, got through on the inside on the back stretch to reach a contending position and racing Golden Auburn into defeat went on to take the place easily. Fleche D'Argent, far back at the start, closed well in the stretch drive to take the show from Golden Auburn by a neck.

Jem paid $17.04 to $2 in the mutuels.

107 AT YALE ANSWER TO FOOTBALL CALL

BOOTH AT QUARTERBACK

Nine Veterans Picked for Regular Eleven—Walker at Centre on Second Combination.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Sept. 15.—Head Coach Mal Stevens of the Yale football squad installed nine veterans in the first line-up, greeted 107 candidates and formed a first or blue squad of twenty-five at today's opening practice. He plans to add to this group until it numbers about thirty-five. Morning and afternoon sessions were held.

The only unexpected line-up shift was the placing of Johnny Walker, end for two seasons, at centre on the second team. Fred Loeser, centre two years ago and guard last Fall, was at centre for the regulars. The two newcomers in the varsity line-up were Jack Muhlfeld, who was prevented by an injury from getting beyond the third team last Fall, and John Wilbur, freshman captain and left tackle last Fall.

Muhlfeld was at halfback, where he played strong defensive football as a freshman. Wilbur retained the rôle he filled on the 1933 team.

Four Elevens Formed.

Albie Booth ran the eleven in the morning drill, in which four elevens were formed for signal work. This afternoon, when seven teams were organized, he alternated with Sandy Weiner, tennis star. Both heaved many forward passes during the long afternoon session.

Stevens, Adam Walsh, Charley Comerford, Ray Pond and Century Milstead were in charge of a part of the varsity squad for fundamentals and signals and the remainder were coached by Head Coach Pat Osborn, Grant Noble and Dick Luman of the freshman staff.

Crowley in Back Field.

During part of the afternoon practice Al Beane, Don McLennan, Joe Crowley and Charley Snead formed the back field. Crowley was a freshman last year and the others are varsity veterans.

The blue or first squad:

BACKS—Ed Austen, Al Beane, Albie Booth, Joe Crowley, Kempton Dunn, Don McLennan, John Muhlfeld, Charley Snead, Tom Taylor, Arnold Wierner and John Madden.

PENN SQUAD IS CUT TO THIRTY-EIGHT MEN

Nine Players Return to Philadelphia as First Reduction Is Made at Cape May Camp.

Special to The New York Times.

CAPE MAY, N. J., Sept. 15.—Head Coach Lud Wray made the first cut in the University of Pennsylvania football squad today. Nine men were sent back to Philadelphia, thirty-eight remaining in the camp.

Fifteen backs still remain, as follows: Captain Gentle, Masters, Gette, Greene, Carlsten, Graupner, Ford, Stonik, Perona, Munger, Smith, Masavage, Collis, Onderdunk and Hall.

The six tackles remaining are Olsen, Morris, Bloch, Sweeney, Williams and Sinton. The six guards include Willson, Barrett, Newcomb, Sokolis, Dragon and Ryder, and the seven ends are Riblett, Raffel, Tanseer, Burnett, Merrick, Hemeon and Bainbridge. Only four centres remain—Engle, Robinson, Cullen and Zeigner.

While the first team ran through signals today the second varsity and third teams battled to a 6-to-6 score in scrimmage. Jerry Ford scored for the seconds and Onderdunk for the third.

C. C. N. Y. EASES TRAINING.

Squad Holds Light Session, Schneer Excelling in Kicking Drill.

Special to The New York Times.

BEDFORD, N. Y., Sept. 15.—For the first time since the City College football squad reported two weeks ago Coach Harold J. Parker permitted a slight let-up in the daily routine by allowing players to engage in a light workout without uniforms.

A forward pass defensive drill, signal practice and a dummy scrimmage featured the regular practice session, while Assistant Coach Barckman spent two hours with the punters and placement kickers.

The feature of the kicking session was a drill for distance, in which Harry Schneer excelled.

Amherst Squad Resumes Work.

Special to The New York Times.

AMHERST, Mass., Sept. 15.—Resuming work after a day's rest, forty-five Amherst football candidates went through two hard drills today.

Football Squad at Navy Drills in Swimming Suits

Special to The New York Times.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Sept. 15.—Extreme heat today caused the members of the Naval Academy football squad to discard heavy uniforms at practice in favor of swimming suits. There was no scrimmage, but both back field and line candidates were put through a brisk drill.

Tom Hamilton, back field coach, drilled his charges largely in the forward pass, offensively and defensively, for the first time this season.

PRINCETON STARTS FOOTBALL DRILLS

Fifty Candidates on Hand as Opening Practice of the Season Is Held.

SHAUGNESSY WILL COACH

McGill Mentor to Spend Week Teaching Lateral Pass to Backs—Workout Is Light.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., Sept. 15.—Princeton's 1930 football campaign opened on University Field today with fifty candidates reporting to Head Coach Roper for the first drill of the season. Due to the oppressive heat only a light practice of an hour and a half duration was held.

In addition to Roper, Line Coach Al Wittmer, Assistant Line Coach Stan Keck, End Coach Jack Winn, Scrub Coach Nat Poe and Trainer Keene Fitzpatrick, three new coaches augmented the Tiger staff. Frank Shaugnessy of Montreal, coach of McGill University teams for sixteen years and a former Notre Dame captain, was on hand to instruct the backs in the lateral pass. He will remain in Princeton for the first week of practice. Other additions to the coaching staff are Jack Slagle, '28, new back field coach, and Gene Blake, '28, new assistant scrub coach.

Charging Practice Held.

After a preliminary kicking practice Wittmer put the squad through the customary setting-up exercises. This was followed by charging practice under the direction of Poe and Fitzpatrick. The squad was then divided into three groups.

Shaugnessy gave the backs a twenty-minute drill in the lateral pass after which Roper and Slagle explained several formations. Trix Bennett, Jack James, Bob Zundel and Bob McIver comprised the first quartet Roper called out. Bennett and Zundel were regulars last year, while James starred on the yearling eleven. McIver, a junior, was kept out of competition last Fall.

Three Shifts Apparent.

Three shifts were apparent at the practice, Levick joining the ends and Yeckley and Pendergast the tackle candidates. Levick won his letter in the back field last year, while Yeckley and Pendergast were varsity ends, both winning letters. Both the tackle positions have been left vacant by the graduation of Captain Jack Whyte and Bill Barfield.

ENDS—Byles, Combrinck-Graham, Condon, Galey, Gifford, Keidel, Lea, Levick, Pels, Woodward, Wister.

OUTLOOK IS BRIGHT FOR NOTRE DAME TEAM

Schedule Is Exceedingly Heavy, but Prospects for Undefeated Eleven Are Good.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Sept. 15 (AP).—It is not a question of another heavy winning football team at Notre Dame this Fall. It is simply a question whether Knute Rockne's team can wade undefeated through the most ambitious schedule ever attempted by a college eleven.

Fired to a fresh enthusiasm by a beautiful new stadium and the return to good health of their coach, the squad, 120 strong, is determined and confident, and from its general football quality the outlook for a second successive undefeated team is exceedingly bright.

Even Coach Rockne, at the helm of Notre Dame's football fortunes for the fourteenth straight year, admits the prospects are bright, although he reasonably points out that a certain amount of breaks are necessary to beat Southern Methodist, Navy, Carnegie Tech, Pittsburgh, Indiana, Pennsylvania, Drake, Northwestern, Army and Southern California on successive Saturdays without a setback or upset.

"We may need a blacksmith's shop crammed full with horseshoes to beat that schedule," Rockne said seriously. "No team is invulnerable and every team has good and bad days. I hope two of our good days will be when we play Carnegie Tech and Southern California. Those are two games I'm worrying about, especially."

ARMY HAS LIGHT PRACTICE.

Special to The New York Times.

WEST POINT, N. Y., Sept. 15.—There was only a brief football practice for Army's squad today, this being an afternoon when all cadets are obliged to attend military drills.

The warm weather precluded anything more than a short lecture and a kicking rehearsal. Frentzell, Herb and MacMillan were in a drop-kicking and punting drill. Letzelter, halfback, is still idle because of ivy poisoning.

30 Turn Out at Upsala.

Special to The New York Times.

ORANGE, N. J., Sept. 15.—Three veteran backs and six regular linemen were among the thirty candidates that reported for the opening practice at Upsala College today.

106 AT HARVARD REPORT FOR DRILL

TWO-HOUR SESSION IN HEAT

Special to The New York Times.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Sept. 15.—One hundred and six football players reported as varsity candidates to Head Coach Arnold Horween today, but many did not get even a sight of the first-team field. It is the coach's opinion that he knows his available material so well this Fall that he can start right at work with the players most likely to make the grade. Accordingly he cut the squad almost before the men reported, keeping forty-two players as his first-team squad and turning the others over to the second-team coaches.

Line Coach Dunne and the new assistant line coach, Walter Cleary, Back Field Coaches Eddie Casey and Ed Bradford and Kicking Coach Victor Kennard met the players at the morning session. This was short, but in the afternoon there was a two-hour drill in the intense heat.

Squad in Good Condition.

The squad appeared in good condition, but at the end of the day's work some of the linemen were ten or twelve pounds lighter than when they started.

The afternoon's work ended with a signal drill for three teams. Barry Wood was the quarterback on one and he had as back-field mates Eddie Mays, Charley Devens and Bernie White. The line of this team comprised Captain Ben Ticknor, centre; George Talbot and John Trainor, guards; Charley Richards and George Kuehn, tackles, and the ends, Vic Harding and Bob Ogden.

Personnel of Varsity Squad.

TACKLES—Robert M. Faxon, '32; Murdock J. Finlayson, '32; Francis H. Kales, '32; C. Fred Richards, '31; William B. Trafford, '32; T. Graydon Upton, '31; George W. Kuehn, '32.

FORDHAM STRESSES AERIAL DEFENSE

Substitute Back Field Gains Against Varsity as Third Week of Training Starts.

Major Frank Cavanaugh opened the third week of Fordham's training campaign at Fordham Field yesterday with another strenuous scrimmage and plans to increase the sessions as the opening game with Baltimore University on Sept. 27 draws nearer.

Eagerness of the players to begin the serious work of the season was evidenced in the workout, in which the varsity back field played behind a substitute line and the substitute back field behind the first-string wall of defense. Bill McMahon, who with Jim Murphy is the most consistent ball carrier, made several long gains through the varsity defense with Charlie Pieculewicz playing a prominent part as an interfering back. When the regular backs attempted end runs, however, they were halted in their tracks by the fine work of Adam Elcewicz and John Conroy.

During the second half of the drill Cavanaugh ordered the substitute back field, made up of Frank Bartos, Jack Conway, Marion Zaleski and John Janis, to take to the air in order to drill his players in a strong defense against the aerial game. Bartos to Conway and Zaleski to Janis were the combinations that made gains against the varsity backs and as a result the Maroon coach intends to concentrate on a stronger defense against the pass.

HACKSTAFF REPORTS AT CORNELL PRACTICE

Last Year's Guard Takes Part in Double Session—Sophomores Keep First-String Places.

Special to The New York Times.

ITHACA, N. Y., Sept. 15.—The Cornell football squad went through two drills in fundamentals today, a lengthy signal drill for four teams featuring the afternoon session.

Bruce Hackstaff, who won his letter at guard last year, began active work today upon his arrival from a civil engineering camp, where he spent the Summer.

No changes were made in the first team, which includes five members of last year's freshman squad. Lunden retained his berth at left tackle in spite of the showing made by George, another freshman, and Rothstein.

Handleman is the only veteran in the first-string back field. Stevens, the other veteran, is playing on the second eleven.

DARTMOUTH TESTS PLAYS.

Several New Manoeuvres Tried—Reserves Get Most Attention.

Special to The New York Times.

HANOVER, N. H., Sept. 15.—Concentrating on the third and fourth teams, Jackson Cannell sent his Dartmouth football squad through several new plays today which will be put into use this Saturday in a regulation game between the Greens and Whites.

Varsity line-ups have remained unchanged since the start of practice. Joe Davis, star centre in 1926, arrived to act as a coach. Fred Breithut, Al Marsters's running-mate on the 1928 team, also was a coaching arrival.

BANKO, 1929 GUARD, BACK AT COLUMBIA

The Columbia football squad departed from its customary two-drills-a-day yesterday at Baker Field and instead spent four hours in the afternoon at practicing the game in every phase. The morning session was done away with to enable the men to arrange for their scholastic programs, which start a week from tomorrow.

Gus Banko, husky guard on the 1929 team, returned to the squad yesterday after it had been assumed by Blue and White authorities that he had planned to transfer to Western Reserve. Banko did not take part in heavy work yesterday, as he was tutored privately in the style of line play taught by Coach Lou Little. The return of Banko relieves considerably the shortage of line men on the Morningside squad, but, even so, Little is far from optimistic concerning the line material.

The early part of the single workout yesterday saw the linemen practicing at charging, blocking and breaking through. The centres especially came in for a rigorous session under the direction of Little, and the Lion coach had Stretch Barber, Bill McDuffee, and Butch Allan rehearsing their football chores for more than an hour.

A one-hour scrimmage, in which the first eleven was on the offense throughout, brought the drill to a close well into the evening.

CONFERENCE SQUADS BEGIN FOOTBALL WORK

Eighty Candidates at Ohio State—Stagg Starts Thirty-eighth Season at Chicago.

CHICAGO, Sept. 15 (AP).—Candidates for Western Conference football teams, who started practice today, encountered hard work in most camps.

Coach Sam Willaman was greeted by eighty candidates at Ohio State, the biggest turnout of the day. Willaman had ten letter men, headed by Wesley Fesler, star end. Ohio State has no veteran backs, but line prospects appeared good.

Optimism was noticeable at the University of Chicago, where A. A. Stagg Sr. met his thirty-eighth Maroon squad. Sixty-three men reported. Walter Trude, tackle, and Bernard Wien, end, were among the candidates.

Bob Zuppke had seventy men out for his nineteenth Illinois squad, but all but four lacked experience. The four letter men were Eddie Kawal, centre; Pete Yanuskus and Olaf Robinson, backs, and Otto Hills, tackle.

At Northwestern, Dick Hanley plunged into vigorous work. Forty-eight answered the call, only Bert Riel, of last year's veterans, failing to get a uniform. Riel will captain the 1930 basketball team and will not play football. Captain Hank Bruder appeared completely recovered from his 1928 and 1929 injuries.

Wisconsin's blocking and tackling were poor last year, so Coach Glen Thistlethwaite went right to work on these phases of the game. Thirteen letter men, including Neil Hayes, 1927 quarterback, appeared.

At Michigan, Coach Harry Ripke immediately startel on a hunt for linemen. He tried Morrison, Omer La Jeunesse and Stanley Hozer, fullbacks last season, in the line, along with Leo Draveling and Pete Cornwell, veteran ends.

Football Squad Holds Signal Drill on New Athletic Field.

Special to The New York Times.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 15.—The Syracuse football squad returned to the campus today, following a fifteen-day training session at Shore Acres. A signal drill was held at the new Hendrick field. It is probable that Coach Vic Hanson will start a secret drill tomorrow with a scrimmage.

FLAWS CORRECTED IN N. Y. U. DRILL

Coach Points Out Errors Evident in Scrimmage Session at Farmingdale Camp.

Special to The New York Times.

FARMINGDALE, L. I., Sept. 15.—The correction of flaws that were evident in Saturday's scrimmage session of the New York University football squad occupied much of Head Coach Chick Meehan's time as the candidates began their final week of pre-season training here today with the usual double drill.

Several changes were evident in the make-up of Team A as the squad took the field for today's workouts, but they are not regarded as permanent.

The Violet mentor also went into the rudiments of kicking and passing and devoted attention to signal practice and the perfecting of the huddle. As a result this afternoon's drill was the longest one since the squad reported here some three weeks ago, lasting for more than three hours.

Due to their work in Saturday's outstanding scrimmage, Charlie Marshall, veteran end; Ross Grant and Mike Firstenberg, guards, and Franklyn Learned and Ernie Vavra, tackles, were on Team A. Herman La Mark, veteran back, also substituted for Bill McNamara, sophomore, again today. Later, however, this group were replaced by Joe Hugret, sophomore end; George Chalmers and Hugh Greenberg, guards, and Ernie Concannon and Dick Murphy, tackles, and Bill McNamara, back.

In the kicking practice, Bob McNamara, Jim Tanguay and Jack MacDonald, sophomore backs, and Marshall took part. It was announced today that the candidates will break camp on Saturday evening to return to the campus gridiron for a week's work prior to the opening game.

Also in the lists are Roman Najuch of Hungary, Pierre Etchebaster of France, world's court tennis champion; Hans Hummel of Germany, Dan Maskell, champion of England, and Howard Kinsey, Harvey Snodgrass, Paul Heston, George Augtter, Charles M. Four Back Fields Practice Under Kenneally—Law Takes Linemen.

Back at Manhattan College, after its stay in Oakdale, L. I., the Jaspers yesterday opened a strenuous week under Coach Law in preparation for the opening game with Rider College on Sept. 27.

Ribas and Cutler Divide.

Isidro Ribas and Albert G. Cutler divided the opening two blocks of their ten-block balkline and three-cushion billiard matches at the Fourteenth Street Billiard Academy yesterday. Ribas triumphed in both matches in the afternoon, winning 125-79 at balkline and 50-14 at three-cushion, while in the evening Cutler also was victorious twice. He won, 125-69, at balkline and 50-14 at three-cushion.

Hoppe Wins Two Cue Matches.

Willie Hoppe, meeting all comers in three-cushion billiards at the Strand Billiard Academy, won two matches yesterday. In the afternoon he defeated Walter Edelman, 50 to 28, in forty-three innings. At night Hoppe triumphed over Sam Walker, 50 to 17, in thirty-seven innings.

VETERANS ENHANCE ST. JOHN'S CHANCES

SCHEDULE WELL BALANCED

Eleven Will Remain Strictly Within Own Class This Year—Fine Spirit Among Players.

This is the seventh of a series of articles on Eastern football teams and their prospects for the season.

By ARTHUR J. DALEY.

Special to The New York Times.

MATTITUCK, L. I., Sept. 15.—In a tented village on the shores of Lake Laurel, eighty-four miles away from its Brooklyn campus, the St. John's College football squad goes through its training routine here at Camp Molloy with its best prospects of a successful season in half a decade. Coach Ray Lynch assigns three causes for his optimism.

First is the fact that he has nine regulars and six other letter men as holdovers from his 1929 team; secondly, St. John's has a better balanced schedule, one that is more in its own class; thirdly, the initial training camp in the history of the Brooklyn institution has enabled Lynch to bring the squad along at a faster clip than it has attained in a corresponding period in the past.

In former years the Redmen confined their workouts to several hours each afternoon at Dexter Park. Now they get two practices a day, a blackboard drill at night, a training table and regular hours. Furthermore the closer association of the men has created a better spirit.

Pleased With Progress.

Lynch is delighted with the marked progress his men have shown. "We even had a scrimmage the other day,' 'the St. John's coach declared by way of example. "If we had been training at Dexter Park we would'nt dare a scrimmage for another week yet. The regularity of this camp with everything on set schedule is helping build up some of the lighter members of the squad, and sleeping in tents and a full day out in the open, with a swim to top it off, has put them all in splendid condition."

No longer does Lynch have to worry about clashing with the powerful Holy Cross eleven in the opening game of the season and then facing the strong Lehigh team shortly after. St. John's is remaining strictly within its own class this year with a list of games that lacks the top-heaviness of former seasons.

The St. John's offensive drive is powered by a Dartmouth motor, inasmuch as Eddie Dooley, a nationally ranking star while at Hanover, has interwoven Dartmouth plays into the St. John's attack. Dooley is helping coach the back field, while Phil Weiss and Tom Lomasney are also aiding in the development of the team.

No Dearth of Veterans.

Except for two spots in the middle of the line, the Redmen are equipped with practically the same combination as a year ago. Tom Neary, the 198-pound centre, has been transformed into a tackle, while his 1929 substitute, Ray Halleran, aggressive 157-pounder, has won a first-string berth at the pivot post. The other newcomer, Leo Shepsky, a semi-regular guard, has graduated to a regular position.

The red-shirted squad is particularly well fortified in the number of back field candidates. In fact, Lynch has far too many aspirants for the secondary quartet, especially since he has all his regular ball carriers back in the fold. However, the line is numerically weak and the former Holy Cross player has decided to effect a few shifts whereby some of the surplus backs will be converted into utility forwards.

The back field probably will consist of Bob Sheppard at quarter; Abe Margolis and Mike (Red) Stephens at the halves and Captain Al Pace at fullback, with Sam Cooper, an effective drop-kicker, as alternate. Cooper, by the way, booted a 53-yard field goal in 1928, testimony enough of his ability.

Lynch's hopes of strengthening his team behind the line by the conversion of Mack Kinsbruner from end to halfback were checked completely today when the five-sports star suffered a fractured right collar-bone in tackling practice.

The line positions will be taken care of by Albert Gallo and Rube Mann at ends; Neary and Mello Dallolito at tackles, and Costa Karukas and Shepsky at guards. For substitutes there will be Alfred Gallo, brother of Albert, at centre; Harry Johnson and the 190-pound John Mazzolo at guard; Art Carpineto and the 235-pound Joe Constantino at tackle; Moon Brady and Joe Sullivan at ends, and Art Wright, Joe Tancredi, Mike Rubinsky, Frank Rhinehardt, Israel Kaplan, John Ericson and Joe Montagnino in the back field.

Two dates on the schedule are not yet decided, the first and the last games. Niagara was originally listed for Oct. 11 at Dexter Park, but this may be advanced to Friday, Oct. 10, and played at night under flood lights. De Paul was to have been played at Chicago on Nov. 29 but may be moved back to Sunday, Nov. 30, when it may form a charity contest at Soldier Field.

The schedule:

Oct. 10 or 11, Niagara at Dexter Park; 18, Drexel at Dexter Park; 25, Washington College of Maryland at Dexter Park.
Nov. 1, St. Thomas at Scranton; 8, C. C. N. Y. at Lewisohn Stadium; 15, Providence at Dexter Park; 22, Manhattan at Dexter Park; 29 to 30, De Paul at Chicago.

Nimzowitsch conducted the black forces against E. Colle of Belgium, who succumbed to well-directed king's side attack. Ahues won from Sir George Thomas of England, Przepiorka scored against Orbach of Offenbach and List won from Dr. Mannheimer of Frankfort. The game between Mieses, Germany, and Pirc, Jugoslavia, resulted in a draw.

GLENS FALLS LEAD TAKEN BY MANERO

HIS MARGIN IS ONE STROKE

Wood in Second Place With 140 Total—Sarazen Shoots 67, Then Falters With 76.

FIELD CLOSELY BUNCHED

Cruickshank, Golden, Farrell and Burke, Winner Last Year, in Thick of Fight.

By WILLIAM D. RICHARDSON.

Special to The New York Times.

GLENS FALLS, N. Y., Sept. 15.—Continuing an old custom of his, Tony Manero, brilliant young Westchester professional, set the pace for the field in the annual Glens Falls open today. With the first two rounds of the event behind him, Manero is one stroke in front of one of the fastest turnouts of professionals that has played in any non-championship event this year.

This morning he and Gene Sarazen, recent runner-up to Tommy Armour in the P. G. A. championship, were tied for first, each having tied the competitive record of 67 established here last year by Bill Mehlhorn, but while Tony kept up his blistering pace by scoring a 72 in the second round for a 139 total, Gene lagged behind, with the result that three players jumped in ahead of him.

This happens to be the fifth time that Manero has outdistanced his rivals at the outset of important golf events. He led in the first round at Shawnee with a 71, had a pair of 69s to be out in front for the first two rounds of the Canadian open, produced a 67 in the opening round of the Metropolitan open and topped the field for the first two rounds of the $10,000 open at St. Paul.

Sarazen's Putter Fails Him.

Sarazen's putter, after working beautifully for him this morning, when he was scoring his 67, threw him down in the afternoon with disastrous results, for he took five strokes over par on the last nine holes for a mediocre 76.

The result was that the long-hitting Craig Wood, close on his and Manero's trail with a 70 this morning, went flying past Gene and was still pressing Manero at the finish of today's two rounds, another 70 this afternoon giving him a total of 140.

Rounds of 68 by both Bobby Cruickshank and Johnny Golden in the afternoon put them in the thick of battle, only two strokes behind Manero and one behind Wood. Sarazen's split-up left him in a tie with Joe Turnesa and Al Espinosa, all three having a total of 143, and after them are Johnny Farrell, Arthur Demane and Billy Burke, last year's winner, who is tied with Mehlhorn.

Owing to the large field, there being 135 entries and 125 starters, and the lateness of some of the players in arriving today, it was fortunate that not more were overtaken by darkness before they had finished their rounds. As it was there were only a few threesomes that had to quit playing and it will be easy for them to finish in the morning.

Fifty-seven Score 160 or Better.

When play was stopped tonight there were fifty-seven scores of 160 or better and several tied at 161. It is quite doubtful, however, if those in the latter group even get a chance to play tomorrow, for two of those who could not finish were bound to qualify and maybe more, so that even some of the 160s may be dropped out.

There was no doubt but that Manero took all the honors today. One of the first of the stars to leave the tee this morning, Tony did nothing spectacular for the first four holes where he was one over par, but for the remainder of the way he played as brilliant golf as any one could wish to watch.

Birdies on the fifth, seventh and eighth holes where he was close enough to get down in one putt, put him out in 35, despite three putts on the ninth. It was on the inward nine that he romped, coming home in 32, two under par, with three more birdies, resulting from the holing of two twenty-footers and one of five. He had a chance to set a new record by getting down an eight-foot putt on the last green, but missed.

Wood Misses Opportunity.

Wood missed a great opportunity this morning, for he went out in 33, two strokes better than Manero, but two three-putt greens on the back nine hurt his cause considerably. He was out again in 34 this afternoon and stood on the sixteenth tee with three pars for a 68 to go into the lead, but got into trouble on the 402-yard hole and took a 6.

After taking a 73 on the first round, mainly through two three-putt greens, Cruickshank had a great round in the afternoon. He made only one mistake worthy of mention on the first nine, and that was where he took three putts after driving the 312-yard fifth green.

Coming home he was steady as a rock. Bobby had a good break on the twelfth, where he pushed his drive, but in spite of that he got his par by pitching back and getting down in a single putt. He finished with a birdie 2 on the home green for a 33 after going out in 35.

Golden's rounds were similar to Cruickshank's. Johnny had a rough patch of golf on the first nine, where he lumped three 5s together. In the afternoon he was out in 35, the same as Cruickshank, wasting a stroke on the short third hole by overplaying the green and missing a short putt, and he also finished with a 2.

Both Sarazen and Horton Smith were disappointed with the results of their day's work. Gene played gorgeously this morning, but a starting 6 this afternoon put him out of sorts and left him one over par at the turn. The last nine is far the easier of the two, however, and he still had plenty of chance to make up the stroke, but wasn't equal to the occasion, taking 39, five over par, mostly due to faulty putting.

Sports of the Times

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

By JOHN KIERAN.

Fierce Fighting Along the Baseball Front.

THE lead in the National League pennant scramble changed hands three times in three days, which is a faint indication of how the teams are jamming on the stretch turn. This is practically the zero hour for the final big barrage. The Cardinals are invading Flatbush for a hand-to-hand struggle in the Brooklyn trenches and the Cubs are advancing on the Giants with the idea of surrounding and capturing the series under the lee of Coogan's Bluff.

The Giants have only a faint outside chance of climbing to the top again and they will try to make the most of it. In any case, they have some scores to settle with the Cubs. It was the Wrigley outfit that knocked the Giants off their pennant stride a few weeks back and the Giants and Cubs have been traditional enemies for years. So the Giants are hoping to feed fat their ancient grudge, even if in doing so they help the Cardinals or the Robins along the road to a pennant.

Max Carey of the Pirates was asked to give an expert opinion on the tight race. Max took off his cap, studied the lining with great care, turned the cap over several times, whacked it against the concrete dugout and finally said:

"Well, it's this way: the Cubs are great fighters. You've got to hand them that. The Robins have the pitching. That's what counts in a tight race. And the Cardinals have a great team that's been going at top speed and getting the breaks. If you get the breaks, you win. So there you are."

Yes, but which team would win?

"Gosh, I don't know."

That was very helpful.

Barriers to Success.

Remy Kremer, the Pirate pitcher, has been weeks trying to win his twentieth victory of the season. He is probably the only National League pitcher who will reach that mark this season and M'sieu Remy will have to hustle to get there himself unless his luck changes. He had four chances to add the needed winning game to his record and each time he was turned back. In the Sunday game against the Giants he was not so much turned back as thrown down. He was working on a six-run lead when Pie Traynor and Daredevil Dick Bartell threw it away. The Pirates eventually won the game but Kremer went out with the score tied and didn't get credit for the victory.

Wes Ferrell of the Cleveland Indians has had the same hard luck in trying to score his twenty-fifth victory of the year. He breezed along to twenty-four and stumbled three times trying to win the twenty-fifth. Ted Lyons of the White Sox went weeks trying to score his twentieth victory and he finally got it in a pitching duel with Ferrell.

With the Athletics to help him along, Bob Grove has piled up a winning record that will lead the pitchers of both leagues this year. Not that it matters, but it is odd to find that, in the National League, Malone of the Cubs is the only pitcher on a contending team with a chance to win twenty games and it is doubtful that Malone will make it.

A Specialist in Triples.

Adam Comorosky, the breaker boy from the coal pits who plays left field for the Pirates, is leading both leagues in hitting triples. There should be some special prize for that. The triple is a lordly blow. There's force and drama in it. In the old days before the lively ball and the short fences, it was said that the fast men got the doubles and the sluggers got the triples. Perhaps Adam is a low-trajectory slugger. He doesn't hoist lazy flies into yawning grandstands for perfunctory homers. He bounces his hits off the walls and runs them out.

Glancing down the batting averages, it appears that triples are harder to hit than homers. Ruth has hit six times as many homers as triples. Gehrig, Klein, Hartnett, Babe Herman and Hack Wilson are more or less in the same boat. Unless it comes at a time when it turns the tide, a homer carries little thrill these days. There's nothing exciting in a dog-trot around the bases after a ball has gone out of bounds. But a triple furnishes excitement in itself and at any stage of the game. The runners dust around the bases and the fielders scoot after the ball.

The home-run-hitting profession is overcrowded. There's more distinction in hitting triples and only our best ball players are working at it regularly. To prove that, it is only necessary to say that the leading manufacturers of triples are Comorosky, Paul Waner and Kiki Cuyler in the National League and Earle Combs, Carl Reynolds and Charley Gehringer in the American League. These boys are given a rating of Grade A in any baseball discussion.

News From Newport.

Probably Sir Thomas Lipton doesn't need any advice on yachting, but a well-wisher suggests that he cast an eye on Shamrock V in the next naval engagement. Perhaps the foc'sle hands forgot to pull up the anchor in these recent races. Sometimes an automobilist runs half a block before he discovers that something is burning and it turns out to be his emergency brake. It happens in the best motoring circles. It might happen in yachting.

If it isn't the anchor, perhaps some members of the Shamrock afterguard have been dragging their feet in the water. An old trick in rough rowing circles was to attach a small pail by a wire to the keel of the other chap's wherry. It's astonishing how a small pail can hold back a big boat under those conditions. Not that any one would play such a trick on jolly Sir Thomas, but just as a precaution Skipper Heard should don a diving suit and take a look along the keel.

In short, there must be something wrong and the cry should be: "See to it, Tigellinus!" Shamrock V was supposed to foot it fast in light airs and these airs couldn't have been lighter if they had been composed by Puccini himself. What if a Wagnerian wind comes up?

Stand By to Go About.

There's a thought in that. Shamrock was supposed to do well in light airs. According to the naval experts, that was why Enterprise was chosen to meet the invading sloop. Shamrock surprised by trailing in light airs. It may be a surprising boat all the way through and do well in a brisk blow.

What Sir Thomas should look for and hope for in the interests of Shamrock V is a good steady trade wind. Surely a Lipton yacht should do well with a trade wind a-blowing.

MRS. FRASER WINS MEDAL IN CANADA

Ties Miss Hicks With 74 in Title Golf, but Gains Award on Tourney Ruling.

LEADERS' CARDS SET MARK

MONTREAL, Sept. 15 (Canadian Press).—Mrs. Alexa Stirling Fraser of Ottawa captured the qualifying medal from a field of seventy-six in the opening day's play for the women's open Canadian golf championship being played over the course of the Laval sur-le-Lac Club.

The Ottawa star, who was United States champion in 1916, 1919 and 1920, joined with Miss Helen Hicks of Hewlett, L. I., the defending titleholder, in smashing every woman's record for the course when both turned in scores of 74, one under par.

Mrs. Fraser captured the medal by virtue of a better total for the first five holes of the round, as decided by the executive group of the Canadian Ladies' Golf Union before the tourney.

Match Play Starts Today.

The qualifying round served to select the thirty-two players who will start the match play for the title tomorrow. The United States will have the edge in the number of representatives in tomorrow's play. Seventeen players from below the border succeeded in qualifying.

Fourteen Canadian players advanced, while a cosmopolitan flavor was added by the fact that Mme. Vagliano of Chantilly, France, runner-up for her country's title, was numbered among the qualifiers.

Besides Mrs. Fraser and Miss Hicks, the list included the name of Miss Ada MacKenzie of Toronto, holder of the closed Canadian title and captain of Canada's international team, who was third on the medal list with a 76.

Three Bracketed at 80.

She was followed by Mrs. H. A. Martelle of Hartford, Conn., Miss Marjorie Kirkham of Montreal and Miss Bernice Wall of Oshkosh, Wis., all with scores of 80.

Miss Edith Quier, Reading, Pa., runner-up to Miss Hicks last year, qualified easily with 81. Other prominent United States stars to advance were Mrs. Leo Federman of New York; Miss Peggy Wattles, Buffalo; Miss Maureen Orcutt, New York, and Miss Marion Bennett, New Britain, Conn.

AUSTRIAN GOLF TITLE CAPTURED BY GROSS

Vienna Engineer Conquers Grant, Scotland, 2 and 1, and Count Althan, 8 and 7.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

VIENNA, Sept. 15.—The amateur golf championship of Austria, won last year by an American, Alvin Cohen, this year was regained for Austria against English competition.

Fritz Gross, well-known Vienna engineer, after a hard-fought battle in which the issue was uncertain until the seventeenth hole, managed to outsteady Donald Grant, visiting Scottish golfer, 2 and 1, today. This practically decided the issue, as Gross went on to defeat Count Althan of Vienna easily in the final by 8 and 7.

The ladies' championship again was carried off by Madeleine von Kuh, a four-handicap Vienna golfer, who by steady iron play and putting took hole after hole from Mrs. Stella Ehrenfeld to end 10 up and 8 to play.

The championships were decided on the Vienna International Country Club links, which, although only in existence three years, have been improved until now it is one of the best courses on the Continent. With a Scottish greenkeeper, two English and one German professional, the course is much patronized by visiting Americans.

SCARBOROUGH-ON-HUDSON, N. Y., Sept. 15.—Sixteen competitors turned in qualifying scores in the tournament being conducted by the New York Newspaper Golf Club for the Malone Cup on the Sleepy Hollow course today. G. Byrnes registered the best low net score, turning in a card of 86—12—74.

BOBBY JONES OFF TO U. S. AMATEUR

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 15 (AP).—Just two months from the time of his triumphant home-coming in July after winning the British amateur and open and the American open golf championships, Bobby Jones left today for Washington on the first lap of his journey to the Merion Cricket Club near Philadelphia, where he will enter the national amateur tournament next Monday.

Although Bobby said he was feeling better today, friends admitted he had suffered yesterday from what physicians feared might have been an attack of appendicitis. However, he was allowed to play an exhibition match yesterday and paired with a young Atlantan to down the Georgia State and Atlanta city champion, 4 and 3.

Made Start 14 Years Ago.

Fourteen years ago this soft-spoken Southerner made his first bid for a major golfing title at Merion and in 1924 he won the amateur, his first national crown, over the same course. This familiar terrain will furnish the stage for Bobby's greatest effort, his attempt at the grand slam of golf, the four major titles in a single year.

There will be added incentive in this tournament for should Bobby win he would be the only golfer to capture the crown five times. Both Jones and Jerry Travers have won the premier amateur diadem four times.

Will Play Exhibition Match.

Bobby will reach Washington Tuesday, where he will play an exhibition match paired with Roland Mackenzie against MacDonald Smith and Freddie McLeod. He will arrive in Philadelphia Wednesday and Thursday will be made an honorary member of the Penn Athletic Club, one of the five Americans to be so honored. He plans to get in several practice rounds over the tournament course before the amateur event starts.

Continuous sub-par practice rounds over courses here and at Sapelo Island, near Brunswick, Ga., and Highlands, N. C., where Bobby spent his vacation, have left him in good playing trim for his supreme trial.

Early Arrivals Practice.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 15 (AP).—A number of early arrivals for the national amateur golf tournament at the Merion Cricket Club next week played practice rounds over the championship course today.

Leading the group was Charles (Chick) Evans, amateur titleholder in 1916. Evans played eleven holes and was two over par. Eddie Held of New York got birdies at the first, fourth, tenth, eleventh and fifteenth holes.

Women's Western Golf Body Increases Distances for Par

CHICAGO, Sept. 15 (AP).—The Women's Western Golf Association today took official cognizance of the increasing golfing ability of its members by increasing the distances for par. The change, which will mean a new computation of handicaps, will be effective next year.

The new order establishes par as follows for women: Par 3, up to 200 yards; par 4, 201 to 375 yards; par 5, 375 yards and up. There will be no par 6 holes, except by special ruling.

MISS PARKER LEADS NEW JERSEY FIELD

Special to The New York Times.

UPPER MONTCLAIR, N. J., Sept. 15.—Miss Martha Parker of Spring Lake, who won the women's metropolitan golf championship in May, began the defense of her New Jersey State title at the Upper Montclair Country Club today by leading a field of 129 starters in the eighteen-hole qualifying round. Her score was 45, 43—88, over the south and west courses, women's par for which is 38, 40—78.

Miss Jane Brooks of the Knickerbocker Club was second with an 89, which included three balls out of bounds, while a 16-year-old girl, Miss Dorothy Jammin of White Beeches, made her first appearance in the tournament and took third place with a 90.

Only scores of 96 or better qualified for the first sixteen. Match play will start tomorrow. Among the non-qualifiers was Mrs. Courtlandt Smith of Glen Ridge, twice winner of the title.

Numerous other favorites failed to qualify. Among them were Mrs. Walter MacGowan of Montclair, Miss Charlotte Glutting of Baltusrol, Mrs. Peter Van Vlaanderen of Elmwood and Deal, Mrs. Charles L. Voorhees and Miss Katharine Beach of Upper Montclair.

THE GERMAN ELECTIONS.

The outcome of the Reichstag elections more than bears out the predicted gains for the extremists of Right and Left, but stops noticeably short of being a disaster for the group of moderate parties that has carried on the Government, in various combinations, since the establishment of the Republic. Out of 35,000,000 ballots cast on Sunday the number hostile to the Republican régime is less than 14,000,000, even if we count the Nationalists with the Fascists and the Communists as irreconcilable enemies of the Weimar Constitution. In the new Reichstag the Republican bloc has a minimum strength of 300 members and the Opposition has about 225, with a scattering twoscore that may be counted on the side of the moderates. Were it not, indeed, for the extraordinary showing of the Fascists in multiplying their numbers nearly ninefold one might say that the constitutional bloc had done pretty well, all things considered. Business depression and an army of unemployed hovering close to the 3,000,000 mark were bound to be reflected in a heavy vote for the parties of discontent. This is what happened. The Fascists, Communists and Nationalists were 150 strong in the last Reichstag and have gained 50 per cent. The moderate bloc has lost a score of seats from a total of about 320. The discrepancy between loss on one side and gain on the other is accounted for by the larger membership of the new Reichstag.

It may be some time before we have a complete explanation of the dazzling upward leap of the Fascists from a group of just a dozen to a party commanding 107 seats. But in large measure it obviously represents a realignment of ultra-conservative elements under a new flag and a new leadership. In the Reichstag elections of December, 1924, the Nationalists won 111 seats and the Fascists won 14. Last Sunday the Nationalists were down to 41 seats. It seems to be beyond question that a large part of the Nationalist following has gone over to the Fascist camp as a result of the internecine strife precipitated by the leadership of ALFRED HUGENBERG. At any rate, the swing away from moderate republicanism to reaction has not carried Germany very much beyond the political situation of half a dozen years ago. In that year the Nationalists, Communists and Fascists to the number of 170 challenged a Republican coalition of about 320. Today the indicated Republican majority is half that of 1924, but still sufficient to organize a Government if the coalition of Socialists and middle parties is re-established. Efforts to that end were under way before the election, plainly in anticipation of its results. Events would seem to compel a renewal of the partnership of moderate elements under whose guidance Germany has won back to strength and prestige.

"TROUBLE WITH TAMMANY."

One phrase in Governor ROOSEVELT's reputed conversation with the loquacious gentleman from Arkansas was not explicitly repudiated at Albany. It was that the Governor has been "having trouble with Tammany." This is plausible, even if not proved. All Governors have trouble with Tammany. Governor ALFRED SMITH had it continually during his several terms of office, although himself a Tammany sachem. Because he would not throw everything into the greedy Tammany maw, he finally became, as everybody knows, out of favor in the Wigwam. The veteran braves found him altogether too fastidious and "high-hat" for their taste. Making trouble is always the game which Tammany plays easiest. It is no novelty if the thing has been tried on Governor ROOSEVELT.

Republicans of New York, too, have their troubles with Tammany. They would like to attack the organization from top to bottom, but scarcely know how to do it consistently. Too many of their own workers are tarred with the Tammany stick. The Tammany leaders are shrewd enough occasionally to yield a judgeship, or some other office, to a Republican, when they think it will not be a case, at election time, of benefits forgot. In this year's campaign the Republican opportunity to strike hard and straight at Tammany appears to be more inviting and promising than for a long time past. Only one thing stands in the way. It is the question of prohibition. If that could be got rid of as an issue between the two parties in this State, the chance to make Tammany corruption the leading subject of the State campaign would be fine. But it would be quite thrown away if the old habit of the New York Republicans in pointing their platform northeast by southwest, so far as the prohibition plank is concerned, is too powerful to throw off this year.

The correct Republican strategy seems to be so plainly marked out that even the wayfaring man could not err therein. Let the Republicans match in every respect the demand of Governor ROOSEVELT for repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment. Then the two party planks would virtually cancel each other, and the campaign could be fought on other matters. Especially, if it should appear that District Attorney TUTTLE is to run for the Governorship this year, without the ball and chain of prohibition on his ankle, he would be in a splendid position to attack Tammany all along the line. In that case the desire of President BUTLER that prohibition should be got out of party politics in this State would be met, and the trouble which Tammany is prepared as usual to make would be poured upon its own head, pressed down and running over.

PAROLE BOARD CHANGES.

It is a pity that Judge GOLDSMITH should have had to give up so soon his work as chairman of the new Division of Parole. He had held the office only three months. During the organization of a bureau of this kind a great deal depends on the energy and good sense of the man at its head. By the same token, the work is much more exacting throughout the formative period than in later years, when a routine is established. Judge GOLDSMITH found that his health was not equal to the task. His physician having ordered a complete and extended rest, he was compelled to tender his resignation. Governor ROOSEVELT, who has been a leader in the prison-reform cause, and especially in the movement to reorganize the old Parole Board, naturally sought an expert to take his place. Dr. MOORE is a psychiatrist of note. His appointment is another recognition of the increasing importance of this modern science in the prison problem.

Before his retirement, Judge GOLDSMITH was able to report that the general scheme of parole work for the State had been perfected and the major policies of the division defined and established. It is not probable that Dr. MOORE will seek to reverse any of them. His advice will undoubtedly be sought, however, on two controversial questions. When the Legislature adjourned last Spring it failed to act on the bill giving the Parole Board supervision over men serving determinate sentences who are released by commutation. That is a reform which rests on the most elementary principles of penology. The next Legislature will be asked, too, to modify the Baumes fourth-offender law, now widely regarded as too rigid. In his letter of resignation Judge GOLDSMITH expressed the belief that these two changes would directly contribute to the success of the parole system.

JUDICIAL SUPERVISION.

The appearance of the sixth annual report of the Common Pleas Court of Cuyahoga County, sitting in Cleveland, permits us to refer once more to the happy results achieved by giving this tribunal an executive head with actual administrative power. This court consists of twelve elected judges distributed among equity, common law and criminal divisions; and last year a domestic relations division was established so that all divorce matters would come before the same judge. The judges elect one of their number Chief Justice for a term of five years. Judge POWELL was chosen Chief Justice in 1923 and re-elected. In the first year of its operation the number of cases tried increased by 66 per cent, and the average cost of each trial sank from some $38 to some $23.

Increased speed of criminal justice has been especially noteworthy. As a rule, arraignment is on the day after indictment, and trial the next day after that. Even with the delay unavoidable in some cases, the average is five days. On the civil side time has also been saved, without any disposition to hurry. An Assignment Commissioner follows every case on trial and every engagement of trial lawyers. The latter can't ask for a postponement on the ground of business in some other court. On the other hand, they and their clients and their witnesses don't have to cool their heels in court. As soon as one trial is off another is on. The judges have to work full time. Juries don't have to waste days in weary waiting. It is natural to suppose that the calibre of juries has been bettered since it has been known that expedition, not stalling, is the rule and practice of the court.

The trial procedure has remained the same. The gain is that everything goes like clockwork. The avoidable interims have been wiped out by vigilant forethought and superintendence. This system and the statute authorizing it are in large part the work of the Cleveland Bar Association, which, after investigating the courts of certain great cities, had to invent this plan.

NOT YET DOWNHEARTED.

The spirit responsible for the numeral "V" in the name of the present challenger for the America's Cup may make it persist despite the emphatic nature of Enterprise's victory off Newport yesterday. The winning yacht must take four races before a decision is reached; and Sir THOMAS LIPTON, Captain HEARD and the stanch crew from overseas are both sea-wise and weather-wise. While Enterprise seemed yesterday to have permanent superiorities over Shamrock V, and Skipper VANDERBILT proved himself more skillful than his professional rival, there are "breaks" in this sport as in every other, and a change of weather conditions might bring the challenger first across the line.

Yet it is only good sense to point out that in both light and brisk airs, on and off the desirable weather position, Enterprise beat her rival to the starting line, hove easily across her bows to take the wind and steadily increased the distance from the beginning to the end of the race. Mr. VANDERBILT made no errors of judgment where many were possible, and Enterprise stepped out on the course yesterday the same boat she was Saturday, while Shamrock threw off a ton of lead in ballast. Skipper HEARD's short tacks were cleverly countered until Enterprise's command was established; then she showed her white heels as smartly as any defender ever did.

If she wins two more races and thus retains the cup for the United States, it will be no more than the desert of her designers, her skipper and her crew. But there is a large and ordinarily patriotic section of the American public which will continue to hope that Shamrock may sail back home victorious. This is partly because we have won so often before, largely because the sportsmanship of Sir THOMAS has become a golden legend. Mr. VANDERBILT's tenacity and fine handling, however, will make Enterprise's success, if it comes, one of the most popular in the series.

SAVING WORKERS' EYES.

Proof has been needed to convince many employers in occupations hazardous to vision that most of the accidents to workmen's eyes are preventable. Such employers deeply regret the injuries sustained. They pay thousands of dollars for loss of sight, and the men are either partly or totally incapacitated for continuing previous work. If the destruction or slighter injury of their employes' eyes could be prevented, they agree that they, the men and the whole nation would profit. But it has been hard to persuade them that such accidents in industries where molten metal, poisonous chemicals and flying bits of steel are commonly present in the shop can be prevented.

Yesterday two organizations that have been working with 583 factories for several years published the results of their investigation of sight-saving in industry. They are the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness and the National Safety Council. With the help of more than a dozen different kinds of industrial plants they have produced proof of the high value of simple and inexpensive preventives of eye injuries among workmen in extremely dangerous occupations. Hundreds of instances which most people would think of as examples of sight-saving they have discarded because the workman's goggles were not damaged. Yet the heavy lenses and stout frames stop the flight of a large, sharp object, and no visible hurt can be found, while the same object, striking the unprotected eye, may cause serious injury.

Only those three cases have been considered in which the goggle lenses were split, shattered or splashed with molten metal or destructive chemicals. Counting nothing less severe than these cases, the investigators found that more than 10,000 eyes had been saved. Not all of these workers would have suffered total blindness, for nearly 5,000 of the cases recorded by the aiding corporations endured a blow on only one eye. The financial saving is conservatively estimated at $46,000,000.

Any employers still skeptical of the excellent results obtained through the use of goggles and head masks should obtain a copy of the study "Eyes Saved in Industry." Every case is authenticated. In many of them the lens was so badly damaged by chemicals or hot metal that it had to be replaced, and often the frame also was destroyed. If it is true, as many leaders in accident prevention believe, that more persons are permanently robbed of their sight by occupational hazards than by any other major cause of blindness, employers have here an opportunity to eliminate a risk which has been shown to be unnecessary.

INHERITING THE EARTH.

Ambassador MORROW's statement about the duties of a diplomatic representative should be put in the manual of instruction for the use of all expecting to enter the service. It would also be well for all others visiting foreign countries to keep his advice in mind. Begin with the things mankind has in common, and instead of treating superciliously and haughtily the differences, seek to understand their significance. His own brief career has been an example of such diplomacy in its highest expression. He has admirably defined in his own practice what he desires of his successors. He has ably defended the interests of his own country, but he has shown respect for the rights and the institutions and the traditions of the nation to which he has officially represented us.

One can understand how he has endeared himself to the people of Mexico by his genuine sympathy with them in the "profound experiences" of life. Those which he names as illustrative are the basis of all cordial international relations as well as of wholesome community life. The birth of a child and the death of a parent have a ritual which is understood without language by one who is a true diplomat at heart. And it is such diplomacy that "inherits the earth" with its meekness—not meekness in the sense of tame, passive submission to wrong, to oppression or to injury, but meekness in its pristine, virile sense of gentleness, courtesy, freedom from haughtiness and self-will. It is this meekness that possesses the earth by making him whom it possesses a citizen of the world, whatever his national loyalty. There is no prayer that those who represent us, officially or unofficially, abroad should more frequently utter for protection against pharisaic pride than that which Ambassador MORROW has proposed.

He has done well to put emphasis upon the man rather than the inert machine, which may be an instrument for evil as well as good between nations. A "picture" is sometimes a poor ambassador. And the value of a speaking picture depends upon the person who is doing the speaking. There must be an understanding of the audience to whom it is addressed, and that can be fully had only by such personal experiences as one with Mr. MORROW's petition in his heart can have. If one were to add to his suggested prayer, one would take a passage from ROWLAND WILLIAMS's prayer in a collect of universality:

> By the agony of mankind striving; by men's heads bowed in shame, and eyes filled with tears; by their necks weighed down with burdens, their feet and hearts perplexed and bound; by their hearts often pierced and tears of blood flowing; and by their strong crying out of misery, * * * be moved, O Lord, to arise and amend the earth.

Such a prayer would have fit place in an international litany of many languages and faiths.

PORTO RICO.

Americans should not pass unread the annual report of Governor THEODORE ROOSEVELT of Porto Rico. If there is such a thing as "duty reading" for the public, this is in that class. We have assumed great responsibility for the people of Porto Rico, and we ought to be anxious to know how they are getting on, what they think of the United States, what are their present most urgent needs and their future requirements. Besides, the report itself is most interesting. It relates with entire simplicity and clearness the work undertaken by the insular government, with the aid of the Congress at Washington and of philanthropic individuals and societies in this country, especially since the advent, not yet a year ago, of the vigorous and sympathetic Governor. He has evidently found the right field for his energies and his intelligence.

Within the brief compass of his annual report he details a large amount of well-directed labor. Raising the level of health in Porto Rico has been a primary concern. The steps taken to reduce the onset of infectious diseases, to improve sanitation and particularly to do away as far as possible with malnutrition among children, have been wisely conceived, in line with the best medical knowledge, and have already led to excellent results. Strictly governmental questions necessarily occupy the larger part of the report. Conditions were bad when Governor ROOSEVELT went to San Juan. They are still unsatisfactory, though there has been a marked change for the better.

By stringent economy and by the collection of back taxes unpaid, the budget has been balanced, though a loan has had to be issued in order to take care of floating debts. These, however, have now all been funded, and the financial outlook will be much brighter, provided our Congress makes another advance next year of $1,000,000 for building roads and covering other productive expenditure in Porto Rico.

No one can read this account of his stewardship by Governor THEODORE ROOSEVELT without being impressed by his comprehensive grasp of the chief Porto Rico problems, and by the wholeheartedness with which he has flung himself into the search for their solution. He gratefully acknowledges the aid, both moral and monetary, which he has received from philanthropic-minded Americans, and is also satisfied that the interest shown by President HOOVER and by Congress in these island wards of the United States will continue to be helpfully manifested. On the whole, while there is obviously still a great work to be done in Porto Rico, the outlook appears better than at any time since the destructive hurricane.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

He Overdid His Job.

In the long series of acts and incidents which moved the American public mind to approval of war against Germany in 1917, Captain KARL BOY-ED held a prominent position. As Naval Attaché at Washington he conducted a long and persistent propaganda campaign in this country against the Allies, violating our neutrality obligation and often breaking our laws in the process. His activities, exposed in the press, finally forced his recall by Germany in 1915, although his immediate chief, Grand Admiral VON TIRPITZ, never ceased to bewail the transfer of his subordinate who, he felt, with some reason, had done so much effective war work behind the lines.

The trouble with BOY-ED was a familiar German handicap in those days. Whether from excess of zeal, or as a reflex of the Wilhelmstrasse school of thought, the agents of the Central Powers in America generally overdid what was required of them. We were a singularly patient people, and from BOY-ED the President stood more than would have been permitted an American in Europe under reverse circumstances.

Finally, with the help of the newspapers, whom the ex-Attaché hated to the day of his death yesterday, patience was exhausted, and the American people felt resentment against the German Government as much for what BOY-ED did here as for almost any other of its inspired acts. He met his death by falling off a horse, as did King WILLIAM III. But that was the only similarity between the injudicious Captain and the sagacious King.

Business Conditions and School Figures.

Business depression and unemployment are not reflected in the enrolment figures for New York City's high schools. Whereas registration for the elementary schools shows an increase over last year of only 5,000 in a body of more than 900,000 children, the secondary schools have gained 13,000 over last year's 170,000, a rise of more than 8 per cent. An observer completely ignorant of economic developments during the last year might argue that the tide of American prosperity, expressing itself in part in crowded colleges and high schools, was still in full flood.

If high-school attendance continues to mount, it would mean that a single twelvemonth of poor business and employment has not been enough to undermine the higher standard of educational opportunity built up by prosperity. Most parents are willing to make sacrifices in order to keep the 15-year-olds at school instead of sending them to work. For the others there is a compelling reason in the very fact of unemployment. There are no jobs available as an alternative to school.

A Ticket Broker Without Tickets.

Two gentlemen arrive in New York to transact a day's business. They have only one evening for the theatre, and they want to see a popular show. Having heard of the League of New York Theatres and its good work, they go boldly up to the box office of a "hit" and try to buy a pair of tickets. Then they go to one of the League's accredited brokers, and find that there, too, they can get nothing. So they seek a speculator, who sells them tickets for that evening at ten, fifteen or twenty dollars apiece. He does not forget to add the old tax percentage, which they unquestioningly pay.

These two gentlemen may feel that the League is not accomplishing all that it promised, but they may take heart. Speculators cannot be run off Broadway in a day, and the League means to go on fighting.

Last week it caught one of its brokers sending a youth to the box office of a success to buy tickets which were intended for direct purchase by patrons. This agency was not satisfied with its allotment, and tried to sneak a few extras. Having been discovered in violation of the agreement with the others and with the League, it has been punished by a withdrawal of tickets to every theatre now playing, with one exception. This one is not a member of the League.

For one week it will wait to be reinstated. Since discipline begins next Monday, at the start of a rush of new plays, its punishment is possibly severe enough to satisfy the two gentlemen from out of town.

Travelers Who Stay at Home.

Armchair traveling is the solace of those who yearn to sail for foreign lands but who are tied to home by unkind circumstances. They feast their minds by reading of the wonders they may never see. They voyage on from shore to shore, without rising from their easy chairs.

A new, and less commendable, type of stay-at-home traveler has recently developed in France. A tourist agency is said to have been opened there to cater to customers who have no intention of traveling, who only "make believe." For a charge of a few francs a customer may write a sheaf of postcards, dating them in order from the ports of call of the steamer he elects to travel on, and the agency will see that they are mailed, with appropriate postmarks, to "distant" friends at home.

To make the bogus tour convincing, the tourist must, of course, disappear from his familiar haunts until his ship comes home. If upon his return he could be provided by the tourist agency with a fine assortment of hotel labels for his suitcase, the illusion would be complete.

As for the questions he might be asked about his wanderings, a cursory reading of the "literature" put out by steamship companies should enable him to give glowing and enthusiastic accounts of what he had seen. At any rate, as many real travelers have found, most of those questions are pretty perfunctory, and generally serve only as a preface to an account of the questioner's own travels.

MR. COOLIDGE AND PEACE.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

It is regrettable that in a recently published article former President Coolidge took occasion to accuse Great Britain, France, Japan and the other countries which are members of the League of Nations of misrepresenting their needs for armament. He also stated that the theory of the League of Nations calls for increased armaments, while the policy of the United States in remaining aloof from all peace machinery makes for disarmament. According to him, the nations of the League "constantly think in terms of war," while the United States has become "a leader in limitation of armaments."

I would respectfully call the attention of Mr. Coolidge to certain facts which in his daily research must have escaped his attention. In 1913 the United States had a fleet of 843,600 tons, Great Britain had a fleet of 2,222,000 tons and France a fleet of 689,000 tons. Today the United States has 1,250,000 tons, Great Britain has 1,275,000 tons and France has 587,000 tons. In terms of annual costs for naval armament, the United States is spending today $375,000,000, where in 1913 we spent $137,000,000; Great Britain is spending $335,000,000, as against $224,000,000 in 1913, while France is spending $100,000,000, as against $124,000,000 in 1913. In other words, the United States is spending 173 per cent more than she spent in 1913, Great Britain 49 per cent more, while France is spending 19 per cent less.

If army and air defense costs are added to navy costs, the United States is spending $850,000,000 in 1930, Great Britain is spending $615,000,000 and France $370,000,000.

Where is the "disarmament for security" which Mr. Coolidge talks about as a policy peculiar to America?

"The theory of the United States," says Mr. Coolidge, "is to reduce armaments so that they are not considered a menace anywhere." At London we refused to reduce aircraft carriers, we refused to abolish battleships, we refused to consult with other nations in time of crisis, and we demanded and obtained the right to add a billion dollars' worth of warships to our navy so that it might be equal to the greatest in the world.

Mr. Coolidge claims that our aim, apparently as opposed to the League policy, is to "cultivate friendly relations." Evidently he has forgotten the fact that we recently passed a tariff bill which has done more to disturb the real peace of the world than anything since our wanton insult to Japan in removing her from the immigration quota. He has forgotten the fact that the day after we ratified the Kellogg pact we passed a bill providing for ten new cruisers.

It is true that the League has made little substantial progress on the question of disarmament. The world is still governed by its fears. The isolation of the United States and our refusal to sit around a table with other nations in the discussion of common problems have added greatly to the uncertainty. Nevertheless, the League technique and practice of continuous, open discussion have at least laid a foundation for future work; and Mr. Coolidge is not helping the cause of peace when he preaches the doctrine of self-righteousness.

Mr. Werner Excepts.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In THE TIMES account of the application in Jersey City for the appointment of a receiver of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company it is stated that Charles H. Werner, representing Jacob Mayer, said: "He had correspondence in which Mr. Wollner had given misleading accounts of the state of the company's affairs." I did not make any such statement.

FOR A PURITAN.

I call you friend, a good and gracious word
That you will not mistrust but wear with ease.
Considering your graveness I've deferred
A lovelier epithet, lest it should freeze
Upon your reticence. Afraid to lose
Even this prim delight, I, too, am chary.
I teach my tongue your thrift awhile and use
Your careful speech—your lean vocabulary.
By eager April and the moon I swear,
I have no talent for economy.
I'll disregard you some day when I dare.
Oh, silence is not good for you nor me.
Only a little sign and I'll break this
With such a word it would be sad to miss.

FOR PROMPT RECOGNITION.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Recent events in Argentina, Bolivia and Peru have focused the attention of the world on South America. The attitude of our government is being watched with the keenest interest both in the United States, where the investing public has millions of dollars in bonds and other South American securities, and in other countries which are inclined to more or less follow our leadership.

It is my opinion that our government should extend a de facto recognition to the provisional governments in Argentina, Bolivia and Peru as soon as possible. The only consideration should be the question of whether or not the provisional government is in firm control and political conditions in the country are stable.

President Wilson enunciated the principle of refusing to recognize revolutionary governments, believing that this would tend to discourage revolutions, particularly in the Central American countries. It has since been proved that not only is this policy a mistake, impractical and unworkable, but that it would seem to place us in the awkward position of interfering in the internal affairs of the South and Central American countries by interjecting ourselves into their political affairs.

The revolution of 1920 in Bolivia occurred during my term as United States Minister there. I recommended a de facto recognition of the provisional government three different times during the six months preceding the election of President Saavedra. Our government, however, refused to grant recognition until a President should be "elected by the people." President Saavedra was elected by the Constitutional Convention and our recognition followed his induction into office as a matter of course, although the election had not been held "by the people." Great Britain had granted a de facto recognition more than three months before, and the provisional government, feeling that our early recognition would have been of great help to them in stabilizing the country, was quite irritated. Only the fundamentally friendly feeling in the country toward us kept them from being more resentful than they were.

An early recognition by our government not only makes it very much easier for us to carry on our normal diplomatic and business relations in the country affected, but assists the provisional government very materially in bringing the country back to normalcy quickly.

The time has passed when changes of this kind bring on repudiation of debts. All three of these countries will live up to their commitments whether they be international treaties or contracts for loans or public improvements legally entered into by previous governments. It is an old story how, when an upset occurred some years ago in one of the South American countries immediately preceding a payment date on a large foreign loan, both the outgoing and incoming governments offered to make the payment promptly to protect the credit of the country.

The prompt action of the National City Bank and the First National Bank of Boston in offering an immediate loan on short term notes to the Argentine Republic to assist the provisional government to bring the country to normalcy quickly is to be highly commended. This example should be followed by the banking houses which have sponsored the Bolivian and Peruvian loans in the United States.

Our government and the interested banking houses should do everything reasonably and properly within their power to assist these governments in working out their problems, which will now be largely economic.

The importance of our friendly and commercial relations with the South American countries has been dwelt upon so frequently that it hardly seems necessary to do more at this time than point out that the present situation offers a real opportunity to our government and our bankers to prove to those countries our sincerity and real desire to be of assistance to them at a critical time.

Perils of the Road.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Some time ago THE TIMES published a letter about a man who threw paper from his limousine while being driven through a city park. I admire people whose civic righteousness is aroused by such little incidents. Today I observed a similar affair on a parkway, and I was surprised to see on the car involved a "P. D." sign. I murmured an epithet which consigned the offender to the animal kingdom and settled down to enjoy the end of a perfect day.

Then occurred the incident which causes me to commune with you. I was driving on Kings Highway, near Utica Avenue, and came behind a bus marked Colonial Service, license 051-047. Bing! a bottle crashed in front of my car. I swerved to avoid the pieces. Bang! another bottle. Puff! I had a flat.

Now, I am willing to release the first offender from the sty, provided the spirited occupants of the bus are sent to the Styx.

The Truth Insurgent.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

"The people's government, made for the people, made by the people, and answerable to the people."

So spoke Webster thirty-three years before the Gettysburg Address.

At last the people have wakened to the truth. It may be true that the Eighteenth Amendment was "made for the people," but, most surely, they know, also, that it was not "made by the people."

No longer can the politicians safely stand between the people and their determination to exercise their right to make the Eighteenth Amendment "answerable to the people."

We speak of "repeal," but, in the end, what we mean is "expunge" from the Federal Constitution every vestige of the Eighteenth Amendment.

STATES ACT TO EN[D] HARBOR POLLUTIO[N]

FEDERAL AID IS SOUGHT

Representatives of New York, New Jersey and Connecticut Pledge State Aid to Movement.

Steps were taken at yesterday's meeting of the Tri-State Conference for the Purification of Waterways at the Hotel Astor toward the creation of a commission to represent New York, New Jersey and Connecticut in formulating a treaty between the three States and the Federal Government to end the pollution of waterways.

The tentative draft of a bill to be introduced in the three Legislatures to provide for the appointment of the commission was referred to a committee to be appointed by the group. Senator Royal S. Copeland, chairman of the conference, said this committee would consist largely of legislators who would arrange for the introduction of the bills after possible revisions.

Dr. George A. Soper, former president of the Metropolitan Sewerage Commission and member of the New York Bay Pollution Commission, said the research work of that body had cost $265,000 and could not be repeated today for $500,000. He urged that this work be not disregarded.

Pledge State Cooperation.

United States Senator David Baird Jr. of New Jersey pledged his State's cooperation in the project. General S. H. Wadhams, representing Connecticut, said that State's cooperation could be relied on. He stressed the importance of finding means to finance the project of disposing of the sewage of the fast-growing coastal cities of the three States without polluting their waters.

Deputy Attorney General George W. Davis of New York State, who represented Attorney General Ward and Dr. Thomas Parran, State Health Commissioner, said those officers were in accord with the project and wanted to help it. He urged that the Commissioners of Health of the three States be on the proposed tri-State commission. Assemblyman Irwin Steingut, minority leader of New York's lower house, pledged the support of the minority "and, I think, the majority as well," and said he knew that Governor Roosevelt would "do all humanly possible to aid the plan."

State Sanitary Engineer C. A. Holmquist said that Dr. Parran felt that before any legislation was promulgated by the proposed commission there should be a careful scientific investigation of the waters to determine the present and probable future conditions and remedies. The Health Commissioner, he added, believed that the Federal Government should have a part in the investigation because of its scientific facilities and impartiality.

United States Attorney Howard W. Ameli for the Eastern District of New York said that with a few amendments to the present Federal laws he believed the Federal Government could do much to eliminate the pollution of the harbor. The conference voted to appoint a committee on Federal legislation.

A Nation-wide Problem.

Senator Copeland said that the problem of waterways pollution was nation-wide. He urged the importance of getting various federations of women's clubs to back the movement, and at his suggestion it was voted to appoint a national committee of pure waterways.

Speakers yesterday included George T. Kimball and William R. Copeland, designated as representatives of Connecticut by Governor Trumbull; Colonel Frank Taintor and Gerald W. Knight, designated by Governor Larson of New Jersey; Russell S. Wise, majority leader of the New Jersey State Legislature; Captain R. Drace White, U. S. N., supervisor of the Port of New York; Chief Engineer John R. Van Duyn and Dr. R. C. Smith of the Passaic Valley Sewerage Commission; Representative Mary T. Norton of New Jersey; United States Attorney Philip T. Forman of the district of New Jersey, R. N. Clark, city engineer of Hartford, Conn.; Alfred N. Phillips, former Mayor of Stamford.

The committee on the tri-State commission probably will include three members from each State, Senator Copeland said later, the committee on Federal legislation a total of five, and the national pure waterways committee five also. He said he would announce the personnel of the three groups in the near future.

TAHITI CAPTAIN PRAISED.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

WELLINGTON, New Zealand, Sept. 15.—The nautical court of inquiry which investigated the sinking of the liner Tahiti has found that the loss was caused by the breaking of a tailshaft just forward of the stern tube and the puncturing of the ship's hull by the broken shaft. Notwithstanding the puncture, the court asserts the vessel would have been saved but for damage to a bulkhead through racing of the engine and the disturbed alignment of the broken shaft.

The ship was stanch, in the court's view, and the loss was due to a peril of the sea which no reasonable human care or foresight could have avoided, the court held.

The court commended the behavior of the ship's officers and crew, and it gave the highest praise to the captain for his handling of the situation. The engineers and the engine room and stoke-hold crews also received special praise for their gallant fight for almost sixty hours against the relentless waters.

WARBURG REPORTS AMITY IN PALESTINE

Back From Berlin Meeting of Jewish Leaders, He Hails Impetus to Progress.

FOUND DISTRESS IN EUROPE

Looks for British Cooperation and Peace With Arabs, but Urges Aid on Continent.

Felix M. Warburg, banker and chairman of the administrative committee of the Jewish Agency for Palestine, returning yesterday on the North German Lloyd liner Europa from the meetings of that committee in Berlin, expressed satisfaction at the progress that had been made.

He reiterated his confidence in the assurances given to him of sympathetic British governmental cooperation in the solution of the problems and the development of Palestine. In his capacity also as chairman of the Joint Distribution Committee, he strengthened the reports submitted to him indicating the need of the Jews of Eastern Europe for constructive aid.

Asked about economic conditions in the countries he had visited, Mr. Warburg said England was having a hard time with the unemployment question and the falling off in export trade and so was Germany.

Finds Jews' Road Made Easier.

In a prepared statement Mr. Warburg said:

"When we left for Berlin we did so with many worries. We return encouraged by certain reassuring factors. Among these is the courageous statement of Dr. Weizmann that we are not concerned with political aims that should create any fears among the Arabs. His clear expression that the problem of Palestine is common to both Arabs and Jews should make the road easier for the mandatory government to initiate and carry through a program of development and peaceful cooperation in Palestine.

"Further, the renewed intention of Max Warburg, Oskar Wasserman, Simon Marks and others abroad to provide the supplementary funds for the inauguration of the 1,000 family plantations settlements, re-establishes confidence in a conservative and constructive extension of agricultural opportunity and employment for experienced farmers.

"The decision to adopt a budget within the realms of practical possibilities, coupled with the plan to fund the debts of the agency, will, if carried out, commend itself to all who are interested in the future of Palestine, and will afford them a channel through which to provide for the next ten years for a limited series of land purchases which ought not to arouse any anxieties on the part of our neighbors.

"Again, the reduction of the number of the executives and their present personnel is most promising. Dr. Hahn of Berlin will devote his splendid capacities to the organization of the work in the social, civic and financial fields of administration. Dr. Ruppin, in the sphere of agriculture and colonization, should give satisfaction to all, especially the workers' groups. Dr. Senator, as treasurer and financial administrator, has shown marked ability. Dr. Hexter has established excellent relationships with members of the government and administration and will serve both in Jerusalem and in London in simplifying our task.

"Colonel Kisch will continue to devote himself to measures for the safety and the establishment of law and order in relation to our people in Palestine. Professor Brodetsky will use his splendid equipment to advise with Dr. Weizmann and the political committee. Rabbi Berlin, we trust, will represent the views of the entire orthodox element and minister to the peaceful religious development and philosophy so necessary if Palestine is to prosper as a land of neighborly love.

Aid Needed in Eastern Europe.

"With reference to Jewish needs in Eastern Europe, as chairman of the Joint Distribution Committee I took occasion, in conference with Dr. Cyrus Adler, Bernard Flexner, J. C. Hyman and others associated with our work, to meet with the representatives of our organization—with Dr. Kahn, with Dr. Rosen, with delegations from the lands of Eastern and Central Europe—and to consider the reports of Mr. Waldman, the secretary of the American Jewish Committee, who had just returned from Rumania. In this way and through the regular reports which have come to our offices, we have the latest information with respect to the Jewish situation in Rumania, Poland, Lithuania and other sections.

"Economic depression and political uncertainties render the lot of the Jews in these countries a most unhappy one. Disturbances and excesses in Rumania, increasing unemployment and the lack of the very means of livelihood there and in the other countries, coupled with the proverbially unfavorable position and the burdensome taxes that fall upon the Jews as city dwellers, have combined to weaken the structure of self-help which American Jewish generosity contributed so much to build up.

"While the American Joint Reconstruction Foundation, organized by the Joint Distribution Committee and the Jewish Colonization Association, has developed into an instrument of great constructive usefulness, and through its 700 loan societies extends small credits to hundreds of thousands of Jewish families, the other branches of vital self-help activity in these countries cannot rely for their continued existence solely on the impoverished local peoples. They are already carrying a heavy load, with great effort and with genuine sacrifice.

"For instance, the work of the hospitals and medical sanitary service, the care of orphans, the training of the youth in crafts and manual vocations, the readjustment of thousands of young men and women from hand work to skilled factory operation, and to the new requirements of the industrial current, these and other such activities, as well as the care of hundreds upon hundreds of schools, religious and lay, which are not supported by the State, are not within the present ability of the people in these lands to do alone."

2 SEIZED 5 MINUTES AFTER BANK HOLDUP

SAVE PAIR FROM CROWD

State Troopers Rush Suspects to Another Town When Friends of Victims Menace Prisoners.

Special to The New York Times.

ATCO, N. J., Sept. 15.—To men attempted to rob the Atco National Bank here today. The cashier was shot through the jaw. The bandits were frightened off without getting any money and were reported captured by State troopers within five minutes.

At 11:50 o'clock a sedan stopped before the bank. One man remained at the wheel while the other entered the bank. The latter walked to the cashier's wicket and without preliminaries shoved a pistol through the grill and demanded, "Stick 'em up!" Before Richard T. Ewan had an opportunity to comply the hold-up man fired. The robber then fired at Harry Ewan, assistant cashier and brother of Richard, but the shot went wild.

Harry stepped on an alarm, which three months ago foiled a hold-up attempt. When the gong commenced to ring the man outside, who had started his motor at the sound of the shots, put the machine into gear and started away. His partner dashed out of the bank and barely managed to make the running board of the car.

As the robbers fled, Harry Ewan notified the State Troopers' barracks at Berlin, about two miles away. Troopers George Dickerson and Anthony Wilhelm, in a motor car, raced over the roads to the bank, and within three minutes were reporting back to headquarters with a description of the men and a request that an alarm be broadcast over the new teletype system, which was in operation for the first time today. All roads were ordered closed as the troopers, following the directions of passers-by, followed the robbers' car and in two minutes had overtaken it and seized the two suspects.

The prisoners gave their names as Harry Spector of 307 Christian Street and Frank Passerella of 312 Catherine Street, both of Philadelphia; the latter, a former resident of Atco, whose brother, Antonio, is reported to be the proprietor of a roadhouse near the town. The troopers said they found two .45 calibre pistols, one of which had two shells discharged, and a twelve-inch dirk on the prisoners.

At the bank, Harry Ewan identified Spector as the man who had fired the shots, and others said that Passerella was the man in the car. When an angry crowd gathered at the bank, the prisoners were rushed to the State police barracks at Berlin, where they were reported to have confessed.

The wounded man, Ewan, is chairman of the County Board of Freeholders. He has a wife and one child and is popular with his fellow-townsmen, who were eager to seize the prisoners. At the Cooper Hospital in Camden it was said his recovery was doubtful.

When arraigned before Justice of the Peace William Duncan at Berlin, the prisoners were held without bail for the grand jury on charges of attempted robbery and assault with intent to kill.

THREE MEN INDICTED FOR PLOT ON DE PRIEST

Two, Under Arrest in Chicago for Extortion, Are Held Under Heavy Bail.

CHICAGO, Sept. 15 (AP).—A true bill charging extortion by threats of murder was reported voted late today by the grand jury, naming three men accused of demanding $10,000 or the life of Representative Oscar De Priest, the Negro member of Congress from the First Illinois District.

Julius Link, a minor political figure in Mr. De Priest's bailiwick; Solly Lason, a milk truck driver, and Joseph Goldstein were the three indicted.

Link and Lason were in custody, Goldstein was sought, and Aaron Mosheik, first accused of plotting the extortion attempt, was released after a brief hearing today. He came to the State's Attorney's office voluntarily and satisfied authorities that he was not connected with the alleged conspiracy.

Representative De Priest and two other witnesses testified before the grand jury, which has already begun an investigation into the preying of racketeers upon labor and business groups in Cook County.

Lason was arrested when he stopped his milk truck to pick up a decoy package containing $200 in marked money, left there by the Negro Representative on instructions received in the extortion letter.

Lason, the police said, admitted his part in the plot and was held under $25,000 bonds. Link's bonds were fixed at $50,000 because he had a police record.

WALSH NOMINATED AS I. R. T. DIRECTOR

Head of Taxicab Board Named by Transit Body to Represent the Public's Interests.

WILL BE ELECTED SEPT. 24

Action Seen as Part of a More Drastic Policy to Get Road in Line for Unification.

OTHER CHANGES ARE LIKELY

Metz and Blackmar Expected to Quit to Allow Posts to Be Filled by Others.

Frank P. Walsh, labor attorney, now serving as chairman of Mayor Walker's Commission on Taxicabs, was nominated by the Transit Commission yesterday as a public director of the Interborough for the next three years. He will be elected at the company's annual meeting on Sept. 24 and will succeed William W. Niles, whose term expires at that time.

The nomination of Mr. Walsh was regarded in transit circles as marking the adoption of an aggressive policy to bring the Interborough within the scope of the rapid transit unification negotiations now being conducted with the B. M. T. alone. The commission's action, taken at a special meeting, marked the first time since 1922 that it has submitted a candidate for a vacancy among the three public directors. Mr. Niles, with Herman A. Metz and former Judge Abel E. Blackmar, has served since 1922, when the public representation was provided for under the Interborough reorganization agreement. The company's voting trustees have filled vacancies in the meantime by re-electing serving directors in default of nominations by the Transit Commission.

Two Others Likely to Quit.

It is expected that Mr. Metz and Mr. Blackmar will resign their directorships soon after the annual meeting, leaving their places to be filled by Transit Commission nominees thoroughly in accord with the city's transit policies. Mr. Metz has supported the Interborough's position of remaining aloof from unification parleys until the 7-cent fare litigation is finally closed. Mr. Blackmar has not been an active proponent of company policies, but neither has he pressed the views of city and State transit officials regarding fares or unification.

Mr. Walsh, with his record as a public utility expert, is regarded by the commission and by Mayor Walker as an excellent choice as a public director. It is expected that he will, in so far as their interests coincide with those of the city, cooperate with Gerhard M. Dahl, Albert H. Wiggin and Charles H. Hayden, directors of the B. M. T., who will be elected to the Interborough board on Sept. 25 by virtue of nomination by Interborough certificate holders who favor company participation in unification conferences with city and State officials.

At the Sept. 24 meeting it is probable that Nathan L. Amster, chairman of a protective committee of Manhattan Railway Company stockholders, will be chosen to represent that company on the Interborough board. He, too, is committed to the policy of bringing the company into unification proceedings.

Mayor Praises Walsh.

Mayor Walker last night declared his belief that Mr. Walsh was the right type of man to represent the public on the Interborough's board of directors.

"He is a utility expert," said the Mayor. "He has a long record of devotion to public interest and he can be relied upon to act aggressively in that interest."

Mr. Walsh has been a member of the bar for forty years, specializing in labor and public utilities matters. He was appointed a member of Governor Roosevelt's commission on public utilities law reform in June, 1929, and with Professor James C. Bonbright of Columbia University submitted that body's minority report. Several months ago Mayor Walker named him to head the Commission on Taxicabs, whose report on the industry in this city will be submitted the week of Sept. 22.

In 1912 he headed President Woodrow Wilson's commission on industrial and economic relations which made a nation-wide investgtion. During the World War he served with former President Taft as a joint chairman of the Nationall War Labor Board. He is a Democrat in politics and maintains law offices at 225 Broadway.

MRS. ROGERS FIGHTS $1,133 BACK TAX LEVY

Bay State Representative Appeals Treasury Ruling Against $7,974 "Office Expense" Deduction.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—Edith Nourse Rogers, Republican Representative from Massachusetts, is involved in a tilt with the Federal tax authorities in an effort to avoid payment of alleged back income taxes.

The government is seeking to collect $1,133.51 from Mrs. Rogers as income taxes due for 1927. Her income for the year, according to Federal tax records, was $40,758.48. From this amount, it is contended, she deducted $7,974.74 as office expense in addition to the amount allowed for members of the House of Representatives.

The government disallowed the "office expense" item on the ground that "in order to claim a deduction for expenses the deduction must be substantiated, when required by the Commissioner, by records showing in detail the amount and nature of the expenses incurred."

Mrs. Rogers has appealed to the Board of Tax Appeals to set aside the ruling of the treasury. The case now is pending on the general calendar of the board.

President Leaves Camp Early For Real Virginia Breakfast

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—A section of the country famous for its ham and eggs had President Hoover for a breakfast guest this morning.

Rising with the sun at his Rapidan Camp in the Virginia mountains, the President decided to be a few miles on the way toward Washington by breakfast time and started out, accompanied only by a close friend, George Barr Baker, and the White House physician, Captain Joel T. Boone.

His car moved more swiftly than usual and it later was learned that he wanted to get to the Warren Green Hotel in Warrenton before the dining room doors were shut.

'JOHN THE BARBER,' FIGHT MENTOR, DEAD

WAS ROSENTHAL WITNESS

"John the Barber," in private life John J. Reisler, known on Broadway for many years as a barber, fight manager and friend of the street's great and near-great, died yesterday morning in Lebanon Hospital, the Bronx, of an infection caused by an ingrown hair in his finger. He had been in the hospital three weeks and was surrounded by his family, including his wife, Mrs. Minnie Reisler, with whom he had been reconciled recently after a long separation. He was 53 years old.

Also at the bedside was Morris Reisler, his son, whose sentence of from twenty years to life in 1923 was commuted by Governor Roosevelt last March. Morris had been sent to Sing Sing for killing his aunt, Miss Bertha Katz, whose death climaxed a family feud in which Mrs. Reisler had accused Miss Katz, her younger sister, of stealing Reisler's affections. When Morris was released his father, whom he had seen in 1927 when he was permitted to visit the elder Reisler, who lay ill in a Bronx hospital, met him at the prison gate and escorted him back to New York.

As a prizefight manager Reisler was one of Jack Dempsey's first managers. That was in 1915 and 1916. Although the two parted and later Reisler sued Dempsey for breach of contract, he always was proud of having known and handled Dempsey in the days before he was champion.

Born in Austria, he came to New York as a young boy. He became a barber, and in that capacity shaved some of the best-known chins on Broadway. He ran several athletic clubs at various times and knew many celebrities. One of his latest fighters was Vincent Serici. Recently he had handled his three boxing sons, Johnny, Georgie and Sid.

Reisler first came into prominence, however, in 1912, when Herman Rosenthal, the gambler, was murdered early on the morning of July 16 in front of the Hotel Metropole, in Forty-third Street, east of Broadway. Reisler was one of the first on the scene, and it reached the ears of District Attorney Charles S. Whitman that he had seen something. He was subpoenaed, and told Mr. Whitman that he had seen "Bridgey" Webber, one of those accused of the murder, running from the scene.

Put on the stand at Coroner Feinberg's hearing, Reisler, who had known for years Rosenthal, Webber and others involved in the affair, recanted his story. He was fearful that gunmen in the crowd would "put him on the spot." Mr. Whitman had him arrested for perjury and after a night in a cell he decided to tell his original story. Webber, who turned informer, was freed later, as was Reisler, after his testimony. Police Lieutenant Charles A. Becker and four gunmen, "Gyp the Blood" Horowitz, "Lefty Louie" Rosenberg, "Whitey" Lewis and "Dago Frank" Cirofici, went to the electric chair for the crime.

In addition to his sons and widow, Reisler is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Ella Winters and Mrs. Gertrude Looman, and seven grandchildren. His last home was at 3,100 Lakeland Place, Brooklyn.

His body will lie in state today at the I. J. Morris Funeral Parlor, 280 Sutter Avenue, Brooklyn, from where the funeral will be held at 2 P. M. today. Burial will be in Montefiore Cemetery.

URGE UNITY TO AID MORROW

Passaic Republicans at Harmony Dinner Ask Solid Front in State.

Special to The New York Times.

PATERSON, N. J., Sept. 15.—More than 300 Republicans from various parts of Passaic County attended a harmony dinner at the Hotel Alexander Hamilton here tonight. A resolution was adopted calling upon the Republican State Committee to plan similar meetings in other counties to insure the election of Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow and the entire Republican ticket.

In a keynote address Henry A. Williams, former State Senator, suggested that Passaic County Republicans form a committee on grievances and another on solidarity and harmony, and that the State committee be asked to create similar committees in all counties.

GOLDMAN MARRIES QUIETLY.

Plant and Structures Commissioner and Bride Traveling in South.

Albert Goldman, Commissioner of Plant and Structures, and the former Miss Edna Helen Murphy, daughter of Mrs. Helen and the late Eugene J. Murphy of 1,895 Grand Concourse, the Bronx, were on their way South yesterday after leaving Pennsylvania Station Sunday night shortly before 8 o'clock on a honeymoon trip.

Mr. Goldman and Miss Murphy were married at a quiet ceremony Sunday afternoon in the presence of only a few family friends. The ceremony was performed by Supreme Court Justice Albert Cohn in the Biltmore Hotel. The couple had known each other for more than two years. They plan to live on Walton Avenue, the Bronx, on their return.

HEARST BACK, TAKES A FLING AT FRANCE

SCORES FOREIGN HONORS

William Randolph Hearst, publisher, who was expelled from France on Sept. 1, returned yesterday on the North German Lloyd liner Europa and was met at Quarantine by the steamboat Hook Mountain with a reception committee and band under the auspices of the Disabled American War Veterans. The boat was decorated with two banners. One read: "Friends in Congress Welcome You," and the other, "Crippled Veterans Welcome Hearst Home."

On the Hook Mountain were 250 disabled American veterans and fifty representatives of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

After the Europa, with her 2,150 passengers, had been passed by the public health officer, a committee of fifty-seven veterans went on the liner to welcome the returning newspaper publisher.

The disabled veterans, many on crutches, wearing their old khaki uniforms and waving flags, stood on the upper deck of the Hook Mountain and cheered the publisher when he came on board from the liner. Many of them were from the Naval Hospital, the Seton Hospital and the United States Hospital in the Bronx. These were brought to Pier A in motor buses.

In addition to the veterans on the Hook Mountain, Mr. Hearst was welcomed by a delegation headed by Senator Robert F. Wagner and Representatives Lindsay, Bloom, Sirovich Celler and Black. Representatives La Guardia and Dickstein missed the boat at Pier A and went to Quarantine in a police launch.

The publisher was officially welcomed on the deck of the Hook Mountain by Surrogate John P. O'Brien on behalf of the war veterans.

Calls Freedom Scarce Abroad.

Mr. Hearst said he was glad to be back home once more to feel freedom all about, because freedom, he added, was scarce in other parts of the world.

"There is little democracy abroad," he declared, "in spite of the republics supposed to typify it, and a lot of tyranny. America is the home of truth and light. To tell the truth in France is to be shooed out of the country, and if you tell the truth in Russia you are lucky if you get out with your life."

In the statement he had prepared for the press Mr. Hearst said:

"I have said that I did not complain of my exclusion from France. I think I should say, instead, that there is no distinction in my sixty-seven years which has given me more genuine gratification. Moreover, I hope and believe that this distinction is one that I have actually deserved.

"For nearly fifty years I have been active in journalism. I take the obligations of my profession very seriously. I think a newspaper owes a great debt to the public and that the newspaper's first duty is to keep its public fully and accurately informed about all important matters which affect the public safety and welfare. The action of France in my case is, I consider, merely conspicuous recognition by a great nation of the honorable fact that I have done my full duty to my own people and to my chosen profession.

Sees Effort to Sway Press.

"If you ask, 'Do foreign governments attempt to influence American newsapers?' the answer is: 'They do.'

"France has tried persistently to seduce the American press, and her most effective means of seduction has been the widespread distribution of the little red ribbon of the Legion o' Honor.

"Many American newspaper men have been caught by this little red ribbon as guilelessly as bullfrogs are hooked by a bit of red flannel, but I have never allowed any members of my organization to accept civil decorations from any foreign nation or to put themselves or my papers under obligations to any foreign government.

"Indeed, I think Congress should forbid the wearing of foreign decorations by American citizens, except military decorations honorably won in war.

"If our bourgeois aristocracy want some recognition of achievements not sufficiently conspicuous to be known without advertisement, let Congress creat a Right Royal Brotherhood of Super-Americans, and confer blue ribbons, like the prizes at a horse show, and so keep American loyalty at home."

Senator Wagner in welcoming the publisher said: "Mr. Hearst, this welcome is bound to be all the more warm because of the fact that the hospitality of a foreign nation was denied you. I regard the act of the French Government, which in my opinion does not represent the sentiments of the French people, as ungracious. International good-will is not promoted by reprisals against our citizens."

William R. Hearst Jr. went to Quarantine in his power boat and boarded the Europa from the Hook Mountain to greet his father. Grover Whalen met the publisher when he landed at Pier A and said he was there unofficially as an old friend.

EXPRESS HITS WRECK.

New Haven Passengers Escape, but Man Under Bridge Is Hurt.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Sept. 15 (AP).—One man beside the roadway was injured and the passengers aboard the crack New Haven express, "The New Yorker," had narrow escapes from serious injury or death today when the express plowed into a derailed freight train near the Apponaug station.

George Carlson of Apponaug, was injured, when a derailed box car dropped from the bridge over Apponaug Cove and demolished a shanty in which he was working. An automobile parked near the water's edge at the cove was demolished when a freight car landed on top of it.

Painting Sold for $55 Held to Be a Rubens; Original, Long Daubed Over, Valued at $25,000

Discovery of a Rubens panel worth $25,000, for which he paid only $55, was revealed yesterday by Julius H. Weitzner of 9 East Fifty-seventh Street, an art dealer. It is "The Madonna of the Rosary," painted on Flemish board measuring 14 inches by 17 inches, and according to Mr. Weitzner its authenticity has been established by Max Rooses of Antwerp and Dr. Ludwig Burchard of Berlin, experts on Rubens.

Mr. Weitzner said he first saw the panel last April in Marx's auction room in West Fifty-eighth Street, along with many other items from the Edward Bacon estate, and almost immediately decided that it had more value than its general appearance indicated. The Rubens composition, he said, was heavily daubed over as if some person had attempted to improve on the Flemish master's work. The original composition did not show.

"I looked it over several times," said Mr. Weitzner, "and so did several other dealers, but they did not recognize it for what it was. But I had noticed that the beautiful patina of the board was similar to that of some fine old seventeenth century panels I had seen elsewhere and I noticed that it had on the back the seal of Sedelmayer, the art dealer in Paris. I acquired it about five weeks later. The bidding started at $2 and stopped at $55, the price for which I got it."

The panel was cleaned and the upper layers of paint were removed, revealing the original Rubens. It is a characteristic composition, Mr. Weitzner said, made up of grays, light blue, with touches of pink and rose. He said there was no doubt in his mind that it was a genuine Rubens, but to get confirmation he sent it abroad to be examined by Dr. Burchard, who told him the work was done by the Flemish master.

"The panel was already known in 1895," Mr. Weitzner said. "It was listed at that time by an eminent specialist in Antwerp. Later it was listed at Sedelmayer's in Paris. When I learned that through Max Rooses I knew that there was no longer any question as to its authenticity. Where it spent the intervening thirty-five years between 1895 and 1930, I do not know, nor do I know how it came to be in the Bacon collection."

ZITENFIELD TWINS QUIT CHANNEL SWIM

JELLYFISH STUNG BERENICE

New York Girls Begged to Be Allowed to Continue, but Trainer Held Obstacles Too Great.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

DOVER, England, Sept. 15.—The Zitenfield twins, Phyllis and Berenice, of New York, who started to swim the English Channel early today, were forced to abandon the attempt when they were between four and five miles off the French Coast and after they had been in the water 12 hours and 34 minutes.

Number with cold, they were taken into a boat just before dark, and they arrived here two hours later. On their arrival they walked to their apartment on the seafront.

Jack Burville, who piloted the attempt of the 15-year-old girls, said it would have taken the twins at least five hours to reach Cape Gris Nez. They begged to be allowed to continue in spite of the effects of the bitterly cold water, he said.

Mrs. Oddie Zitenfield, mother of the girls, went along in the escort boat to take charge of feeding them.

At first a tidal current carried the twins southward, but too far to the west. They turned then and forged ahead toward Cape Gris Nez. Passengers on a Channel steamer arriving here at 5 P. M. said they had seen both girls making fast progress in mid-Channel.

The conditions, however, were not ideal, as they may have appeared from the deck of a steamer. The winds were cold, the changeable seas choppy, and Bernice was badly stung by jellyfish. The girls also saw porpoises disporting in the sunshine.

When the twins were taken out of the water they had the consolation of having at least made the best attempt yet to swim the channel from the English side.

"We wanted to do it for mother's sake, but she made us get out of the water," said Phyllis afterward. "We weren't sick, but the people in the motor boat were very ill. It was rough nearly all the time."

Mrs. Zitenfield admitted there would be no next time for her plucky daughters. "We are through with the Channel now," she said, "and won't try again. We are going home to New York."

DR. VOLLBEHR ARRIVES WITH GUTENBERG BIBLE

Life of St. Paul Printed in 1778 and 1475 Map Also Brought by European Bibliophile.

Dr. Otto H. F. Vollbehr, European bibliophile, arrived yesterday on the Europa of the North German Lloyd Line, bringing two valuable books, one a copy of the famous Gutenberg Bible printed in 1462, and the other a life of St. Paul printed in the Benedictine monastery in Austria in 1778. Dr. Vollbehr said that he also had brought a map printed in 1475, which he declared was the earliest one ever made. It depicted Asia, Europe and the world as it was known prior to the discovery of America by Columbus.

Because he feared it might be stolen from him on the voyage, Dr. Vollbehr said he had sent the Gutenberg Bible to Washington in the diplomatic pouch from the United States Legation in Vienna.

SON OF ADMIRAL A SUICIDE ON SHIP

Lieutenant Phelps Said to Have Grieved Over Death of Fellow-Officer.

WERE COMRADES IN CHINA

Lieutenant Woodward Phelps, junior grade, 28-year-old son of Admiral William Woodward Phelps, was found dead with a bullet wound in his head late Sunday night in his cabin on the cruiser Northampton in dry dock in the Brooklyn navy yard. This became known yesterday when a naval board of inquiry was convened to investigate the death.

The cause was said, unofficially, to be suicide, and the motive was understood to be the grief of the young naval officer over the suicide last Friday of an older officer under whom he had seen exciting and heroic service at the time of the Chinese revolution in March, 1927.

The older officer, Lieut. Commander Benjamin F. Staud, shot himself to death in his room on the cruiser Houston, lying at Southampton, England. No motive was found for Commander Staud's act, and the manner of his suicide was much like that of Lieutenant Phelps.

Lieutenant Phelps was graduated from the Naval Academy at Annapolis in 1924. Recently he was assigned as aviator to the Northampton, one of the navy's new 10,000-ton treaty cruisers.

The high spot of Lieutenant Phelps's career, however, had been as an ensign on the destroyer Noa, of which Commander Staud was in command in Chinese waters in 1927. Ensign Phelps led one of the landing parties which went ashore under heavy fire and rescued 155 Americans in Nanking, while Commander Staud protected the landing parties by the fire of his ship's guns.

Following that experience they were assigned to different ships, and in 1929, according to Associated Press dispatches from Baltimore yesterday, Lieutenant Phelps was married to Miss Janet Bell Whitall of Baltimore.

The Northampton returned from a Mediterranean cruise last Friday and went into dry dock for the cleaning of her hull. Lieutenant Phelps left the ship on shore leave and returned about 10 o'clock Sunday night and went to his room. An hour later a shot was heard. Officers rushed into the room and found the Lieutenant dead on the floor with a bullet wound in his right temple. The shot evidently had been fired from his service pistol, which lay beside him. On the floor was a newspaper clipping of the death of Commander Staud.

Lieutenant Phelps's body was removed to the Naval Hospital in the navy yard. His father, now commandant of the navy yard at Portsmouth, N. H., was notified and started for New York to take charge of the body.

Funeral services for Lieutenant Phelps will be held in the Naval Academy chapel at Annapolis, Md., tomorrow, and burial will be in the Naval Academy cemetery.

STAUD SEA BURIAL FRIDAY.

Ceremony for Naval Officer, Suicide, to Take Place on Cruiser.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15 (AP).—The navy was advised today that Lieut. Commander Benjamin F. Staud, who killed himself on Sept. 12 at Southampton, England, during the first cruise of the cruiser Houston, would be buried at sea Friday.

Commander Staud is survived by his widow, Mrs. Janet Staud of Norfolk, Va. He was born in Pittsburgh Aug. 7, 1895.

LAUNCH PROPELLER KILLS BACHE GUEST

BUT SHE DIES IN HOSPITAL

Special to The New York Times.

SARANAC LAKE, N. Y., Sept. 15.—Struck by the churning blades of a motor boat propeller after she had fallen into the water in upper Saranac Lake last night, Elsie Hughes, 15 years old, of New York City and West Hampton, L. I., died three hours later in Saranac General Hospital as a result of her injuries.

After being struck by the propeller, which severely cut her legs, Miss Hughes was saved from drowning by the quick action of her companion, Dorothy Richards, 14, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick L. Richards of 791 Park Avenue, New York City, and the granddaughter of Jules S. Bache, the banker.

Mrs. Richards was Miss Hazel Bache and is a daughter of Jules S. Bache of J. S. Bache & Co., bankers and brokers at 42 Broadway, New York City. The Bache home in Manhattan is at 814 Fifth Avenue. Mr. Richards is a partner in J. S. Bache & Co.

Miss Hughes was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas L. Hughes of 51 East Sixty-fifth Street, New York City. Mr. Hughes is an attorney. Miss Hughes had been staying at the Bache Summer camp near here as a guest.

The two young women went motor boating together and extended their excursion to the upper part of the lake. Miss Hughes, who was in the forward cockpit, reached over the side of the boat to recover a trailing rope, and, losing her balance, pitched headlong into the water. As the launch continued forward her body became caught in the propeller.

Remaining calm despite her companion's screams, Miss Richards manoeuvred the boat to a stop near the struggling girl. She caught her clothing and dragged her over the side, then proceeded with her to the Saranac Inn landing.

Miss Hughes was treated at the Inn by Dr. John B. Walker of 51 East Fiftieth Street, New York City. She was taken to the Saranac General Hospital, where she died shortly afterward. It was reported that Dr. Walker was of the opinion that the cause of death had been severe shock, probably brought on by the young woman being struck by the propeller blades. Her legs were cut at both the ankles and knees.

Mr. and Mrs. Hughes arrived here today by motor from New York. They went to the Bache camp and made arrangements to have the body taken to Albion, N. Y., for burial.

LOW FLYING LEADS AIR RULE VIOLATIONS

62 Penalties Imposed in This District in Two Months for Disregarding Regulations.

Special to The New York Times.

ROOSEVELT FIELD, L. I., Sept. 15.—Sixty-two violations of the Air Commerce regulations of the United States have been verified and the violators penalized in the last two months in the northeast district, comprising New York, New Jersey and New England, it was revealed today at a meeting of inspectors at the Department of Commerce offices at this field. The meeting was called by J. S. Marriott, chief inspector for the entire country for the aeronautics branch of the department, in an effort to coordinate law enforcement and to bring about a more uniform application of the regulations under the law.

The inspectors did not regard the violations as unusual but quoted the figure to show something of the scope of their work. The greatest single offense apparently was that of low flying. The department handed out suspensions and fines during the two months for thirty-three violations of the regulations regarding low flying and flying over congested areas.

Every complaint, no matter from what source, is investigated, it was said. Many of the complaints coming especially from householders were not aimed so much at the altitude at which the pilot was flying and the danger it involved as the noise made by propellers and engines over the housetops.

The inspectors discussed with Mr. Marriott the possibility of requiring mufflers for certain types of flying. The meeting today was the first of a program of meetings of inspectors to be held all over the country in the interest of uniform law enforcement and to better coordinate the work of the various districts.

Those present included A. P. Bourdon of Albany, A. W. Meadows, stationed at Buffalo; S. L. Willets, supervising inspector at Roosevelt Field; George D. Ream, Newark Airport, and R. D. Hoyt, Boston Airport. Another meeting will be held in the Winter.

Mr. Rogers Is Rambling About In a Famous California Vale

SONORA, Cal., Sept. 15.—Just bumming along up through this historical gold-mining country, which has contributed more to the world than it will ever receive.

Just passed through Angels Camp, the home of Mark Twain's jumping frog. Twain and Bret Harte both prowling around in those old hills! No wonder these Broadway story writers can't think of things like those two did.

Visited Jackson, the livest town of the whole range, two big gold mines running. Mining is coming back. We need the gold.

I don't know how Sir Thomas is making out with his tugboat today, but if wishes was wind he would win in a gale.

Yours,

WILL ROGERS.

URGE CRAIN TO ACT ON TRADE 'TIPPING'

Twenty Business Leaders Ask for New Bureau to Enforce Bribery Law.

CITE EVILS OF SECRET GIFTS

District Attorney Promises to Study Plan for Revival of Commercial Frauds Department.

A committee of twenty business men called on District Attorney Crain yesterday and urged that he create a bureau in his office to aid in suppressing illegal "tipping" in connection with contracts and other forms of business negotiations, in accordance with the recently enacted amendment to an old law, which now makes it a felony for a person to give or receive a bribe in this respect.

The committee, headed by H. J. Kenner of the Better Business Bureau of this city, directed the attention of Mr. Crain to the fact that the amendment, enacted by the Legislature at its last session, went into effect Sept. 1 last.

Mr. Crain said that he would take under advisement their suggestion for the creation of the new bureau on lines along which the old Commercial Frauds Bureau functioned in his office.

Mr. Kenner told Mr. Crain that the committee represented many fields of business directly interested in the problem of curbing bribery in business transactions.

"These men believe that the greatest asset of any business is character," the spokesman said. "Secret money payments and gifts to influence placing orders and the making of contracts undermine the character of the men who are participating in such transactions and destroy the very basis of honest business. The money loss from unfair competition due to such practices runs into the millions in this city alone, and unless curbed will mean still greater losses for honorable business."

He told of the care exercised in the committees of the Assembly and Senate at Albany and by Governor Roosevelt in preliminary study of the amendment before it was enacted. The law now makes the recipient of such a bribe as guilty as the giver

See Wide Interest in Curbing Evil.

"Commercial bribery is not only of local interest," he continued, "but is also of national and international concern in business. In England it is considered a flagrant offense and its consequences in world trade have engaged the attention of international leaders."

Letters from business men relating various experiences in transactions in which bribery was resorted to were handed over to the District Attorney. A letter from the Merchants' Association of New York to the District Attorney read, in part:

"As amended by Chapter 409 of the law of 1930, we believe the State now has a thoroughly workable law, which if vigorously enforced will tend materially to eliminate a system of commercial corruption which has long been prevalent in many lines of business, to the detriment of fair and honest competition.

"We therefore sincerely trust that so far as it is within your power you will see to it that the amended law is vigorously enforced."

The committee which called on the District Attorney was composed of:

GEORGE DAVIS, general manager of Saks on Fifth Avenue.
H. NELSON STREET, executive vice president of the New York Retail Dry Goods Association.
WILLIAM H. BROWNING, president of Browning, King & Co.
MAURICE BRILL of Brill Brothers.
N. G. L. HARRIS, president of the New York Purchasing Agents Association.
CARL J. SHUMAN, secretary, Hilo Varnish Company.
JOHN W. HAHN, executive chairman, Resident Buyers Association of New York.
JOHN G. NEESER, chairman of the Law and Legislation Committee of the New York Furniture Warehouse Men's Association.
C. A. MACE, secretary of the Synthetic and Organic Chemical Manufacturers Association of the United States.
M. MOSSESSOHN, executive chairman of the United Women's Wear League of America.
DAVID MOSESSOHN, executive chairman of the Associated Dress Industries.
MAXWELL COPELOF, director of the Merchants Ladies Garment Association.
SAMUEL KLEIN, executive director of the Industrial Council of Cloak, Suit and Skirt Manufacturers.
WILLIAM G. ADAMS, director of the National Council of Traveling Salesmen Associations.
MAXWELL GOLDSTEIN, counsel for the National Bellas Hess Company.
A. M. TRAVERS, manager of the Legislative Service Bureau of the Merchants' Association.
HOWARD FINNEY, assistant secretary of the New York State Chamber of Commerce.
H. J. KENNER, head of the Better Business Bureau.

FIDAC PARTY HERE TO NOISY WELCOME

8 NATIONS REPRESENTED

One hundred and forty veterans of eight allied armies of the World War and the wives of some of them arrived here yesterday morning on the Cunard liner Lancastria to attend the eleventh annual congress of the Federation Interalliée des Anciens Combattants, known as Fidac. A band played, two airplanes circled overhead and ship whistles shrieked as the city's reception yacht Macom drew alongside the liner with 100 welcomers aboard her.

Because of the restricted capacity of the yacht the custom of taking the guests off at Quarantine and landing them at the Battery was not observed. Instead Major William F. Deegan, Tenement House Commissioner, who is serving as chairman of the Mayor's committee to greet the delegates, boarded the liner along with Colonel Lemuel Bolles and Commander Edward White of the Fidac committee, remaining there till the liner was berthed at Pier 56 at the foot of Fourteenth Street on the North River.

The liner steamed slowly up the harbor with the Macom in her wake. Off the Battery fireboats shot their water salute skyward. At the head of the groups of welcomers, including high ranking army and navy officials, the consul generals here of Great Britain, France, Italy, Belgium, Poland, Portugal, Czechoslovakia, Rumania and Yugoslavia and officers of foreign societies here greeted their visiting countrymen. After the greetings, Major Deegan welcomed the visitors on behalf of Mayor Walker.

Brilliant uniforms were more in evidence among the group of welcomers than among the visitors, most of whom wore mufti. The Polish delegation, however, wore four-cornered sky-blue berets.

One of the most impressive figures was that of Major Louis Lovritch of the Yugoslav delegation, tall and erect, in a dark uniform with much gold braid. Dark glasses shielded his eyes. He lost his sight in Dobrudja while fighting in the Russian Army against the Bulgarians.

Sightless Officers Greet One Another.

On the pier he met Captain Frank Schoble, Vice Commander of the American Legion, who lost his vision while fighting near Verdun. As the two men shook hands, neither could see the other's smile of pleasure. Another blind veteran was Lieut. Col. Lioubomir Godjevats, a Serbian, whose chest was decorated with sixteen medals won in various engagements.

Prominent among the delegates were General Ian Hamilton, vice president of the British group; Lieut. Col. William Abbot, president of Fidac; Lady Spencer Churchill, chairman of the British women's auxiliary, and Princess Cantacuzene, head of the Rumanian women delegates.

General Hamilton, who was in command at the Gallipoli offensive in 1915 and 1916 and who served in the Boer War, declared that he had come here not as a soldier but as a "man of peace."

"Whether or not humanity becomes involved in another war depends upon how we make use of this breathing space, when public sentiment is set dead against war. Now is the time to entrench ourselves against the possibility of another war."

Sees Hope in Carol's Reign.

Princess Cantacuzene praised King Carol. "My country is making steady progress," she said. "The fact that we now have a young, active and enlightened King will enable us to play an even more important part in the politics of Southern Europe."

General Otakar Husak of Checheslovakia declared that many former soldiers of his country had become American citizens. He recalled the placement of Czech troops between French and American units in the Vosges because of the linguistic ability of the Czechs, which enabled them to serve as liaison makers during action.

Maxime Mongendre, French Consul General at New York, saluted the visitors as representatives of France and of "the generation of sacrifice."

Sir Harry Armstrong, retiring British Consul General in New York, presided at a dinner to the English delegates at the British Commonwealth Club. In a short speech of welcome he told the delegates that they were here "on a great mission to strengthen the ties between the two nations."

"Future world peace," declared Sir Harry, "depends largely on these two nations."

The delegates are to be received at the City Hall by the Mayor at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, and ceremonies will follow at the Eternal Light. In the evening the American Legion will give a dinner to all the delegates at the Army and Navy Club. The program will continue Wednesday, ending with a dinner given by the city of New York at the Roosevelt, after which they will board a special train for Washington, where the remaining sessions of the congress will be held and where they will be greeted by President Hoover.

Twenty-six delegates of the Yugoslav Fidac were guests of Professor M. I. Pupin of Columbia University at a dinner last night at the University Club. The toastmaster was Rad Yancovich, Yugoslav Consul General in New York.

FEWER SEEK JOBS AT CITY'S BUREAU

Only 452 New Applicants for 353 Places—Peak Is Believed Past.

BOWERY Y. M. C. A. ASKS AID

With $14,000 Needed, Branch Strives to Sustain Spirit of Jobless, D. P. Kingsley Jr. Says.

Registration of jobless men and women at the City Free Employment Agency, entering its second month yesterday, took a sharp drop when only 452 new registrants applied for the 353 jobs available. Although 5,000 men and women, already registered, again besieged the bureau for work, the decline in new registrants was interpreted by bureau officials as meaning that use of the agency by job seekers had passed its peak.

Edward C. Rybicki, director of the city agency, declared that the sharp decline in new applicants presumably indicated that not more than 50,000, or 10 per cent, of the city's unemployed, whom he estimated at 500,000, would avail themselves of the aid of the city bureau.

Applications for old age relief yesterday numbered 225, according to Deputy Commissioner John H. Ertz of the Department of Public Welfare, who said the figures revealed that "we are slowing down somewhat since the first week's rush." For the first two weeks during which applications were filed, 4,418 requests for relief had been received by the department.

Darwin P. Kingsley Jr., treasurer of the Bowery branch of the Y. M. C. A., yesterday issued an appeal for funds to aid the branch's work among the unemployed. He said $14,000 was still required to meet the 1930 budget. Mr. Kingsley declared:

"Those who would know, in terms of human beings in distress, the full consequences of the current business depression are invited to visit the Bowery Branch of the Y. M. C. A. at 8 East Third Street. To the branch are coming in unprecedented numbers jobless, discouraged and hungry men. Many of them are facing humiliation and defeat for the first time in their lives. Among them are young men to whom 'the Bowery' is a new and soul-racking experience. Unemployed as a result of conditions beyond their control, they seek not charity but opportunity—opportunity to do anything which will keep them out of the breadlines and flop houses. In the Bowery Branch of the Y. M. C. A. many such men today are making a last desperate stand.

"The budget of the Bowery Branch amounts to about $400,000. Of this almost 90 per cent is paid by the men themselves. This year the people of New York were asked for $44,000 to make up the difference to enable the branch to extend help promptly and in the fullest measure to all deserving men. Of this relatively small public contribution to the work of the branch there is still lacking $14,000. Before the turn of the year that amount may prove to be inadequate."

DENIES PREJUDICE ON INDIA.

Simon, Back in London, Stresses Need of Impartial Information Here.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Sept. 15.—Sir John Simon, chief author of the Statutory Commission's report on India, arrived here today from America convinced the American people are "very interested but very short of impartial and trustworthy information" concerning all aspects of the Indian situation.

"I do not at all share the view that there is American prejudice regarding India," said Sir John. "There is great interest, which takes the form of greatly wishing to learn the facts. Of course, American opinion is not very well informed on India, but it is not without value that the first volume of the commission's report is still circulating widely in the United States."

Sir John expressed the keenest satisfaction with the visit of the British jurists to Canada and the United States. He said the trip was much more than a "lawyers' tour" and had given to the visitors an opportunity to meet the leaders of opinion in both countries.

THE PLAY

By J. BROOKS ATKINSON.

From Holland via England.

Sidin	Ali Taleb Boucari
Adinda	Mona Li
Jolanthe	Lydia Sherwood
Major de Weert	D. A. Clarke-Smith
Does de Weert	James Raglan
Kees Witte	Roland Hogue
Hans Hartman	Leslie Perrins
Sarbini	H. H. McCollum
A messenger	Ali Taleb Boucari
A fusileer	John Gray
A sergeant	James Vincent

What Jan Fabricus has to say in "Insult," which was acted at the Forty-ninth Street Theatre last evening, has more strength of character than the style in which he says it. He is writing of a half-caste in the Dutch East Indies who is tainted despite his intelligence and his loyalty to the central government. Having lived in the Dutch provinces, Fabricus is working with material he has observed at first hand, and for Dutch audiences, who first saw "Insult" fifteen years ago, his tragedy may have a local significance. Politically, it may pass for a case of special pleading on the hopeless problem of blood, prejudice and empire. But his style of craftsmanship is conventional and hackneyed. To American audiences "Insult" seems like another humid tropical play—the army, the natives and the bureaucrats—described in the acting with a rather pompous nobility.

The half-caste is Hans Hartman, Lieutenant in the Dutch Colonial Army. He has already been persecuted by Major De Weerts for insubordination, and the Major, who has been officially reprimanded, means to avenge himself completely. As the play opens the situation is complicated further by the presence of an old acquaintance, Jolanthe, who has become the wife of another old friend, Does De Weert, controller of the province and weak-kneed son of the swaggering Major. Thus Fabricus thoroughly mixes the highly-charged problems of social, civil and military etiquette in relation to a half-caste officer in the army.

If he were willing to work out the destinies of his plot on that basis, "Insult" might be a drama of universal importance. Nothing is more treacherous than questions of human relationship that involve differences of blood inheritance, nor is this country immune. But after the first act "Insult" goes the way of love melodrama under the tropical moon. When the bullying Major passes the insult direct to Lieutenant Hartman and provokes him to criminal insubordination, Jolanthe leaves her spineless husband and follows the dark-skinned man she loves. He goes to the guard house under sentence of death. Her husband goes to a dispairing death in a fracas with the natives. The Major, afflicted with misgivings about his white man's villainy, asks Hartman's forgiveness on the eve of the execution. In the last act "Insult" distributes grandiose sentiments rather bountifully among its central characters. When love comes to the tropics even playwrights go native. Crashing thunderstorms, rolls of martial drumming, jabbering natives, heartless military formality—you can hardly discuss topics of anthropology in such surroundings.

Little has been done in the direction to give imagination to the performance. On the contrary, the direction caresses the fustian fondly. Leslie Perrins, who played the half-caste in the London adaptation of "Insult" last Spring, plays the part again here, not without a trace of old-fashioned melodramatic ostentation. As the wife with a mind of her own, Lydia Sherwood has command and a sense of individual character. D. A. Clarke-Smith swells out Major de Weert until his uniform strains at the seams. His performance and his direction keep "Insult" well within the formula of love and political disorders in the colonies.

STAGES A TRAGEDY OF BOARDING HOUSE

WITH PRIVILEGES, a play in three acts, by Ruth Welty. Staged by Henry Stillman; settings by L. Wertheim; produced by Hyman Adler and Philip Gerton. At the Vanderbilt Theatre.

"All of my boarders," said the inelegant landlady on the stage of the Vanderbilt Theatre last night, "are 40 per cent off," and though this seemed at the moment to be only one of a great many unexcruciating pieces of repartee in "With Privileges," the wisdom of it somehow grew on you as the evening continued. At the conclusion of Ruth Welty's new, and the records seem to say her first, play, there was one way out, and that was to consider that the theatre was enduring one of its less impeccable moments. Or, simply, that it had drawn another blank.

For all in the kitchen of a New York rooming house is this conflict of disappointed souls who foregather of a Fourth of July morning—Sarah Heppleby, whose loquacity is that of a landlady who never receives her rent; Carl Wescott, a boy visionary from Ohio; Aleppo, a Wild Bull of the Pampas; Miss Furst, the amorous milliner with flaxen hair; Mary, the pure light of the boarding house, and, wraith-like, Rachel Stein, the mysterious stranger with a suicidal glint in her eye.

The commemorative firecrackers explode off-stage, the boarders wrangle and race for their morning baths, and the landlady's young cousin casts affectionate but futile eyes upon Ohio's latest candidate for metropolitan success. There is, in short, nothing much of importance to record one way or the other until the entrance of Miss Stein, moanin' low. There has been a great sorrow in the new boarder's life, a matter of unrequited love that does not come out until the second act and a soliloquy addressed to her hopeless admirer, Mr. Wescott. A stirring outburst, it concludes with that fine rhetorical query, "Why am I telling you all this?" And, indeed, no one quite seems to know.

Until Mr. Wescott, a budding architect, snatches a $5,000 prize from out of the very air there appears to be no solution to this dolorous state of affairs; but, reinforced with the proper means, he addresses the unhappy Miss Stein in terms of "the real you" and persuades her to share his sumptuous Atlantic City holiday. Hoping to stir her former love to jealousy, she accepts, but fails in her scheme, and Act Three finds all the players back again in the kitchen, waiting, it seems, for a smash finish. Miss Stein provides it, a few moments after 11 o'clock, by jumping from the roof.

It is Roy Hargrave, who has appeared last year to advantage in "Houseparty," who is summoned to sigh and suffer in this morbid endeavor; and Mr. Hargrave at least fulfills his contract by bringing to it all the juvenile sensitivity at his command. Joan Madison is the somnambulistic Miss Stein, a rôle that aims at the stars and, through no fault of Miss Madison's, stops at the tenement roof. Others, playing with a noisiness that falls short of zest, are Marie Hunt, as Mrs. Heppleby; Madeline Grey, as Miss Furst, and Lionel Jay Stander as a pugilist from South America. They are, one and all, frantic in their attack on the materials and—at the best—a Tom Thumb "Street Scene," called in from the sidewalks of New York.

"THE RHAPSODY" HAS COMPOSER AS HERO

THE RHAPSODY, a play in three episodes, by Louis K. Anspacher, with incidental music by Arthur Bergh. Staged by Sam Forrest; settings by the Joseph Wickes Studio; produced by George M. Cohan. At the Cort Theatre.

Lodar Baron	Louis Calhern
Delphine	Julia Hoyt
Doctor Hollister	John R. Hamilton
Marjorie Kellam	Natalie Schafer
Kaspar Wahl	Craig Williams
Austin Kellam	John T. Doyle
Anton	Adrian Rosley
Max Krieger	Curtis Karpe
Henry Bergh	[illegible]
Elizabeth Trumbull	[illegible]

In "The Rhapsody" Louis K. Anspacher, whose first local work this is in seven years, concerns himself with the mental tortures of a maladjusted Broadway Beethoven. A successful composer of popular tunes, Dr. Anspacher's musician is, like Gershwin, even on his way to a hearing in Carnegie Hall. He has money, friends, a decorative penthouse and the daughter of a First Family in love with him. What, you may well ask, are the deep-seated fears which torment him, the complexes which cause him to disappear, like a Supreme Court Justice, for weeks at a time?

Well, it appears that in the late war the composer, who now uses the name of Lodar Baron, was a noble soldier in the ranks of the Central Powers, the victim of a swinish sergeant, one Max Krieger. The sergeant bullied him, played upon his innate gentleness, abused him when he declined to shoot down innocent old men and women in cold blood, and, finally, as the climactic gesture, killed his best friend, an artist. Baron finally rebelled, attacked Krieger, and almost got himself executed for his pains.

Through a dozen post-war years Baron has nourished his hatred for Krieger. Strangers who happened to resemble the sergeant he attacked on sight, and his frequent disappearances were consecrated to a search for the man who had reared in him another person, a haunted, unhappy person living in an unreal world of fears and revenge.

It is to the dispelling of these fears and the curing of Baron's serious mental sickness that Dr. Anspacher brings the modern nostrums of psychology and psychoanalysis. The remedies he applies seem efficacious enough and in accord with what experts in the first audience designated as sound principles. This portion of the new play at the Cort is interesting as an idea that, properly handled, should have been the basis of a sensitive, understanding piece for the theatre.

But, unfortunately for the integrity of "The Rhapsody," Lodar Baron is a creative artist, and you know how the theatre is apt to be when it deals with creative artists, especially musicians. In this unfinished moment, this one is a romantic fellow and more than a bit of a great lover. Worst of all, he is supposed to be a pianist, and we are subjected to his own compositions amid snatches of Chopin and Schumann—which is doubtless a necessity since that Lodar Baron emerges, not as a suffering figure in whose plight you are able to interest yourself, but as just another rôle for Lou Tellegen in a play which proves as florid and "phony" in its externals as its problem could be made real.

"The Rhapsody" is not unattractively more than a slow piece for Louis Calhern. That actor, not unnaturally, is inclined to emphasize the romantic, amorous aspects of his rôle, but he does manage to suggest some of the dark, brooding mind of the composer. Since Mr. Calhern's beautiful wife, Julia Hoyt, plays the faithful Delphine, Baron's companion for years, it is difficult to understand why the musician suddenly abandons her for the pretty, but innocent Park Avenue orchid, impersonated by Natalie Schafer.

Adrian Rosley contributes an amusing bit as a factotum in whom most of the races of Europe appear to be combined, with the Italian predominating. The other actors are emphatic George M. Cohan actors, particularly John T. Doyle, who supplies a likable and sometimes amusing some lines of sympathy for the present merger of the Yankee Doodle Boy and Dr. Anspacher. It is given to Mr. Doyle, as a gruff, big business parent attempting to keep his daughter from the arms of the composer, to declare, in ringing accents: "As an American, I place no value on a defeated, decadent aristocracy." But, at that, he doesn't actually wave a flag.

'Hello, Francis' Opening Postponed.

The opening of "Hello, Francis," which had been scheduled for tomorrow night at the President Theatre, has been postponed for at least ten days. Francis Renault, feminine impersonator, who is the star of the revue, said yesterday that difficulties with one of the sponsors made a postponement necessary.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

Ivor Novello's play, "Symphony in Two Flats," with the author in the leading rôle, will open tonight at the Shubert Theatre.

The New York opening of "A Farewell to Arms," which A. H. Woods is producing, has been postponed a night from Sept. 30 to Wednesday, Oct. 1, at the National Theatre. Crane Wilbur will replace Giuseppe Sterni in one of the leading rôles.

"Young Sinners," which moved last night from the Shubert Theatre to the National, will conclude its engagement there on Saturday night, Sept. 27. The piece will then go to Chicago.

Harland Tucker will replace William Courtleigh in "The Ninth Guest." At the same time, King Calder, as previously announced, will take over the part now acted by Owen Davis Jr. in the same play.

Auriol Lee, who will play the leading rôle in "Nine Till Six" and also stage the production, will arrive today on the Majestic.

URGES TIGHTER CURB UPON IMMIGRATION

FOR BAN ON MANY TRADES

Such a Policy Would Help Labor as the Tariff Aids Industry, He Declares.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—Advocating adoption of a policy of restrictive immigration, Harry E. Hull, Commissioner General of Immigration, in an address made over the National Broadcasting Company network today declared that such a course would meet views already expressed by President Hoover.

"If we had had selective immigration fifty years ago," said Mr. Hull, "there would have been no underworld problem of the magnitude nor character that our peace officers now have on their hands. And while the criminal is primarily a social menace, and should be dealt with first as such, he also presents an economic problem of great importance."

He added:

"Two hundred and forty-one thousand seven hundred immigrants entered the country last year. It is a reasonable estimate that over 50 per cent are today displacing American citizens who were gainfully employed. When it is remembered that we have on hand today one or two million unemployed people, we can readily see that the million-a-year rate which immigration has reached prior to restriction would have swelled this number beyond all possibility of its proper absorption, with consequences which would have hopelessly swamped all the economic relief plans which we could put into effect.

"With unemployment as it is at the present time in this country, we should refuse admission from any country to those who expect to make their living as miners, musicians, textile workers, bricklayers, carpenters, plumbers, common laborers, tile setters, stonecutters, actors, asbestos workers, bakers, boilermakers, bookbinders, shoeworkers, ironworkers, cigarmakers, hatmakers, draftsmen, garment workers, tailors, glass workers, section men, waiters, porters, barbers and chefs."

FRANCES BERANGER TO WED

Mrs. William DeMille's Daughter Engaged to Donn Cook.

Special to The New York Times.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Sept. 15.—The engagement of her daughter, Miss Frances Beranger, to Donn Cook, New York actor, was announced here today by Mrs. William DeMille. It will be a quiet wedding within the next two weeks, she said.

The romance started in Denver, where the couple played in the same stock company this Summer. Miss Beranger has been on the stage a year and plans to enter motion pictures.

Mr. Cook expects to sign a film contract soon and they plan to make their home in Hollywood. They have taken a house in Whitley Heights.

MISS DOERING WED TO G. H. DOUGLASS

SISTER ATTENDS THE BRIDE

Reception at Bonnie Briar Country Club—Bridegroom a Rensselaer Polytechnic Graduate.

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., Sept. 15.—The marriage of Miss Evelyn Lois Doering, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Adam Doering of 15 Faneuil Place, to George Henry Douglass, also of this city, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll S. Douglass of Guilford, Me., took place here this evening in Salem Baptist Church. The Rev. Dr. Arthur E. Harriman, the pastor, performed the ceremony, which was followed by a reception at the Bonnie Briar Country Club.

Miss Rosamond Doering was her sister's maid of honor, and Jacqueline Rogers of New Rochelle was flower girl.

Special to The New York Times.

PITTSFIELD, Mass., Sept. 15.—The identity of the mysterious Miss Dorothy Willard, who recently supervised at heavy expense the production of "Lute Song" at the Berkshire Playhouse in Stockbridge and took the part of the Princess, became known today when several friends said they recognized her on the stage as Mrs. Cyrus McCormick of Chicago and Lake Forest. She came to Stockbridge incognito early in the Summer and rented Henry McBurney's villa on Cherry Hill for the season. Mrs. McCormick requested of the playhouse management that her identity be not disclosed.

As Miss Willard she received warm praise for her part in the highly successful production. She personally brought from China some of the costumes and others were made in this country under her direction.

"Miss Willard," or Mrs. McCormick, is an authority on the Ming period. Detectives guarded her costume collection while it was at the Playhouse.

BYRD HAILS SMITH AS AIR MAIL PILOT

CROWDS CHEER ADMIRAL

2,000 at Station When He Arrives—Balchen Also Bids Godspeed to His Comrade.

Dean Smith, veteran pilot of the night mail, who quit his post with National Air Transport to join the Byrd Antarctic Expedition, returned to duty yesterday. Among those present to wish him godspeed at the Newark Airport yesterday when he pushed off through the storm and fog over the Alleghanies with his first mail load was Admiral Byrd, Bernt Balchen and Russell Owen. Another old friend who was on hand was Clarence D. Chamberlin.

The reception committee which had planned to go to New York with a car for the Admiral picked him up at the Park Place tube station in Newark. He told Peter J. O'Toole, City Clerk, with evident delight that he had been able to travel by subway to the Hudson Terminal Building at 30 Church Street and then by the tube trains all the way to Newark without being recognized.

He was hailed at the Newark station, however, by a crowd of more than two thousand that gathered in less than five minutes. Throngs cheered him as he drove away to the airport in a car with the City Clerk. There he met Balchen and Chamberlin. Smith was already in his big Douglas mail plane, engine running and helmet adjusted when the Admiral arrived. A crowd of about five hundred witnessed the greeting extended by the noted explorer to one of his pilots.

Admiral Byrd went to the plane and grasped Smith's hand.

"A great debt is owed to Dean Smith by the Byrd Antarctic Expedition," he said. "Bad weather did not stop him when his comrades were in danger and their plane was crippled. He flew through and saved them."

Bad weather did not stop Smith yesterday. He took off with his 500 pounds of mail in the face of discouraging weather reports and flew through the Alleghanies to Bellefonte, Pa., in two hours. Then, taking off again he finished his scheduled run to Cleveland. He will fly the day mail for a few days and then go back on his night mail run. Dean Smith is one of the first pilots employed by National Air Transport on its New York to Chicago route.

Just before the plane took off an elderly woman in black stepped from the crowd and was introduced to the Admiral. She was Mrs. T. Q. Donaldson, mother of Captain John A. Donaldson, president of the Newark Air Service, who was killed in a crash ten days ago.

Admiral Byrd left the airport about 2 o'clock after chatting with Mayor Jerome T. Congleton and other city officials. Balchen, who had driven from his work at the Fokker plant in Teterborough, slipped away quietly before the crowd knew that he had gone.

INDICTS POPE IN BUDD CASE.

Grand Jury Accuses Caretaker of Kidnapping Girl Long Missing.

Charles Pope, 66 years old, caretaker of a Madison Avenue apartment house, was indicted yesterday for the kidnapping of 10-year-old Grace Budd two years ago from her home at 404 West Fifteenth Street. The bill is expected to be handed up to Judge Collins in General Sessions today.

Pope, who is a prisoner in the Tombs in default of $25,000 bail, had pleaded not guilty at his arraignment in the magistrate's court following his arrest.

The mother of the missing girl, the wife of the accused man, two women neighbors of the Budds and two detectives testified in the grand jury investigation.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Sept. 15 (AP).—Lucy Cotton Thomas, former actress and widely known beauty, widow of Edward Russell Thomas, New York and Palm Beach millionaire, won an award of $1,099,000 here today in full settlement of her claims for dower rights against the estate of the former sportsman and owner of the old New York Morning Telegraph.

The court also approved a previous payment of $125,000 from the estate to Ann Augusta Thomas, another claimant under Mr. Thomas's will, in an arrangement by which Ann Thomas was to benefit from trust provisions.

Payment of $60,000 on account of Rufus Trimble, one of the executors, and payment of $21,000 attorneys' fees also were approved by the court.

Attorneys said the transactions before County Judge R. P. Robbins settled the main issues in the controversies in the Thomas estate, which they said was valued at $2,000,000 to $2,500,000. The residuary estate, the attorneys said, will be administered in trust funds for a son, Samuel Finley Thomas, and a daughter, Lucy Cotton Thomas, in equal parts.

Mrs. Thomas brought suit in Palm Beach on June 30 of this year against R. J. Trimble, executor of the Thomas estate, in which she sought to recover one-third of that property.

Mr. Thomas died July 6, 1926. His will directed that sufficient property be set aside to insure his widow an income of $35,000 a year, and left the rest in trust. In case of her remarriage Mrs. Thomas was to receive a third of this trust.

In 1927 Mrs. Thomas married Lytton Gray Ament, but she divorced him last May and resumed her former name. The bill of complaint filed by her against Mr. Trimble as executor included a statement that she had previously dissented from Mr. Thomas's will and elected to take a dower in lieu of the provision made, adding that she was entitled by her own right to one-third.

Mr. Thomas married Lucy Cotton in October, 1924. She was his third wife. She had previously appeared in a number of theatrical productions, including "Turn to the Right" and "Up in Mabel's Room."

Mr. Thomas was the son of General Samuel Thomas, who left an estate of $20,000,000. He first entered business as a partner in the firm of Thomas & Post of 71 Broadway. He was credited at one time with having formed a $2,000,000 corner on the cotton market, but after the panic of 1907 he was in debt to the extent of millions. Later this was said to have been recouped.

CONFIRMS NEWSPRINT MOVE

Quebec Premier Sees Gain in Coming of American Mills.

MONTREAL, Que., Sept. 15.—The United States newsprint mills recognize that they cannot compete any longer with the cheap wood supply and continuous water power found close together in Canada," said Premier Taschereau, when he confirmed the report today that the International Paper Company had closed its Degrasse newsprint mill between Lake Champlain and the St. Lawrence River in the State of New York and had transferred its tonnage to Canada.

Coming fast upon the announcement only a month ago that the International had closed down the Waterway Products Company mill on the Chicago drainage canal, which had been acquired just a short time before, this makes the eighth newsprint mill that has been closed by the International Paper Company in the United States this year.

Premier Taschereau ascribed it to the business acumen of the International in speeding up the economic developments which have been shaping this way for several years.

He stated that the closing of these eight mills in the United States will benefit labor conditions this Winter in Canada, owing to the increased output in the International's mills at the Gatineau and plants in the Province of Quebec and the Dalhousie plant in New Brunswick.

The Nation's Electric Bill

for commercial and domestic purposes last year was in excess of $2,000,000,000. Yet less than 10% of our farms have electric service, only about 1% of our 250,000 miles of steam railroads are electrified, only about 35% of the total power requirements of the country are supplied electrically and domestic consumption is growing at a rate in excess of 10% annually.

The electric light and power companies are destined to benefit materially from the ever-increasing demands for electric service which must eventuate in the course of our normal national growth and expansion.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Stocks Decline Again; Wheat and Corn Also Go to Lower Levels.

The new week opened with pressure still continuing on the grain markets and the stock market. Wheat prices at one time touched 79⅛ cents per bushel. This fall below 80 cents has occurred in only one other season of the twenty-three past years; it reached such a price every day during the four weeks between the middle of June and the middle of July, 1914, but that was the first occasion of the kind since the period ending with the Spring of 1907. A price of 70 to 75 cents had not been unusual in the decade before that date and 1896, the "Bryan year," achieved the distinction of a midsummer price of 53 cents a bushel at Chicago. But the general price level of that period was far below what has nowadays prevailed; the average for 1927 was 6 per cent less even than that of 1913, and the 1913 average was 20 per cent lower than this year's latest Labor Department's calculation.

Yesterday's corn market sold at one time 1¾ cents below last week's closing; the price thus reached for September contracts was 12¼ cents under the highest August figure, and about the same distance under that of this date a year ago. Wheat's price is quite out of joint even with the adverse realities of the grain situation; but it is hard to fight grain trade sentiment, even when that sentiment has been carried unreasonably far. A year ago, when sentiment on the wheat market was as obstinate in the opposite direction, it required an organized withdrawal of European buyers from our market to prevent the bidding up of wheat to $1.50 at Chicago, although the actual world supply and demand position was more favorable to low prices then than it is today. What practical financiers think of the present market is fairly indicated by the offer of some of our largest banks to lend up to $30,000,000 to the Grain Corporation, on a 20 per cent margin from the purchase price.

Although business done on the Stock Exchange continued relatively small, the course of prices was distinctly downward. Several active shares had at one time in the day lost 5 to 8 points, and declines of 2 or 3 points were numerous. Absolutely nothing in the way of new developments was assigned to explain the movement. The German election, with its heavy cut in the ruling party's legislative following, had some conceivable financial implications; the German Republic's 7 per cent bonds declined ¾ point on our market and the reparation 5½s went 1¾ lower. This was to be expected; but it can scarcely be imagined to reflect belief of serious people that the reparations treaties and contracts are forthwith to be torn up.

The Census Bureau's report on August consumption of cotton illustrates the depths to which business reaction went during that month, but it also brings to light some redeeming considerations. The month's takings of cotton by home spinners was the smallest in quantity of any month since the Summer of 1924 and, with that exception, the smallest since 1920. No such low point was reached even in 1921. But on the other hand, last month's export of cotton was the largest reported for any August since 1926; and, aside from that year, the largest August business since 1919, when Europe was buying cotton urgently in order to replenish its almost exhausted supplies of civilians' clothing.

If this is a striking contrast, in view of the fact that foreign countries are finding trade as bad as we are finding it, one should remember that Europe has long been letting its cotton supplies run down. Last July its mills were holding 15 per cent less than in either of the two preceding years. When our market during August cut down the price to pre-war figures, buying for export necessarily enlarged. It will perhaps be asked, if this happened to cotton, why not then to wheat? The answer is that it has been happening to wheat. The trade compilations of wheat exports from this country between the beginning of July and the second week of September show increase over the same period last year of 21,400,000 bushels, or 55 per cent.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

News, Comment and Incident, On the Stock Exchange and In the Financial Markets.

To Wall Street it seemed that the fresh decline in wheat did more than anything else to bring about yesterday's unsettlement on the Stock Exchange. This, at any rate, was the explanation offered in brokerage circles. Before the day was over selling pressure was felt in nearly all departments of the market, but not more than a dozen stocks showed striking losses at the close. The late dealings saw some recovery, particularly in those spots that were weakest early in the day. The average price of fifty representative stocks showed a decline of $2.85 on the day. The setback was most pronounced in United States Steel, Westinghouse Electric, Union Carbide, Lehigh Valley, Lackawanna, Industrial Rayon, Allied Chemical, American Can, J. I. Case and Consolidated Gas. Transactions on the Stock Exchange aggregated 1,562,960 shares.

Bears Resume Activities.

Bankers ascribed part of yesterday's selling to fresh onslaughts by the "bear party," which is admittedly a powerful and shrewd group. The same operators who have sold stocks short at various times this year have again been pounding the leading issues, according to reports from the floor of the Stock Exchange. The strategy of the bears has been exactly the same as that which has been employed so successfully a half dozen times this year, it is reported. Taking advantage of a break in wheat prices at the end of last week, the bears launched a savage attack on Friday morning against the farm equipment stocks. The sharp decline in these issues provided the background which the bears desired for an attack which followed on the pivotal stocks. How many shares of stock were sold short in an effort to create general unsettlement is not known, but bankers believe the total runs into tens of thousands of shares.

Mopping Up the Overdraft.

Although the overdraft contracted by the Treasury yesterday was an unusually large one, amounting to substantially more than $200,000,000, according to unofficial estimates, the money market was not greatly affected. Member bank participations in the overdraft were large, it is understood, totaling about 75 per cent. As a result not much more than $50,000,000 free money actually found its way into the market. This was sufficient to knock the official call money rate down from 2½ per cent, the renewal figure, to 2 per cent and to send outside money to 1¾ per cent. Bills were in good demand, with supply light, but there was considered to be little likelihood of a repetition of the exuberant bidding of last March for acceptances by the banks on the strength of the temporary ease in money over the tax date.

Copper Price Cut Awaited.

Wall Street seemed resigned yesterday to further price cutting in the copper market. The leading producers reduced their domestic price from the 11-cent-a-pound level, at which it had been "stabilized" for some time, to 10¾ cents a pound, while custom smelters were reported to be offering the metal at 10½ cents. Copper Exporters, Inc., was expected to reduce the foreign price of copper to 11.05 cents or 10.80 cents a pound today, in order to bring their quotations in line with domestic prices. At present prices few of the producers can show a profit, and it is predicted that the copper output, which has declined steadily in the last four months, may show further large reductions during the next few weeks.

A Wherefore.

The question has been raised, not unreasonably, as to what may be the value of railroad consolidation and what good it may do. An example is afforded by the current earnings of Chicago & Alton, ownership of which was recently bought on behalf of the Baltimore & Ohio. In the first eight months, net operating income of the C. & A. dropped 80 per cent. Proponents of consolidation argue that if the operations of the C. & A. were correlated with that of a larger system the former's decline in net might have been more in line with its approximately 14 per cent decline in gross in the eight months.

Railroad Earnings.

Railroad earnings for August will begin to appear in volume this week, and moderate hopes are expressed as to the results they will show. It is expected that while gross, of course, will be down, net will not show as much discrepancy from last year as was reported in previous months this year. This is because by this time the railroads have reached a point where they may cut expenditures without incurring the charge of having failed to live up to the administration's appeal for large disbursements to help tide over hard times.

Bidding for Municipals.

Inasmuch as many dealers in municipal bonds admittedly have few issues on their lists to offer, it has been necessary to make strong bids at new sales in order to obtain bonds. For this reason some houses have been disposed to bid a shade higher than the current market levels permit, with the net result that it has frequently been the case that there has been an interval of a week or two between the time of award and the public offering of the bonds in order to permit the market to catch up. This has worked out very well so long as the market has continued to advance. Now that market levels in the last few days have shown a tendency to remain more or less stationary, however, this strategy may not work out quite so well in the future, it is suggested.

Utility Earnings.

Figures for August compiled from preliminary returns show that electric sales to consumers in that month were 1.9 per cent below the total in the same month last year, but 10 per cent above those in August, 1928. The percentages are slightly less favorable than those of July, contrasted with the two preceding years. Despite the reduced output, compared with 1929, earnings continue ahead of last year and substantially over those of 1928, with August a less favorable month than July in percentages of gain.

MONEY.

Monday, Sept. 15, 1930.

Except for a softer tone in the market for Stock Exchange day loans, where the rate dropped from 2½ per cent to 2, about midday, the first change in close to a fortnight, there were no other developments in the money market. Rates and conditions in time money, commercial paper and acceptances remained much the same at the opening of the new week as that which prevailed all of last.

WASHINGTON TO GET NATURAL GAS SOON

York, Pa., Also in List of Cities in East to Which the Fuel Will Be Piped.

TRUNK LINE BEING BUILT

Natural gas will be distributed soon in Washington, D. C., and York, Pa., it was learned yesterday, and it is likely that extensions to cities on the seaboard will follow.

George A. G. Wood, president of the Washington Gas Light Company, announced that arrangements had been virtually completed for putting natural gas into the District of Columbia by the end of this year or early next year. The gas will be delivered by a subsidiary of the Columbia Gas and Electric Corporation, which will connect with a subsidiary of the Washington company at Rockville, Md.

Columbia Gas and Electric has contracted to sell natural gas also to subsidiaries in the York area of the American Electric Power Corporation, of which Ray P. Stevens is president. The Pennsylvania Public Service Commission has approved the transmission of natural gas to York over present lines of the Columbia system.

Natural gas for the District of Columbia will follow through a new pipe line that the Columbia System purposes to build through West Virginia and Virginia, and which will make the fuel available also to other Eastern cities as soon as negotiations have been consummated.

Construction of a natural gas trunk system through Virginia will make three main trunk lines running to the Eastern seaboard. The northernmost trunk line of the Columbia system serves the territory of Binghamton, N. Y., and continues east and southeast into Northern New Jersey. The central trunk system, comprising two pipe lines, runs to the outskirts of Philadelphia, and the southern system, to be built, will run northeast from Washington through Baltimore and Philadelphia to the Jersey City territory.

Branch lines of the Southern trunk system will run to Richmond, Norfolk and other cities if contracts are arranged. Consummation of these plans will result in natural gas becoming available to every important industrial section in the East as well as to the large centres of population.

New England Phone Head Retires.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Sept. 15 (AP).—James T. Moran today retired as president of the Southern New England Telephone Company, a post which he has held for thirteen years. The company's directors, meeting here, elected him chairman of the board, and named Harry C. Knight, vice president and general manager, as his successor.

PIPE ORDERED TO GIVE CHICAGO NATURAL GAS

Contracts Let for 113 Miles in $100,000,000 Plan to Ship Fuel From Texas to Illinois.

As part of the $100,000,000 gas pipeline project between Texas and Chicago, contracts have been let for 113 miles of 24-inch high-pressure lines by the Continental Construction Corporation to Henry Lemons, Inc., of Tulsa, it was announced yesterday by Henry L. Doherty & Co.

The lines are being built jointly by the Cities Service Company, a Doherty enterprise; the Insull interests, the Southwestern Development Company, the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, the Texas Corporation, the Skelly Oil Company, the Phillips Petroleum Company and the Columbian Carbon Company. The lines will serve Chicago and the Great Lakes region. Four sections, extending from the Texas Panhandle to the west bank of the Missouri River, are under construction.

The section for which contracts have just been let starts from a point near Plattsmouth, Neb., on the east bank of the Missouri River and extends eastward into Iowa. Contracts for the Missouri River crossing, which will consist of ten ten-inch lines, to be connected with the main trunk lines on both sides of the Missouri, have been awarded to Smith Brothers of Dallas.

NORTHERN PACIFIC SHOWS TRAFFIC GAIN

AUGUST INCOME RECEDES

Charles Donnelly, president of the Northern Pacific Railway, said yesterday that the road would report August net operating income about $800,000 under the $2,498,000 reported for August, 1929, and that gross revenues would show a decline of about $1,600,000 from $9,217,000.

"Directors of the road will meet Sept. 17 and declare the regular $1.25 quarterly dividend," said Mr. Donnelly.

"Car loadings are showing some improvement. Grain is moving in better volume than at this time last year, and there is a slight improvement over last month in loadings of other commodities. The lumber movement remains quiet. The grain rate decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission would effect a considerable reduction in the Northern Pacific's revenues. The readjustment of class rates, as applies to the Northern Pacific, would result in some, but in not a large increase in revenues, if applied to the same amount of traffic.

"Somewhat less than 5 per cent of the Northern Pacific certificates representing shares deposited in connection with the Great Northern-Northern Pacific merger have been withdrawn following the decision of the deposit committee permitting withdrawals."

"The general attitude is one of confidence," he added. "Agricultural conditions in the Middle West are fair to good and above the average of the country. Although the crop is less than normal, corn is well matured.

"Reports of excessive crop damage, which have not been borne out, have delayed improvement in retail business more than any actual agricultural or business depression. Retailers, influenced by these reports, have hesitated too long to stock for Fall business. However, particularly in the principal cities on the Great Western's lines—Kansas City, Omaha, Des Moines, Minneapolis and St. Paul—retail trade is exhibiting a distinctly optimistic spirit, which promises early betterment."

Baird to Be Railroad Director.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—Senator David Baird Jr. of New Jersey was authorized by the Interstate Commerce Commission today to become a director of the New York & Long Branch Railroad and other subsidiary lines of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company.

THE OUTLOOK FOR THE BOND MARKET

Since the first of the year, six hundred member banks of the Federal Reserve System have purchased over six hundred million dollars of railroad, utility, and other investment bonds. It is probable that the bond purchases of all the banks have amounted to nearly half of our new bond financing this year. Insurance companies, trust companies and other institutions have purchased a large part of the balance.

Due to the nature of this buying, only the highest grade issues—typically institutional investments—have moved up substantially in price. Medium grade issues have not advanced to the extent that their relative credit position warrants. This may be indicated by the spread between the prices of Liberty Bonds and prime industrial bonds at this time and that of two and a half years ago in an active bond market. Early in 1928, the spread was six points while now it is nine points. Obviously, even the highest grade industrial bonds have lagged behind the money market while the issues of smaller companies are relatively even cheaper.

It appears self-evident that during a continuance of the easy money policy of the Federal Reserve Board and during a gradual improvement in business conditions, prices of sound bonds should move up in adjustment to their relative credit standing with institutional issues as they did in 1903, 1907 and 1921.

SHIFTS IN REICHSTAG DROP GERMAN BONDS

SOUTH AMERICANS LOWER

Heavy selling of German Government bonds as a result of the news of the changes in the make-up of the Reichstag following the election featured dealings in bonds yesterday on the Stock Exchange. The new German Government International 5½s of 1965 were the heaviest-traded issue in the entire list of foreign and domestic issues. The issue fell 1⅞ points to a new low mark of 84⅝ at the close, compared with 90, at which the issue was brought out in June.

German 7s of 1949 dropped ⅞ point to a new low for the year at 105. This issue, however, was brought out in 1924 at 92. German Central Agricultural Bank bonds were off ¾ point to 1⅛ points in comparatively light trading. As a rule, German corporation bonds were little affected, although several showed small gains. German municipal loans were generally firm.

South American loans were slightly lower on the average. French Government bonds held unchanged in quiet trading at levels fractionally below the best prices for the year. Kreuger & Toll 5s of 1959 were marked down ⅜ point in active trading.

Domestic corporation bonds showed some improvement. Several leading railroad and public utility issues made more new highs for the year. New York transit issues were active and higher. Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit 6s of 1968 gained ¼ point, and the Interborough issues were unchanged to ⅝ point higher. Third Avenue Railway refunding 4s of 1960 advanced 1½ points and the adjustment 5s of 1960 were up ⅛ point.

Net changes in the industrial group were generally small. One exception was the 5-point advance of Hoe & Co. 6½s of 1934. Sugar, oil, steel and rubber issues tended to be dull.

United States Government bonds were only moderately active, but prices were steady to firm.

EXCHANGE LISTINGS TREBLED SINCE 1925

Total Rises to 1,282,451,274 Shares in Five Years and Eight Months.

RATE OF GROWTH VARIES

Official Bulletin Reports Slower Upward Movement in the Last Ten Months.

In the last five years and eight months the number of shares listed on the New York Stock Exchange has trebled, increasing from 443,448,561 shares on Jan. 1, 1925, to 1,282,451,274 shares on Sept. 1, 1930, according to the monthly bulletin of the Exchange, issued yesterday.

The bulletin shows that in the last ten months the average percentage rate of growth in share listings has declined sharply. It divides the growth of share listings from 1925 to 1930 into three phases.

"The first," it declares, "extending from Jan. 1, 1925, through Oct. 1, 1928, was attended by a very steady growth, amounting to an average increase of 6,172,189 shares on the list each month, and an average monthly percentage increase of 1.42 per cent.

"During the second phase, from Nov. 1, 1928, to Nov. 1, 1929, there occurred a marked acceleration in the growth of share listings. There was during this period an average increase of 31,885,574 shares each month, and an average monthly percentage increase of 4.38 per cent. The large number of split-ups and some few large-scale stock dividends occurring in this period undoubtedly exerted marked influence in establishing these figures.

"The third phase, extending from Nov. 1, 1929, to Sept. 1, 1930, has been characterized by a marked slowing up in the growth of share listings. During this period, the average monthly increase in listed shares has amounted to 17,203,217 shares—an average monthly percentage increase of 1.55 per cent.

"It is interesting to note that during the last ten months the average percentage rate of growth in share listings has declined to nearly the same percentage which obtained so consistently during the forty-five months included in the initial phase of 1925-1928. Nevertheless, the average number of shares listed monthly since Nov. 1, 1929, has been almost three times as great as it was during 1925-1928."

Lefcourt Renamed Safety National.

The new name of the Lefcourt National Bank and Trust Company is to be the Safety National Bank and Trust Company, it was announced yesterday following a meeting of stockholders. Joseph J. Bach is president of the bank, succeeding A. E. Lefcourt, who resigned last month.

NECESSARY to the maintenance of the financial and industrial greatness of any civilized country is the provision for continuous new construction and expansion of vital public utilities.

Utilities Power & Light Corporation is contributing conspicuously to the development of the electric and gas industries in the United States and to the electric industry in Great Britain. It operates not only in important sections of the Atlantic seaboard and in such great industrial centers of the Middle-west as St. Louis and Indianapolis, but also in the rich agricultural regions of the Central Northwest and in the natural gas fields of the Southwest. In Great Britain it provides electric service for lighting and industry in 137 cities and towns, largely within 100 miles of London and including parts of London and Birmingham.

No business has shown a more consistent record of growth over a long period than that of production and sale of electric power and gas, and none evidences better prospects for the future.

The Utilities Power & Light System is aiding aggressively in the upbuilding of the more than 800 communities it already serves, and will share in their increasing prosperity.

An essential function of a well managed public utility is the maintenance of its securities as sound and profitable investments. Details regarding the activities of this Corporation and its securities will be supplied upon request.

Standard Oil (New Jersey) and North American Trust Shares

*The Largest Fixed Investment Trust

THE next time you pull into a service station to fill up with gas and oil, consider what this country of ours would be without these essentials to motor transportation. Every day, for as far into the future as we can see, millions of motorists will be stopping at hundreds of thousands of service stations.

Oil has become a fundamental necessity—and one of the largest corporations in the field is the Standard Oil Company (New Jersey)—one of the 28 leading corporations the common stocks of which stand behind each North American Trust Share. This corporation, through subsidiaries, is one of the largest factors in the natural gas industry.

Among the other stocks underlying North American Trust Shares are United States Steel, American Telephone & Telegraph, Pennsylvania Railroad, American Tobacco and General Electric.

Available Through Your Bank or Investment Dealer

Points About N. A. T. S.

1—Each NORTH AMERICAN TRUST SHARE represents an investment in the common stocks of 28 outstanding corporations, leaders in their respective fields.

2—An investment in NORTH AMERICAN TRUST SHARES is as sound as American industry itself. The products and services of the companies, the common stocks of which underlie this trust, are directly related to every phase of human life.

3—The underlying stocks, all of which are listed on the New York Stock Exchange, are deposited with the Guaranty Trust Company of New York, Trustee. The trustee issues 2,000 N.A.T.S. upon the deposit of 4 shares each of the underlying stocks together with applicable reserve fund and accumulations.

4—The 28 underlying companies have an average unbroken dividend record of 33 years, combined total assets of more than 24 billion dollars and combined surplus and reserves of over 6.7 billion dollars.

5—N.A.T.S. are readily marketable. In addition to the established market which has been maintained at ½ point below the asked price the holder of the smallest denomination of shares may liquidate through the trustee without penalty. The holder of 500 shares or any multiple thereof may convert through the trustee into the underlying stock*

6—Each certificate carries coupons calling for semi-annual disbursement of all distributions received by the trustee on the deposited stocks. On June 30, 1930, a semi-annual income and capital distribution of $1.34 per share was made.

7—N. A. T. S. holders are offered rights semi-annually permitting reinvestment of all return in excess of cash dividends on deposited stocks at a discount from the asked price. This program results in retention of appreciation and maintenance of original diversification.

8—N. A. T. S. are available in denominations ranging from 10 shares to 10,000 shares. Thus an investment in the shares of 28 leading corporations can be made for less than $100.

FRENCH BANKERS DECRY GOLD FLOW

Accumulation at Paris Held Economic by Group Ending Visit to This Country.

POLITICAL MOTIVE DENIED

Spokesman for Party Declares Measures Are Being Taken to Counteract Process.

The accumulation of gold in the vaults of the Bank of France is not the result of a set policy of the Bank or of the French Government, but is due to the working of economic and financial conditions, according to a group of French bankers now in this country. They visited the plant of THE NEW YORK TIMES yesterday at the conclusion of a tour of Eastern States devoted to the study of American financial and business organization.

Speaking for the group of fifteen bankers, M. George Dernis pointed out that it was unjust to accuse the French Government of responsibility for the heavy accumulation of gold in France, and declared that measures are now being taken to counteract the process.

This process, M. Dernis said, has not been due to any deliberate intention on the part of the French Government or of the Bank of France, but has been the result of natural developments facilitating the flow of gold into the country.

M. Dernis denied there has been any political motive behind it.

Among the causes of the gold accumulation enumerated by M. Dernis were English investments abroad, particularly in France, the flow of French capital abroad back into the country, and other foreign investments in France. To stop the gold accumulation, held responsible by some economists for the increase in the price of gold and the consequent international depression of commodity prices, M. Dernis said, the French Government is lowering taxes on foreign investments and has created a special bank permitting international acceptances.

M. Dernis said that while the unemployment situation in France is not so pressing, there is some unemployment situation in France is not so pressing, there was some unemployment, particularly in the luxury industries, including automobiles, and in textiles.

Included in the party which visited THE NEW YORK TIMES plant, in addition to M. Dernis, were Mme. Dernis, Yves de Boisanger, Georges Dernis, Roger Dernis, Marcel Dupont, Henri Esteve, Emile Heringfeld, Georges Leon, Stephane Leven, Louis Simmler, Yves Simmler, Edouard Sitri and Charles Vieu. The party will sail for France on the Lafayette on Thursday, after a stay of about three weeks in this country.

The WIFE'S Side . .

"You've worked hard for this money. Let's save it. Let's make very, very sure nothing happens to it. Aren't there mortgage bonds we can buy . . . or Government securities or something? I'd rather skimp a bit on income and be sure we had the principal!"

The HUSBAND'S Side . .

"You're right, of course! But you have worked too! I want our nest egg to grow . . . as fast as it can . . . to give you things you haven't had so far. We can save more . . . and there are some sound common stocks without too much risk in them! If I only had enough to really diversify . . ."

. . and a Proved Investment Service that brings them Both together . .

IT'S THE old, old story. Conservatism . . . and eagerness. The desire for safety, even at a price . . . and the natural wish for appreciation, even with risk.

Uniform Trusts bring the two together . . . on a middle ground that has stood the equivalent of many years of test. Here is safety . . . founded on diversification of the broadest sort, plus seasoned counsel, plus wisely restricted administration.

Through Uniform Trusts, your funds . . . in sums as low as $5,000 . . . are merged with the funds of other investors in an investment principal that totals well into the millions. Men who have handled huge personal fortunes for years invest this greater fund with the one thing that can foster both safety and growth . . . long and familiar knowledge of the investment situation.

They can diversify as only the huge fortune can diversify. They can buy on the sound basis of the country's fundamental growth . . . rather than on the basis of daily quotations. Their judgment is based on sound information and seasoned interpretation.

The money you invest represents a share in an active fund equivalent to one of America's large fortunes. You invest it through a revocable living trust payable to yourself. Your trust agreement may be used as collateral at any time. You receive your pro rata quarterly payment from the income of the whole, with undistributed surplus added to the principal and re-invested.

FRENCH TREND DOWNWARD

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Sept. 15.—The stock market was irregular today, with most of the industrials unfavorable to the holders and internationals closing weak.

Columbia Graphophone and His Master's Voice Gramophone both closed ⅛ lower to £3⅝ and £3 3-16, respectively. Hydroelectric weakened to $39, International Holding to $4⅞, Brazilian Traction to $36⅜ and International Nickel to $25⅞. Radio Corporation lost 2⅛ at $40⅞ and Imperial Chemical closed at 22s 3d.

Cables and Wireless A ordinary was down to 28½ and the preference to 30½. In rayons Courtaulds closed at £29-32. Rubber rallied to 4 1-16d a pound, with the prices of shares mostly lower.

Among the mining stocks Kaffirs displayed most of the activity. Rio Tinto closed at £35¾. Most of the Rhodesians moved downward, owing to less favorable American statistics.

Lombard Street continued under the influence of cheap and abundant credit. Renewals were 1½ per cent and overnight loans available at 1 per cent. Because of plentiful money bill rates showed no increase over last week's quotations. Sterling exchange on New York was slightly easier at $4.85 15-16-$4.86 1-16.

Berlin Rallies After Weakness.

BERLIN, Sept. 15.—Boerse circles were completely taken by surprise over the outcome of the elections and consequently today's stock market was an easy prey to bearish attacks, although the tendency cannot be termed panicky, and was due more to complete absence of buying orders than to the volume of offerings, which was moderate. Nevertheless prices declined all along the line, with losses ranging from 2 to 23 points.

Salzdetfurth among the potashes was the greatest loser of the day, dropping 23 points, followed by Westeregeln, 17, and Ashorslebon 15 points.

Dye Trust also lost considerably, being offered at 9 points lower. Reichsbank shares declined 15 points. Polyphonwerke, Rudolf Karstadt, artificial silks, celanese, gas holding companies, the mining group and rubber shares also were considerably weaker. Interventions through leading banks during the second hour brought the downward movement to a standstill and the Boerse closed partly recovered.

ONE FOURTH OF THE NATION'S INCOME IS SPENT FOR FOOD

It Isn't What You Leave But What Your Heirs Receive That Counts

There are many reasons for a great difference between the gross and net values of an estate. Debts, market fluctuations, lack of ready cash to meet expenses, litigation and taxes are some of the causes of shrinkage. But usually they may be summed up briefly in the words: Lack of a proper estate plan.

It will pay you to investigate the major ways Central Hanover uses to increase the net values of estates. These are briefly outlined in our concise new booklet "How A Central Hanover Plan May Increase the Net Value of Your Estate." Use the coupon below.

This booklet will be sent on request.

"Planning a sound Investment Program"

by Laurence H. Sloan
Vice-President Standard Statistics Co., Inc.

Beneath the confusing trends in the security markets, Mr. Sloan shows that certain investment principles still exist. He outlines a definite program for the investor—based on facts and economic fundamentals—and planned to meet the changing conditions of today.

SMALL FRENCH AUTO ON SALE HERE SOON

American Mathis, Inc., Formed to Build Plant With Initial Annual Capacity of 50,000 Cars.

STOCK WILL BE MARKETED

Some Well-Known Leaders of American Industries Are on Board of New Concern.

An offering of stock yesterday included the announcement of the formation of American Mathis, Inc., to manufacture and sell in the United States the Mathis automobile, a French small car. The company is capitalized with 60,000 Class A and 500,000 Class B shares and the stock offering is of 30,000 Class A at $50 a share, with a bonus of one share Class B, and 100,000 shares of Class B stock at $15 a share.

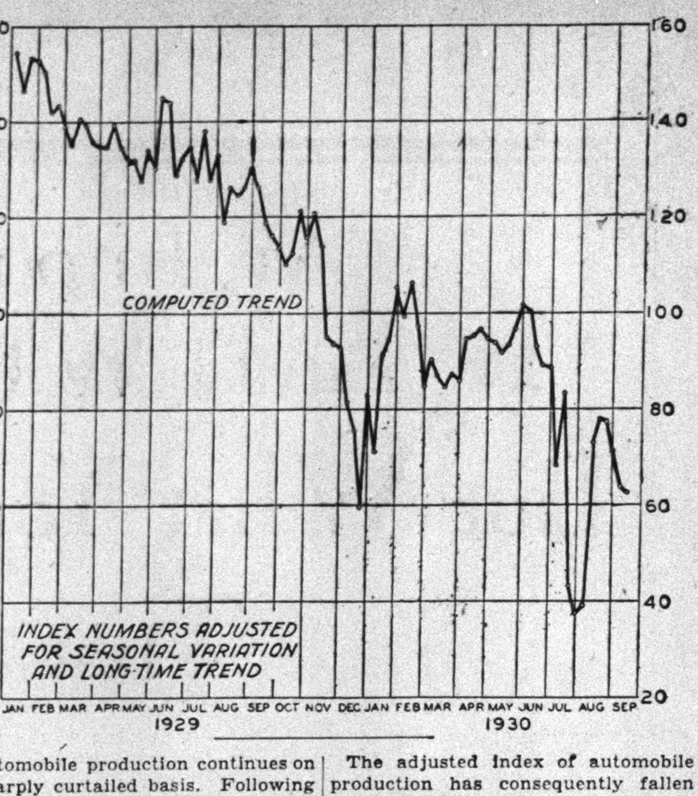
E. E. C. Mathis, head of the French company, is president of the American company. Other officers announced include Gaston Liebert, Minister Plenipotentiary in the French Diplomatic and Consular service, vice president and secretary; H. W. Alger of Chicago, treasurer; Edward Ver Linden, president of the Central Oil Company of Detroit; E. J. Hall, vice president of the American Car and Foundry Motors Company; Eduard Cournand, treasurer and vice president of the General Bronze Corporation, and Charles B. Bohn, president of the Bohn Aluminum Company.

Manufacturing is expected to be started early next year, but the probable manufacturing site was not mentioned. An initial capacity of 50,000 cars a year is planned.

Common Stocks Recover 15%.

Common stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange at their closing prices last Saturday had recovered approximately 15 per cent of their average decline from their high of 1929, according to an analysis by Hamershlag, Borg & Co., based on a study of 687 issues. The average price of these stocks on Sept. 7, 1929, was $71.61 a share, against a low on Nov. 13, 1929, of $39.35. The average closing price last Saturday was $44.28.

Automobile Output Still Sharply Curtailed; Index Falls to Lowest Point of Depression



Automobile production continues on a sharply curtailed basis. Following the holiday week, some companies have returned to a pre-holiday schedule, and a few have actually increased their production over the pre-holiday basis. But other companies have curtailed still further, or else have merely continued on the holiday week volume of output; and as this group includes some of the companies which normally contribute heavily to the total supply, total output, on an average daily basis, shows a further decline for the week ended Sept. 13.

The adjusted index of automobile production has consequently fallen to 62.5, as compared with 63.9 for the preceding week and 118.9 for the corresponding week last year. Excepting only the period when the Ford works were closed, the adjusted index is now at the lowest point yet reached in the current business depression.

Reports from the field hold out little encouragement for any immediate improvement in either sales or output for the industry as a whole, although here and there are indications of slightly better buying.

Cardon Phonocraft Deal Approved.

Stockholders of the Sparks Withington Company yesterday approved the acquisition of the assets and business of the Cardon Phonocraft Corporation of Jackson, Mich. The acquisition will be accomplished through the exchange of stock on the basis of one share of Sparks Withington for each three and one-half shares of the Cardon Company.

Pennsylvania Silk Plant to Open.

Special to The New York Times.

EASTON, Pa., Sept. 15.—L. Rodman Fox of Easton, president of the R. & H. Simon Silk Company, this afternoon announced that the plant of that company here, idle for several years, has been leased to a new corporation, which will begin operations at once. It will be known as the R. & H. Simon Corporation.

TRADING ON COUNTER IS QUIET AND WEAK

Activity Continues in Utility Preferred Issues—Bank Shares Generally Easier.

Trading in the over-the-counter market yesterday was quiet and weak, being mostly professional. Insurance shares showed minor losses, but utility preferred issues continued active and strong. Utility common stocks were quiet.

Among utility preferred stocks, Idaho Power, Toledo Edison A, Dayton Power, Interstate Power and Metropolitan Edison were better. Industrials were mixed, American Book and Bancroft preferred being easier and Graton & Knight preferred, International Textbook and Lawrence Portland Cement firmer.

Chain stores were lethargic and selling of communication issues was pronounced. American District Telegraph preferred and common, Peninsular Telephone, Rochester Telephone first preferred and Cuban Telephone sold lower.

Bank of New York lost 15 points, Guaranty 14, Central Hanover 11 and City 9½. Other weak bank issues were Manhattan, Chase and Bankers. Liberty, Lefcourt, Chatham Phenix, New York Trust, Chemical, Irving, Public, America, Bank of United States, Times Square and Continental were off.

In the insurance list gains were made by National Casualty, Colonial States, Bronx Fire and Providence-Washington. Boston, Maryland Casualty, Glens Falls, Great American and Hanover sold lower.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Sept. 15 (AP).—The State Banking Department closed the Merchants Savings and Trust Bank and its one branch here today after examiners reported that the bank was unable to make collections on loans, most of which were on real estate. KELLY-SPRINGFIELD GETS ADJOURNMENT

JERSEY MASTER NAMED

Federal Judge Fake in Newark yesterday agreed to a postponement of a week in the hearing on the application for a receiver for the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company. The court granted the request of Thomas G. Haight, counsel for the company, who appeared on an order to show cause why a receiver should not be appointed.

Mr. Haight, in asking for adjournment, stated that he had not had sufficient time to prepare his case, because receivership proceedings had been brought before Vice Chancellor Fallon in Jersey City by another.

"I do not want my request for an adjournment to be taken as an indication of any unwillingness to fight the case," Mr. Haight told Judge Fake. "It shall be fought to a finish. The person asking for this receivership, according to papers of the company, shows he owns 100 shares of stock valued at about $350. He is trying to throw into receivership a $22,000,000 company. It is an astonishing situation."

At the same time Vice Chancellor Fallon named County Judge Charles M. Egan, master in chancery, and William H. McTigue, a certified public accountant, to examine the books of the company and to make a thorough investigation of its affairs. The vice chancellor spent the week-end examining the data submitted at a hearing held before him last week concerning an order to show cause why a receiver should not be appointed.

In the meantime the Kelly-Springfield company issued a statement in response to these actions, asserting that the company is doing a good business, that the business is increasing and that the stockholders are in no danger of financial loss.

In appointing Judge Egan and Mr. McTigue to examine the company's affairs, Vice Chancellor Fallon stated that he would not issue a decision until he had received the report of the special master.

The Phillips Pipe Line Company, a subsidiary of the Phillips Petroleum Company, has made arrangements to obtain an interest in the Great Lakes Pipe Line Company, which was organized a short time ago by the Continental Oil Company and the Barnsdall Corporation, it was announced yesterday by Frank Phillips, president. The Phillips Pipe Line Company is bringing a gasoline line from the Texas Panhandle to St. Louis. For the first eight months of 1930 new ordinary insurance totaled $6,006,598,000, against $5,939,988,000 for the corresponding period in 1929. FURNITURE IS ORDERED.

A heavy increase in advance orders for holiday furniture and lamp items was reported by manufacturers and selling agents who participated in a special display of holiday goods at the New York Furniture Exchange, which opened here yesterday. Buyers of lamps provided most of yesterday's business, but orders for novelty furniture items were expected to increase later this week.

Registrations yesterday, according to officials of the Exchange, were about twice those of normal days and in line with expectations. The attendance on the remaining days of the exhibit will be watched closely to determine whether the experiment of an early Fall showing of Christmas goods justifies making the show an annual event.

MEMBER OF THE NEW YORK CLEARING HOUSE ASSOCIATION

An Important Use of Life Insurance

As Viewed from the Extensive Experience of this Company as Executor

In many cases, men of means overestimate what the net value of their estates will be after administration. Moreover, they do not as a rule so arrange their affairs as to leave adequate liquid assets to meet the heavy demands for cash outlays that will be made upon their executors. The result may be enforced sale, at a sacrifice, of securities or other property in order to raise the funds to pay:

1. Inheritance taxes.
2. Indebtedness of the estate.
3. Cash legacies.
4. Administration expenses.

Life insurance provided in the right amount would place your executor in immediate funds to meet these demands and obviate enforced sale of assets, at the same time saving the estate from the usual shrinkage which is not ordinarily taken into account.

Our knowledge and experience are at your disposal in working out the various features of a plan for the distribution and management of your estate.

LATE DIP IN COTTON CANCELS EARLY RISE

Trade Demand Helps Prices, With the Close Unchanged to Two Points Higher.

FAIR INQUIRY FOR SPOTS

About Half of Crop Is Being Withheld Owing to Small Quotations, South Reports.

Though prices on the Cotton Exchange were influenced yesterday by new low records for wheat and the action of the stock market, the recent decline to around 11 cents for the December delivery attracted more demand from trade sources and created considerable resistance. A recovery of about 15 points occurred at one time, owing to a decrease in hedging operations, but outside developments wiped out virtually all the improvement and left final quotations unchanged to 2 points higher than on Saturday.

Estimates from the South were that only about 25 per cent of the group ginned so far has been taken by consumers and not more than 50 per cent of receipts sold. About half the crop is being held owing to the low price. Cooperative associations sold to both Northern and Southern mills last week, according to reports in spot quarters.

WHEAT FUTURES OFF TO LOWEST OF YEAR

September and December Go to Figures Not Reached at This Season Since 1906.

CORN ALSO GETS A SETBACK

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Sept. 15.—Bulges in wheat are becoming increasingly hard to maintain. While prices rose almost 1 cent today, due to buying induced by unexpected strength in Liverpool, the market weakened later in the day as a result of persistent selling by houses with Northwestern connections. The decline was 2¼ to 2⅝ cents from the early high, with all futures at new low marks for the season.

September's lowest mark was 79¼ cents, a figure that had not been reached since 1906, and the same applied to the December delivery. Only in June and July, 1914, did prices go so low as at present. In the latter year September sold as low as 76⅛ cents.

Final trades were on a fair rally from the inside figures, with net losses ¾ to ⅞ cent. Winnipeg was weak and ⅝ cent lower.

Close in Liverpool Is Higher.

Reports of dry weather in Argentina and a let-up in Russian pressure were reported as responsible for the bulge in Liverpool, which closed ⅝ to 1⅛d higher.

Export sales of around 300,000 bushels of Manitoba wheat were reported at the seaboard, but Winnipeg messages said the pool had done little overnight. There were intimations, however, of a big domestic cash business, local handlers reporting 75,000 bushels sold for shipment, and some operators expressed the belief that the aggregate amount sold far exceeded this figure.

Prospects of a large increase in the domestic visible supply had considerable influence on local sentiment, and the statement showed a gain of 7,385,000 bushels for the week, making the total 198,673,000, the largest on record, and comparing with 191,[illegible] the previous week and 185,[illegible] in the week last year. In November, 1929, the total was 194,515,000 bushels.

Primary receipts were 3,169,000 bushels, a week ago 4,337,000 and a year ago 2,786,000. Shipments respectively were 1,692,000, 2,265,000 and 749,000 bushels.

Local operators were more friendly in the buying side of corn, and there was also buying against sales of wheat, but all deliveries dropped to new low marks on the present movement, and closed ⅛ to ⅝ cent lower. December at the inside figure showed 3⅝ cents under the recent high.

Wheat and Corn at Same Price.

At one time December wheat and corn sold at virtually the same figure, wheat having an advance that corn failed to follow, but the spreading operations widened the difference to around 1½ cents at the last. Trade in the aggregate was not large.

An increase of 107,000 bushels was shown in the visible supply of corn, with the total 4,690,000, against 4,583,000 the previous week and 4,381,000 in the week last year. Shipping demand was brisk, with sales of 150,000 bushels.

Primary receipts were 845,000 bushels, a week ago 964,000 and a year ago 1,146,000. Shipments respectively were 483,000, 588,000 and 445,000 bushels.

MACHINERY INQUIRIES UP.

Market Leaders Optimistic Over the Outlook for Sales.

Inquiries continue to increase in volume in the machine tool and machinery market, but sales continue to lag and current demand is mainly for single tools and for actual replacement parts, according to the American Machinist. The publication continues:

"Optimism among dealers is not lacking, however, due to the volume of pending business indicated by the number of inquiries and to the fact that least expected industries, such as paper and construction, are buying tools.

"Demand in the New York territory is poor and inquiries are scarce. Orders include one for a million dollars' worth of rails and another for battleship turbines, valued at $500,000. Chicago, preparing to greet the 75,000 visitors to the National Metal Congress, reports signs of improvement and has received a number of inquiries from sources that have been quiet for a long time.

"With electrical and radio industries in New England speeding up production schedules, machine-tool dealers in that territory report increasing interest in new tools. Cincinnati tells of an order for eleven lathes and of several lengthened working schedules. The State employment report in that city shows more men are now at work.

"Canadian manufacturers of heavy tools are feeling the way back to normalcy, supported by increasing automotive output and a good volume of electrical business. Indianapolis machinery dealers report the market there is in a somewhat firmer position."

ONTARIO GRAIN YIELDS GOOD

TORONTO, Sept. 15 (By the Canadian Press).—Yields of grain already harvested throughout the Province have been generally good, the weekly crop report of the Ontario Department of Agriculture reveals. Wheat has yielded from twenty-five to forty bushels an acre, and oats from forty-five to eighty bushels an acre.

Because of the long-continued drought the acreage of Fall wheat will drop almost 50 per cent below the average, the report says. In some sections, it added, it is almost impossible to plow, and where cultivation has been accomplished there is not enough moisture to sprout the seed.

Corn and root crops have suffered severely from lack of moisture.

COPPER AT 10¾C, LOWEST IN 30 YEARS

SALES CONTINUE SMALL

The domestic price of copper was reduced yesterday by leading producers from 11 to 10¾ cents a pound, while at least one custom smelter, that had been quoting 10¾ cents reduced its price to 10½ cents. The new prices, the lowest in thirty years, compare with 18 cents in effect from April, 1929, to April, 1930, when the decline began.

Despite the slash little metal was reported disposed of. Consumers who had placed large orders in June and July have deferred delivery, it was said.

It was expected that Copper Exporters, Inc., would bring the European price into line with the new level by announcing a reduction from 11.30 cents a pound to 11.05 or 10.80 cents a pound.

Another factor regarded as holding back orders from consumers is a general expectancy among speculators that a further drop may occur because of unfavorable statistics disclosed by the August report. The increase of more than 25,000 tons in stocks of refined copper last month is regarded in some quarters as pretending a further lowering in price in the efofrt to get sales, while it is pointed out that the larger producers have known that stocks have been increasing and that if a further cut was in mind it would have come before this time.

The American Brass Company, controlled by the Anaconda Copper Mining Company, had announced yesterday a ¼ cent a pound reduction in all brass and copper products, including scrap and seamless tubes. The Anaconda company, it has been known, has been a leader in the effort to stabilize the price of copper and this reduction through a controlled company producing finished products was viewed as a move to increase the consumption of its own copper so that it would be in a position to keep from outside sales at prevailing prices.

HUGE COPPER CABLE ORDER

The Anacando Wire Company, a subsidiary of the Anaconda Copper Company, has received from the Pacifice Gas and Electric Company an order for 4,250,000 pounds of hollow cable conductor, particularly adapted to high-voltage transmission. It will be used in the construction of a 220-kilovolt double circuit transmission line between Tiger Creek in the Sierra Nevada Mountains and Newark on San Francisco Bay, it was announced yesterday.

Big Copper Merger Is Denied.

Rumors that plans were being considered for a consolidation of the American Smelting and Refining Company and the Kennecott Copper Company were denied yesterday by officials of both. Guggenheim interests are represented on the boards of both companies.

LIVE STOCK IN CHICAGO.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Sept. 15.—Hog receipts were not so large as expected, and with a fair demand prices were generally steady, although some sales looked 5 to 10 cents higher on medium and heavy weight butchers. The latter kinds were scarce and in brisk demand, with some shipping orders unfilled owing to lack of desirable offerings. The top was steady at $11.15 and the day's average also showed no change at $10.10. Most sales were at $9.20 to $11.05, with heavyweights $10.15 to $11.15, medium weights $10.90 to $11.15, lightweights $10.35 to $11.15 and packing sows $8.35 to $9.50. Packers bought 21,000 and shippers 6,000, with 4,000 left over. Receipts were 32,000, with 22,000 estimated for tomorrow.

Best grades of cattle sold at former prices, but in-between kinds and lower grades were weak to 25 cents lower. Best yearlings sold at $13.10, with heavy steers at $12.50. The bulk of the beef cattle brought $10 to $12.50. Receipts were 24,000.

The largest run of native lambs in two years swamped buyers and prices dropped 25 to 50 cents, mainly the latter, with sales largely at $8.50 to $8.75, while city butchers paid up to $9.25. Westerns sold at $8.75 to $9.15. Sheep were steady at $2.50 to $4. Receipts were 35,000.

PRODUCE MARKETS

BUSINESS WORLD

Commercial Paper.

Yesterday—3 per cent for the best names. Saturday—3 per cent for the best names. The quotations are for 4 to 6 months' paper.

Orders Good, but Total Falls.

Orders reaching this market yesterday for seasonal merchandise continued in good volume, although some reports indicated that they were numerically fewer than a week ago. The slight slowing up from the peak activity of last week was interpreted here as confirming reports that retailers have now increased their outstanding orders notably, in comparison with only a short while ago. Approach of the religious holidays next week, with their usual effect on production and shipments, was also regarded as a factor.

Delay Action on Group Buying.

Group buying will be one of the matters to be discussed at a meeting of the board of governors of the Industrial Council of Cloak, Suit and Skirt Manufacturers to be held this noon at the Garment Centre Capitol Club, it was announced yesterday by Samuel Klein, executive director. No official action, however will be taken on the subject, he said, until an advisory board comprising representatives of the board of governors and of the membership at large makes a complete report. "The board of governors," Mr. Klein added, "is fully cognizant of the importance of mature consideration of so vital a subject and will not proceed until every conceivable angle of the question has been studied."

Values Spur Consumer Buying.

That the lower scale of retail values is now making definite headway in encouraging long-deferred consumer purchases was reported here yesterday. Consumers are now manifesting a much greater degree of confidence in the prices now being quoted on fresh, new merchandise and they are being encouraged to spend somewhat more freely than at any time this year. While the highly competitive aspect of the retail price situation will be evident in lower net profits, the fact that some of the pent-up consumer buying power is now starting to be released was held a significant change in the general business picture.

Retailers Meet on Spring Colors.

A preliminary conference of retailers to discuss selection of Spring colors was held yesterday in the offices of the Textile Color Card Association. Participating were merchandise managers and representatives of leading retail buying organizations here. Actual selection of the colors is scheduled for next Tuesday. It is understood that, as during the Fall season, the selection will be of "basic" colors. Ten colors were selected for the Fall, but the Spring selection may be confined to a smaller number of shades in order to effect better concentration on key tones in each group. The meeting yesterday was presided over by A. G. Jarvis of the E. W. Malley Company.

Oriental Rug Market Improved.

Recent purchasing of imported floor coverings by stores has cleared the market of heavy stocks of distress merchandise, importers reported yesterday. A slight stiffening in price has resulted in the lower-end goods, and actual shortages are now claimed to exist in the scatter rugs and the 9 by 12 sizes of cheaper Chinese products. Chinese rugs which formerly brought wholesale prices of $1.25 per square foot are being quoted at $1.35 and $1.40 per square foot. Better class rugs are in more demand than they were a few weeks ago but are still well below the normal volume of sales.

Artificial Flower Orders Start.

Orders for artificial flowers increased sharply yesterday as the Fall buying season opened in the local market. Prices on most of the higher grade flowers were unchanged from last year, but there was a slight drop in the medium and low-priced grades. Retailers are said to be buying in quantities equal to those of last Fall and placing a large part of their holiday business at this time. Roses, always the leading item in artificial flowers, have proved more popular than ever, sellers state.

Glassware Prices Still Easing.

Continued softening in prices on glass stemware was reported in the local market yesterday. Selling agents blame the condition on the fact that retail stores are interested only in sales merchandise which can be purchased at concessions for immediate delivery. The only types showing normal sales activity in the wholesale field at present are the black and crystal style glasses. These are in great demand from stores in large cities, and some difficulty is now being experienced in making prompt deliveries. Rose, amber and plain crystal glass are outselling the black and crystal combination in the small communities.

Seek Uniform Shirt Fold Sizes.

The question of standard measurements in shirt folds is attracting considerable attention in the trade, it was reported yesterday. An effort is being made to obtain uniform sizes in both long and square folds, as the measurements now being used by different manufacturers vary from one-eighth of an inch to two inches. Uniform sizes, it was pointed out, would permit of standard boxes and eliminate the numerous dimensions now being used. In addition, as many large buyers demand folds to their own standards from various manufacturers, the cost of repressing by those makers whose measurements do not conform with the purchasers' requirements would be eliminated. Repressing expenses total as high as $1 a dozen, it was said.

Fine Goods Sales at Peak.

Sales of fine goods for last week were the largest since the end of February, exceeding capacity production and giving definite indications of an upturn in trading, the Berkshire Fine Spinning Associates, Inc., stated yesterday. The movement was on a broad scale, the report said, comprising virtually every group of fabrics. Broadcloths were sold heavily, with trading largely confined to lower counts. Lawns were moved for spot deliveries, with a few commitments into November. Rayon-filled crêpes showed a slight slackening, although spots continued to command a premium. The possibility of a continued active market appears good in the face of fairly steady cotton, the report concluded.

Slight Advance in Gray Goods.

A good volume of business was transacted in the gray goods market yesterday, and one printcloth construction showed an eighth of a cent advance. Demand expanded to include a wider range of goods and at the close of the day the market was decidedly firmer. In printcloths, 38½-inch 60-48s were quoted at 4¾ cents, a gain of ⅛ of a cent. A fair amount of trading developed in 38½-inch 64-60s at 5¼ cents. Orders for 39-inch 68-72s and 72-76s were filled at 6 and 6⅝ cents respectively. Buying of 39-inch 80 squares was steady at 7¼ cents. Sheetings were more active, with 36-inch 5.50-yard at 4½ cents and 36-inch 4.70-yard at 5¾ cents.

EMPLOYMENT FELL 1.4% DURING AUGUST

39,828 Concerns in 13 Groups Had 2.6% Decline in Payroll Totals.

ROSE IN FOUR DIVISIONS

Jobs Increased in Coal Mining, Canning, Hotels and Utility Companies.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—National employment during the month of August showed a further decrease of 1.4 per cent under the July figures, the Bureau of Labor Statistics of the Department of Labor announced today in a report based on returns made by 39,828 establishments in thirteen major industrial groups.

Employes in the group during August numbered 4,711,968, and combined earnings in one week were $117,997,212, a decline from the July figure of 2.6 per cent.

Exclusive of the manufacturing group the twelve remaining industries reported a gain in employment of 0.2 per cent with a decrease in payroll totals of 1 per cent. The figure was offset, however, by a decline in the manufacturing group alone of 2.1 per cent in employment and 2.6 per cent in payroll totals.

The figure for the decrease in employment as a whole of 1.4 per cent, it was explained, was arrived at by weighing the various industries according to the number of employes in the establishments reporting. Taken individually, increased employment was shown in four of the thirteen industrial groups.

Canning and preserving reported a seasonal increase of 47 per cent, bituminous coal mining began its Autumn season with an increase of 1.4 per cent, hotel employment increased 0.26 per rent due to the continued Summer resort season, and power, light and water plants showed an increase of 0.5 per cent.

Jobs Fell in Nine Groups.

Anthracite mining 12.5 per cent, metal ferrous mining 1.9 per cent, quarrying 0.7 per cent, crude petroleum production 2.4 per cent, wholesale trade 1 per cent, retail trade 3.06 per cent, telephone and telegraph 2 per cent, electric railroads 2.2 per cent and manufacturing 2.1 per cent.

Reports from fifty-four of the chief manufacturing industries of the United States, totaling 13,055 establishments, showed employes numbering 2,935,550 with a payroll for one week of $71,741,492. Leather manufactures during August showed an increase in employment of 0.9 per cent and smaller increases were noted in the textile and chemical groups. Among the decreases in the remaining nine groups the largest were 4.5 per cent for tobacco, 4.2 per cent for iron and steel and 4 per cent in the vehicle groups.

Auto Jobs Dropped 5.9 Per Cent.

Other and more outstanding decreases in employment were noted, however, in the several branches of the main groups as follows:

13.6 per cent in machine tools, 13 per cent in agricultural implements, 7.2 per cent in cane sugar refining, 5.9 per cent in automobiles, 5.3 per cent in cigars and cigarettes, 5.2 per cent in foundry and machine-shop products and about 4 per cent each in cotton goods, hardware, sawmill and structural iron work. Automobile tire manufacturers reported a decrease of 3.4 per cent.

Manufacturers of rayon, aircraft, paint and varnish and miscellaneous rubber goods reported decreases in employment, the extent of which could not be learned—no place being made for such data in the Bureau of Labor Statistics' indexes.

Employment in radio and jewelry industries, also excluded from the indexes, showed increases of 25.8 and 0.5 per cent, respectively.

The outstanding decreases in both employment and payroll totals was in the east north-central section of the country, the department said, which is most affected by changes in the automobile industry.

Reports from 10,370 of the 13,055 manufacturing establishments included in the August survey showed an average of 78 per cent of the normal force of employes working 91 per cent of full time.

ACCUSED IN "FIXING" CASE.

District Captain Offered to Get Son Free for $500, Mother Says.

Several witnesses were heard yesterday in a hearing of a grand larceny complaint against Mortimer Levie of 807 Allerton Avenue, Democratic captain of the Sixth Assembly District in the Bronx, accused by Mrs. Pauline Davidoff of 2,700 Bronx Park East of accepting $360 for "fixing" the case of her son, Jacob, 17 years old, who had been arrested for the theft of an automobile. The hearing, before Magistrate Capshaw in West Farms court, will continue on Thursday.

Mrs. Davidoff testified that Mr. Levie offered to get her son free last March 29 for $500 without a court record or need of a lawyer. The youth was in jail for three weeks, it was alleged, before he finally pleaded guilty to petit larceny and received a suspended sentence. Mr. Levie denied he took the money. Two years ago, Mr. Levie declared, he refused $50, but admitted accepting two dresses for his wife after an appeal had been made for the youth, who was then charged with a similar crime. He said he merely advised Mrs. Davidoff to get a good lawyer. The district captain also said Mrs. Davidoff left a gallon of wine and a quilt on frequent visits to his home to seek his aid for Davidoff on the later charge.

REPORTS OF LATEST DEALINGS IN REAL ESTATE FIELD

$6,000,000 DEAL IN TIMES SQUARE

NOW CONTROLS BLOCKFRONT

Property Said to Have Been Sold by Schulte Cigar Stores Company at Substantial Profit.

By far the largest and most important real estate deal of the year in the heart of the Times Square section was closed yesterday when the northeast corner of Broadway and Forty-second Street, said to be one of the busiest and must valuable corners in the world, was sold to Joseph Leblang together with an eighty-three-year lease.

The property is known as the Longacre Building. It is a twelve-story store and office structure fronting 105 feet on Broadway and 113 feet on the north side of Forty-second Street. It was sold by the Schulte Cigar Stores Company, which has held it for several years. The long lease was acquired from Samuel Hoffman and others, the transactions involving an outlay of more than $6,000,000.

These purchases give Mr. Leblang the ownership of the entire block front on Broadway, from Forty-second to Forty-third Street, including the Fitzgerald Building and the George M. Cohan Theatre and comprising an area of more than 30,000 square feet. The total accumulation of real estate now in his control is reputed to be in excess of $15,000,000.

No plans have been made with respect to the property for the present. Several months was required to arrange the details of the purchase of both the fee as well as the leasehold, and telephonic conversation overseas was necessary with Mr. Leblang while he was touring Europe, from which he has just returned.

The Schulte Company acquired the fee to the property in 1924 from the Astors and is understood to have realized a very substantial profit. The Hoffman interest obtained the leasehold about the same time. Max Miller was the broker in both the sale of the fee and the leasehold.

Big Jump In Values In 25 Years.

During the past twenty-five years the ten blocks adjacent to Times Square, bounded by Forty-second and Forty-seventh Streets, Sixth and Eighth Avenues, have increased in value $134,137,500. This is the value placed upon the land, with improvements, by the city of New York for taxation purposes. The market value is many millions of dollars above this figure. In 1905 the ten blocks had an assessed valuation of $37,536,000. The 1930 figures show the valuation has jumped to $171,674,000.

Another example of the growth and development of the Times Square section as the city's transit hub is shown by the figures of the Rapid Transit Commission. During last year 93,793,560 fares were collected at the Interborough and B. M. T. booths at Times Square, as compared with 91,020,076 in 1928. Times Square, the report showed, is still the busiest point in the city's rapid transit system, it being estimated that 187,587,120 persons passed through the turnstiles, assuming that at least as many persons leaving trains used its facilities as those who started their journeys there.

J. T. LOCKE SURRENDERS

Seeks Parole in $5,885,000 Swindle Instead of His Brother.

John T. Locke, so-called "Broadway playboy," and George Shurtleff, 56-year-old veteran of Wall Street, who were sentenced almost a year and a half ago with Herbert C. Locke for their part in swindling "investors" in Canario copper stock of $5,885,000, surrendered yesterday to Federal Judge T. Blake Kennedy and were remanded to the Federal House of Detention.

Herbert Locke is still free on an order signed Sunday by Federal Judge John C. Knox in Buffalo, staying execution of sentence until Oct. 15. John Locke, who is 38 years old, was sentenced with his brother, who is 33, to serve three years in Atlanta Penitentiary; Shurtleff to four years.

The three convicted men appeared in court accompanied by their attorney, David P. Cahill, who told Judge Kennedy that Judge Knox had signed the order "because of the dire circumstances in which sending both of these young men away would leave their 76-year-old mother."

Mr. Cahill suggested that John and not Herbert be allowed to remain free, explaining that John was engaged "to a young woman whose brother was killed recently in an automobile accident, and that he was the one person who could take charge of the arrangements for the bereaved sister."

Assistant United States Attorney Tompkins said then that he was willing to accept Judge Knox's order as to the younger Locke brother, but opposed permitting John Locke to remain free pending argument of the parole motion.

Judge Kennedy agreed.

NEARLY all makes of automatic refrigerators were considered by Golding's—it was a question of performance, design, capacity, quick freezing, operating cost, reliability and value . . . in everything The Rose FROSTAIR ELECTRIC REFRIGERATOR excelled. It is but natural that Frostair should excel—it is built by Sturtevant—master engineers, who planned and installed the ventilating system in the Holland Tunnel. What more can an apartment house owner wish for, to please his tenants. We solicit the patronage of all landlords and builders. Liberal terms arranged.

NEVE'S BANKRUPTCY LAID TO CONSPIRACY

ASSETS SHOW SHRINKAGE

Answer to Petition Contends Ignoring of Contracts Was Cause of Disaster.

Alfred J. Neve, former president of the Neve Drug Stores, Inc., which was petitioned recently into bankruptcy by the United Cigar Stores Company of America on an alleged debt of $291,000, filed an answer yesterday through Crichton Clarke, attorney, charging the United conspired with the Consolidated Dairy Products Company of America, its subsidiary, in bringing the action into the United States District Court. On Sept. 5 Jules C. Klein, druggist, of West Fordham Road, charged that the two principal petitioning creditors had entered into a "corrupt agreement."

Mr. Neve, who said in his answer that he was a creditor of the store, purchased from his control in 1928, to the extent of "more than $100,000," charged that the United Cigar Stores Company, purchaser of the Neve name, did through the United Retail Chemist Corporation, "purposely and fraudulently ignore" contracts that if carried out would "render the bankrupt solvent, sound and in a position to carry on."

One contract, according to Mr. Neve, provided that he should continue as president of the Neve chain operating fifty retail stores, while the United agreed to supply $600,000 working capital as it should be needed over a period of five years.

Messrs. Neve and Clarke later amplified this statement in the answer by saying that the former drug store proprietor claimed "a quarter of a million dollars for personal loss of reputation and loss of stock."

Arthur J. Milerney, attorney, filed schedules in bankruptcy for the Neve concern. Liabilities were listed at $705,946 and assets at alleged realizable values of $548,549.

The Whelan Drug Company is listed as creditor for $329,259 and the United Cigar Stores Company for $288,585.

Mr. Neve, the answer charges, agreed to use the Whalen Drug Company, Inc., a United subsidiary, to contract with Neve so that the Neve Drug Stores, Inc., would obtain all the purchasing benefits available to other United subsidiaries.

"Upon information and belief," the answer said in part, "the United Cigar Stores Company of America and the Consolidated Dairy Products Company suffered, caused and permitted the said bankrupt to purchase from them goods, wares and merchandise, greatly in excess of the amount required and at exhorbitant prices for the purpose of permitting the United and the Consolidated Dairy Products Company to make large sales and profits, and for the purpose of depleting the assets of the Neve stores."

Mr. Neve said that he had received a promise of $50,000 a year salary and that when he resigned under pressure the assets were four times the liabilities.

PLANS FOR 16 SHIPS INTEREST BUILDERS

GRACE LINE DECISION NEAR

Award on Four Panama Mail Liners Due This Week—Colombian to Build Three Soon.

Contracts for the construction of sixteen vessels, fourteen for the New York service and two for Boston, at an estimated cost of approximately $70,000,000, are to be awarded in the near future, and local shipbuilders are interested in the pending contracts as an encouraging sign for Winter activity. Bids have been submitted for eleven of these vessels, and the other orders are awaiting the approval of the Shipping Board at Washington.

Grace Line officials announced yesterday that a decision would be announced late this week on the bids for the construction of the four 300-foot eighteen-knot turbo-electric passenger-and-cargo liners which will go into the New York-Central American-California service of the Panama Mail Steamship Company.

Rumors persist that the Federal Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company submitted the lowest bid and is favored to receive the contract, but officials continued to deny that any decision had been reached. These vessels will accommodate 200 first-class passengers and will have a large amount of refrigerated space for perishable cargo.

Another pending order is that of the Colombian Steamship Company for three ships of 5,000 gross tons with a speed of sixteen knots, for operation between New York and Puerto Colombia. The Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company submitted the lowest bid, it was learned, but the placing of the contract was deferred pending certain revisions in the plans.

These vessels will be delivered in 1933, 1934 and 1935, in accordance with the terms of the company's mail contract. The award is expected to be made soon.

The Eastern Steamship Lines Company has an order pending for the construction of three passenger and cargo ships to cost about $7,000,000. Two are for the Boston-Yarmouth service and the other for the New York-Norwegian service. The first two are to have a speed of 20 knots, according to present plans, but the final speed figure must await the outcome of negotiations with the Postoffice Department.

The Red "D" Line is looking to the construction of a freighter slightly smaller than the Caracas, with accommodations for nine passengers. It is to be ready by October, 1931, to meet the requirements of the mail contract awarded the line for the New York-Maracaibo service.

The General Engineering and Dry Dock Company was the lowest bidder on this job and Pusey & Jones were the second lowest, it was said. Bids ranged from $1,095,000 to $1,300,000.

The United States Lines has contracts pending for the construction of two superliners of about 45,000 gross tons register, with an approximate speed of 28 to 30 knots. Plans for these vessels are being revised in accordance with the requirements of the Navy Department. Placement of this contract by the United States Lines is delayed pending the recommendations of President Hoover's advisory shipping committee, which is expected to make its report about Dec. 1.

Plans for the construction of three turbo-electric liners of the same type as the California, Virginia and Pennsylvania are under consideration by the International Mercantile Marine Company for the Panama-Pacific Line service. Decision on this order is understood to be dependent upon the outcome of the Roosevelt Steamship Company and the I. M. M. combination. It is expected a program of expansion will be announced as soon as the reorganization of the two companies has been perfected.

12 BID ON BRIDGE DRIVES.

Connections With Hudson Span to Cost $995,969 to $1,497,740.

Twelve proposals for the construction of the Riverside Drive connection of the Manhattan approach to the Hudson River Bridge were opened by the Port of New York Authority yesterday. Bids ranged from $995,969 to $1,497,740. The work involves excavation, filling, masonry construction in concrete, granite and rubble, paving the roadways, and the reconstruction of sewers, water mains and other utilities. Completion will be required by Oct. 1, 1931.

The Riverside Drive connections will extend from West 168th Street and Haven Avenue to a point about 200 feet south of West 181st Street at Riverside Drive. They will comprise roadways making connections with Riverside Drive at three points and bringing about a separation of inbound and outbound traffic. The bids were presented and opened under the direction of Commissioner John F. Murray and General Manager John E. Ramsey.

34 MUSK-OXEN ARRIVE HERE.

Greenland Herd on Way to Alaska to Breed in Reindeer Land.

A herd of thirty-four musk-ox calves arrived yesterday from Greenland on the Norwegian-American liner Bergensfjord en route to Fairbanks, Alaska, where the United States Bureau of Biological Survey will attempt to breed them and restore the animals in the Alaskan territories where they formerly were plentiful.

J. J. Palmer, Department of Agriculture expert in the reindeer lands of Alaska, said that the oxen stood the ocean voyage nicely, and seemed in excellent condition. They will be transported to the department's quarantine station in New Jersey and will remain there for a few weeks before being shipped by rail to Seattle.

Todd Trophy to Be Presented Today

The Todd lifeboat racing trophy, won by a crew from the Norwegian America liner Stavangerfjord in the Labor Day race on the Hudson, will be presented to officials of the line on board the Stavangerfjord at the foot of Thirtieth Street, Brooklyn, this afternoon. The trophy must be won three times for permanent possession. It has been won twice by Lineas Sud Americana crews and once by a crew from the Mauretania.

Soviet Cargo Ship Off Tomorrow.

The departure of the Jersey American line freighter Hopatcong for the Black Sea with the first shipment of the $40,000,000 farm machinery order placed in the United States by Soviet Russia, originally set for yesterday, was postponed to tomorrow, line officials announced. The freighter will leave the Thaten Terminal piers on Staten Island with American machinery valued at about $3,000,000.

3 Motorships Change Ownership.

The three motorships, Sud Argentino, Sud Cubano and Sud Uruguayo, formerly operated by Garcia & Diaz, have been taken over by the Moore & McCormack Co. for operation in the North Atlantic-South American service under a two-year charter. The vessels have been renamed Primero, Tercero and Segundo.

HEBREW WORKERS BACK JOB INSURANCE

Meeting Representing 150,000 Endorses Plan to Compel Industry to Aid Them.

WALDMAN ASKS STATE HELP

A resolution sharply dissenting from the position of William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor and the executive council, opposing compulsory unemployment insurance, was adopted unanimously last night at a special conference of the United Hebrew Trades, a central body of 150,000 trade unionists affiliated with the federation. The resolution called for "the enactment of a system of universal employment insurance so that industry and the government may be made to shoulder a just portion of the burden of unemployment."

Speakers at the conference, held at 175 East Broadway, included Louis Waldman, Socialist candidate for Governor; Norman Thomas, Jacob Panken, Heywood Broun and other Socialist nominees.

At a meeting of the executive council of the federation last week Mr. Green scored compulsory insurance as a form of "paternalism." He favored unemployment insurance to which only the employer and employe contributed and which was a voluntary arrangement between them.

At last night's conference, devoted exclusively to the unemployment situation, Mr. Waldman called upon Governor Roosevelt to make use of the police power of the State to seek emergency legislative relief, and thus "spare the unemployed from the police club."

"The good faith of Governor Roosevelt's many promises of unemployment relief and unemployment insurance could best be proved by concrete action while he is still Governor," the Socialist candidate declared.

Mr. Waldman deplored Mr. Green's opposition to government participation in unemployed insurance, declaring that such legislation would be no more of a dole than old age relief legislation, which has been endorsed by the federation. Mr. Waldman also denied that complete restriction of immigration, as asked by President Hoover, would help the lot of the unemployed. On the contrary, he asserted, complete restriction would keep out of the country many women and children who might become consumers and thus directly help bring economic recovery.

Mr. Waldman declared that unemployment was the outstanding issue before organized labor in this campaign. Quoting from The Federationist, official organ of the federation, he said the unemployed within the federation had jumped from 10 per cent in September, 1929, to 22 per cent last month.

ONLY FEW ASK TIME TO PAY INCOME TAX

All Bureaus but One Here Report Normal Collections—Deadline Last Midnight.

Only one of the major bureaus of the Internal Revenue Bureau in the New York City area reported yesterday an unusual number of applications for extensions of time for payment of the third instalment of the 1929 Federal income tax, the deadline for which passed at nidnight.

Despite the business depression the last-minute returns by mail were heavy and more batches of checks are expected this morning in envelopes postmarked before midnight. Even in the district embracing northern Manhattan where the number of applicants for time extensions was somewhat larger than in past years, it was said that the increase was not important.

Collector Frank K. Bowers said that in his district, south of Twenty-third Street, the number seeking delay was normal, and the same statement was made by Major Walter E. Corwin, collector for Brooklyn and the rest of Long Island as well as Staten Island.

The collectors expected that the payments for the third instalment of income taxes would be simply a repetition of those for the second instalment in June. The yield throughout the country at that time was more than $500,000,000. The fourth instalment is due on Dec. 15. For the most part only very large taxpayers, including the big corporations, pay in instalments, the remainder paying the entire tax during the first quarter of the year.

The instalment of yesterdays, like others of this year, will not reflect the full business conditions of this year, according to treasury officials, since the depression did not set in until the second half of 1929, the year on which taxes are still being paid.

The instalment payers who did not submit their checks yesterday or have them in the mail before midnight are liable to a penalty of 25 per cent.

SHOOTS SISTER DEAD TO END HER GRIEF

Los Angeles Woman, 37, Acts After Victim Moaned That She Wanted to Die.

HELD ON MURDER CHARGE

Sister for Year in Nervous Torment After Husband Disappeared With Children.

Special to The New York Times.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 15.—Mrs. Ruth B. Weimer, aged 37, who shot her sister, Mrs. Mabel Agnes Steele, 38, to death yesterday to save her suffering from grief, today was in county jail here crying out for the same surcease for herself.

The events leading to Mrs. Weimer's "act of mercy" shooting were related to police by Miss Evelyn Rains, 17-year-old niece of the two women. Her story corroborated the semi-hysterical information which Mrs. Weimer made to arresting officers.

"I could not stand to hear her crying and suffering any longer," Mrs. Weimer said. "She is better off out of her suffering. I put her out of her suffering and I would do it again."

Mrs. Weimer was arraigned and remanded to jail without bail for preliminary hearing Friday on a charge of murder. Guarded against suicide, she said she did not want a lawyer and was "ready to hang."

Mrs. Steele had a breakdown sixteen months ago, according to the niece.

"She began to grieve terribly when her husband, Glenn Steele vanished last year," Miss Rains said. "He took her two children. She never heard what happened to the children.

"Yesterday Aunt Mabel was crying again. Aunt Ruth said, 'Stop that crying this minute. Stop, or I will kill you.' Auntie just cried, 'I want to die.'"

The niece said Mrs. Weimer got a pistol and fired three shots into her sister, killing her instantly.

Mrs. Weimer then turned the weapon on herself and fired twice, but the bullets missed. Police arrived before she could find more cartridges.

10,000 EYES REPORTED SAVED IN 583 PLANTS

Safety Devices in Factories Are Estimated to Have Effected $46,000,000 Economy.

Safety devices used in 583 plants employing a total of 500,000 workmen have saved more than 10,000 eyes and at least $46,000,000 in two years, according to the report of a study made public here yesterday by the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness and the National Safety Council. The two organizations attempted to discover the total of authenticated cases of workmen's eyes preserved from serious injury or destruction by the use of goggles or headmasks. As the figures presented deal only with corporations having definite records, there can be only conjecture as to the number of eyes actually saved by protective devices in industry all over the country.

The survey deals with records kept by the corporations during 1926 and 1927. They disclose that, in addition to the financial economy, 2,757 men and women were saved from serious injury or total blindness in both eyes during the two years. There were also 4,654 recorded instances of workmen being saved from a similar fate to one eye, making a total of 10,168 eyes saved from destruction or serious injury. The study is the first of its kind ever made, declared Lewis H. Carris, managing director of the Society for the Prevention of Blindness.

IRVING BERLIN PLANS $200,000 HOME HERE

East Ninety-third Street Site Is Bought by Song Writer and Wife for 5½-Story House.

Irving Berlin, music publisher and composer, and Mrs. Berlin, the former Ellen Mackay, have purchased the two five-story flats at 66-68 East Ninety-third Street as the site for one of the few private residences planned in Manhattan this year.

Plans have been completed and a builder engaged for the erection of a five-and-one-half-story house designed according to Mr. and Mrs. Berlin's own ideas, and to be started at 66 East Ninety-third Street as soon as the old building on the lot is demolished. The dwelling, it is reported, will cost about $200,000.

Pease & Elliman, brokers in the deal, are said to be negotiating for the resale of the property at No. 68 to a New Yorker who also is planning to build a private home.

The plot purchased by the Berlins is between Park and Madison Avenues, and measures 42x100 feet. It adjoins the two five-story flats at 60-64 East Ninety-third Street recently sold through the same brokers to Mrs. Graham Fair Vanderbilt, who has filed plans for a large single-family dwelling there. Both sites are part of the plottage occupying almost all of the south side of the street between Madison and Park Avenues assembled several months ago and purchased by an investing syndicate.

William H. Russell is reported to be planning construction of a residence at 65 East Ninety-third Street, adjoining the dwelling at 67 recently bought by George F. Baker Jr., who intends to demolish the building there and use the space for a garden for his house at the northwest corner of Park Avenue.

Just Naturally BETTER

THAT'S WHY THEY GOT THERE SO QUICKLY

JIMMY McLARNIN — THE "UNKNOWN" A FEW YEARS AGO. FIGHTING "PRELIMS." SOCKING HIS WAY TO THE TOP. TODAY HE'S THE LEADING WELTERWEIGHT CONTENDER.

He didn't find that "fighting heart" in a gymnasium. He didn't secure that fleetness of foot or quickness of mind from a correspondence school.

These assets of Jimmy McLarnin were born in the boy . . . like the natural appeal of OLD GOLD cigarettes.
